Par. 7. The Executive Committee shall consist of twenty members who shall have been members of the Party Organization for at least one year. This committee shall have executive and administrative supervision in all affairs pertaining to organization, finance, propaganda and press, subject to the approval of the County Central Committee, and all affairs specifically referred to it by the County Central Committee, shall be promptly attended to. It shall, previous to the meetings of the County Central Committee, receive and consider all communications and recommend action thereon if deemed necessary. They shall investigate all charges preferred in the County Central Committee against Branches and members, and report its findings to the County Central Committee. They shall have the power to act in emergency cases between meetings and also call special meetings of the County Central Committee. The office of the County Organizer shall be under its direct control and direction. The members of the committee shall severally be the trustees of the County Central Committee's share of stock of any company in which the County Committee is financially interested.

8. The shall be elected at the regular meeting in January, an Auditing Committee of three, whose duty it shall be to audit, at least once every three months, or oftener, if necessary, the books of the Treasurer, County Organizer, and of all the committees and individuals handling funds of the organization.

Any member having charge of books which require auditing shall not be eligible to election on such Auditing Committee.

All special committees shall have their accounts audited at the completion of their work, and before the committee shall be discharged.

Furthermore, the Auditing Committee shall have the right to regulate the mode of keeping the account books of the party, the filing of receipts, etc.

Section 3. Delegates.

Par. 1. The County Central Committee shall be composed of one delegate from each precinct in the county.

Par. 2. No member shall be eligible as a delegate to the County Central Committee who has been a candidate on the ticket of any other political party or has held an appointive office under any other political party until he or she has been a member of the Socialist Party for two consecutive years.

Par. 3. The delegates of Branches shall hold office for two years and their terms of office shall expire when their successors shall have been elected. When delegates are elected, the Secretary of the Branch shall send notice to the Secretary of the Local giving the name and address and term of office of the delegate, using for this purpose a blank to be furnished by the County Central Committee of the Local.

ARTICLE III.
Vigilance Committee.
Section 1.

This committee shall consist of one delegate from each Branch in the county. Only members of two years continuous membership in the Party Organization and citizens of the United States shall be eligible to this committee.

Section 2.

In the month of January of each year the combined resident membership of each Branch shall meet jointly to elect the delegates to the Vigilance Committee, which shall be by majority vote of those present. In such districts in which more than one Regular Branch is located the joint meetings shall be mutually arranged. Members of Special Branches can participate in the election of delegates in the meetings arranged for the purpose in the district in which they reside. The committee shall be in power from the first day of February and shall serve for one year.

Section 3.

The duty of the Vigilance Committee shall be to examine the qualifications of all members suggested as candidates for public office, with respect to period of membership, character, general fitness and ability for the specific offices for which they have been suggested, and the inexpediency of any member becoming a candidate for reasons that might be calculated to injure the Party's welfare. It shall have the power, by a majority of the committee, to disqualify any member becoming a candidate for an elective office. The member disqualified, however, shall have the right to appeal to the County Central Committee, which shall then have final decision in the matter. The committee shall adopt its own rules to govern its proceedings, especially with the view of securing a systematic method for the determination of the qualifications of members suggested for public office.

Section 4.

The Secretary of the committee shall notify all members, who have been suggested as candidates and approved, of their proposed nomination by the Party and shall receive from each a signed declaration of loyalty to the Party principles, platform and discipline at least one week before the Party referendum is taken on nominations.

ARTICLE IV.
Campaign Committee.

The Campaign Committee shall consist of the Executive Committee, together with the County and resident State and National officers of the Party. It shall have charge of the management of campaigns subject to the approval of the County Central Committee, to which it shall make reports of its proceedings. The committee shall hold its first meeting at the call of the County Organizer, who shall be the secretary of the committee. At its first meeting the committee shall choose an Executive Committee which shall have charge of the active management of the campaign and be empowered to act in emergency cases between meetings of the Campaign Committee. The Executive Committee shall consist of the County Organizer, who shall act as Secretary of Finance, a Secretary of Halls and meetings, a Secretary of Literature and Press, a Secretary of Printing and Distribution of Literature, and a Secretary of Election.

ARTICLE V.
Candidates.
Section 1.

Six months before an election the County Organizer shall issue a call to the various Branches for the suggestion of candidates for the approaching election, and one month thereafter, submit to a referendum vote of the members residing in the electoral district concerned in the election, the names of such as have been suggested as candidates and approved of by the Vigilance Committee. One month shall be allowed for the referendum, which shall be by secret ballot. All ballots must be cast in person at Branch meetings. It shall require a majority of all votes cast to effect a nomination as candidate for public office. If on the first ballot no nominee receives a majority of votes a second ballot shall be taken to decide between the nominees having received the two greatest number of votes, in which event, provided it concerns the selection of a candidate for an electoral district in which more than one Branch is concerned, two additional weeks shall be allowed for the referendum. Members of Special Branches (nationalities, etc.) desiring to participate in the nomination of councilmanic supervisory, assembly, senatorial and congressional candidates, may do so upon presentation of their membership cards at the meetings of the Regular Branches of the districts in which they reside. Members of Special Branches shall be notified of the time and place of the meetings of the Regular Branches.

Section 2.

Only members of one years' membership in the Party Organization shall be eligible as candidates on Party Tickets unless they are enrolled with Branches of newly organized districts.

Any person who has been a candidate for office on the ticket of any other party shall not be endorsed by the Central Committee as a candidate on the Socialist ticket unless he has been a member of the party for at least two years.

ARTICLE VI
Initiative and Referendum.

Whenever five Branches shall make a demand upon the County Central Committee to have any measure or proposition submitted to a referendum vote, including amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws, it shall be the duty of said committee to comply with such requests within fifteen days. The County Central Committee, by majority of those who are present, shall have the power to submit any measure or proposition, including amendments to this Constitution and By-laws, to a referendum vote, provided such proposition is presented in writing at a regular meeting and allowed to lie over till the next regular meeting, when it shall be voted upon.

BY-LAWS.

1. The County Central Committee shall meet in regular session at least once a month.

2. A member may not be enrolled as such in more than one Branch of the Party.

3. Only members of the Party shall be permitted to attend the business meetings of the Branches.

4. All public meetings and all speakers engaged by branches during the two months preceding any election shall be subject to the approval of the Campaign Committee.

5. "Roberts' Rules of Order" shall govern the proceedings of this organization, except wherein they may conflict with the provisions of the Constitution and By-laws.

6. Any special committee appointed by the County Central Committee for any purpose which involves the receiving and expenditure of money shall elect a secretary and treasurer. It shall be the duty of the treasurer to receive and record all moneys for the committee.

No bills shall be paid except such as are authorized by vote of the Committee and signed by the secretary and treasurer of the respective committees, with the exception of authorized routine bills and salaries.

7. Every Branch having delegates in the Central Committee shall pay to the County Central Committee's Financial Secretary a per capita tax of five cents per month for every member of the Branch in good standing. Committeemen of Branches failing to pay this per capita tax for three consecutive months shall lose the right to vote in the County Central Committee.

8. The secretaries of the various branches shall, at the expiration of each quarter, send a full report of the good standing and delinquent members in each of their respective branches to the County Organizer.

9. No party member who now holds or may hereafter hold any public office, either elective or appointive, shall be permitted to resign the same without consent of the County Central Committee.

10. No party member who now holds or may hereafter hold any public office, either elective or appointive, shall be eligible to any other office, the term of which shall commence prior to the expiration of the office so held, unless consent shall first be granted by the County Central Committee.

11. Only accredited Committeemen shall be allowed to introduce resolutions in the County Central Committee.

12. Members must enroll in the Regular Branch in whose territory they reside, unless they are enrolled in Special Branches. The Executive Committee of the County Central Committee may grant exemption to this law upon the written request of the person concerned.

13. The following order of business shall be observed at regular meetings of the County Central Committee:

1. Call to order by Secretary.
2. Election of Chairman.
3. Roll call of Committeemen.
4. Reading of minutes of previous meetings.
5. Credentials of new Delegates.
6. Applications for Membership.
7. Bills and Communications.
8. Election of Officers.
9. Report of Executive Committee.
10. Reports of other Committees.
11. Report of Organizer.
12. Report of Elected Officials.
13. Unfinished business.
14. New business.
15. Report of Treasurer.
16. Adjournment.

14. Delegates from ten Branches shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at meetings of the County Central Committee.

15. Any member in good standing with a Branch affiliation with the County Central Committee shall be privileged to a voice on the floor of the meetings of the County Central Committee.

16. An applicant for membership shall sign a pledge in duplicate on a blank furnished by the County Central Committee, one copy to be kept by the Branch Secretary, and one by the Secretary of the County Central Committee, and shall pay three months' dues in advance with said application, the same to be returned to him or her in case the application is rejected. All applications for membership must be endorsed by two members, in good standing, and when received by a Branch in due form shall be referred to a committee of three for investigation, who shall report back to the Branch at its next regular meeting. Every applicant for membership shall be asked the following questions by the committee on investigation:

1. What is your idea of Socialism?
2. Did you ever read our platform?
3. Are you a subscriber to a Socialist paper?
4. Of what paper, and how long.
5. If you are not already a subscriber, are you willing to become a subscriber to one of the Party's local papers?
6. Are you a citizen of the United States?
7. Have you ever been a candidate on any ticket?
8. Have you ever held any public office, if so, under what party, and when and where?
9. Have you been in any way active for either of the old parties, or for any candidate of the old parties? If so, give particulars.
10. Do you believe in splitting your ticket when voting?
11. Do you object to a trade organization?
12. Did you ever act as a strike-breaker?
13. Have you ever been convicted of any offense?
14. Do you belong to any military organization?

Upon endorsement by the Branch, applications shall be countersigned by the Branch Secretary and by the committee of three and then referred to the County Central Committee, through the office of the County Organizer, who shall keep a file of all applications received, together with the action thereon.

In case the application is approved by the County Central Committee, the applicant may be received by the branch as a regular member, but in no case shall an applicant disapproved by the County Central Committee be enrolled as a member of a branch. Upon approval of an applicant by the County Central Committee, the County Organizer shall notify the applicant of such action, by sending him the following notification:

We take pleasure in notifying you that your application for membership in the Socialist Party was recommended by the .....Branch to the County Central Committee, and was approved at the meeting of the latter body, held..... .....19.. The Branch meeting is held.....of each month at No.....street. You are hereby requested to attend the next meeting of the Branch for enrollment. You will then be presented with a Membership Card and Constitution. Be sure to present this credential to the Secretary of the Branch. Trusting that you will not only find a pleasant comradeship among us, but that you will also use your opportunities to labor for our common cause, we remain,

Yours for the cause,
County Central Committee, S. P.
Signed.....
County Organizer.

Every applicant whose application has been favorably acted upon by a Branch and by the County Central Committee, shall appear in person at a regular meeting of the Branch, when he shall be obligated by the Chairman, who shall read aloud the party pledge, to which the applicant shall subscribe, and then be presented by name to the members in attendance. Thereupon the applicant's name shall be entered upon the roll of the Branch as a member of the Party.

17. Discussion, unless by special permission of the County Central Committee, shall be limited to three minutes for each speaker; Committeemen to be given first privilege to speak on any subject under discussion.

THE McNAMARAS AND THE AMERICAN LABOR MOVEMENT.

By Frank Bohn.

(In the International Socialist for January.)

"Hang 'em!" "Hang 'em!" "Give 'em the limit!" "Kill 'em!" were the murderous cries of the mob of all classes when on December and black head lines declared that the McNamaras had confessed their guilt. The popular thirst for blood was shared by most labor union leaders and by some Socialists.

The average American citizen, to whom the old barbarian custom of "An Eye for an Eye" is still good law, this uncontrolled rage was the natural result of their sense of "justice." The McNamaras have killed others, why not kill them? Scores of labor unions are said to have sent in urgent demands that they be punished "to the extreme extent of the law." The rumor that admonitions were received urging the killing of all their relatives including their old mother has not been substantiated.

What about the theory of our inquiring into the causes of human conduct before taking action? The blood cry raised against the McNamaras was simply a result of the old-fashioned and ignorant method of looking no further than the individual for causes and effects which are entirely social in their nature.

What does the McNamara case signify? Why did these men do as they did? If any may be held accountable, who are they? And by far the most important of all, what do these facts signify in the development of the American Labor movement?

The history of the American labor movement for the past twenty years is a record of the murder of innocents. The newly developed plutocracy, flushed by revolutionary confidence and courage and an assured victory has moved rapidly and steadily forward in its work of reorganizing the industrial and political life of America. As Wall Street swung its sharp ax on the lean hands with which the middle class clung desperately to its little all, that middle class whined and whimpered about "law and order," "Justice," and "The Golden Rule." The trusts were "crimes against society." As the middle class let go of its wealth, political power, by that very act, slipped away from it. On December 5th, Attorney General Wickersham stated that "John H. Patterson and his associates, by wrongful and illegal acts have destroyed more than 1500 cash register companies and now control more than 95 per cent of the trade."

"By wrongful and illegal acts," says the Attorney General of the United States, a great trust has destroyed more than one hundred and fifty competing companies. This statement means that hundreds of middle class families have been, by a single trust, crushed down into the wage-class or thrown ruthlessly upon the wayside to perish. And all these "wrongful and illegal acts" were simply according to that old and ever valid higher law—"Might Makes Right."

The Trusts and the Labor Unions.

The one trust we shall describe in this connection bears directly upon the subject now under discussion. Many of the trusts during the period when they were killing and eating the middle class compromised with the old-fashioned craft unions. In fact, these antiquated craft organizations could thrive only where they did compromise with the trust. Sam Parks was a structural iron worker. He was a "brother" of the McNamaras. Sam Parks was a power of the Structural Iron Workers union during that period when the great contractors and allied interests were crushing out their smaller rivals. Sam Parks was paid by the big interests to call strikes on the jobs of the little interests and put them out of business. When the group of great construction companies which used Sam Parks did not heed his dirty work in their business any longer they sent Sam to jail. And thus ended the first chapter. By 1903, the year Sam Parks was sent to prison, the Steel Trust was well on its way toward the control of the structural iron work of the nation. And the Steel Trust never needed men like Sam Parks. The professional labor fakir belongs to the period of transition merely and is discarded when the trust is completed. But labor "leaders" like Sam Parks got salaries from the big interests such as would never be paid to labor fakirs who represent men who work in shops. The reason for this lies in the fact that in building construction, both the middle class capitalist and the organized craft unionist can live longer than in any manufacturing industry. If men go on strike in Pittsburg, the Steel Trust can close down the Pittsburg shops and have the work done in Pueblo, Colorado, or Windsor, Canada But a building which is to be put up at 100 Tenth Street, New York, cannot be constructed in St. Louis or San Francisco and then imported. It must be built right there on the spot. Under these conditions the middle class has a much better chance to secure contracts, to profit by local political influence and otherwise to compete with the trust. Also, for this reason, the building trades of their own strength and volition can maintain a stronger hold on the situation than the workers of any other modernized industry.

The International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers has been the last craft union to look the Steel Trust in the face.

Even before the trust was organized the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers had been broken and driven. Its real power was lost in the great Homestead strike of 1892. At that time Carnegie and his hirelings shot and starved its members into submission. Open shop conditions at Homestead and vicinity meant that closed shop conditions elsewhere helped drive the little capitalist who compromised with the union to the wall. When the Steel Trust came upon the scene what was left of the Amalgamated Association was quickly snuffed out. The next great union for the Steel Trust to crush complete was that of the Lake Seamen. Iron ore is first and foremost of the products shipped on the lakes. The Steel Trust owned its own fleet of ore vessels. It forced every other shipper on the lakes to join it in blacklisting the Lake Seamen's union. All that is now left of that union are a few old starved workers who for 50c a day carry signs about the lake cities stating that the strike is still on.

In its war upon organized labor the Steel Trust committed murders without number. Innocent men whom it imprisoned are still languishing in jail and penitentiaries. It reduced the standard of living and drove to disease and premature death scores of thousands of working men and their families.

The roadway of the triumph of progress of the Steel Trust is smeared with blood and lined with the graves of its victims. All industrial and social life in Pittsburg, in Homestead, in McKees Rocks, in Gary, is simply organized pillage, organized starvation and organized murder.

In the blackness of the night which pressed upon this broken and disheartened army of wage slaves, one single craft union for a time has been able to maintain a semblance of organization. It is the last to leave the field of battle. Its end has now most surely come. Against the steel armor and the high power steel rifles of the greatest of trusts it remained to test the bow and arrow and the war club of craft unionism. These poor weapons have now fallen from its nerveless hands.

The McNamaras brothers saw union after union collapse. They saw their class spit upon and then starved and murdered. They saw all the powers of a mighty government over which their class had not the slightest degree of control turned ruthlessly against the working class.

Other labor "leaders" became liars, traitors to their class and grafters upon the enemy. The McNamaras in their blundering and ignorant way resolved to be true to their class. The Steel Trust used every force within reach to crush the working class. They would repel force by force. For men who had been receiving five dollars for eight hours to be forced down to two dollars a day for ten or twelve hours meant death to the working class. The McNamaras chose to die fighting.

With every convention of morality known to their minds despised and every law made for their protection broken by the enemy, how could any one, they argued, expect them to obey the law or accuse them of wrong-doing when they ignored the constraints of customary morality?

Had the McNamaras been wiser in their day they would have said to the workers in every branch of the iron and steel industry, "Organize one union. Join the Socialist Party. Organize that union of workers as the trust has organized its union of capitalists. Protect that union from the police powers of the state and from the injunction as the capitalists now protect their property from you—by gaining control of the political government. Do not organize to make peace. Organize to fight. The fight must go on until we completely possess and control the trusts. That we can do only through one union an done party and by means wholly different from those used in the old craft organized pure and simply union. Throw away your old weapons and take yourself weapons out of the armory of modern science and scietnific methods. Let us organize as a class against a class. Let us use every weapon we need for victory, discarding none. For the old-fashioned union to fight the trust is suicide. To attempt at present to use force against force would be worse than suicide. Let us peacefully educate ourselves and organize ourselves unto that day when we have developed the power necessary for an assured victory."

But in the labor union world of the McNamaras there was no such message. With Gompers they were good Democrats in 1908. In ignorance and despair they turned to the only means which seemed available to them.

In blowing up the Times building the McNamaras killed nineteen non-union men. This is suggestive of the methods of the antiquated unions. Their war had been one-tenth a war against the enemy and nine-tenths against unorganized workers. An average craft union makes scabs through high initiation fees, high dues, closed books and discrimination. Then when those whom its methods cannot or will not organize get the jobs it is at their peril. Most of the craft unions have among their membership a large proportion who got in by taking the jobs of strikers and later, when they kept the jobs, being organized by the union. In view of these facts the outcry against the scab is, nine times out of ten, a hollow mockery.

So the miserable end of the McNamaras is a natural result of the decay of craft unionism among a working class which has, until now, lacked the insight and courage to build up a union which the times demand.

But responsibility does not end with this conclusion. When the McNamaras went to an average Socialist political meeting what did they usually hear? Something like this: "The labor unions are dead. They have served their purpose. You have failed by striking. Now you must vote. Don't waste time fighting on the job. Wait until election day. Vote for what you want and you will get it." From such lop-sided piffle as this the McNamaras turned away in disgust and filled their suit cases with dynamite. Socialists who are too cowardly to teach the class war on the industrial field cannot now escape the censure of all right thinking workers. And in 1911 ignorance of the situation on the part of Socialist speakers and writers is as inexcusable as cowardice.

Yet the McNamara case cannot hurt the Socialist Party in any way. They were Democrats and members of the Knights of Columbus. Had they been Socialists we would have been kept busy for years to come protesting that we do not favor their methods. As it is we shall refrain from placing the responsibility upon Woodrow Wilson and W. J. Bryan or upon Cardinal Gibbons and the Roman Pontiff.

Furthermore, the confession cannot in reality hurt our cause in California. The non-Socialist labor union vote in Los Angeles we had far better do without. When the workers of Los Angeles are ready to vote for Socialism, we shall carry the city with or without the consent of the union officials.

Gompers and Mitchell or the average craft union leaders in the place of the McNamaras would have played the part of weaklings and grafters or slunk out of the fight altogether. Thousands of such have quit in despair or gone over to the enemy when the trusts proceeded to smash the unions.

The McNamaras, strong but ignorant, woefully misguided but true to their class, threw themselves like fanatics into a hopeless and losing fight. Why could they not, in the hour when each in his inmost self, was put to the crucial test, act like men and die as they lived? From such a going out the revolutionary workers might have drawn that measure of comfort which comes from the reffection that mebmers of the working class may be depended upon to suffer death for their cause. But their vision was too limited to inspire calm courage. Their confession is a dying groan from the lips of an expiring craft unionism.

The McNamaras were just as misguided but no more so that was John Brown. With twenty-one untrained fanatics John Brown started a war upon the South and upon the Government of the United States. Could Brown have been successful in freeing the slaves, he would have been "right." Failure made him wrong. Were the McNamaras' old fashioned union methods successful in bringing freedom to the working class they would be "right." But such methods cannot win. Hence for that reason, and for that reason alone, they are to be condemned. The hearts of te McNamaras were right. It was their heads which were in error. A pity that they might not have gone to their doom like their elder brother, who, when he marched down between the ranks of soldiers with loaded muskets, bowed his head and bent his back but once, and then to kiss the black child of a slave. A few days later, at the grave of old John Brown, Wendell Phillips, rising in the face of the bitter opposition of every cowardly, slavery-defending wage-worker, of every cringing, snivelling parson, of every dough-face politician and every swindling, prostituted lawyer and shop-keeper who hastened to assure the south that they were "law-abiding" and that they gloried in the death of John Brown, and said to the whole dirty rabble what revolutionists may well repeat today:

ANOTHER BLOW TO THE PROLETARIAT

The Socialist office will not be represented at the Jackson day banquet, to be given by the Franklin County Democratic Club, January 8. The edict has gone forth that all about that festal board must be arrayed in evening dress. "Booster" Johnston, of the business department, has nothing more fashionable than a rain coat, while the "Old Man's" limit is a white vest. Come to think of it, none of us have been invited anyhow, so we are not going to be thar.

LEGAL NOTICE.

John Wyatt Hurd, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that on the 23rd day of December, 1911, Margaret Anson Hurd filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Franklin County, Ohio, cause No. 42214, praying for divorce on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, for alimony, restoration to her former name of Anson, and costs. The said cause will be for hearing on and after February 10, 1912.

SOCIALIST COUNCILMEN SAVE LIGHT EXTENDER BOND PROPOSITION

They Puncture Mayor Karb's Special Pleas for The Rail-Light Company

The City Council last Monday night passed by a unanimous vote, the resolution authorizing the submission to the voters on May 21, of the question of issuing $365,000 in bonds to extend the electric light plant. The resolution as passed was the one adopted by the council committee as a substitute for the original resolution introduced by Socialist Councilman Zimpfer. Councilman Warren insisted that the resolution should contain the provisions for a uniform rate and specify light, heat and power. Councilmen Baldridge, Sherman and Alcott insisted that those details would complicate the sale of the bonds, and the four Socialists fell into line to obtain the main thing desired—an extension of the electric light plant. Every move in this matter will be carefully watched.

Mayor Karb has given out that he will not sign the bond resolution "just now." He is against it in reality although professing otherwise.

The batle royal of Monday evening's session was upon the alleged probe resolution introduced by request of Mayor Karb. Socialist Councilmen Bohnert, Wilson, Warren and Zimpfer opposed the measure because of its not being necessary and because its only real purpose was to hinder the light extender. The Columbus municipal light plant will be properly investigated in a proper and legal manner.

Those voting for the probe proposed by the mayor, were: Barry, Beiderman, Ellis, Hayden, Lucks, McGuire, Reinhard, Stribling and Wagner—8. Those against: Alcott, Baldridge, Bohnert, Connolley, Griffin, Nailor, Sherman, Warren, Wilson and Zimpfer—10. The loss of the three Republicans, Hayden, McGuire and Stribling, was overbalanced by the vote of the four Socialists who opposed the investigation.

Mayor Karb and Solicitor Bolin made strenuous efforts by impassioned speeches to induce council to vote for the probe. Their endeavors were offset by the applause given them by George Harper, Bill Mahanna, Doc Waddell and Mose Schlessinger, who sat outside the railing as spectators. Self-respecting councilmen generally oppose anything that these four worthies favor.

Socialist Councilman Bohnert introduced an ordinance providing for increased fire protection on the Hilltop. The measure goes to committee.

An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of two petitions from churches asking for the pasage of the publicity ordinance affecting immoral resorts.

The Socialist councilmen again demonstrated that they must be "shown" the reasons for legislation. They are "on the job."

Committee Hearing on Light Extender.

The council committee on electricity met Friday evening of last week to consider the electric light extender. The continuous performance was in substance as follows:

Question by Socialist Councilman Warren: Mayor Karb, isn't it a fact that you have the Gamper report in your possession?

Answer by Mayor Karb: I have some papers purporting to be Gamper's report, but I have not taken the time to look at them and do not know if they are his report or not.

Question by Councilman Alcott: Mayor Karb, isn't it a fact that you have those papers, Gamper's report, in your pocket at this time?

Answer by Mayor Karb: Mr. Alcott, you really do not think I have those papers here, do you?

Question by Citizen M. C. Green: Mayor Karb, it is estimated by you and others that it will require $10,000 to make proper investigation and report of the present electric light plant. Would it be wise to spend that amount now and delay the vote beyond the primaries and then be compelled to expend $8,000 more for special election, or first let the people decide if they want the $365,000 bond issue at the May primary?

Answer by Mayor Karb: It would be [illegible] to vote the bond issue first.

Question by Councilman Sherman: Mayor [illegible] would you consent to any other committee to make the investigation [illegible] the one named in your message to council?

Answer by Mayor Karb: If I had the assurance of a fair committee.

Question by Socialist Councilman Zimpfer: Mayor Karb, how long do you estimate that it would take to make the investigation and report you recommend?

Answer by Mayor Karb: It could probably be done in thirty days.

Question by Socialist Councilman Wilson: Mayor Karb, do you think an expert from New York or elsewhere could in thirty days' time investigate and report on our electric light plant and that such a report should be given more weight than the report of Mr. Gamper, who has had full charge of the plant for several years?

Answer by Mayor Karb: It might have more weight with some.

Question by Socialist Councilman Bohnert: Mayor Karb, do you not think $10,000 a very large amount for thirty days' services when we have no money to pay the fireman's increase?

Answer by Mayor Karb: It might be done for $5,000.

George D. Jones, now in Law Department under Karb, spoke in favor of Karb's investigation after first saying he was in favor of the light extender as proposed by Socialist Councilmen BUT.

Franklin Reibrecht, attorney, now acting police judge under Karb, spoke in favor of the light extender BUT.

Democratic Councilman Lucks, of Third Ward, spoke in favor of light extender BUT.

City Solicitor Bolin spoke in favor of light extender BUT

It will be observed that all these men were careful to say they were in favor of the light extender when at the same time asked for conditions which would at once kill all efforts to attain.

Socialist Marsh C. Green, who has been at Panama for several months, showed that there with coal $4.00 per ton (here $1.29) and labor much higher than here, electric light heat and power was sold for 4c per kilowatt and less.

Socialist W. C. Bates was simply astounded at arguments of Attorneys Geo. D. Jones and Franklin Rubrecht and asked if the Jeffrey Mfg. Co. or any other private business would give more credit to a foreign expert on casual investigation than to their regular manager.

LOAN SHARKS ROB TOILERS MERCILESSLY

Old Game is Worked in Columbus as in All Large Cities

Playing on a wife's fear of her husband's displeasure, a Chicago loan shark, during 16 years, collected from Mrs. John H. Murphy more than $500, on an original loan of $25. This was the story of extortion uncovered by the Chicago Legal Aid Society recently.

Murphy, the father, had always cautioned his son not to buy anything on credit. Young Murphy disobeyed that injunction back in 1896, purchasing a suit of clothes.

When he fell behind in his payments and feared that the matter would come to his father's attention he appealed to his mother. She likewise was afraid to ask aid of Murphy, and went to a loan shark for the money. She has paid 10 per cent a month ever since then.

The loan shark's persecution of the woman was brought to light when the original lender died and his son tried to squeeze more money out of the woman.

The Chicago case is being practically duplicated in Columbus every week. The recent holidays have been a feast for these vultures. People have been induced to borrow money in order to give their families some of the pleasures of the season. The poor dupes now find that they are obliged to pay from 100 to 180 per cent interest on the sums advanced by these benevolent (?) sharks. Every day brings to light some pitiful story of suffering resulting from this legalized robbery. The laws seem not to hinder the bunco game in the least. The Socialist will have some detailed facts in regard to this system of spollation to publish soon. If you have any information kindly let us know.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

All 50c winter underwear, fleece lined and ribbed, now only 37c, at The Libtrty, 198-200 East Main street.

NEWSIES ARE TO HAVE BIG VAUDEVILLE SHOW.

Mose Powell and Other Equally Noted Performers Are on the Program.

For the past month or more the newsboys of Columbus have been working with "might and main" to perfect their vaudeville show which will be put on in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium next Monday night, and which promises to overshadow any amateur production of its kind ever staged in Columbus.

The promoters of the affair have searched high and low for the best talent available among the newsboys who peddle on the streets and the names which grace the program speak well for their efforts in securing first-class performers. The two young theatrical "magnates" who are producing the show are Carl Jones and Frank Morger, both of whom are well known local newsies.

One of the most pretentious features will be the Mose Powell minstrels, which number five performers. The other acts will be Billy Snell, singing comedian; La Valle Trio, acrobats; Holdren McDonald, head balancing; Bova and Bova, singing and dancing; Harry Sully, boxing; "School Days" act; Fleming sisters, singing and dancing, and James and Rotondo in "The Dago and the Tad." Tickets are only 25c.

"COWING STRIKERS."

A local daily paper prints the following headlines, "Militia Under Arms to Cow the Strikers." The dispatch underneath refers to the strike of the textile workers at Lawrence, Massachusetts. "Cow the Strikers." Note the phrase. Disorder was only "feared" the story stated, but the troops were called to "cow" the workers.

WANTS RECEIVER FOR DEMOCRAT.

Through Attorney James N. Linton Bert F. Gordon has brought an action in common pleas court asking for the appointment of a receiver for The Democrat, a weekly newspaper, with Pat. J. McAllister, Jr., owner and publisher. Mr. Gordon says the paper owes him $321 for wages.

The Democrat is the sheet printed for the sole purpose of publishing the city printing. The Socialist headed off the scheme to give The Democrat a lump of graft and the paper seems to be on the rocks.

FORMER CONVENT INMATE DEFENDS HER POSITION

She Adds to Weight of Evidence Against Local Church Prison on West Broad Street

Columbus, O., Jan. 16, 1912.

Comrade Editor:

Several of the Socialist Comrades have shown the affidavit I swore to, which appeared in The Columbus Socialist in regard to conditions which prevailed during my incarceration at the Convent of the Good Shepherd on Broad and Sandusky streets, to Catholics. They say it is a lie, that I was only a bad girl when placed there or either turned bad after leaving said institution. I wish to make it known that there are two distinct classes behind those walls, the preservation class for little innocent children and a penitent class for wayward girls. I was a member of the former class. One-half of said girls who have been in said class with me turned out bad. Why? The answer is this: They are kept in ignorance about the conditions which exist on the outside of those gray gloomy walls. After being released the child begins to realize that the world looks down upon her as a prisoner, one who had to be kept behind walls for fear of doing wrong. It has often been said in my hearing that the convent is the place for bad girls. Very few girls who spend their early days in such an institution tell anyone they were inmates because they realize a brand is on them the same as an ex-convict. Nothing is taught them in regard to general housekeeping or cooking, they get little schooling, so they are turned to the mercy of the world, knowing little of anything. They resort to drudgery. When sickness comes they are no longer wanted by their employer; no where to go, no one to give them a kind word it's impossible for them to lay away a little for a rainy day; they are paid the smallest wages possible. What becomes of them? It is then they realize their awful helplessness, plunge headlong into vice and degradation, seeking love and help from some one, they listen to the lies of a destroyer of their virtue. Then the church will prate about their downfall. Why not offer succor at the opoprtune time—don't wait until they have fallen into a dark abyss. People who never were in such a place can never realize what slaves little children have to be in order to satiate the hunger and laziness of their superiors and masters. There are many girls in this city who have been through that same prison as I and are willing to prove my statements. There is a girl languishing in the Ohio penitentiary today, a victim of the above sweatshop—Myrtle Fenstemaker, serving a term for bigamy. Every one was ready to censure her, no one tried to lift her from the mire, turned out in the cold world alone, she ran a race with hell seeking love from some one, she became liable to the law and is now serving her sentence. I was always afraid to say anything in regard to that heinous prison for children. After studying Socialism I began to see the awfulness of a profit system grinding the lives of litle children into dollars that some parasites might live in ease. God speed the day when each child will be given a right to live honestly and get that love which belongs to it, not to be torn from its relatives and thrown in a prison with a great wall around it. God said, "Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." He never taught that a wall should blight their innocent lives.

Yours for the Cause,

AGNES VAUGHAN.

Station C.

"We see by the papers" that the Democrats (in name only) have chosen Baltimore as the headquarters for their next fiasco. Wouldn't it be an awful thing for them to discover that they had a clock in their convention hall that they could not turn the hands back on.

BOYS MUST HELP TAFT.

Federal Employes Asked to Cough Up to Boost the Presidential Game.

President William H. Taft is scheduled to visit Columbus on the thirtieth day of this month, ostensibly to dedicate the new government building. He really is coming to fix his political fences in Ohio by getting into touch with the bosses of his party in this state. That's his business and he is not to be blamed for desiring to hold on to a good job.

The Socialist, however, is informed that federal employes, all under civil service, are being asked to contribute $1 or more each towards the blowout. Besides being contrary to law, this request which is really a demand, is an imposition. Taft has been particularly vindictive towards the postal employes and to ask them to boost his game in this way is certainly "rubbing it in."

RED WAVE SWEEPS OVER GERMAN EMPIRE IN REICHSTAG ELECTION

Socialist Party Wins Magnificent Victory Against Combined Forces of Capitalism

Once again has German Socialism taken a long stride forward on the road to power, with a political success so great that its extent as yet can only be guessed at. A vote about a million larger than that of 1907, carrying with it more than double the number of Socialist representatives elected in that year—that memorable election which was heralded over the entire world as a crushing defeat for Socialism, though the actual number of Socialists had increased by more than a quarter of a million.

Between four and four and a half million Socialist votes, sixty-seven seats captured on the first ballot, with a minimum of twenty-five almost certain on the second, making between ninety and ninety-five Socialist representatives in the next Reichstag, marks one of the most significant advances ever made, even in that German Socialism, which has given to the working class world so many wonderful examples of the power of a united proletariat.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—So far as known the Socialist triumphs at yesterday's election spelled disaster to the other opposition parties. The Conservatives are weakened, but the Catholic center remains intact, and the government claims to be unshaken by the net results.

The Socialists have already carried sixty-six seats outright in the first ballot, as compared with twenty-nine in 1907.

They have captured seven out of eight divisions in Greater Berlin, and are likely to carry the eighth, containing the imperial residences, which is emphatically the Kaiser's own quarter. There will be a tremendous struggle on the second ballot to carry the other district, so that the Socialists may have an "All Red" Berlin.

In addition to their achievement in Berlin, the Socialists have got in second ballots for 109 seats, and it is believed that the final round will bring up their total strength in the Reichstag to 90 or 100 seats.

So far their successes have been disastrous to the other opposition sections. The Radicals, National Liberals and the non-Socialist Left have lost more than twenty seats. The once omnipotent National Liberals carried only four seats on the first ballot out of 200, which they contested.

The Liberals and Socialists will have to make second contests at Bonn and at Marienburg, where the Junker leader, Oldenburg, was beaten out. The National Liberals and Socialists will have to recontest Stuttgart, the Socialists and Centrists, Essen; the National Liberals and Socialists, Leipsic; the National Liberals and Progressives, Frankfort, and the Centrists and Socialists, Dusseldorf.

Berlin Was Quiet.

Among the prominent men who have been elected are Molkenbuhr, the Socialist; Count Schwerin-Loewitz, the former President of the Reichstag, and Count Kanitz and Herr Heydebrandt, Conservatives.

Herr Stoecker, the Christian Social-anti-Semite, and Herr Hahn, the Conservative Agrarian leader, were defeated. The latter leaves the Liberal, Baron Richtofr, former secretary of the Embassy at Washington, in a good position to win on the reballot.

Although the election was regarded as the most important since the formation of the empire, this city remained remarkably quiet last night. This was in striking contrast to election night in 1907. Not until 9 o'clock, when the first special editions of the newspapers appeared, was there any excitement. At midnight the streets presented almost their customary appearance, and there was hardly a cheer or an exclamation to be heard.

Combine Against Socialists.

The result of the reballoting, which will take place from January 20 to January 24, will depend on the bargaining between the various parties.

Generally half of the constituencies won by the reballots are decided by the political bargaining for support. It is said that the Conservatives and the Centrists will combine against all comers and will support prietically any candidate against a Socialist. Conversely, the Liberals, Progressive Radicals and the Social Democrats will consolidate against any candidate of the Conservative-Centrist blue-black bloc.

The Socialists will take part in 100 reballots, out of which moderate estimates give them twenty-four victories. The Socialist Central Committee is confident that the party will have from 90 to 95 seats in the next Reichstag.

EXPRESS COMPANY GRAFT.

State-wide interest attaches to the hearing before the Ohio Public Service Commission of the case wherein it is asked that the commission compel all express companies to deliver parcels and packages to all parts of the city of Columbus free of charge.

The specific complain is that all the express companies in the city have established a dead line beyond which they refuse to deliver any express packages except for extra pay.

It further appears that in Columbus and other large cities the express companies have some deal with a separate delivery concern which holds the people up for an amount equal to double the original charge. This is only one example of petty graft.

OLD MAN VICTIM OF POLICE METHODS.

The bastile on the east bank of the Scioto river has claimed another victim. Ed Blackburn, aged 71 years, was sick and poor. He lived in one room on West Broad street. He was sent to the city prison, locked up for safe keeping, held in a rotten cell several days and finally sent to the infirmary where he died several days later. Workingmen beware, for your days of usefulness are numbered. Think of Blackburn having struggled for 71 years to live. He dies alone. Such is the system you support.

"WALK, DAMN YOU" SAYS RAIL-LIGHT

West Broad and Leonard Patrons are Victims of E. K. Stewart's Spite

One of the worst outrages perpetrated upon the common people of Columbus is the service given by the Rail-Light Company upon their West Broad and Leonard street car line. Since the completion of the Interurban station the Camp Chase cars run cross-town and the people who live near that line cannot get up town, for the Camp Chase cars now run east instead of around the loop. This has a tendency to congest traffic upon the West Broad street line. The rotten service given is enough to make a Christian swear. One night last week the writer of this waited at High and Broad more than thirty minutes for a West Broad car. When he respectfully asked an inspector the cause of the delay the reply was—"Late." The writer remarked, "I'd like to get to Central Avenue." The burly inspector blurted out, "Walk, damn you; walk!" The Old Man didn't walk, because he has only one real leg, but he waited a while longer and rode.

The fact is that the working class folks who live on West Broad and Leonard were rather active in the summer of 1910 against Czar Stewart and his scabs. That is, the writer has been so informed. Since then Stewart and his hirelings have been very zealous in making things as unpleasant as possible for the patrons of this line.

Stewart is a financial bankrupt and seems determined to vent his spite on the public. That policy doesn't pay, E. K., and you ought to know it.

JUDICIAL INFALLIBILITY

The privileged and predatory interests are raising a great hue and cry for an independent judiciary. Considering the vast volume and constant reiteration of this cry, it would not be out of place to examine some of the claims made for this independent judiciary, both historically and rationally.

The doctrine of judicial infallibility, like most of our fundamental conceptions, can be traced to the most primitive sources. We read in the Homeric poems that the kings, who exercised the functions of executive, priest, legislator and judge, claimed to derive their judgments from heaven. Thus the judgment of the king obtained a sanctity that it would not otherwise possess. A survival of this doctrine is found in our accepted legal maxim that the proceedings of a court of record impart absolute verity and in the pretensions of our judiciary that both they and their acts are immune from public criticism. To further impress this judicial sanctity upon the mind of the laity, the judiciary are reviving obsolete customs. Witness the practice of requiring all attendants at court to rise to their feet when court convenes, paralleled by the practice of kneeling in prayer before the divine presence, and the recrudescence of the wig and gown.

But to return to the doctrine of judicial infallibility. It reappears, if it was ever entirely lost, in the doctrine of the divine right of kings and in the early maxim of our law that the king can do no wrong. These were universally accepted legal and political doctrines during the middle ages, and the latter is still a part of the fundamental law of England, although, through the process of political evolution it has degenerated into a legal fiction. The doctrine of the divine right of kings died in England with King Charles I, but it is still asserted in Germany and elsewhere as a part of their basic law.

Derivation of Doctrine.

The derivation of this doctrine of judicial infallibility from the dogma of the divine right of kings can be readily perceived when wt consider that the king was the state. In England they still talk of the king's army and navy and the king's judges and courts. The judges originally exercised merely a delegated function of the king. We can follow this delegation of the kingly function in English history in the establishment of the royal courts, which administered the common law—the Court of Exchequer, the Court of King's Bench and the Court of Common Pleas. The accepted legal and historical doctrine is that the king, after this delegation, retained in his person the undelegated judicial function, and this was afterwards exercised by the king's chancellor as the keeper of the king's conscience, which resulted in the establishment of courts of chancery or courts of equity. It is not surprising that courts of chancery, exercising the undelegated judicial function, have in the United States been most aggressive in extending their jurisdiction and to them we owe the creation of the novel doctrine of issuing injunctions in labor disputes and the contempt proceedings incident thereto. We could, if space and time permitted, trace this chain of judicial infallibility from its promulgation and acceptance among the Homeric heroes around the walls of Troy in an unbroken line of descent through the middle ages to the modern champions of privilege and predatory wealth, who by the modernization of an ancient dogma, seek to establish a despotism more covert but no less absolute than those that held in bondage the dusky hordes of Egypt and the illiterate and superatitious peasantry of the middle ages.

Lack of candor will not permit the defenders of modern judicial despotism to base their claim of judicial immunity from criticism upon any sort of infalibility inherent in the judicial office. This would be to express their pretensions in the language of theology and we all know that in these days theology is under auspicion. In the last analysis, however, this claim in whatever language it is made can be predicated only upon a superior wisdom and a superior sanctity not inhering in the judges as mere men, but derived from some mystical source in some mystical way upon their assumption of the judical office. We will not, however, further tax the patience of the reader with a discussion of judicial transcendentalism. The above will fuly illustrate the historical setting of the doctrine that an odor of sanctity pertains to the person and the decrees of a court which exempts it from vulgar criticism.

Any claim to extraordinary sanctity or infallibility is usually predicated upon the assumed or actual possesion of absolute power. Alexander the Great claimed to be a god and the Roman emperors were defied after theid eaths. An actute critic of our institutions has described our form of government as an aristocracy of the vote. More correctly, perhaps, it might be caled a despotism of the vote.

Departments of Government.

Theoretically the three departments of our government are independent. On paper we have an independent executive, an independent legislature, and an independent judiciary. By first arrogating to themselves the power to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional, a power not expressly granted by the constitution, and very doubtfully granted by implication, the federal judiciary has assumed practically all the sovereign power of the nation. This power when not used to make law, as in the tobacco and Standard Oil cases, has been uniformly employed to veto obnoxious statutes. Thus we behold the spectacle of law making power, Congress, engaged in fruitless logomachies about what the law ought to be and the Supreme Court, by the exercise of its power of interpretation and its usurped power of veto, determining what it is. It is no answer to this complaint that the courts determine and interpret the law as it finds it. For no man or body of men is able to divorce itself from its prejudices and preconceptions and register with mechanical precision a result that is inherent in the application of the law to the facts. Nor does our body of law possess a rigidity sufficient to guarantee such a result. Rather, the court following the line of its preconceptions and prejudices, arrives at a result in conformity with them and then adopts a course of reasoning and a line of precedent agreeable thereto. We have no sympathy with the belief frequently held that our saintly judges, like a phonograph, grind out unerringly the tune that is placed in them and for the same notch they always sound the same note. For as a matter of fact and to prove this you have but to consult the vast volume of legal precedent embodied in our law reports and consider their great contrariety, they frequently sound a different note for the same notch and it not infrequently happens that the same court and sometimes the same judges discover that the law under the same circumstances was different from what thty held it to be on another occasion. The income tax cases and the tobacco and Standard oil cases are very much in point along this line. The explanation of all this is to be found in the consideration not that the law and facts are different, for the law and the facts are the same by hypothesis, but that different men with different prejudices and ifferent influtnces back of them are declaring what the law is; or different influences are at work upon the mind of the court, the personnel of the court being unchanged, so that they adopt a different line of reasoning and a different set of precedents to arrive at a different result.

Contempt of Court.

Two other powers widely extended in their use have contributed to the further extension of judicial omnipotence and have added greatly to the claims made of judicial infallibility. These two powers are the power to punish for contempts and the power to disbar attorneys. The first of these is an offensive and defensive weapon designed and used to protect the court from adverse criticism among tht clas most capable of underatanding the sinnosities of legal procedure. The power to punish for contempts, inherent in courts and perhaps necessary to secure orderly procedure, is an usurped power in its application to disputes between capital and labor and its origin dates back less than 30 years. The original idea was taken from the decision of an inferior court in England, which was afterwards reversed by a higher tribunal. But it is now firmly imbedded in our jurisprudence. Based upon an erroneous declaration of the law of England, the American judiciary has built up a vast fabric of law, absolutely creating it out of its own bowels without a shred of statutory or constitutional enactment and often in spite of express statutory prohibitions. These are the legal instruments out of which have grown the existing despotism of our courts over person and property. The result has been to transform almost all uestions and has given the judge an effective veto on the cast of Congress and our legislatures. The courts have thus become the ultimate arbiters of public welfare and have enthrowned the sophistry and equivocation of a medieval legal metaphysic as the acid test of all acts pertaining to social progress.

Hope is a fleeting joy that the working class ever looks forward to.

BREAKING THE LINES.

By Dr. Laura Hobson McQuesten.

That a majority of the voters are tired of the old parties can no longer be denied. The regularity of the stay-at-homes on election day can be accounted for in no other way. Economic conditions have proved a cruel task master, though the most of the workers are still ignorant of the lesson taught.

The old parties are disrupted and falling to pieces, and it is possible that a skirmish will be made and a new party formed that will be even more vicious. There is in both the Republican and Democratic ranks the manifestation of this tendency. The insurgent movement in the Republican party and the reform movement within the Democrat movement are evidences of this.

Therefore just at this time it should be easy for the Socialist Party to push its propaganda—not merely for the purpose of influencing—but for the purpose of educating the voters. If we are to be a factor in the elections of 1912, we will have to bend all our energies and conduct the greatest campaign of education we have ever conducted. To work for the campaign of 1912 should be the slogan of every Socialist.

Leslie M. Shaw, four years Governor of Iowa and six years Secretary of the Treasury, says in a prospectus that his company, the American Fiber Reed Company, is in position to pay big dividends, as they have to pay but 82 cents per day for their prison labor while their competitors pay an average wage of $3 per day; and he further adds: "THERE ARE NO STRIKES IN PRISONS."

It now appears that the Russian atrocities in Persia are much more horrible than previously reported; their whole march from the Russian frontier has been marked by the maimed and butchered, the work apparently, having been done in wanton cruelty.

How will Socialism be brought about? Pshaw! We are getting it every day. Socialism will not come all at once any more than one grows old all at once; Socialism comes with the increasing democratic control of affairs by the people and with the extension of government or public ownership.

MUCKRAKER vs. MONEYRAKER

In East Aurora, New York, there dwells together in a most unique settlement, several hundred souls who work at a variety of crafts. They run a printing plant, a book-bindery, a bank, a hotel; they farm, sew their wood, make furniture, lecture, sing, moralize, write, weave rugs, make stained glass windows, model in clay, paint pictures; the while enriching their mental fibre with the stray glintings that radiate from the diamond chips of wisdom uttered or written by their pastor, the man who owns them, their tools, and all the wealth produced by them.

The work at East Aurora is all hand wrought, there is no noisy machinery. Hand to hand labor it is sometimes called, which receives its reward when the soft twilight falls in the heart to heart talks by the pastor of the flock.

These people, most of them, in fact the greater number, have a past none too pleasant to dwell upon. But they are welcomed into East Aurora, and this fact (as it should be) is forgotten. They are given the privilege of working along the lines of their especial aptitude. They are taught to do their work skillfully. No one is discharged if he fails at some particular work, he is merely transferred to another line. The products fashioned by these willing hands are artistic, beautiful and as we all know—costly. The workers are taught to believe in the religion of work. Their prayer as taught them by their pastor is: "Give us this day our daily work," and this prayer has been answered with the regularity of dawn following the night.

And since labor produces all wealth, great wealth has come to East urora, but, let us add, it has not come to the producers thereof—but to their pastor.

Yes; they have been taken into this fold regardles of a past; good. They have been taught to perform the labor of their choice most skillfully; they have labored unceasingly; yet, they have been and are being EXPLOITED in the name of "reform," and by a man who stands for "ideals."

The criminal, the tramp, the fallen, all have been gathered in here and forced to pay tribute to one who is supposed to be scattering broadcast the seeds of protest and reform. Let us look into the nature of some of these ideals. The pastor of this flock is the author of a little book called "Message to Garcia." This is a delightful little story, we admit; yet, the lesson to be derived from its pages is that lesson which all masters would impress upon their slaves; whole-hearted assistance, undivided attention, unending devotion to the interest whose cause is served. So well was the master spirit sounded in this little book, that in coming to the notice of George B. Daniels, president of the New York Central Railroad, he ordered a million copies that his employes might have the rare advantage of its lesson, and take heed, lest in his service they become careless; for only by the jewel efficiency clustering about undivided, wholesouled attention to business, can money be produced—and still more money—for presidents of railroads cannot exist without money.

And so long ago, early in the history of this settlement, did its pastor attract favorable notice from the Powers of Greed, and ever since he has bowed down and worshipped that power; all of which he approves, part of which he is.

Occasionally in his little brown book that makes its appearance "every little while" he gives forth such choice bits of capitalistic wisdom as the following:

"I am not in the business of defaming America, nor using as a doormat the things that are building it up. I believe in Big Business and more of it."

Why, of course you do, pastor. Your own Business is Big with the spoils of your exploited plunder. You would not use the THINGS that build up this business as your doormat—but the people in your service, are they not the very doormat of your plundering method? Then wisely your remark that Jesus wept, Voltaire smiled, William Morris worked. Is it any wonder Jesus wept? He wept at the very things you extol, human wrongs. He in His day made war upon the exploiters. He drove them out of the temple. He called them to account wherever he found them. He could not tolerate their methods, and took occasion whenever possible to denounce them. Today, the man who is doing this same thing, you ridicule. You dub him "muckraker," and give him this motto: "I found your city marble, and I left it mud."

Now you did not know it, pastor, but in likening the city to marble, you choose the one word that most fittingly expresses the glory and the shame of our present day civilization, the modern city.

By marble you meant to represent a substance that stands for splendor, costliness and beauty the world over. This, to the indifferent eye, is marble; just as the city, with its brilliant array of lights and gorgeous boulevards, is but a spectacle to charm and dazzle the vision.

Yet, both marble and the modern city, when placed under analysis, present another picture. Let us study it a while.

Look upon the first marble you happen to be near. Upon its virgin whiteness you will observe pencilled a tracery of dove-colored irregular lines. What is the meaning of this? The geologist wil tell you that in the formation of this substance, great upheavals down deep within the earth were constantly taking place. At each upheaval this marble, in its making, was roughly torn asunder. It is the knitting together of these wounds through the long centuries that has caused the veining in marble, and while making it most beautiful, yet there lingers a sadness about the effect that is parallel with the city of today. The city with its hideous homes in chaotic confusion, its turmoil and strife, its poverty, squalor, tenderloin slum and crime on the one hand; its inordinate wealth, unhealthy luxury, and pagan magnificance on the other hand. And he who uses his intellect and looks about him must decide with which of these two he will cast his lot. The one lot may purchase him physical comfort, he may possess an East Aurora, he may gain a whole world, but the place where his sympathies should dwell wil become empty, and his soul will shrivel up and die. Or, he may take his stand with the people, he may defend his weaker brother, and develop within him that love which suffereth long and is kind. To him comes daily the reward of the most potent influence known to civilization, the working out within him of the law of love and justice. He alone is conqueror today who voices the message of the Golden Rule. He it is who with Jesus weeps at the injustice he beholds but with William Morris works to overthrow the tyrant of greed and free mankind from thraldom.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

FALSE MILWAUKEE TATTLINGS.

By Carl Sansburg.

Little Willie Bolenbeck, city hall reporter for the Milwaukee Sentinel, has written the Los Angeles Times five columns of words about Milwaukee Socialists.

Out of these five columns, about four columns are guff and the rest everybody knows.

Willie has spilled the ink in a most careless way. He says the Socialists promised free text books in their platform, also one free meal a day to needy school children, also a municipal stone quarry, also abolition of the contract system on public work. And says Willie, none of these things have been done.

Now, the small, shrivelled size of Willie's bump of veracity becomes apparent as the real facts about these measures are brought out.

1. A bill providing for free text books was introduced and supported by the Socialists in the Wisconsin Legislature. But it was suffocated by Republicans and buried by Democrats.

2. The county board of out-door relief consists of five men, one appointed each year. The Socialist minority on this board voted to appropriate $5,000.00 for the feeding of underfed school children. The measure was blocked by the "individualist" majority. The matter has been given no consideration by the city's school board, which is anti-Socialist.

3. The common council committee having the matter in charge has reduced all the proposed quarry sites to three. Tests as to the quality of stone are nearing conclusion, and the purchase and establishment of a municipal quarry will become an accomplished fact this winter, $10,000.00 having been set aside in the 1911 budget for preliminary payment.

4. In March, 1911, Commissioner Briggs, of the Public Works Department, presented to the common council a report made to him by C. A. Mullen, superintendent of street construction. This report set forth a plan by which the city should do its own paving. The first necessary step was the purchase of an asphalt plant requiring $43,000.00. To get this money, a three-fourths vote of the council was needed. The minority aldermen explained that the plan looked good to them, but they were afraid of its legality. And so, they smothered it.

Thus, Willie, it is true that some of the things demanded in the Socialist platform have not been attained, it is also true that every step possible toward the attainment of those demands has been taken. We have kept the faith. We have brought people to see that platform promises should have meaning.

Little Willie-with-the-Highbrow, however, will keep on sending out guff and false tattlings about Milwaukee. That is his job, and he thinks he has to live by that kind of a job.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE.

"For months past the Napoleon Searchlight, a Socialist paper, has been saying some awful mean things about Judge Donnelly. Why don't the Searchlight turn its batteries loose on McNamaras, the dynamiters, and who were Socialist leaders."—Deshler Flag, Dec. 22.

What necessity has there been or is there for the Searchlight to "turn its batteries loose on the McNamaras" when they are now suffering the full penalty of the law? It took only eight months to indict, convict and sentence the McNamaras. Mike Donnelly for more than three years has openly and brazenly boasted of his deviltry and is still unpunished. Why the difference, Mr. Flagman? You know, Smith, that the McNamaras are under the courts and the law while at the same time Mike Donnelly is, as a judge, in possession of the machinery of the courts and can trample the law under foot with impunity. The Searchlight never asked more for the McNamaras than a fair trial and defends them no longer when convinced of their guilt by their confession. But the Deshler Flag still stands by Mike Donnelly knowing all his crookedness and has pledged him its support for re-election to circuit judge at next spring's primaries, and when Smith says the McNamaras were Socialist leaders he knows he lies, for they are "dimmycrats."

DEMAND ESTABLISHMENT OF MUNICIPAL REFRIGERATOR.

Springfield, Ohio.—A formal demand for a municipal refrigerator plant has been made by the Socialist organization of the city, a petition to have council act on the proposition being filed with the city clerk.

The Socialists in their petition ask that the farmers be permitted to store in the refrigerator any perishable commodities that are a product of their labor. They also ask that the charges for such storage be as low as the actual cost of operations and the payment of the debt permits.

The further demand is made that every commodity so stored shall have the stamp upon it of the date on which it was received and that the farmers be compelled to take them out within ten days.

The last demand of the Socialists is that all animal products shall have stamped upon them the date on which they were slaughtered and also the date on which they were put in storage.

The petition to council is for the purpose of protecting the wares offered for sale on the city market. With a publicly owned refrigerator plant the Socialists claim that the consumer would be guaranteed fresh products and that the farmers would be enabled to hold their products until they could sell to the consumer direct without being compelled to sell to the owners of storage houses.

The incoming council will hear the petition. This demand is but one of the many which will be made to the new council by the Socialists.

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS.

The Socialist Party of Indiana will hold a State convention at Indianapolis Saturday, January 27.

As a number of the old age pension petitions have been wrongly sent, the directions regarding the disposal of the same are here repeated:

Do not send the petitions to Berger.

After getting every possible signature send the petition to the Congressman FROM YOhR DISTRICT, addressing him at the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Write to Victor L. Berger, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., and tell him that you have sent the petition to your Congressman. Also tell him how many signatures it contained.

National Committeemen Rigg of Idaho, Germer of Illinois, Mallet of Utah, and McCrillis of Iowa, support the motion of National Committeeman Morris of Arizona, first published December 30, relating to the employment of persons opposing the principle of political action.

By a recent referendum in Missouri, Wm. A. Ward, 10 Ohio Building, St. Louis, was elected State Secretary, and Clyde A. Berry, 1507 Furnace street, Joplin, and W. W. McAllister, 1330 Irving Place, Springfield, were re-elected members of the National Committee.

By a recent referendum in Texas, Ed. A. Green, Rockdale, was elected State Secretary; T. A. Hickey, Halletsville, was elected a member of the National Committee, and W. S. Noble, Ranger, was re-elected to the same position.

By a recent referendum in Oregon, Chas. H. Otten, 506 Buchanon Building, Portland, was re-elected State Secretary; F. C. Ramp, 506 Buchanon Building, Portland, was elected a member of the National Committee, and W. S. Richards, 539 East Third street, Albany, was re-elected to the same position.

By a recent referendum in Connecticut, Otto Kannegiesser, 746 Chapel street, New Haven, was re-elected State Secretary-Treasurer; William A. Applegate, 746 Chapel street, New Haven, and Ernest Berger, 117 Madison Avenue, Bridgeport, were elected members of the National Committee. Mrs. Sarah G. Hull, of Bristol, was re-elected Woman's State Correspondent.

By a recent referendum in Maryland, A. B. Claxton, Hyattsville, was re-elected State Secretary, and Chas. E. Develin, 130 Augusta avenue, Baltimore, was elected a member of the National Committee.

Charles Henning has resigned as State Secretary of New Hampshire, and M. J. Roth, 488 Pine street, Manchester, has been elected to fill the unexpired term.

Woman's Day, February 28.

Philadelphia, Chicago, Dayton and other places have sent in requests for speakers for Woman's Day, February 28th.

Woman's Day has become one of the most important days in the Socialist calendar, and large demonstrations should be arranged throughout the country.

It is impossible to supply enough women speakers for all the places. The State Secretaries are requested to send the names of local speakers to the General Correspondent of the Woman's National Committee, 205 West Washington street, Chicago, so that she can give the information to those who apply.

The subject upon this day is always one of vital importance to the working class, and of especial interest to the women. This year the Woman's National Committee has selected the white slave traffic for discussion. During the past year the investigations along this line have startled the world, and so damaging have been the exposures that, as in the case of the Chicago Vice Commission Report, the facts were withheld from the working class public.

A special edition of the Progressive Woman is being prepared in which much of this information that has been kept secret will be disclosed.

Since it is impossible to supply enough lecturers for Woman's Day, the committee will publish a program in the Progressive Woman that can be used for an evening's entertainment. Send your order for a bundle of the Special White Slave Edition. Price, in bundles of ten or more, three cents each. Address, The Progresive Woman, 5445 Drexel avenue, Chicago, Ill.

One of the most convincing articles ever written upon the subject of the great social evil, "Prostitution With Its Attendant Scourges Upon Society," was written by Kate Richards O'Hare. "Wimmin Aint Got No Kick" was published first in the Chicago Daily Socialist, and is now issued as a leaflet by the Woman's National Committee of the Socialist Party. Over a hundred thousand have been sold in the last few months. Send in an order for them to distribute on Woman's Day, February 25. Price, $1.00 per thousand. Address, National Headquarters, Socialist Party, 205 West Washington street, Chicago, Ill.

WHY SOCIALISTS EXPELLED MAYOR SHOOK, OF LIMA.

By C. E. Ruthenberg.

What was likely the first test of the effectiveness of the resignation which every Socialist nominated for office signs with the date blank was made in Lima, Ohio, when the resignation of Corbin N. Shook, Socialist mayor, was presented to the city council.

Shook was nominated and elected by the Socialists of Lima, Ohio, but immediately after the election displayed a tendency to ignore the local Socialist organization. In place of consulting with the local in making his appointments he announced these appointments without having secured the approval of the members of Local Lima.

The Socialist organization elected a committee to confer with Shook and endeavor to induce him to live up to his pledge that he would obey the mandates of the party.

Among his proposed appointments was that of Frank W. Harman, a merchant, president of the Commercial Club, life-long Republican and member of the same congregation to which Shook belonged. Although Shook named other Republicans and Democrats, practically half of his appointees being outside of the Socialist party, none arouse the opposition which that of Harman evoked. The latter has shown himself antagonistic to the interests of labor and the Socialists of Lima were sure that a man of his caliber could and would not administer the affairs of the city of Lima in the interest of the workers who had elected Shook to office.

In order to make a clear issue of the principle involved, the local adopted a motion at its meeting last Sunday, which read:

"That a committee of three be elected to call on Shook and demand that he immediately appear before the local and submit his proposed appointments for approval, and to notify him, in case of refusal, that his resignation will be presented to the city council."

The committee elected, consisting of Morris and Anderson of Local Lima and C. E. Ruthenberg, of Cleveland, who represented the state organization, reported that Shook refused to obey the mandate of the party and recommended that the legislation committee of Lima be in the city council at its first meeting, the city council at its fifirst meeting. The recommendation was adopted unanimously. Two Socialist councilmen, elected at the same time Shook was, were instructed to move the acceptance of the resignation when it came before the council, and all members of the local who Shook proposed to appoint to office were ordered to decline the appointments.

When the city council began business Tuesday a communication was received from Mayor Shook advising the council not to recognize any communication or resignation unless presented by Mr. Shook himself. A few minutes later the resignation presented by the Socialists was read. The Socialist councilmen moved its acceptance, but the Republicans and Democrats asked the advice of the city solicitor, and on information received from him ruled it out of order.

Although Shook will remain in the position of mayor he has been repudiated as a Socialist. The incident has aroused a great deal of interest among the workers of the city and it is claimed the Socialist movement is stronger through it.

Local Lima is not at all discouraged. The fruits of the hard work of the members has disappeared for the time being, but two years from now the members say they will sweep the city and elect a real Socialist mayor.

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

In the principality of Hesse, Germany, the Socialists increased their seats in the Legislature from four to six in spite of bad election laws.

Another college will be permeated with Socialism. A Socialist organization has been perfected by some of the students in the University of Minnesota.

The new National Committee of the Socialist Party will be composed of 58 members under the new apportionment based on the dues paid by the several States during the year of 1911.

In the old city of Munich, Germany, the Socialists increased their representation in the City Council from 14 to 19, although the local election laws discriminate against the workers, and are now the second party, with the Liberals in control.

There is now a fourth candidate in the field to oppose the re-election of Mayor Seidel in Milwaukee—Dr. Beffel, who was defeated by Seidel two years ago by 4,000 majority. It looks as though it will be impossible to combine the opposition against the Socialists, as some of the machine bosses were in hopes of doing.

Additional figures just at hand show that the Labor party representation in the Lower House of the West Australian Legislature is now 34 against 16 for the fusion Liberal-Conservative party. The old crowds were completely demoralized by the recent election and the bosses hardly know what to do about the future.

Alice Stone Blackwell, the well-known suffrage leader and editor of the National Womans' Journal, has announced her conversion to the cause of Socialism. She has given up her old home in Dorchester, Mass., to the New England Woman's and Children's Hospital for a convalescent home and moved into smaller quarters.

THE RED FLAG EPISODE

Had been consecrated there—
Take thy banner—and if e'er
Thou shouldst press the soldier's bier,
And the muffled drum should beat
To the tread of mournful feet,
Then this crimson flag shall be
Martial cloak and shroud for thee.
The warrior took that banner proud,
And it was his martial cloak and shroud.

"Colonel William Washington carried the red flag at the head of his cavalry troop and it was waved in victory at Cowpens, Jan. 17, 1781, and at the battle of Eutaw Springs, Sept. 8, 1781. This flag was made by Jane Elliot, afterward Colonel Washington's wife, and is now preserved at the armory of the Washington Light Infantry Corps at Charleston, S. C. In commemoration of this flag Rev. E. C. Edgerton recited the following poem:

Socialists Proud of Red.

Unfurl the glorious banner
Which at Eutaw shone so bright,
And, like a dazzling meteor swept
Through the Cowpens deadly fight.
Sound, sound your lively bugles,
Let them pour their loudest blast,
While we pledge both life and honor
To stand by it to the last.

"In conclusion of all these facts the Socialist movement has wisely chosen the red banner as its emblem, as representing its high and noble purposes and signifying the true brotherhood of man.

Made from the purest hops that Nature grows,
The finest malt that Science knows.
And then it is brewed just right by people who know how—that's what makes it the one popular Beer on draught everywhere.

A Crying Shame

The sentencing of two Columbus girls by Juvenile Judge Black and their incarceration at Price Hill Convent, a Catholic institution at Cincinnati, Ohio, is a crying shame, and it is high time that the mothers of the city of Columbus become aroused to the gravity of the situation as it now exists.

If grown women wish to consecrate their lives to religion and sacrifice we have no objection, but we do object most vigorously to the incarceration of young girls in these "prison convents" against their own or their families' wishes.

A prison is a prison, and can be just as cruel under any other name. A convent is a "church prison," and differs from the penitentiary only in that the one is open to public inspection while the "church prison" is not.

Labor unions have fought for years to drive prison contract labor that came in competition with free labor from within the penitentiary walls. They must now arouse themselves to the extent of this newer evil of "church prisons." In regard to corrective institutions for girls the State has been very laggard, for if the State did establish such an institution, and it endeavored to exploit these helpless girls for profit, a storm would arise that would sweep the State from end to end, as the people of the State of Ohio would insist that this institution should be one of education and training.

However, capitalism has found a way around this matter. The daughters of the great State of Ohio are now turned over to religious institutions—convents—and in these prisons they are compelled to manufacture products which, on account of this labor costing these institutions nothing, find a ready market for their sale on account of their cheapness.

In other words, Juvenile Judges hand these helpless girls over into the maw of these "church prisons," where they are worked hard without compensation, and exploited in the name of religion as a mask for profit.

It is high time that the people of the State of Ohio became aroused over this matter and insist on the immediate repeal of this section of the juvenile code that places this power in the hands of Juvenile Judges. This law is unconstitutional, as it is a working agreement between church and state, with profit to the church.

Juvenile Judges in the past, to keep this matter from being tested out in the higher courts, have had a habit of sentencing girls from Columbus to Cincinnati convents, and Cincinnati girls to Columbus convents. This is done for the express purpose of keeping parents from bringing habeas corpus proceedings on account of the heavy expense it would entail. Therefore parents have in the past been compelled to suffer the iniquities of this damnable procedure, which has no place in the State of Ohio.

Girls sent to corrective institutions should not be used for methods of exploitation and profit, but should become wards of the State (Yes, State; not church prisons) where treatment etxended them should be of the best.

If church prisons (not paying taxes) are still further to be used to exploit poor, helpless girls, then we insist that they be compelled to conform to daily public inspection and make monthly reports as to the number of girls employed, the value of product produced, who the buyers of such products are, and all such goods to be labeled, so free labor and the general public can gain an idea of the extent of this church prison labor.

Protest against the further sentencing of our daughters to these church prisons, which are becoming more numerous year by year, and their demands upon your daughters becoming greater and greater. Soon the demands of this hidden ulcer will, upon some pretext or other, be reaching into your home and rob you of your favorite daughter and forever stigmatize her as a convent habitue.

Let your protest be heard in the name of decency and humanity. Protect these helpless girls by demanding a speedy investigation of all these institutions within the State.

Is the Local Press Subsidized?

Comrade Ben Wilson spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience Wednesday evening of last week at Munich Hall.

All the local daily papers were given advance notice of this meeting, but not a word could be discovered in their columns.

Several reporters attended the meeting, taking notes, but not a word could the gentle reader discover in their columns Thursday.

Why?

The Goldstein meeting received columns of notice by the public press.

Why?

In justice to all concerned, as this was to be a reply to Goldstein, the Wilson meeting was certainly entitled to the same consideration. All we ask of our opponents is a just and fair discussion of Socialism.

The wise will sooner or later discover the fundamental truths that Socialism is based upon, regardless of the misrepresentations of the public press and the Catholic Church.

However, we have a faint suspicion that some of our daily papers have heard their "master's voice," consequently their silence.

To keep posted, subscribe for and read The Socialist, the paper that dares print the truth.

Firemen's Increase of Pay

City Solicitor Bolin has handed down an opinion that, according to the law, the firemen's increase in wages passed by the late City Council is unconstitutional.

Holy smoke! Are there any laws on the statute books passed in and for the best interests of the workers that are constitutional?

Haven't the workers heard this same cry before—"It's unconstitutional"? Would Mayor Karb or Solicitor Bolin dared to have taken such a position before the election? We should say not. It would have meant the loss of some votes, and votes from the workers were everything desired.

Having received the votes, they are now preparing the way to hand the firemen a lemon by looking up some musty old law that denies the city the right to pay a decent, respectable, living wage because it is unconstitutional.

However, not a word is heard when new political sinecure offices are created with big salaries. Taking care of the political pap suckers who know how to deliver the votes on election day, on the part of the administration is power, is a business proposition and duty.

The workers surrender their sovereign birthright on election day by voting both capitalistic tickets, who have about as much sympathy for the worker as a hog has for a snake.

Then when the worker petitions for a decent, respectable wage these political shylocks seek through the musty archives of the law and discover that it's unconstitutional. Such sophistry!

We would advise the firemen, though, to keep their weather eye cocked in the direction of the City Council, and take note of the new political snaps with big salaries that can now be created and paid out of the $140,000 increase that the firemen are rightfully entitled to.

A recent issue of a local paper stated that Police Judge Osborne had in four years heard 24,000 cases. This seemed to be a matter of pride to the Judge, but the question arises whether much justice was given the unfortunates who came before his bar of injustice. If court had been in session every working day it means that an average of more than 20 cases were heard every day. When the fact is known that Police Court does not sit every day and then only a few hours, it can readily be seen that some of the victims had "short shift." This is the modern, capitalistic method.

It seems that instead of getting his start in the world by saving a part of his meager wages, as the poets have sung, Carnegie began his business career by borrowing $1,500 from the National Bank in Pittsburg. Another puncture in the old superstition that saving was the basis of our modern inflated fortunes.

The cost of high living has been bearing very heavily on the poor Justices of the Supreme Bench. And they have to work so hard, too, trying to think up excuses for declaring progressive laws unconstitutional. So the benevolent members of Congress have provided them with a "raise." Very thoughtful of Congress, wasn't it? Are they as considerate of you, Mr. Man-Looking-for-Work?

"The international Socialist movement," said Professor Charles Zeublin, the well known author and lecturer, "is without exception the most pregnant movement of modern times. It is the creation, not of one man or any set of men, but of the titanic forces of social evolution. It is becoming a mighty force in civilized countries. It numbers among its advocates many of the foremost thinkers of the old world and the new. It is gaining control of the labor unions, is infecting the military and is beginning to make its voice heard in numerous legislative halls."

With $10,000,000 in their treasury, the British miners are preparing to begin a struggle for their health and manhood. A great strike is impending, and the men seem bent upon standing together. As there are 611,000 of the men, there is hope that the wrongs of labor all over the world will diminish because of their coming mighty struggle.

One has to rub one's eyes to believe that a millionaire loan shark is in the municipal workhouse in Milwaukee, sent there on a ninety days' sentence. But it is true. Usurers cannot tell nowadays when they will be brought up short and fined or imprisoned; the conscience of the people is awakening, and things are preparing for consequences which include the social commonwealth.

Machinery has made it possible to abolish poverty, the scourge of the human race. Every generation has added its quota and genius to the development of industry, until we have the gigantic trusts, which in their productive departments are the highest type of economic institutions we have. In spite of the unpopularity of the trusts, they have become more and more powerful, and when we understand economic forces we will see that their development is as natural as the growth of a child from toddling infancy to vigorous manhood. The men who operate these economic institutions are skilled and unskilled laborers, who must sell their labor power. The men who own these economic institutions are capitalists. The former organize economic organizations, such as unions; the latter form economic co-operative committees known as Mercrants' and Manufacturers' Associations. The fact that they do this, and exclude each other from their organizations, points to the different interest each has. This exemplifies the class struggle waging in modern society which the class conscious labor movement seeks to abolish.

TO COMRADES AND WORKING PEOPLE:

Look over the advertising in your paper. Patronize those who patronize you. Remember those who refuse to advertise in a labor paper are unfair to labor and are not worthy of your patronage.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

Goodby to capitalism. The Boosters are preparing a grave for this system and we intend to bury it so deep that the hydraheaded monster will never again be able to devour and live upon the best and noblest aspiration of the human race, and we are going to do it by building up our press. We are going to carry the sweet message of freedom to every man and woman who toils in mine, mill, factory or shop. Little difference does it make whether a man uses his brain power or his arm power, it is being exploited by the same damnable system of capitalism. His labor power is being prostituted upon the altar of Mammon, for the benefit of a few parasites that live upon the labor of others.

Every working man and woman knows that something is wrong, and they are earnestly seeking the right way out. People are not naturally bad, and it is up to us to place in their hands the literature that will enable them to understand the cause and remedy for the evils that now afflict us. The Boosters are doing fine. We are gaining right along, but not making the headway necessary to get those 5,000 new ones. Every reader of this paper should join the Boosters and pledge yourselves to get at least one subscriber each week. Will you do it? A circulation that reaches practically every home in this county means victory at the polls next November. ON TO VICTORY!

The report follows:

The work set—5,000.
Balance to get last report	4,853
Names put on	155
Expirations	73
Gain for week	82
Balance to get March 1st	4,770

It has happened! Capitalism has received a knockout blow from which it will hardly recover. Comrade C. C. Martin walks off with the honors this week by bringing in a list of 14. Who can beat it next week?

A Comrade who desires his name withheld brings in a list of 10, all of whom are Catholics. And Mr. Clark prepares another sermon on the red flag.

Another fighting booster refuses to take a back seat. Comrade W. E. Bues brings in nine, and this office force cheers lustily.

Determined to put the capitalist system out of business in short order, Comrade J. D. Hartzell files a list of 10. Hip! Hip! Hoorah!

Comrade V. Martz lands amongst the Boosters this week with 5 to his credit. GOOD!

The grave digger says that the grave for capitalism is getting along nicely, and Comrades A. Wright and H. Wilhelm help things along by sending in 5.

Comrade W. Metzger is a Booster right. He digs up 4 benighted pilgrims and puts them on the list.

Comrade Dr. Kuhns stops pulling the teeth of victims long enough to yank out three of the front teeth of capitalism and we put them on the list.

Comrades F. P. Zimpfer and Fred Dubert each land 4.

Comrades J. A. Ebright, R. E. Beery and Fred Outcalt each bring in 3.

Comrades J. E. Ebright, O. L. Needs, O. L. Crook, Mrs. Isabelle Lewis, R. O. Williams, J. W. Freeman, Philip Thress and D. J. Farrell each land 2. That's going some, I guess.

The women also are determined to join the Boosters, and Comrade Mrs. Jennie Schoen sends in a new one.

List of Boosters with one or more to their credit: Mrs. A. Vaughn, W. E. Buchanan, Mr. Morris, A. H. Smith, Georgie Crooks, A. Meier, E. R. Lawrence, William Smith, Comrade Sloetzel, T. C. Southard, J. P. Ross, J. E. Block, Mrs. J. Wycoff, Mrs. F. Asher, A. L. Kimball, A. Miller, C. Paul, P. Cronin, Clyde Scott, F. W. Seamen, J. S. Rolloson, L. J. Ingold, Fred Myers, C. W. GET READY FOR A DAILY

Now is the Time to Get Ready for a Daily.

The Socialist has been in existence over one year. From the first it has had to fight and fight hard to hold its own. This paper was born of necessity, started with practically no capital and, of course, had to meet all obstacles that usually confront a Socialist paper.

Today, with a rising subscription list and a fair amount of advertising, "The Socialist" comes nearer to paying its expenses than ever before. As the class war grows ever fiercer and fiercer it becomes necessary to put this paper not only on a solid financial foundation for the present but to be prepared when our present contract expires in January, 1913, to be able to own a printing plant of our own.

Many friends and readers of this paper, have urged that we make a campaign to sell the balance of our capital stock and that all money so secured be placed in a separate fund for the purpose of securing our own plant. We have on hand yet to be sold 850 shares of stock. Each share is worth $10.00, payable $1.00 down and $1.00 per month.

With this stock subscribed for at once you can readily see that at the end of this year we wil lhave a fund of $8,500.00 with which to equip our own plant.

Remember, there are only 850 shares yet to sell and if you want to see this paper made the greatest fighting machine in this country in the interest of the working class you should subscribe at once for at least one share.

When you come to think of it, $8,500.00 is not much. And yet, how much it means to "The Socialist." The only difficult part of raising this amount is in getting you to make up your mind to start.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND. Resolve to be one of the first to give this effort a good start. Give others a good example to follow. Take as many shares as you wish or can, but get behind the proposition by sending in this application at once.

THE WATCH TOWER.

The City Hall pie counter is still crowded with hungry JOB HUNTERS. This army of the "miserables" held a caucus the other day, and it was proposed to petition the Legislature to change the name of "KARB" to "CARP." One of the shivering applicants was heard to remark: "Carp ain't no use at all. They are too rotten"; and the applicant for "just any old thing" muttered: "There are others." Then the man of many smiles, and secret order grips, came hencel escorted by military aid-Colonel Barger.

Colonel Barger, the blusterer, is the kindly samaritan who wrote a military work on how to handle a mob. Like Cardinal Richlieu, the Bible and the sword are his chief escutchions of office. (Of course the sword will be on the table and the Bible underneath.) Midst the whines of the disappointed Democratic patriots who are now stranded on STATE STREET silently praying that their patron saint JAMES R. will look down upon them and save a few crumbs that are liable to fall through the fingers of the Colonel's pets, "MY BOYS OF THE FOURTH REGIMENT." It might be well for some of the workers who voted for the Carp" to read the "Colonel's" books. There may be another strike. The Columbus Chamber of Commerce certainly works in mysterious ways?

Detective Burns was acquitted by a FEDERAL JUDGE. This JUDICIAL HEROD claimed the act of stealing men to be justifiable. This is an advance of judicial wisdom. Of course we realise that now they have given the country to the capitalists they will graciously allow the people to be accepted by the DIVINE RIGHT inheritors as a premium.

The Federal authorities have a clue that the A. F. of L. is responsible for the uprising in China, the blowing up of the MAINE and PORT ARTHUR, also this exereme cold weather. McManigal has the evidence.

The Constitutional Convention is still warming up (at the people's expense). The Academic fraternity snivelled round like spoilt children until one of their number was given a gold braid position. This gentleman of compromise is President Fess, of Antioch College. This gentleman is a reactionary like his compatriot, KNIGHT PETERS. This gentleman is an admirer of the aristocratic ALEXANDER HAMILTON. He is skilled as an orator and a Y. M. C. A. prayer offerer. His patron saint is ANDREW CARNEGIE, who rewarded his class with the COLLEGE ENDOWMENT FUND (at the expense of the life and limb of the WORKERS). It will be well for the UNEMPLOYED WORKERS to PACK the convention galleries so they can watch the miserable antics of these subservient little creatures.

The SOCIALIST COUNCILMEN and the SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS are a menace to the evil doers that invade a legislative hall. Call again—Mr. American School-Book Trust Agent?"

DANGERS OF FILM SHOWS.

Operators Organise to Remove Evils.

The organization of Moving Picture Operators calls attention to the danger of workers forced to stay in the little coops of moving picture shows from 11 in the morning until 11 at night. One of these operators said to The Union Leader recently:

"Workers' wives and children patronize these shows, but if the men folks were awake to the dangers, there would be a storm of protest. You must remember that picture films are made of celluloid, which is a first cousin to gunpowder. We are forced to stay in the litle coops in the front of theaters, and if anything happens, the audience is compelled to pass us to reach the street. Many of the operators are boys in knee pants, and you can imagine what would happen. The wages are miserable—ranging from $6 to $11 a week for a 12-hour day. Our business is more dangerous than handling dynamite, and we are trying to not only make living wages, and enforce decent hours, but also putting irresponsible boys out of the business. The public should aid us in this work, if for no other reason than self-protection.

"At the beginning of every show, in a union house, the operator shows the label of the International Stage Employes, under which we are chartered. If this does not appear, you are in a non-union house, and you can help us by dropping a hint to the manager or the ticket taker on your way out."

A FEW WORDS.

To our members, friends and sympathizers: We have completed our cast of chamacters and we are busy rehearsing for our new drama which we are going to give in a short time. A good opportunity for the members to see the first real Socialist play. So be patient and give us a chance. We are doing our best, if you are willing to do the rest and co-operate with us. We have lots of work on hand and are making headway as fast as possible.

Are you a member of the Socialist Dramatic Club? If not why are you not? It's time for you to find out about it. Remember our meetings are held every Sunday night at 335½ South High street at 8 o'clock. You are welcome.

We can use a few more characters, so don't miss this opportunity.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY.

Lost—At a meeting of Local Columbus last Sunday, a fur lined glove. Finder please return to this office.

LAUNDRY WORKERS' STRIKE.

New York's 30,000 laundry workers, mostly women, have gone on a strike, against hell.

Hell is even a conservative expression to use, when the conditions that these women had to labor under, are taken into consideration.

Incessant toil, from 12 to 18 hours every day, without being paid overtime, or even an allowance for meals. Steaming atmosphere full of deadly chemicals, through imperfect ventilation, hastening these girls to an early death by the tuberculosis route, and drenching their clothes to the skin.

Private dressing and toilet rooms in name only that would drive a decent, respectable girl to disgrace, a condition that would make any man with one ounce of red blood in his veins fight, a wage paid so meager that the majority of girls not having homes, driven into immorality to live, are a few of the conditions that these women are contending against.

God grant them courage and victory in their fight against these human profit mungers, Dave Goldstein's "Stewards of Wealth," who live and thrive upon the degradation of their women employes, forcing them into immorality, old age and death while still young.

The Socialist Party respectfully invites the Catholic Church, the defender of morality, to join their hands with yours, in giving these girls financial aid, in this struggle against immorality and decency and a living wage.

Did you ever get so big you had to move. "The Socialist" has.

A labor organization's greatness does not alone depend upon its numerical strength, but upon the education of its members to know why they are organized. A labor organization is not a mutual admiration society, nor an old maid's sewing circle, but an effort on the part of its members to better their economic position in society. The rapid changes that are constantly taking place in the methods of production require continual efforts on the part of trade unions to maintain the rights of the working people. It is well enough to cry for "liberty" when slavery rages, but the crying will not bring it. What are you doing to advance the interests of your union? There are times when you eyes will ache, your head grow dizzy, your energy dribble away. Be brave and do your part to make the world better for the toilers to live in. When mothers in England, dehumanized and unmotherized, were made beasts of burden, carrying their children close to their breasts, while they themselves were hitched to coal cars and drew their burden through the underground mines, it took the laboring man to abolish it. Time and again we see the union men purchase non-union cigars and other non-union goods. They demolish the good and increase the evil by closing their eyes to the consequences of their acts. There is more danger of a labor organization being destroyed from within than by external foes. Seal the doom of low wages and long hours with the verdict of death. If you are one of those that stay away from the meetings of your union, surprise yourself by attending them regularly. Every meeting you have absented yourself from is an indication that you don't care what your working conditions are to be. Cease blaming others for results which you have it in your power to remedy. Do not expect those whose interests are at variance with yours to correct the evil for you. Awake, educate, agitate and organize.

"The Socialist" has outgrown its first pair of pants, and will now get a bigger pair.

Officers of the War Department are advising that American troops be taught to use the bayonet and that to avoid shock in battle the men be accustomed to plunging the bayonet ing.

Rev. E. A. Rumball, of Rochester, Minn., is another minister who has come out for Socialism, against the strenuous opposition of wealthy parishioners.

Would you like to see "The Socialist" a daily? Then keep on boosting.

TOBE SPILKINS—HIS LETTER

Mister Editur: I ain't feelin' much like writin'. I've got the bluze, the belly-ake, and a bad kold, besides what's the matter with me. I've dun red the elekshun news. It ain't calkulated to kure enny uv the aforesaid disezes. If this Soshialist thing ain't stopped every dadgummed person in the world will hav tu go to wurk. I've wurked hard nearly all my life fur offis, but if these dadratted Soshialists ain't put out uv the way I'll have tu go tu wurk fur somepthing tu ete. They air the contraryist set uv men and wimmin I ever seed. Jist becoz they hev wurked hard all their lives fur sumpthing tu ete and wear they think everybody else ort tu. If the raskels du git into power and quit dividin' up with us fellers whoo don't produce ennything but noise it will be mighty hard on us. I never lurned how tu du much uv ennything but run fur offis, raise a little kotten and git up a little stove wood frum the time when the whipporwills left until they cum back agin. I kin put up a purty good ash hopper, tu, but I'd ruther run fur offis and tel lies.

Say, Mister Editur, hev you heered enything about this Men and Religion Forward Movement up in yoor part uv the country? It's a-sweepin' down over this country tu best the band. They had a meetin' over at Hickoryville the uther day and a big banquet. Them speeches them big men made wuz a site on urth. They air goin' to bisinoosize religion. That is, they air goin' tu bak it up with munny and advertisements. They say it ain't no religious trust. Ennybuddy kin git religion that wants tu. They kin git in the kornfield out in the hot sun, or they kin git it in the wurkshop while they air poundin' iron when the murkury is ninety-5 in the shaid, or enny uther way. But this ain't a good way, sez the advokates uv this nu fangled Men and Forward Religion Movement. The old way is tu slow and they ain't gettin' in the same kind uv people that Christ and his apostles use to git in the church. When they git the runnin' geers uv this new religious waggin put together and the wheels greased you kin git religin and a premium with it, if you will go tu church; that is, if you git in this waggin to git your religion. I don't know what brand uv religin they air goin' tu sell, but I suppoze it will be guaranteed by the same fellers that put sand in their shuger, water their coal oil, maik oak furniture out uv gum, cuver up a knot with paint, watter their corporashun stock, maik wooden nutmegs, and adulterate yoor drugs and nearly everything you eat. Sumhow or uther, I can't understand this moovement no how. I'm afraid the church is fallin' intu a trap that has bin set by the devil. Akkordin' tu my private opinyun they ain't a-doin' uv this akkordin' tu the bible, no how. It's a good deal like Moses when he struk the rok in the wilderness uv sin; I think it wuz the rok of Horeb, but ain't rite surtin. Aaron wuz with him. The children uv Israel wuz on a strike fur watter. Moses sed: "Ye rebbels, must we fetch water frum this rok?" Moses nu it wuzent him that made the watter flow, but he just got too big fur his pants that one time, and becoz he didn't give the Lord credit he never got tu go over intu the Promised Land. You see in the name uv this Movement "men" cums before "religin." That shows that Christ had nuthin' tu do with it. The men whoo got it up wuz jist like Moses thinkin' more uv themselves than they wuz uv religin, or God or Christ. They didn't even menshun enny Christianity. But the business men are goin' tu finance the thing. That's just what the devil told Christ when he took him up into the high mountain. He offered tu finance him. Christ told the devil tu git behind Him or wurds tu that effeckt. If I understand the bible Christ didn't du things that way. When he appointed his committy he picked out poor men. There wuzn't a rich man on it or a banker, lawyer or merchant. And there wuzent enny politishuns and only one thief. It seems to me if he' dwanted it financed He wood have apopinted sum rich men. Once there wuz a yung feller who waz very rich cum to Christ and asked Him what he must du tu be saved. Christ told him to obey the Commandments. Then the yung man sed: "All theze have I kept frum my youth up." Then Christ sed: "If thou 'wouldst be purfect go sell what thou hast and give tu the poor." Then the poor yung man went away sorrowing, for he had much spondulax and didn't want tu part with it. Then Christ sed: "Verily, it is easier fur a camel tu go thru the eye of a needle than fur a rich man tu enter the kingdom uv heaven." Or wurds to that effekt. When Christ put His "religin" movement on foot he didn't want enny financin' uv it. He told his preechers tu take no scrip nor muny uv enny kind with them, and he sent them out that way. He didn't have enny very good opinyun uv lawyers, either, for he sed tu them:

"Woe unto you also, ye lawyers! for ye lade men with heavey burdens, grievous, to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers."

That's what he sed to them or the bible lies, and sumhow I don't think it duz.

Wel theyv'e got a lot uv lawyers mixed up in this here Men and Religin Forward Movement. They appinted a kommitty at Hickeryville to forward the thing along and on that kommitty wuz 37 lawyers, 18 preechers, 49 merchants, 83 buxsiness men, 2 liverymen, 3 jewelers, 4 professors and 6 bankers, 180 in all. They haven't got a carpenter, a machinist or a fisherman on it. If they ain't got enuff lawyers tu pilot the movement tu hel there is 3 more jacklegs out in the country that they kin git fur a reazonable price.

Now, Mister Editur, if this thing iz got up sure enuff tu help the cause of Christianity (not religin, the pagans have that), then Tobe Spilkins wishes it suckcess, but it looks a little suspichus tu me. I hurd sumebody say that it wuz intended tu destroy Soshialism in this country. If that is so, then I'm goin' tu jine it, fur the way Ike Hawkins is a proselytin' uv both Demokrats and Republikans, tu that faith is a site on urth. Its jist them who don't want offis who is jinin' uv it. But they've got votes all right, and the Demokratick party aint enjoyin' uv a situashun uv havin' enny votes tu spare jist now. I'll jine jist ennything tu kill off this dadgummed Soshialist movement, fur if it ain't killed off its goin' to maik everyboddy wurk for his livin' and stop all kinds uv graft and steelin' by them who hez got the offisses, and air dividin' with them who will help them tu git re-elekted. I am goin' tu talk the matter under considerashun a while before I mak up my mind whut to do. I want religin tu go forward, but I don't want it tu git so fur ahed uv the grand old Demokratick party so that I kant hold on tu both. Az it is they aint very fur apart, and men kin belong to both. But whether the religin goes forward or not the man who will vote for that kind of a bizziness combinashun, chaperoned bi so manny lawyers, iz bound tu go forward, for that is where the grist is; they have swallered up everything what's in the reer.

Now, about that dodgasted sneekin' bruther uv mine whose furst name is Zeke Spillkins, and his seckond naim is Black Republikan. I'm kinda between a fizz and a furment az tu what tu say about him. I don't know how long it will be before we will both have tu vote the same ticket in order to git enuff votes to beet the Soshialists and we ort tu be on speekin' turms if we du that. Zeke aint jist what I wood like tu have az a bruther, but he's better than a dag-gummed Soshialist, and it looks now like we're goin' tu have tu jine hands tu beet them pesky raskals, fur they air gittin' thicker than flize in molassus makin time. Zeke ort'n't tu talk the way he dus about his bruther, espeshully when his bruther wants a offis az bad as a hog wants intu a kornfeld when the punkins air ripe. Then I may want tu jine this Men and Religion Forward Movement, and Zeke may want tu jine it tu, and we'll have tu both let on like we love each uther. It may help me in gittin' intu offis, or buyin' a kow or sumthing else on a credit. I'll let Zeke off this time on pay role or durin' uv good behavior, but if he pepses his little mouth agin I'll grind him intu sossage meet and feed him tu the dogs. I'll due it, even if he is my bruther.—Tobe Spilkins, Demokrat, in National Rip-Saw.

"MUSICAL" CAPITAL.

By Phillips Russell.

"An Expose of the Evil Doctrines of Socialism as Expounded by Its Founders and Leaders" is the sub-title of a large and imposing journal which emanates from St. Louis and bears the heading, "The Church Progress." Each one of its 32 pages is devoted to the annihilation of Socialism, with the exception of the advertising space occupied by the leading capitalistic institutions of St. Louis, including several large booze ads. We grieve to note these last in a religious journal, but, my goodness, the publication must draw revenue from somewhere, mustn't it?

It makes entertaining reading, albeit somewhat dreary in spots. However, there is one point that we simply cannot pass over. This appears in an article by the Rev. Fr. Fintan, O. S. B., under the seave-head, "Capital is a Powerful Agent of Production."

Father Fintan says: "Capital is like a magnificent musical instrument—valueless, unproductive, if it be put to no use, but under the hands of the expert performer it will give forth the most exquisite music."

We thank Father Fintan for that simile. It reveals evidence of genius. It has inspired us and set our imagination to work as nothing has in months. Our only regret is that the father failed to specify exactly what sort of instrument capital can be compared to.

We suppose, however, that in John D. Rockefeler's hands it would be a pipe organ; in Andy Carnegie's a Scotch bagpipe; in J. P. Morgan's a bass violin, while Thos. W. Lawson could use any god wind instrument. For any one of the Chicago meat packers a trombone would be appropriate while a railroad king could toot-toot on a cornet." And so on.

What a magnificent orchestra!

What sounds would issue forth? The shrieks of burning factory girls, the groans of imprisoned miners, the wails of bereaved women, the murmurs of men on strike, the hoarse cries of mangled workers, the rumblings of the approaching social revolution.

Capital has indeed been an instrument on which our masters have played, and while they have piped ten million wage-slaves have danced. After each performance the players have passed the hat while the dancers themselves have rushed up to contribute. Those who have danced have been most generous. They have given their all. But the master-players have been kind. Each time they have given back out of each dancer's contribution enough for him to continue to dance on.

The masters have indeed been "expert performers." So skillfully, so eloquently, with such feeling have they played, that they have enticed all the money out of the pockets of those who thought to compete with them, while their slaves have been encouraged to work harder and harder each day in order to keep the performers sleek and fat, to clothe them in fine raiment and lay before them the richest viands, to transport them in luxurious equipages, to make their beds easy and their houses warm.

The experts have indeed rendered "the most exquisite music" and the pipers have been well paid. But where do the dancers come in?

THE RED FLAG EPISODE

Statement from Socialist Party Committee on Matter that is Now Ancient History

Columbus Socialists feel that the significance of their red flag, freely flaunted in the procession held the Saturday night before the last municipal election, is misunderstood. They have been told that it weakened their strength in the election. As a result the local party has issued a statement which gives its position in regard to the emblem and, from its point of view, explains the adoption of the blushing standard.

The statement, recently endorsed by the city central committee, was prepared by Comrades J. L. Bachman, Peter Kinnear and S. H. Cochran, who formed a special committee elected by Columbus local to prepare it.

Recalls History.

The statement reads:

The shield of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are in scarlet, the chariots shall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation, and the fir trees shall be terribly shaken."—Bible, Nahum: xi, 3.

"The Socialist movement is the greatest political organization of all the ages, and is co-extensive with what is known as the civilized world.

"This organization stands for the common brotherhood of man, irrespective of condition, sex, color, race, creed or nationality. It is opposed to all tyranny, oppression and exploitation. It proposes to secure industrial freedom to all the people by restoring to them their birthright of nature's means which are necessary to provide for the wants and necessities of man. It is therefore fit and proper that a movement so broad, with a motive so high, should have a suitable emblem.

Lore of Ages Examined.

"The question then, naturally arises what would be the most suitable emblem for adoption by this world movement. Seeking through the pages of history, sacred and secular, mythology and psychology, it has been found that red has always stood for love, honor, charity, sacrifice, ardent passion, heroism, energy, sinctrity, sacred devotion, defiance to tyranny and oppression, and devotion to liberty, equality and fraternity.

"Some scientists have called red the primitive color. It is the most striking and the first that attracts children. Red, with its complement, green, is nature's dominant color, as shown in fruits and vegetables which produce the life blood of man and beast. Under the red rays, most plants thrive and grow as by the stimulus of fertilizer. Red stimulates the blood and is said to heal many diseases, especially of the skin, as smallpox, measles, etc.

Popular for Centuries.

"Red has been the dominant color of all tribes and nations and of all religions, except the Mohammedan. Pliny, the historian, states that the early pictures were painted in various reds, and that early apostles and saints were clothed in red, their sacred color. Red was the sacred color of Thor, Jupiter, Ceres, Proserpine and many other Northern and Southern gods.

"The red banner with the white cross and the white banner with the red cross were the standards carried by the early Christian crusaders.

"In the Roman Catholic church red symbolizes the language of fire and blood and indicates burning charity and the martyr's generous sacrifice. Pope Innocent IV, at Lyons, in 1243 A. D., designated the red hat for cardinals, as signifying a readiness to shed their blood in defense of the church. The tunic of the papal guards is red, signifying devotion and protection to their spiritual adviser.

Used in Feudal Ages.

"The primitive Germans, Australians, Indians, Chinese and other tribes and nations used red to adorn the body and face as a symbol of love and protection against evil influences. During the feudal age, in France and other countries, the wearing of red garments was the exclusive privilege of the royal family, and red shone in the glory and pomp of empire.

"The Royal Arch degree in Freemasonry is the red degree. The third degree of the Improved Order of Red Men is crimson, representing sincerity. The third degree of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is the priestly degree, represented by red. The knight of the red garter is the highest honor that can be bestowed in England. The red ribbon is the emblem of the French Legion of Honor, which, beyond doubt, is considered the highest honor that can be bestowed upon man. Red is the emblem of the Red Cross Society, which has done much to alleviate the horrors and suffering of war, and is still engaged in relieving human suffering throughout the world.

Carried in England.

"In the flag of all nations red is practically the dominating color.

"The red flag was carried by the dockworkers of England and waved over the lions at the foot of Nelson's monument in Trafalgar Square, and it was carried at the burial of Cardinal Manning at Kensal Grove.

"The red flag was the emblem of the working people in the ancient communes or fraternal organizations of Rome and Athens, and carried by the Roman legions into Spain, France, Great Britain and other neighboring countries. The trade organizations of these countries thereafter nearly all adopted it, among them being the marble cutters, masons, carpenters, saddle ad bridle makers, confectioners, cheese handlers, cutlers, silk workers, glaziers, weavers, shoemakers, tanners, glovemakers, furriers, painters, hatters, surgeons and apothecaries, who were listed among the lower classes—all these and many more had the red banner.

Flaunted at Bunker Hill.

"In the French revolution scarlet or red was the color of the apostles of liberty, equality and fraternity.

"General Putnam raised the red flag on the day after the battle of Bunker Hill. At the battle of Long Island, Aug. 26, 1776, Captain Rahl, of the Hessian regiment, captured from the Americans a red flag with the word 'Liberty' inscribed within its crimson folds. At the battle of White Plains, Oct. 28, 1776, the Americans carried a red flag of the Bedford minute men, which is now at Bedford Library in Bedford, Mass., with red and had upon it an outstretched arm with an uplifted sword.

"Count Pulaski's legions carried two red flags at Savannah, now in the possession of the Maryland Historical Society. In honor of this Polish patriot our poet, Henry W. Longfellow, wrote an inspiring poem, of which the following is a part:

In Poetry Also.

Where, before the altar hung
The blood-red banner, that with prayer

Socialist Party Platform

Adopted by National Convention, May, 1908, by Membership Referendum, August 8th, 1908, Amended by Referendum, September 7th, 1909

Principles.

Human life depends upon food, clothing and shelter. Only with these assured are freedom, culture and higher human development possible. To produce food, clothing or shelter, land and machinery are needed. Land alone does not satisfy human needs. Human labor creates machinery and applies it to the land for the production of raw materials and food. Whoever has control of land and machinery controls human labor, and with it human life and liberty.

Today the machinery and the land used for industrial purposes are owned by a rapidly decreasing minority. So long as machinery is simple and easily handled by one man, its owner cannot dominate the sources of life of others. But when machinery becomes more complex and expensive, and requires for its effective operation the organized effort of many workers, its influence over wide circles of life. The owners of such machinery become the dominant class.

In proportion as the number of such machine owners compared to all other classes decreases, their power in the nation and in the world increases. They bring ever larger masses of working people under their control, reducing them to the point where muscle and brain are their only productive property. Millions of formerly self-employing workers thus become the helpless wage slaves of the industrial masters.

As the economic power of the ruling class grows it becomes less useful in the life of the nation. All the useful work of the nation falls upon the shoulders of the class whose only property is its manual and mental labor power—the wage worker—or of the class who have but little land and little effective machinery outside of their labor power—the small traders and small farmers. The ruling minority is steadily becoming useless and parasitic.

A bitter struggle over the division of the products of labor is waged between the exploiting propertied classes on the one hand and the exploited propertyless class on the other. In this struggle the wage working class cannot expect adequate relief from any reform of the present order at the hands of the dominant class.

The wage workers are therefore the most determined and irreconcilable antagonists of the ruling class. They suffer most from the curse of class rule. The fact that a few capitalists are permitted to control all the country's industrial resources and social tools for their individual profit, and to make the production of the necessaries of life the object of competitive private enterprise and speculation is at the bottom of all the social evils of our time.

In spite of the organization of trusts, pools and combinations, the capitalists are powerless to regulate production for social ends. Industries are largely conducted in a planless manner. Through periods of feverish activity the strength and health of the workers are mercilessly used up, and during periods of enforced idleness the workers are frequently reduced to starvation.

The climaxes of this system of production are the regularly recurring industrial depressions and crises which paralyze the nation every fifteen or twenty years.

The capitalist class, in its mad race for profits, is bound to exploit the workers to the very limit of their endurance and to sacrifice their physical, moral and mental welfare to its own insatiable greed. Capitalism keeps the masses of workingmen in poverty, destitution, physical exhaustion and ignorance. It drags their wives from their homes to the mill and factory. It snatches their children from the playgrounds and schools and grinds their slender bodies and unformed minds into cold dollars. It disfigures, maims and kills hundreds of thousands of workingmen annually in mines, on railroads and in factories. It drives millions of workers into the ranks of the unemployed and forces large numbers of them into beggary, vagrancy and all forms of crime and vice.

To maintain their rule over their fellow men, the capitalists must keep in their pay all organs of the public powers, public mind and public conscience. They control the dominant parties and, through them, the elected public officials. They select the executives, bribe the Legislatures and corrupt the courts of justice. They own and censor the press. They dominate the educational institutions. They own the nation politically and intellectually just as they own it industrially.

The struggle between wage workers and capitalists grows ever fiercer, and has now become the only vital issue before the American people.

The wage working class, therefore, has the most direct interest in abolishing the capitalist system. But in abolishing the present system, the workingmen will free not only their own class, but also all other classes of modern society. The small farmer, who is today exploited by large capital more indirectly but not less effectively than is the wage laborer; the small manufacturer and trader, who is engaged in a desperate and losing struggle for economic independence in the face of the all-conquering power of concentrated capital; and even the capitalist himself, who is the slave of his wealth rather than its master. The struggle of the working class against the capitalist class, while it is a class struggle, is thus at the same time a struggle for the abolition of all classes and class privileges.

The private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation, is the rock upon which class rule is built; political government is its indispensable instrument. The wage-workers cannot be freed from exploitation without conquering the political power and substituting collective for private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation.

The basis for such transformation is rapidly developing within present capitalist society. The factory system, with its complex machinery and minute division of labor, is rapidly destroying all vestiges of individual production in manufacture. Modern production is already very largely a collective and social process. The great trusts and monopolies which have sprung up in recent years have organized the work and management of the principal industries on a national scale, and have fitted them for collective use and operation.

There can be no absolute private title to land. All private titles, whether called fee simple or otherwise, are and must be subordinate to the public title. The Socialist Party strives to prevent land from being used for the purpose of exploitation and speculation. It demands the collective possession, control or management of land by those using it in a useful and bona fide manner without exploitation.

The Socialist Party is primarily an economic and political movement. It is not concerned with matters of religious belief.

In the struggle for freedom the interests of all modern workers are identical. The struggle is not only national but international. It embraces the world and will be carried to ultimate victory by the united workers of the world.

To unite the workers of the nation and their allies and sympathizers of all other classes to this end, is the mission of the Socialist Party. In this battle for freedom the Socialist Party does not strive to substitute working class rule for capitalist class rule, but by working class victory, to free all humanity from class rule and to realize the international brotherhood of man.

PROGRAM.

As measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

General Demands.

1. The immediate government relief for the unemployed workers by building schools, by reforesting of cut-over and waste lands, by reclamation of arid tracts, and the building of canals, and by extending all other useful public works. All persons employed on such works shall be employed directly by the government under an eight-hour work-day and at the prevailing union wages. The government shall also loan money to states and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works. It shall contribute to the funds of labor organizations for the purpose of assisting their unemployed members, and shall take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the miasrule of the capitalist class.

2. The collective ownership of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, steamboat lines and all other means of social transportation and communication.

3. The collective ownership of all industries which are organized on a national scale and in which competition has virtually ceased to exist.

4. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

5. The scientific reforestation of timber lands, and the reclamation of swamp lands. The land so reforested or reclaimed to be permanently retained as a part of the public domain.

6. The absolute freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

Industrial Demands.

7. The improvement of the industrial condition of the workers.

(a) By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

(b) By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

(c) By securing a more effective inspection of workshops and factories.

(d) By forbidding the employment of children under sixteen years of age.

(e) By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor, of convict labor and of all uninspected factories.

(f) By abolishing official charity and substituting in its place compulsory insurance against unemployment, illness, accidents, invalidism, old age and death.

Political Demands.

8. The extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the amount of the bequests and to the nearness of kin.

9. A graduated income tax.

10. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women, and we pledge ourselves to engage in an active campaign in that direction.

11. The initiative and referendum, proportional representation and the right of recall.

12. The abolition of the Senate.

13. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by Congress. National laws to be repealed or abrogated only by act of Congress or by a referendum of the whole people.

14. That the Constitution be made amendable by majority vote.

15. The enactment of further measures for general education and for the conservation of health. The bureau of education to be made a department. The creation of a department of public health.

16. The separation of the present bureau of labor from the department of commerce and labor, and the establishment of a department of labor.

17. That all judges be elected by the people for short terms, and that the power to issue injunctions shall be curbed by immediate legislation.

18. The free administration of justice.

Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole power of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry and thus come to their rightful inheritance.

INDIANA NEWS.

James Onsal, State Secretary, 808½ Ohio Street, Terre Haute.

Zero weather has not dampened the determination of some Socialists to organize and get into the Socialist Party. The Comrades at Bourbon, in Marshall County, organize and start with six members. The Secretary writes that on receipt of the charter they expect to take in a number of applicants.

Finnish Socialists to the number of ten have organized at Muncie and have received a charter. The Finns always prove to be sturdy revolutionists, and if there are any more Finns out side the local the Socialists will have them inside before long.

Local Muncie also reports that they have one more branch in process of organization, and when completed it, together with the Finnish branch, will give them six in the city.

Local Laporte always has something doing, and an item could be given them each week in this weekly report. This local and Local Valparaiso deserve the credit of organizing Michigan City, which has been one of the most stubborn towns in the State to conquer. Secretary Cady, of Local Laporte, sends a number of newspaper clippings of meetings addressed in Laporte and Michigan City by Comrades Tilton and Graham of Valparaiso. Newspaper propaganda is one of the effective methods Local Laporte always takes care of.

The apportionment of delegates to the National Convention gives Indiana nine, and the average membership in the State for the last three months of 1911 shows the State to have 3,188. The average membership for the entire year was 2,046, and the dues paid to the National Office, including dues paid direct by foreign speaking organizations, was $1,827.70. The big increase in membership during the fall is indicated by the average membership for the last three months, as stated above.

There are a large number of towns in the State where Socialists to the number of a dozen or more are reading The Register. These Comrades wil want to assist in the big campaign next year and should get in touch with the State Office. An extensive campaign conducted through speakers and literature will be waged, and every Socialist who is alive to the great possibilities of next year should write the State Secretary and announce his intention of being in the fight and doing what he can to get the Comrades organized.

ONLY A SPOOL OF THREAD.

A spool of thread is such a common necessity that it comes into a home and disappears by use without much though or notice. Still, there are millions of dollars made by the manufacturers in this industry. The J. P. Coates Company, the largest thread manufacturers in the world, declared a dividend for the year 1911 of 35 per cent. The paid-up capital of this company is about $80,000,000, and its surplus fund that has been saved after paying such remarkable dividends, has accumulated to $41,000,000. The stock of this company is quoted at 510, putting the thread manufacturing industry in the same class as Standard Oil. It will also be remembered that this is one of the highly protected industries, in which women and children are largely employed, at very low wages.

If those who are trying to allay the discontent now so prevalent will give every workingman who is out of a job a thousand dollars and secure those now working with a living, they will have rid the community of this thought that is so destructive to the happiness—of the well fed.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?

"Boston, Mass., Jan. 6, 1912.—Deeply penitent for my sin, and earnestly desiring, as far as in my power lies, to make atonement, I hereby confess that I am guilty of the offense of which I stand indicted.—CLARENCE V. T. RICHESON."

Who was it said, get money, get it honestly if you can, but get money?

That's what the Richeson case means to me; that's all it can mean to you. How many men go through life ruthlessly slaying their fellow man to get money. What's at the bottom of it all?

We hear a man say, and men who are supposed to have brains, "Any man can get rich if he wants to." So say I, but he must hide his better self; he must forget all the ideals that are inherent in all men; he must grovel in the dust; he must forget mother, father, family, yea, all that is worth while to get rich. We all want wealth. The Bible says a rich man cannot enter the kingdom of heaven, and we are supposed to follow it. Let me ask a fair question: If wealth must be purchased so dearly why should we pay the price?

1st. Because it will give us a good house, a warm fire, nice furniture.

2nd. Good clothes and all those things which go to make us appear well.

3rd. It will enable us to associate with those who seem better than others.

4th. This is the most important factor. It will enable us to live in comfort and ease in our old days.

Why should this be so? If a man serves society to the best of his ability, if he does his share of the necessary work of the world why should he have to fear the poor house after he has passed the age of usefulness. His labors for society have consumed his strength and vitality and society owes him a living until he has bidden this world adieu.

The Socialist believes that all men are entitled to what they produce and if a system based on that plan were adopted we would have no murder like the one mentioned in the first paragraph. Mr. Richeson would be still preaching the word of God and be married to the girl he murdered. But our present day society is based on the ideal of money.

The meaning of life is to barter and buy and the strongest and schewdest are masters.

Let us do away with this sordid system of murder and robbery and establish one of equal rights to all, where in each man, woman and child will get the full product of his toil.

Remember he who believes that each child should have an equal opportunity with every other child is a Socialist. He who does not believe that is a tyrant. Then hail the dawn of the co-operative commonwealth, when justice will walk abroad and man for the first time will stand up a free man. Love will flow like water, hate will shrink away and the realization of the word peace will sweep us all into the great brotherhood of man.

WOMAN'S DIRECTORY

The Woman's Local Committee meets every Monday evening at 15½ East Gay Street. Every woman invited to come.

SOCIALIST DANCES.

Socialist dances will be given at Layman Dancing Academy, S. E. Corner High and Gay Streets every Friday night until further notice.

All tickets out for the Munich Hall will be accepted for admission at the Gay Street hall.

Come and bring your friends and help us have a good time.

Everything First Class.

The Leader has a fine line of Dressing Jackets and Kimonos.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS AND CORRESPONDENTS.

Hereafter the forms of The Socialist will close Wednesday at 4 p. m. All announcements and notices should be in this office by Wednesday at 9 a. m. There is no use in Comrades sending in lengthy articles, as they will not be published. All general communications should reach us by Monday of each week. Important items may be used at the last moment, but we cannot guarantee it.

NEWSBOYS' SHOW.

The real newsboys of Columbus will give a vaudevile show at the Board of Trade Monday evening, January 28. Shell out and give the boys a boost by buying tickets, which are 25 cents each.

See the Leader's special sale on pants.

Miss Estella Weinstein, of the Leader, wishes to see her friends and show the new goods just arrived.

Mrs. M. Weinstein, of 216 South Washington avenue, entertained the Crown Sewing Circle at her home last Monday afternoon. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Vanbora's on Hamilton avenue.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

All $12.50, $15 and $18 suits and overcoats now only $8.75, at The Liberty, 198-200 East Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

BIBLE STUDENTS MEETING.

Pastor Paul S. Johnson will deliver another address under the auspices of the Local Branch of the International Bible Students' Association tomorrow (Sunday) at their Tabernacle at 47 West Gay Street. The subject of his address will be "The Religious Signs of the Times."

Pastor Johnson, in reply to a question on his coming address, replied: "that the religious signs of the times were even more significant than the secular signs of the times, on which he spoke last Sunday.

Inquiring minds are noting the trend of these wonderful times and are asking for a solution of the existing conditions of Christendom. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

200 pairs of men's gun-metal shoes, button or lace, $2.50 value, now only $1.69, at The Liberty, 198-200 East Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Several weeks ago a dispatch flew over the country from Nashville, Tenn., saying that the Socialists at that place had adopted resolutions denouncing the Socialist Party for its attitude in the McNamara case and demanding that the S. P. condemn union labor and give it no more sympathetic support. The regular Socialist local made an investigation and found that the resoluters were a fraud organization and had no connection with the Socialist Party. The period of lying and faking has arrived on time.

WILSON MEETING AROUSES ENTHUSIASM.

Comrade Bachman Arraigns Goldstein and Catholic Church.

The meeting held at Munich Hall on Wednesday evening of last week, at which Comrade Ben F. Wilson, of Kansas, was the principal speaker, was a success considering the weather. Comrade Wilson had never addressed a Columbus audience before, but he will, without doubt, be here more than once before the year is out. Comrade Wilson's topic was "The Moral and Spiritual Significance of Socialism." He gave new light on the terms used and supplied a mighty uplifht to the local Comrades who were weary after a long campaign and the consideration of party tactics. The lecture was a feast and did us all a lot of good. The Socialist reporter forgot all about taking notes and has no apology to offer.

Comrade J. L. Bachman was the second speaker, and made good his indictment against Dave Goldstein and the Catholic Church, on the charges of falsehood, bigotry, robbery and murder." The case will be further heard at East Side Market House, Sunday night, January 28. Comrade Bachman made a profound impression by his avalanche of historical facts and logical deductions.

The Omaha News, with calm resignation, is preparing to bow to the inevitable, remarking that "the fear of red radicalism in Socialism is wearing off, and the conduct and success of Socialists already entrusted with civic power may lead to a sort of modified but efficacious Socialism that other enlightened communities than Berkeley, Pasadena, Schenectady and Los Angeles (within 18 per cent) may indorse."

We are told that all are equal before the law, but when we come to consider that labor officials get a speedy trial and are sentenced to terms of imprisonment while trust magnates are allowed to defend themselves from the exactions of the law's demands for a period over ten years we are prone to yell rats!

THE CAPITALISTIC WAY.

Recently there appeared in a capitalist newspaper in this city a news item announcing the fact that the sugar refineries in the east had closed down, throwing 5,000 men out of employment. It further stated that the wives and children of these men went down to the gates of said factories and begged and prayed that their husbands and fathers might be allowed to go back to work or they would surely starve.

The reason for the shut-down (according to the sugar trust magnates) was over production.

Now, you working jack-asses, in human form, now you know what is the matter. The benevolent sugar trust, after doubling the price of sugar last fall, right in the midst of the canning season, making the price so high that this common necessity is now considered a luxury, by working class families, are now able to throw these 5,000 men out of employment, thereby increasing their profits by at least $10,000 per day. By raising the cry of scarcity, thereby pulling the wool over your eyes in the first place, they were enabled to double the price, thereby cutting down the total amount of their output about one-third. Now, by raising the cry of over-production they are able to shut down their factories and you, Mr. Working Man and your family, can go straight to hell.

But, don't kick, that is what you voted for.

Yes, Mr. Democrat and Republican, you vote for a few moral prostitutes and diseased dukes, blood czars and monkey killers to own the earth and the fullness thereof, so don't whine like a whipped cur when your belly gets empty.

Under the present rate of development of the capitalist system, it will not be long until there will not only be an over-production of sugar but the same kind of over-production of rice and beans. Then as your standard of living falls still lower you can next expect an over-production of wind-pudding and air-dip. However, Mr. Working Man, I would advise you not to vote the Socialist ticket, you might be voting for a principle that would inaugurate a system of government where empty stomachs are unknown. In the words of the capitalist, "Let us ever prey."

The Leader has the C. B. & W. new corsets.

We have reasoned it out lately (since we awakened from the lethargic condition ex-"Comrade" Dave put us into with his oratorical sleeping tonic) that "Goldy" must be truthful about the decadent condition of Socialism in Massachusetts when he speaks of the vote dropping several thousands in the state, for was he not a member of the party once, and Elbert Hubbard, you will perhaps remember, said that all Socialists were full of prunes and statistics, and Dave must still be good at statistics, being a Socialist once, but as to the prunes being in him yet—well we'll leave that to the worms!

Socialism vs. Catholicism

Comrade J. L. BACHMAN

Will Speak under the Auspices of the SOCIALIST PUBLISHING CO. at

EAST SIDE MARKET HOUSE

Sunday Evening, at 7:30 January 28

RESOLVED, That Socialism is in accord with the highest ideals of Morality and Religion and gives the greatest opportunity to attain such ideals.

A challenge is hereby duly issued to Dave Goldstein, any Catholic priest, in this or any other city, or any other person authorized to represent the Catholic Church. Said representative of the said organization will be allotted one and one-half hours to present his case and if this is not sufficient time, he will be extended further time. DON'T FAIL TO COME. Comrade Bachman has an indictment against the said organization, that every liberty-loving American should hear.

COUNCILMEN ON RECORD AGAINST WORKINGMEN

Socialists Stand For More Pay for Laborers Instead of Clerks. Printing Graft Next Thing on Program.

The ordinance increasing the pay of city firemen, passed by the last council, was repealed Monday night by a vote of 16 years to 5 nays. The nays were cast by Socialist Councilmen Bohnert, Warren, Wilson and Zimpfer and McGuire, Republican.

An alleged decision of the Supreme Court, providing that no employe of the civil service could receive an increase in salary while in office, it was claimed, would have barred old members of the fire department from participating in the increase in salary, and only new members of the department could have received the raise.

The ordinance of Councilman Zimpfer providing for eight-hour days, 6½ days a week and 37½ cents an hour in the departments, was defeated after it had been reported back favorably from the committee. It was supported by the four Socialist members and Councilman Reinhard.

In the arguments against passage of the ordinance it was alleged that there was not enough money to permit the increase at the present time and that the provisions of the Smith law would not make any more funds available next year.

Councilman Bohnert made another effort to raise the pay of laborers in an ordinance regulating the salary of employes in the garbage department, when he proposed an amendment to the ordinance making the minimum pay $2 a day. The amendment was lost.

Councilman Warren introduced an ordinance providing for the repeal of ordinances passed last month and which increased the salaries of clerks of the justices of the peace, a deputy in the city clerk's office and the third deputy to the police clerk. It was laid on the table.

When asked his reason for introducing the ordinance, Councilman Warren said:

"Well, they say we have no money and can't increase the day wages of a laborer who earns the money, so I want the other repealed."

On the proposition to have the city buy 21 lots in Duraucean Park addition, at the storage dam, the vote was a tie, and President Logan cast the deciding vote in favor of the resolution. The members lined up as follows: Yeas—Alcott, Baldridge, Barry, Connolley, Ellis, Hayden, McGuire, Nailor, Sherman—9; Nays: Biederman, Bohnert, Lucks, Reinhard, Stribling, Warren, Wilson, Zimpfer—9. Councilman Griffin was absent.

Socialist members said that, while it might be a good thing to own the land along the river, enforcement of the law should be sufficient to insure against pollution and charged that real estate firms likely would buy other land in the vicinity, improve it, and then unload it on the city at a big price.

The City Printing.

The letting of the contract for the publication of the ordinances and resolutions of council was before the committee on printing last Monday evening. The following bids were on file: Journal, $1 a square for first insertion, 50 cents for second; The Week, $1 and 50 cents; Citizen, 56 cents and 56 cents; "The Times," Democratic weekly, through P. J. McCallister, 30 and 30 cents; Socialist, weekly, 30 and 15 cents; Democratic Messenger, weekly, C. A. Hollenbeck, manager, 34½ and 18½ cents; "Town Topics, weekly, Jacob Tarrier, 30 and 15 cents; Express-Westbote, German, 35 and 45 cents.

The committee on rules, printing and revision recommended that the contract be made with the State Journal, the Times and the Westbote. Councilman Lucks is leading a fight in council for the Democratic organization to give the Democratic printing to "The Week," because, he says, the Democratic central committee has recommend "The Week."

The matter was, upon motion of Councilman Sherman, referred back to the committee with instructions to obtain data as to the circulation and standing of the various papers bidding. The hearing before the committee was a lively one and showed how quickly dead Democratic papers came to life when city printing is to be given out.

MINERS FAVOR SOCIALISM BY VOTE IN CONVENTION.

All Religious Solicitors Are Excluded From Hall.

John P. White, of Iowa, was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America, according to the vote of the tellers announced at the international convention at Indianapolis. White's majority over Thomas L. Lewis, of Ohio, his opponent, was 48,484½.

Frank J. Hayes, of Illinois, was re-elected vice president for the third time by a majority of 64,884 over Samuel Pascoe, of Illinois.

Edwin Perry, as a candidate for re-election as secretary-treasurer, received 135,698½ votes. He had no opposition.

Delegates elected to the next convention of the American Federation of Labor are:

John Mitchell, John P. White, Frank J. Hayes, John M. Walker, Thomas L. Lewis, Duncan McDonald, and William Greene. Mitchell received the largest vote with 104,427 ballots in his favor.

Socialists won another victory when they succeeded by a large majority in amending the constitution of the organization to permit it to indorse the Socialist Party. The clause in the constitution forbidding the miners to take any political stand was stricken out by the amendment adopted.

At the request of the scale committee, the convention decided to ask postponement of the wage conference with the bituminous coal operators until Jan. 30.

A significant action was taken by the convention last week when by vote it excluded the Catholic sisters, the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America from soliciting contributions in the convention hall. The resolution declared that "this form of charity was not to be encouraged."

STATE SENATE TO JUNK PILE, SAYS HARRY THOMAS.

Socialist Delegate to Constitutional Convention Is Raising Cain in General.

The proposition of the Socialist delegate to the Constitutional Convention, Harry D. Thomas, to abolish the State Senate is causing great discussion among the different delegates. The Socialists are solidly lined up behind him and since the tremendous Socialist vote polled at the last election the old party delegates are rather inclined to take some cognizance of them.

Thomas has been sounding the sentiment regarding his proposal and finds that many of the delegates are inclined to favor it, while none have been found who admit they will oppose it.

There are now twenty-four senatorial districts, each being represented by one or more Senators. The Senators and big politicians violently oppose the Socialists' plan, as it will abolish much of their patronage.

"There is absolutely no need for the Senate," said Delegate Thomas. "One legislative body would serve the people better. The expense of the Legislature would be cut in half and business would be expedited.

"More than $35,000 would be saved in salaries now paid to Senators alone, not including a small army of clerks, stenographers, doorkeepers and other assistants, many of whom now receive $5 a day. There would also be no expense incurred in lighting and heating the Senate chamber."

It is estimated that a saving of $100,000 a year to the State would be made by the abolition of the Upper House. With but one chamber there would be less friction and the sessions of the Legislature would not be prolonged, thus increasing the expenses, as at present.

The abolition of the Ohio State Senate would be the greatest revolutionary move ever made in the history of the United States Government, is the opinion of many. When the New Mexico constitution was drawn a determined effort was made to have but one Legislative body, but it was defeated.

In case the Senate is abolished the office of lieutenant governor would also probably pass away, as about his only duty at present is to preside over the upper chamber. With but one chamber this office would not be needed.

The Constitutional Convention, at its Monday evening session, voted to bar Simon Cronin, long-time legislative lobbyist and agent of Harvey C. Garber of the Bell telephone interests, from the smoking-room of the convention. The motion was by Harry D. Thomas, of Cleveland, Socialist delegate, who told the convention that Cronin was placed in charge of the work for lobbying purposes. Cronin was involved in the graft gossip concerning the Elson telephone bill, two years ago.

The official woman's suffrage amendment was presented by Delegate Kilpatrick, of Trumbull County, chairman of the committee on equal suffrage and the elective franchise. The [illegible] was opposed by Mrs. Dora Sandoe Bachman of Columbus.

LEGAL ADVICE AGENCY.

On February 1st, 1912, The Socialist Publishing Company will establish a legal agency in connection with its office at 108½ South High street, Rooms 6-9. A legal department for the defense of all persons who are in any way imposed upon under civil and criminal law. This department will have at its command all of the Socialist attorneys in Columbus whose names will be given to any one on application as well as an able attorney in direct charge of this department. Let all persons and especially Comrades take notice.

SOCIALISTS CONTROL GERMANY IN THE NATIONAL REICHSTAG

Will Have Votes Enough to Boss the Empire in Legislation. Latest News From Fatherland.

SOCIALISTS CONTROL REICHSTAG.

The latest returns from Germany show that the Socialists have elected 90 members and on the last reballot will undoubtedly gain 11 more. This strength, 110, will give the Reds control of German parliament.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—In spite of the strenuous opposition of the capitalistic parties, the Socialists today won seven more seats in the second ballots for members of the Reichstag, according to the latest reports. With the sixty-six seats won at the general election on January 12, the "Reds" now have seventy-three seats in the Reichstag.

The reballoting took place today in seventy-seven districts, in fifty of which Socialist candidates contested. The results in seventy-three of the seventy-seven districts were announced comparatively early and show the different elected representatives as follows:

Socialists, 7; Progressives, 16; National Liberals, 21; Conservatives, 17; Centrists, 7, and other parties 5.

There is no excitement in Berlin over the result. Eighty more reballots will be held on January 28, and thirty-five on January 25.

The position of the parties in the Reichstag after the two days' balloting is as follows:

Socialists 72, net gain 20; Conservatives 49, net loss 24; Centrists 98, net loss 9; Liberals 88, net loss 13.

NOTICE TO THE LOCALS OF OHIO.

The Columbus Socialist requests each Socialist Local in Ohio to send to us as often as convenient brief reports of its work, prospects and other items of interest to the party. These reports will be published in our "Socialists in Action Department." Address all communication to Editor Socialist, 108½ South High street, Columbus, Ohio.

ORGANIZERS' MEETING.

The Ward Branch Organizers and the Organization Committee will meet at City Headquarters, 385½ South High street, tomorrow (Sunday) morning. Every member should be present.

GRAND MASKED BALL.

The Socialist Glee Club [illegible] will give a grand masked ball Saturday evening, February 10, at Munich Hall, 385½ South High street. Admission 25 cents. One prize for most comically dressed lady and one for neatest dressed lady. Union music.

THE SOULLESS CORPORATION

Street Car Driver—Me and that off horse has been working for the company for twelve years now.

Passenger—That so? The company must think a great deal of you both.

Street Car Driver—Wall, I dunno; last week the two of us was taken sick, and they got a doctor for the horse and docked me. Gid-up there, now, Betsy!

HOLY INQUISITION IS NOT YET DEAD

Religious Bigots Gloat Over Prospect of Bloody Vengeance.

Many volumes record the tormenting cruelties of the Inquisition, but that no one may charge us with exaggeration listen to only a short extract from a Roman Catholic periodical, La Bandera Catholica (The Catholic Banner), printed at Barcelona, and bearing no late a date as July 29, 1883, in which, after rejoicing over the burning of a large number of Bibles, it proceeds to say: "The re-establishment of the Holy Tribunal of the Inquisition must soon take place. Its reign will be more glorious and fruitful in results than in the past, and the number of those who will be called upon to suffer under it will exceed the number of the past." The Journal, still gloating over the multitude who have thus suffered, and with evident regret at not being able to state the whole number, adds that the entire number of these victims in Spain alone was 347,704. Then continuing its remarks it adds: "Our Catholic heart overflows with faith and enthusiasm and the immense joy which we experience as we begin to reap the fruit of our present campaign exceeds all imagination. WHAT A DAY OF PLEASURE WILL THAT BE FOR US WHEN WE SEE FREE MASONS, SPIRITUALISTS, FREE THINKERS AND ANTI-CLERICALS WRITHING IN THE FLAMES OF THE INQUISITION."

Extract from The Purple and Scarlet Woman.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

"The Socialist" has grown to a size where it is now absolutely necessary that we get larger and more suitable quarters. Towards this end we have been working, and we have now secured a suite of rooms at 108½ South High street (southeast corner State and High).

We will have a reading room in connection with the business department, and all Comrades and friends, boosters or otherwise, are cordially requested to come in at any time.

The reading room will remain open evenings until 8:30 and we will also keep on hand all the best Socialist literature procurable.

Anyone having a book they wish to donate to the library can feel assured that we will welcome same.

We will remain in our present quarters the balance of this week and our removal will take place Monday, January 29th.

Don't forget the number, [illegible] South High street (third floor).

In the week of January 2, 1912, there were over 600 applicants for employment at the Free Employment Bureau in the Deshler Block, northwest corner of Broad and High streets, and with the constant efforts of Supt. Hauck only 187 could be provided for. While this is a good showing for the superintendent, yet it shows a deplorable condition in which honest, willing men find themselves with hungry children and avaricious landlords staring them in the face.

AFRAID TO TOUCH IT.

Prof. George W. Knight Sends a Substitute.

Last Sunday night Professor Knight, delegate to the Constitutional Convention from Franklin County, was to have spoken on "The Recall" at the Settlement House, 311 West Broad street, and Dr. Baldwin was to reply. When the time arrived Prof. Spencer, of Ohio State University, was introduced without assigning any definite reason for the absence of Prof. Knight. Prof. Spencer gave a very interesting history of the rise and progress of "The Recall" and showed that every instance where it had been invoked was for the best interests of the people and that in a few instances where the recall was invoked and the officers not recalled that too was proof of the good judgment of the people.

Prof. Spencer made a distinction between administrative and legislative officers and judicial officers, saying that "judges should be unhampered and independent."

Marsh C. Green and several others asked many questions of the speaker in an effort to find out if Prof. Knight, whom Prof. Spencer represented, was for or opposed to "The Recall," but in vain.

Marsh C. Green then spoke in favor of "The Recall," showed that the people had not been allowed to vote on a constitution until 1851 and that the people never got a taste of authority or a new privilege that they willingly relinquished. He showed the futility of electing men to office and permitting them to be their bosses, when the court could undo anything the people might do. He showed that pure democracy would be a farce without the recall of the judiciary.

He was followed by W. C. Bates, who showed the many advantages of the recall from a legal standpoint.

These meetings are becoming interesting and should be attended by the people of the West Side

Dr. W. J. Means will speak on "Medical Inspection of the Schools" on January 28th at 7:30 p. m.

COLUMBUS FEDERATION OF LABOR OFFICERS.

Local Central Body Endorses Columbus Socialist as Entitled to A. F. of L. Reports.

The Columbus Federation of Labor last Monday night unanimously passed a resolution requesting the American Federation of Labor to furnish its weekly news letter to the Columbus Socialist. This action is duly appreciated by this paper.

Prohibition of placing advertising matter in any of the public school buildings was favored when it named a committee to confer with the Board of Education, L. Rowe, H. W. Faust and Arthur Larrison were appointed.

Unanimous indorsement was given to the report of the centennial committee, which recommended that the Federation lend all possible aid to the project and to bring its national officers to the city during the show.

James H. Henderson was re-elected president without opposition. Other officers elected were: Vice president, M. C. Green; recording secretary, Herman Merz; financial secretary, H. G. Ebright; treasurer, Jacob Stoezel; librarian, C. A. Cashdollar; trustees, George Prehm, A. L. Leavitt, S. H. Baggs; sergeant-at-arms, Fred Grant; doorkeeper, Frank Nonnenmacher; executive board, C. G. Appel, J. T. Liddy and S. H. Baggs.

On request of the Columbus philanthropic council, S. H. Baggs and President Henderson were named delegates to represent the Federation in that body.

FIFTH WARD DANCE.

The Socialists of the Fifth Ward will give a dance at Hubbard's Hall, at Miller and Main streets, next Monday evening. Admission for gentlemen, 15c. Everybody invited.

WOMAN'S DIRECTORY

The Woman's Local Committee meets every Monday evening at 15½ East Gay Street. Every woman invited to come.

SOCIALIST DANCES.

Socialist dances will be given at Layman Dancing Academy, S. E. Corner High and Gay Streets every Friday night until further notice.

All tickets out for the Munich Hall will be accepted for admission at the Gay Street hall.

Come and bring your friends and help us have a good time.

Everything First Class.

The Leader has a fine line of Dressing Jackets and Kimonos.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS AND CORRESPONDENTS.

Hereafter the forms of The Socialist will close Wednesday at 4 p. m. All announcements and notices should be in this office by Wednesday at 9 a. m. There is no use in Comrades sending in lengthy articles, as they will not be published. All general communications should reach us by Monday of each week. Important items may be used at the last moment, but we cannot guarantee it.

NEWSBOYS' SHOW.

The real newsboys of Columbus will give a vaudevile show at the Board of Trade Monday evening, January 22. Shell out and give the boys a boost by buying tickets, which are 25 cents each.

See the Leader's special sale on pants.

Miss Estella Weinstein, of the Leader, wishes to see her friends and show the new goods just arrived.

Mrs. M. Weinstein, of 316 South Washington avenue, entertained the Crown Sewing Circle at her home last Monday afternoon. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Vanhorn's on Hamilton avenue.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

All $12.50, $15 and $18 suits and overcoats now only $8.75, at The Liberty, 198-200 East Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

BIBLE STUDENTS MEETING.

Pastor Paul S. Johnson will deliver another address under the auspices of the Local Branch of the International Bible Students' Association tomorrow (Sunday) at their Tabernacle at 47 West Gay Street. The subject of his address will be "The Religious Signs of the Times."

Pastor Johnson, in reply to a question on his coming address, replied: "that the religious signs of the times were even more significant than the secular signs of the times, on which he spoke last Sunday.

Inquiring minds are noting the trend of these wonderful times and are asking for a solution of the existing conditions of Christendom. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

200 pairs of men's gun-metal shoes, button or lace, $2.50 value, now only $1.69, at The Liberty, 198-200 East Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Several weeks ago a dispatch flew over the country from Nashville, Tenn., saying that the Socialists at that place had adopted resolutions denouncing the Socialist Party for its attitude in the McNamara case and demanding that the S. P. condemn union labor and give it no more sympathetic support. The regular Socialist local made an investigation and found that the resoluters were a fraud organization and had no connection with the Socialist Party. The period of lying and faking has arrived on time.

WILSON MEETING AROUSES ENTHUSIASM.

Comrade Bachman Arraigns Goldstein and Catholic Church.

The meeting held at Munich Hall on Wednesday evening of last week, at which Comrade Ben F. Wilson, of Kansas, was the principal speaker, was a success considering the weather. Comrade Wilson had never addressed a Columbus audience before, but he will, without doubt, be here more than once before the year is out. Comrade Wilson's topic was "The Moral and Spiritual Significance of Socialism." He gave new light on the terms used and supplied a mighty uplifht to the local Comrades who were weary after a long campaign and the consideration of party tactics. The lecture was a feast and did us all a lot of good. The Socialist reporter forgot all about taking notes and has no apology to offer.

Comrade J. L. Bachman was the second speaker, and made good his indictment against Dave Goldstein and the Catholic Church, on the charges of falsehood, bigotry, robbery and murder. The case will be further heard at East Side Market House, Sunday night, January 28. Comrade Bachman made a profound impression by his avalanche of historical facts and logical deductions.

The Omaha News, with calm resignation, is preparing to bow to the inevitable, remarking that "the fear of red radicalism in Socialism is wearing off, and the conduct and success of Socialists already entrusted with civic power may lead to a sort of modified but efficacious Socialism that other enlightened communities than Berkeley, Pasadena, Schenectady and Los Angeles (within 19 per cent) may indorse."

We are told that all are equal before the law, but when we come to consider that labor officials get a speedy trial and are sentenced to terms of imprisonment while trust magnates are allowed to defend themselves from the exactions of the law's demands for a period over ten years we are prone to yell rats!

THE CAPITALISTIC WAY.

Recently there appeared in a capitalist newspaper in this city a news item announcing the fact that the sugar refineries in the east had closed down, throwing 5,000 men out of employment. It further stated that the wives and children of these men went down to the gates of said factories and begged and prayed that their husbands and fathers might be allowed to go back to work or they would surely starve.

The reason for the shut-down (according to the sugar trust magnates) was over production.

Now, you working jack-asses, in human form, now you know what is the matter. The benevolent sugar trust, after doubling the price of sugar last fall, right in the midst of the canning season, making the price so high that this common necessity is now considered a luxury, by working class families, are now able to throw these 5,000 men out of employment, thereby increasing their profits by at least $10,000 per day. By raising the cry of scarcity, thereby pulling the wool over your eyes in the first place, they were enabled to double the price, thereby cutting down the total amount of their output about one-third. Now, by raising the cry of over-production they are able to shut down their factories and you, Mr. Working Man and your family, can go straight to hell.

But, don't kick, that is what you voted for.

Yes, Mr. Democrat and Republican, you vote for a few moral prostitutes and diseased dukes, blood czars and monkey killers to own the earth and the fullness thereof, so don't whine like a whipped cur when your belly gets empty.

Under the present rate of development of the capitalist system, it will not be long until there will not only be an over-production of sugar but the same kind of over-production of rice and beans. Then as your standard of living falls still lower you can next expect an over-production of wind-pudding and air-dip. However, Mr. Working Man, I would advise you not to vote the Socialist ticket, you might be voting for a principle that would inaugurate a system of government where empty stomachs are unknown. In the words of the capitalist, "Let us ever prey."

The Leader has the C. B. & W. new corsets.

We have reasoned it out lately (since we awakened from the lethargic condition ex-"Comrade" Dave put us into with his oratorical sleeping tonic) that "Goldy" must be truthful about the decadent condition of Socialism in Massachusetts when he speaks of the vote dropping several thousands in the state, for was he not a member of the party once, and Elbert Hubbard, you will perhaps remember, said that all Socialists were full of prunes and statistics, and Dave must still be good at statistics, being a Socialist once, but as to the prunes being in him yet—well we'll leave that to the worms!

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

Men's 10c sox now 3c, men's 75c dress shrits now 35c, men's 25c suspenders now 12½c, at The Liberty, 148-200 East Main street.

COUNCILMEN ON RECORD AGAINST WORKINGMEN

Socialists Stand For More Pay for Laborers Instead of Clerks. Printing Graft Next Thing on Program.

The ordinance increasing the pay of city firemen, passed by the last council, was repealed Monday night by a vote of 15 years to 5 nays. The nays were cast by Socialist Councilmen Bohnert, Warren, Wilson and Zimpfer and McGuire, Republican.

An alleged decision of the Supreme Court, providing that no employe of the civil service could receive an increase in salary while in office, it was claimed, would have barred old members of the fire department from participating in the increase in salary, and only new members of the department could have received the raise.

The ordinance of Councilman Zimpfer providing for eight-hour days, 5½ days a week and 37½ cents an hour in the departments, was defeated after it had been reported back favorably from the committee. It was supported by the four Socialist members and Councilman Reinhard.

In the arguments against passage of the ordinance it was alleged that there was not enough money to permit the increase at the present time and that the provisions of the Smith law would not make any more funds available next year.

Councilman Bohnert made another effort to raise the pay of laborers in an ordinance regulating the salary of employes in the garbage department, when he proposed an amendment to the ordinance making the minimum pay $2 a day. The amendment was lost.

Councilman Warren introduced an ordinance providing for the repeal of ordinances passed last month and which increased the salaries of clerks of the justices of the peace, a deputy in the city clerk's office and the third deputy in the police clerk. It was laid on the table.

When asked his reason for introducing the ordinance, Councilman Warren said:

"Well, they say we have no money and can't increase the day wages of a laborer who needs the money, so I want the other repealed."

On the proposition to have the city buy 21 lots in Duranceau Park addition, at the storage dam, the vote was a tie, and President Logan cast the deciding vote in favor of the resolution. The members lined up as follows: Yeas: Alcott, Baldridge, Barry, Connolley, Ellis, Hayden, McGuire, Nailor, Sherman—9. Nays: Biederman, Bohnert, Lucas, Reinhard, Stribling, Warren, Wilson, Zimpfer—8. Councilman Griffin was absent.

Socialist members said that, while it might be a good thing to own the land along the river, enforcement of the law should be sufficient to insure against pollution and charged that real estate firms likely would buy other land in the vicinity, improve it, and then unload it on the city at a big price.

The City Printing.

The letting of the contract for the publication of the ordinances and resolutions of council was before the committee on printing last Monday evening. The following bids were on file: Journal, $1 a square for first insertion, 50 cents for second; The Week, $1 and 50 cents; Citizen, 55 cents and 55 cents; "The Times," Democratic weekly, through P. J. McCallister, 60 and 50 cents; Socialist, weekly, 30 and 15 cents; Democratic Messenger, weekly, C. A. Hollenbeck, manager, 34½ and 38½ cents; Town Topics, weekly, Jacob Tarrier, 30 and 15 cents; Express-Westbote, German, 35 and 45 cents.

The committee on rules, printing and revision recommended that the contract be made with the State Journal, the Times and the Westbote. Councilman Lucas is leading a fight in council for the Democratic organization to give the Democratic printing to "The Week," because, he says, the Democratic central committee has recommended "The Week."

The matter was, upon motion of Councilman Sherman, referred back to the committee with instructions to obtain data as to the circulation and standing of the various papers bidding. The hearing before the committee was a lively one and showed how quickly dead Democratic papers came to life when city printing is to be given out.

FIFTH WARD DANCE.

The Socialists of the Fifth Ward will give a dance at Hubbard's Hall, at Miller and Main streets, next Monday evening. Admission for gentlemen, 25c. Everybody invited.

MINERS FAVOR SOCIALISM BY VOTE IN CONVENTION.

All Religious Solicitors Are Excluded From Hall.

John P. White, of Iowa, was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America, according to the vote of the tellers announced at the international convention at Indianapolis. White's majority over Thomas L. Lewis, of Ohio, his opponent, was 46,424½.

Frank J. Hayes, of Illinois, was re-elected vice president for the third time by a majority of 64,824 over Samuel Pascoe, of Illinois.

Edwin Perry, as a candidate for re-election as secretary-treasurer, received 135,698½ votes. He had no opposition.

Delegates elected to the next convention of the American Federation of Labor are:

John Mitchell, John P. White, Frank J. Hayes, John M. Walker, Thomas L. Lewis, Duncan McDonald, and William Greene. Mitchell received the largest vote with 104,427 ballots in his favor.

Socialists won another victory when they succeeded by a large majority in amending the constitution of the organization to permit it to indorse the Socialist Party. The clause in the constitution forbidding the miners to take any political stand was stricken out by the amendment adopted.

At the request of the scale committee, the convention decided to ask postponement of the wage conference with the bituminous coal operators until Jan. 26.

A significant action was taken by the convention last week when by vote it excluded the Catholic sisters, the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America from soliciting contributions in the convention hall. The resolution declared that "this form of charity was not to be encouraged."

STATE SENATE TO JUNK PILE, SAYS HARRY THOMAS.

Socialist Delegate to Constitutional Convention Is Raising Cain in General.

The proposition of the Socialist delegate to the Constitutional Convention, Harry D. Thomas, to abolish the State Senate is causing great discussion among the different delegates. The Socialists are solidly lined up behind him and since the tremendous Socialist vote polled at the last election the old party delegates are rather inclined to take some cognizance of them.

Thomas has been sounding the sentiment regarding his proposal and finds that many of the delegates are inclined to favor it, while none have been found who admit they will oppose it.

There are now twenty-four senatorial districts, each being represented by one or more Senators. The Senators and big politicians violently oppose the Socialists' plan, as it will abolish much of their patronage.

"There is absolutely no need for the Senate," said Delegate Thomas. "One legislative body would serve the people better. The expense of the Legislature would be cut in half and business would be expedited.

"More than $35,000 would be saved in salaries now paid to Senators alone, not including a small army of clerks, stenographers, doorkeepers and other assistants, many of whom now receive $5 a day. There would also be no expense incurred in lighting and heating the Senate chamber."

It is estimated that a saving of $100,000 a year to the State would be made by the abolition of the Upper House. With but one chamber there would be less friction and the sessions of the Legislature would not be prolonged, thus increasing the expenses, as at present.

The abolition of the Ohio State Senate would be the greatest revolutionary move ever made in the history of the United States Government is the opinion of many. When the New Mexico constitution was drawn a determined effort was made to have but one Legislative body, but it was defeated.

In case the Senate is abolished the office of lieutenant governor would also probably pass away, as about his only duty at present is to preside over the upper chamber. With but one chamber this office would not be needed.

The Constitutional Convention, at its Monday evening session, voted to bar Simon Cronin, long-time legislative lobbyist and agent of Harvey C. Garner of the Bell telephone interests, from the smoking-room of the convention. The motion was by Harry D. Thomas, of Cleveland, Socialist delegate, who told the convention that Cronin was placed in charge of the work for lobbying purposes. Cronin was involved in the graft gossip concerning the Elson telephone bill, two years ago.

The official woman's suffrage amendment was presented by Delegate Kilpatrick, of Trumbull County, chairman of the committee on equal suffrage and the elective franchise. The [illegible] was prepared by Mrs. Dora Shadoe Bachman of Columbus.

LEGAL ADVICE AGENCY.

On February 1st, 1912, The Socialist Publishing Company will establish a legal agency in connection with its office at 108½ South High street, Rooms 8-9. A legal department for the defense of all persons who are in any way imposed upon under civil and criminal law. This department will have at its command all of the Socialist attorneys in Columbus whose names will be given to any one on application as well as an able attorney in direct charge of this department. Let all persons and especially Comrades take notice.

SOCIALISTS CONTROL GERMANY IN THE NATIONAL REICHSTAG

Will Have Votes Enough to Boss the Empire in Legislation. Latest News From Fatherland.

SOCIALISTS CONTROL REICHSTAG.

The latest returns from Germany show that the Socialists have elected 90 members and on the last reballot will undoubtedly gain 11 more. This strength, 110, will give the Reds control of German parliament.

Beslin, Jan. 26.—In spite of the strenuous opposition of the capitalistic parties, the Socialists today won seven more seats in the second ballots for members of the Reichstag according to the latest reports. With the sixty-six seats won at the general election on January 12, the "Reds" now have seventy-three seats in the Reichstag.

The reballoting took place today in seventy-seven districts, in fifty of which Socialist candidates contested. The results in seventy-three of the seventy-seven districts were announced comparatively early and show the different elected representatives as follows:

Socialists, 7; Progressives, 16; National Liberals, 21; Conservatives, 17; Centrists, 7; and other parties 5.

There is no excitement in Berlin over the result. Eighty more reballots will be held on January 28, and thirty-five on January 25.

The position of the parties in the Reichstag after the two days' balloting is as follows:

Socialists 73, net gain 30; Conservatives 48, net loss 24; Centrists 88, net loss 9; Liberals 39, net loss 13.

NOTICE TO THE LOCALS OF OHIO.

The Columbus Socialist requests each Socialist Local in Ohio to send to us as often as convenient brief reports of its work, prospects and other items of interest to the party. These reports will be published in our "Socialists in Action Department." Address all communication to Editor Socialist, 108½ South High street, Columbus, Ohio.

ORGANIZERS' MEETING.

The Ward Branch Organizers and the Organization Committee will meet at City Headquarters, 833½ South High street, tomorrow (Sunday) morning. Every member should be present.

GRAND MASKED BALL.

The Socialist Glee Club Revuers will give a grand masked ball Saturday evening, February 17, at Munich Hall, 238½ South High street. Admission 25 cents. One prize for most comically dressed lady and one for neatest dressed lady. Union music.

THE SOULLESS CORPORATION

Street Car Driver—Me and that off horse has been working for the company for twelve years now.

Street Car Driver—Wall, I dunno; last week the two of us was taken sick, and they got a doctor for the horse and docked me. Gid-up there, now, Betsy!

HOLY INQUISITION IS NOT YET DEAD

Religious Bigots Gloat Over Prospect of Bloody Vengeance.

Many volumes record the tormenting cruelties of the Inquisition, but that no one may charge us with exaggeration listen to only a short extract from a Roman Catholic periodical, La Bandera Catholica (The Catholic Banner), printed at Barcelona, and bearing so late a date as July 20, 1883, in which, after rejoicing over the burning of a large number of Bibles, it proceeds to say: "The re-establishment of the Holy Tribunal of the Inquisition must soon take place. Its reign will be more glorious and fruitful in results than in the past, and the number of those who will be called upon to suffer under it will exceed the number of the past." The Journal, still gloating over the multitude who have thus suffered, and with evident regret at not being able to state the whole number, adds that the entire number of these victims in Spain alone was 347,704. Then continuing its remarks it adds: "Our Catholic heart overflows with faith and enthusiasm and the immense joy which we experience as we begin to reap the fruit of our present campaign exceeds all imagination. WHAT A DAY OF PLEASURE WILL THAT BE FOR US WHEN WE SEE FREE MASONS, SPIRITUALISTS, FREE THINKERS AND ANTI-CLERICALS WRITHING IN THE FLAMES OF THE INQUISITION."

Extract from The Purple and Scarlet Woman.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

"The Socialist" has grown to a size where it is now absolutely necessary that we get larger and more suitable quarters. Towards this end we have been working, and we have now secured a suite of rooms at 108½ South High street (southeast corner State and High).

We will have a reading room in connection with the business department, and all Comrades and friends, boosters or otherwise, are cordially requested to come in at any time.

The reading room will remain open evenings until 8:30 and we will also keep on hand all the best Socialist literature procurable.

Anyone having a book they wish to donate to the library can feel assured that we will welcome same.

We will remain in our present quarters the balance of this week and our removal will take place Monday, January 29th.

Don't forget the number, 108½ South High street (third floor).

In the week of January 1, 1912, there were over 600 applicants for employment at the Free Employment Bureau in the Deshler Block, northwest corner of Broad and High streets, and with the constant efforts of Supt. Hauck only 187 could be provided for. While this is a good showing for the superintendent, yet it shows a deplorable condition in which honest, willing men find themselves with hungry children and avaricious landlords staring them in the face.

Socialism vs. Catholicism

CHALLENGE!!

J. L. BACHMAN

Will Speak under the Auspices of the SOCIALIST PUBLISHING CO. at

East Side Market House

19th St. and Mt. Vernon Avenue

J. L. BACHMAN

Sunday Evening, Jan. 28

at 7:30. The Subject will be

RESOLVED, That Socialism is in accord with the highest ideals of Morality and Religion and gives the greatest opportunity to attain such ideals.

A challenge is hereby duly issued to Dave Goldstein, any Catholic priest, in this or any other city, or any other person authorized to represent the Catholic Church. Said representative of the said organization will be allotted one and one-half hours to present his case and if this is not sufficient time, he will be extended further time. DON'T FAIL TO COME. Comrade Bachman has an indictment against the said organization, that every liberty-loving American should hear.

ADMISSION FREE

OHIO COMPENSATION LAW

The Ohio State Board of Awards, charged with enforcing the new Employers' Liability law, has compiled the law in a compact form and is now sending copies to unions and the labor press. It is urged that locals take this matter up and discuss the question, that members may be acquainted with their rights under the new act, instead of allowing workers, through ignorance, to lose benefits which they are entitled to.

Follows the document in question:

The new workmen's compensation law or employers' liability law creates a State insurance fund raised by payments collected by the State Liability Board of Awards from both employers and employes. The amount collected is based upon the payroll or wage and the hazard of employment.

All the money so collected will be diverted back into the compensation channels, i. e., it will go to compensate injured workmen for their disabilities, and, as awards, to the dependents of killed employes. The State maintains the department out of the general tax fund.

An injured workman will receive no compensation for the first week of disablement. In case of temporary or partial disability he shall receive two-thirds of the impairment of his earning capacity during his disability, but not more than $12 nor less than $5 a week unless the wage received was less than $5 a week, in which case he shall receive full wage, nor for longer than six years from date of injury, nor shall a total amount of more than $3,400 be so received for such injury.

In case the workman is permanently disabled he shall receive two-thirds of his average weeky wage until death, but in no case more than $12 nor less than $5 a week, unless the wage received was less than $5 a week, in which case he shall receive full wages. In case of death, reasonable funeral expenses (not more than $150) will be paid.

For medical, nurse and hospital services for injured empoyes the board will pay what it deems proper (not more than $300) in addition to the award.

In case of death where there are wholly dependent persons, two-thirds of the average weekly wage shall be paid to them for the remainder of the period between the date of death and six years after the date of the injury, but in no case more than $3,600 or less than $1,500.

In case of death where there are partly dependent persons they shall receive two-thirds of the average receive two-thirds of the average weekly wage for such period as the board in each case may determine, but no longer than six years from the date of the injury causing death, nor for a total amount of more than $3,400.

The average weekly wage of the injured person at the time of the injury shall be taken as the basis upon which to compute benefits.

The power of the board over each case is a continuing power and the board may modify its awards according to circumstances.

Like federal pensions, awards before payment are exempt from creditors' claims and from attachment or execution.

The law becomes operative January 1, 1913.

Employers desiring to avail themselves of the provisions of the law must have paid into the fund before January 1, 1913, the premium due from them for the first six months of 1913.

Employers who have been carrying commercial liability insurance will be able to approximate the cost of this new insurance.

Employers of fewer than five workmen do not come under the provisions of this law.

If the employer elects to come under the provisions of this law and pays the premiums due into the State insurance fund and posts notices to this effect conspicuously about his establishment, then these notices constitute notice to his employes such as to bring them also within the jurisdiction of the law.

The law has the effect of dividing employers into two general classes, viz:

1. Those who employ less than five workmen or operatives regularly in the same business.

2. Those who employ more than five workmen or operatives regularly in the same business.

In other words, this act operates only on those employers employing five or more workmen or operatives, and those who employ a less number are subject to the liability law in force at the time of the going into effect of this act.

Under this act the employers of the second class above enumerated may, by choice or by willful act or negligence, come within any one of three classes:

1. Employers who employ five or more workmen or operatives regularly in the same business who pay the premiums prescribed by the State Liability Board of Awards into the State insurance fund, and who observe all the provisions of municipal and State laws relative to the protection of the life or safety of employes, and who do not willfully injure any employe or employes. Such employers are not liable to respond in damages by civil action for any injury occurring to any employes in the course of his employment, but the employe must resort wholly to the State insurance fund.

2. Employers who employ five or more employes or operatives regularly in the same business, who do not elect to pay the premiums provided for under this act. The employes of such employers, in case of injury, have no claim upon the State insurance fund, their only recourse being a civil action for damages brought in a court of proper jurisdiction. In such actions, the employers are not permitted to avail themselves of the common law defenses of "contributory negligence," "assumption of risk" or "the fellow-servant rule."

3. Employers who employ more than five workmen or operatives regularly in the same business and who pay into the State insurance fund the premiums fixed by the State Liability of Awards, but who willfully inflict injury upon their employes or who disregard municipal or State regulations for the safety of their employes. The employes of such employers, in case of injury, have the option of either maintaining a civil action for damages, or filing a claim with the State Library Board of Awards for an award from the State insurance fund. Having once exercised their option, however, their decision is final, and they must abide by the result. (See Sections 21-1 and 21-8.)

The posting of the notices prescribed in this section by the employer, and the continuance of the employe in his service thereafter, constitutes an implied contract between employer and employe to the effect that the employe will resort to the insurance fund only for compensation in case of injury.

The premiums provided for in this act shall be paid by the employer and employes in the following proportion: 90 per cent. by the employers and 10 per cent. by the employes.

The rates of premium will be based upon the total payroll and number of employes and fixed by the board after employments have been classified with respect to their degree of hazard.

All blanks for application for compensation or award and also for making up full proofs will be furnished free of cost by the board.

The members of the board are: T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool; Morris Woodhull, of Dayton, and Wallace D. Yaple, of Chillicothe. William C. Archer, of Lancaster, is secretary.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE.

The English parliament has passed a law providing for compulsory insurance against sickness and unemployment; in the working classes 9,200,000 men and 3,000,000 women will be compelled to insure themselves. A small tax will be taken from the wages of these people, their employers will contribute a similar amount, to which the state adds a further contribution, these three items forming the premium.

This is the Socialism of which England complains; it is the kind of Socialism that we should have in our own country today. The United States of America is too rich a country to permit its people to want for bread or work, to let them suffer needlessly from sickness.

While the working people in this country receive the highest wages of any people in the world, they have by no means secured a great many of the benefits which could and would be theirs if they took an intelligent interest in politics.—New Orleans Item.

THE REAL ENEMY.

The enemy who comes to us with open visor we face with a smile; to set our foot upon his neck is mere play for us. The stupidly brutal acts of violence of police and politicians, the outrages of anti-Socialist laws, the anti-revolution laws, penitentiary bills—these only arouse feelings of pitying contempt; the enemy, however, that reaches out the hand to us for a political alliance, and intrudes himself upon us as a friend and brother—him and him alone have we to fear.—Wm. Liebknecht.

THE CARPENTER AND THE CARDINAL

By Patrick L. Quinlan.

The Man of Sorrows.

The son of a workman, a carpenter.

He was the Child of Poverty; the incarnation of misery.

Born in the stable among beasts, he lived and grew up among the meek and lowly. During life He pleaded for the poor and denounced their economic oppressors.

He exposed the shams and hypocricies of the rich. He drove the speculators, the money changers, from the Temple.

And this most wonderful man, this supreme idealist, was arrested, kidnapped at night, thrown into prison among common thieves, diabolically jeered at, brutally beaten and executed.

He was crucified at the bidding of the wealthy men of Jerusalem. And they did it in the name of religion and law nearly 1,900 years ago.

II.

Many organizations arose in the East whose chief purpose was to propagate the principles and spread the ideas of the Man of Sorrows.

The leaders of these organizations were idealists, and they walked in the footsteps of their Master.

They were persecuted just as the Carpenter was. They were, most of them, poor men, but great agitators. And like all great disturbers of the peace they hated pomp and ceremony. They cared little for wealth, except to distribute it. And luxury they detested. Hypocrisy they bitterly denounced and always condemned.

As tributes of the weak and defenceless the world has never had their equals.

Oh, but that was a long, very long time ago.

III.

It is now the twentieth century, and nearly 2,000 years have come and gone. Now all is changed. Instead of a handful of apostles and disciples on the shores of the sea of Galilee, the church has millions of followers, devout and otherwise. They are scattered everywhere from the equator to the poles. The church is now a monument of splendor and magnificence. Volumes could be written about its power and influence. The descendants of the Holy Apostles, the cardinals, archbishops and bishops, do not seek alms nor wear sackcloth.

The beggars and fishermen of Caesars time are translated or have grown into princes and lords, robed in purple and silk like the rulers of the middle ages. They have sanctified the barbaric splendor of robber barons.

IV.

Contrast, the newly created cardinal John M. Farley, with the Carpenter of Nazareth.

The Carpenter was ever in agony and woe.

The cardinal is always happy, supremely happy.

The Carpenter preached and prayed on the roadsides and highways.

The cardinal has a palatial structure as a house of prayer.

"The Son of Man hath nowhere to lay his head."

The cardinal lives in a palace; his home is among the rich.

When Jesus attended the marriage feast at Canes there was no wine to be had; it seems the people were too poor and could not buy it. Not so with the cardinal; his cellar is well stocked with the best liquors and choicest wines. The wine story of Canes makes beautiful reading, but champagne makes better drinking, even in an arch-episcopal palace.

When the Carpenter entered Jerusalem He was welcomed by the poor and hailed as their deliverer.

When Cardinal Farley entered the city of New York, the citadel of American plutocracy, he was received by the richest men, by Catholic and Protestant, Christian and heathen. Politicians and capitalists, public frauds and private cheats, the flowers and the leeches of society; all were there, all lined up to receive His Eminence, to be smiled at and be smiled on.

The Carpenter made his triumphal entry into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday riding on an ass.

The cardinal rode in state from the Battery to the Madison avenue palace in a thirty horse-power limousine.

The Carpenter was executed the week after or following his entry into the Jewish capital.

When the cardinal arrived in New York City he was dined and wined for a week or two. There were Belshazzar-like feasts, at which Socialism, the gospel of the poor, the hope of the weary and oppressed, was vigorously denounced. Like the Assyrian despot of old, they see the handwriting on the wall, and like him they are helpless.

The Carpenter was mocked, insulted and nailed to the cross.

The cardinal received the flattery of the Protestants and the adulation of the Catholics.

The cardinal is given a puree of His thirst, a drink of vinegar.

The cardinal is given a pure of gold—$50,000.

This, gentle reader, is not written in a spirit of hostility to the Roman Catholic Church or its officials, nor is it written in envy, nor in malice or hatred. I have only take advantage of the present psychological occasion, the return of John M. Farley, Cardinal of New York, to compare the new with the old, to illustrate the eternal and immutable law of evolution, that institutions, governments, creeds and all things are constantly changing and the grandest, most imposing and most powerful of ancient structures is passing away.—New York Call.

PATRIOTISM!

But what confounds the intelligence is that in all countries, the poverty stricken, the disinherited, the overworked beast of burden, ill-fed, badly housed, badly clothed, badly educated, as are three-fourths of the inhabitants of every country, march like one man, at the first call, whatever may be the cause of the war. People who would not take one step to render a service to their neighbors workers like themselves, march hundreds of miles in order to get killed for the masters who sweat them.—Gustave Herve.

The Socialist Call is a new paper that comes from Seneca Falls, N. Y.

WOMAN BLAMES LAUNDRIES FOR KILLING HER BABY

New York, Jan. 19.—"They killed my poor little baby; that's why I struck. Maybe they'll kill me, too, for I haven't much money to live on now. Maybe, too, I'll help win this fight and save some other poor mother's baby and then I'll be satisfied." Weeping bitterly, Mathilda Winn, pale-faced and wan, today told State Labor Commissioner Williams of conditions in New York laundries.

"My husband was out of a job," she said, "so I had to work in the laundry to help him. My mother kept my baby during the day, but I nursed it when I came home at night. On Monday I worked from noon until 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. Then I rushed home, too tired to sleep and had to go back to work from 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning until 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Then home and back again at 7:30 a. m. on Wednesday. We usually got off by midnight. Thursday we worked from 7:30 a. m. until 9 p. m. Friday we got away by 7 o'clock, and on Saturdays we worked only three or four hours.

Forced to Work.

"The first three days of the week just killed us. The doctor told me I'd kill my baby if I kept at it, but I had to earn a living. I used to get home at night so tired I could not stand—and try to nurse my baby. But I had to stay at work and kill my own child.

"I was only 18 then, but there were girls as young as 14 working the same hours. The inspectors rarely ever make arrests." Under the laws of New York women may not work more than 10 hours daily. Other haggard women corroborated Mrs. Winn.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM ANTIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS

The National Committee is now voting on Motion No. 1, providing that no person who, either in public speech or in print, opposes the principle of political action shall be employed as National Organizer, Lecturer, or on the Lyceum Bureau. Vote will close February 8th.

Nominations by the National Committee for a committee of three to investigate and report concerning the Chas. H. Kerr Co., closed on January 16th. All nominees have been notified. Acceptances and declinations will close January 24th.

As directed by the National Executive Committee at its December meeting, a State charter has been granted to the District of Columbia. The District will proceed to elect a District Secretary, a National Committeeman, and a delegate to the National Convention.

The recent State convention in North Carolina was very successful, resulting in the adoption of a State constitution and the nomination of candidates for State party officers. The National Office is now putting the constitution, seriatim, and the nominees, to a referendum vote of the membership in the State, preparatory to granting a State charter.

J. W. Bassett, Lafayette, Louisiana, has been re-elected a member of the National Committee for that State.

W. W. Smith, R. D. No. 1, Everett, Washington, has been elected as the additional National Committee member for that State, in accordance with the apportionment recently published by the National Office.

State Secretary E. H. Thomas, of Wisconsin, reports that John Szako, of Milwaukee, has been expelled from the party.

The State nominating convention of the Socialist Party of North Dakota will be held at Devils Lake on February 4th and 5th.

State Secretary James Oneal, of Indiana, reports as follows: "Harvey Kimmerling, of Elwood, Indiana, has been expelled by Local Elwood for repeatedly slandering party members."

National Committeeman Krafft, of New Jersey, supports the motion by National Committeeman LeSueur, of North Dakota, first published in the Weekly Bulletin of January 6th, relating to a meeting of the National Committee at Oklahoma City.

Nominations for members of the Womans National Committee and International Secretary will close at the National Headquarters on January 31st. Nominations received after that date cannot be accepted.

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

James Oneal, State Secretary, 308½ Ohio Street, Terre Haute.

The State Convention of the Socialist Party of Indiana will be called to order at 10 a. m., Saturday, January 27, in Labor Lyceum Hall, 30 North Delaware street, Indianapolis.

Marshall County comes forward with another local, making three in the county. Comrade Tilton organized at Rutland on the 4th and 5th and the local starts with eight members.

Local Elwood reports that after a trial Harvey Kimmerling was expelled for repeated slandering of party members.

Local Union City reports the local in better standing than for months, and 28 members have been taken in since the McNamara confessions. It is certain that these confessions will not hurt the Socialist movement and that the conservative unions have been given something to think of when they reject class action at the ballot box.

Ernest Moore, of the National Socialist Lyceum Bureau, spoke at New Castle on January 16. The Comrades had secured the court house, but Judge Jackson, arranged for his "Lincoln League" to have the court house and the Socialists were forced out and held their meeting in their headquarters, where many were turned away. Capitalistic politicians in these days seem to have lost even all sense of decency and fair play.

Local Elkhart is arranging for a series of meetings, beginning with the Condo meeting on January 21. A small theater has been rented and the use of slides to advertise the meetings. Local Anderson has followed this method, and also gets the use of moving pictures preceding each lecture, with the result that crowded houses greet each Sunday night lecture. Other locals should follow this plan where arrangements can be made.

Most of the locals are electing new officers for the present year, and they are requested to send in the changes promptly so that the list of secretaries may be as near complete as possibl in the January Monthly Bulletin.

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

The Milwaukee Leader, the new Socialist paper, has published a sworn statement showing that its average daily circulation during the first month of its existence was 31,874, which is a very good record for the newcomer.

ExPremier Briand and Millerand, the renegade Socialists, have accepted positions in the new French Cabinet formed by Pioncaire. Viviani, a third renegade, had the decency to decline the portfolio of commerce and attempt to strengthen capitalism.

In historic old Valley Forge, of Revolutionary days, a new revolution has started. J. C. Hogas, the fighting clergyman, formed a Socialist organization and a grandson of one of George Washington's seen made a strong speech for the new movement.

Illinois Socialists are nominating their State ticket by referendum. John Kennedy and John Murphy Collins are contesting for the gubernatorial nomination and there are many candidates in the race for the other positions, just as if they are going to be elected.

All elective officials of the city and county governments in Milwaukee were endorsed for re-election by the Socialist Party at the referendum. Mayor Emil Seidel, Comptroller Carl P. Dietz and City Treasurer Charles B. Whitnall were endorsed unanimously.

We are informed by the New York Volksgeitung, in a report from Berlin, that the Schoneberger Stadtverordnetenversammlung sent a Socialist to the Brandenburgischen Provinzziallandtage. Similar action was taken by the Charlottenburger Stadtparliament. It serves them right. Let them behave themselves.

Great Britain has taken over the telephone monopoly of that country, which controlled 600,000 phones and 18,000 employes. Subscribers of a single party wire will be assessed $25 a year and two or more subscribers at considerable reductions. The Tory press is yelling "Socialism!" but nobody is throwing out phones.

England is fast evolving toward a Socialist state, is the opinion of Rev. Robert Whittaker, who has just returned to his home in San Francisco after spending many months in England studying industrial conditions. Old parties in England are breaking up just as they are in the United States, claims Whittaker, because they have lost their meaning in the light of modern industrial problems. "The policies of Socialism," says Whittaker, "have been indorsed by the great Labor party in England. The majority of the party are Socialists at heart." Rev. Whittaker adds that Lloyd-George is compelled to take up Socialistic measures because the people demand them to abolish the shame of poverty.

GIVEN VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

Directors and Officers of Charles H. Kerr & Co. Unanimously Elected for Ensuing Year.

At the annual stockholders' meeting held at the offices of Charles H. Kerr & Co., 118 West Kinzie street, Chicago, on January 16, 1912, those present, representing holders of 2,507 shares of stock, unanimously passed a vote of confidence in the present board of directors, officers and managers of the house of Charles H. Kerr & Co.

The following were elected directors of the company for the ensuing year without a dissenting vote: Marcus Hitch, Walter Huggins, Leslie H. Marcy, Dr. J. H. Greer, Charles H. Kerr, Charles Roux and Mary E. Marcy.

It was voted that it was the sense of the stockholders and directors that the officers of Charles H. Kerr & Co. welcome the Investigating Committee composed of members of the National Committee of the Socialist Party and give them all the assistance possible in their investigation.

At the directors' meeting following the stockholders' meeting the following officers were re-elected, without a dissenting vote, to serve for the ensuing year Charles H. Kerr, President; Marcus Hitch, Vice President; Mary E. Marcy, Secretary.

It was unanimously voted by the assembled stockholders and directors that the above information should be given to the Socialist Party press with a request that it be published.

MARY E. MARCY,
Secretary.

ELECT MOST OF THE TICKET.

The Socialists of Hambleton, W. Va., won a splendid victory at that place on January 4th, when they elected L. S. Mateer, mayor; H. C. Griffith, recorder; P. O. Haddix, S. V. Warnick and A. McKenzie, councilmen. This was the first election where the Comrades put up a fight for the ticket and they almost swept the field.

YOU CAN'T STOP US.

Star City, two miles from Morgantown, W. Va., elected Wm. Shay mayor and James Russell recorder. They also elected five councilmen. All of these are Socialists and this seems to be the storm center of the fight in West Virginia.

Elect Full Ticket.

Adamston, W. Va.—Adamston is another town in this State to elect a full Socialist ticket. Those elected to office are: Mayor, Walter Boyles; recorder, C. H. White; councilmen, H. L. Bohlmans, Charles Schutte, Samuel Powell, Barney Kernen and John W. Flanagan. The campaign made by the Socialists was mainly one of literature.

CAPITALIST PAPER TELLS HOW SHOOK TURNED TRAITOR.

Lima, Ohio.—The following editorial appeared in the Lima (Ohio) News the evening on which the Socialists sent in Mayor Shook's resignation to the city council:

"Is the signature to the resignation blank given by Mayor Shook to the Socialist local at the time that organization nominated him for the highest office in its gift genuine?

"The answer to this question should be the guide which the city council should follow this evening, if said resignation, as reported, is presented to that body. Regardless of the fact that others aided in his election, Mayor Shook's first duty was to the party which honored him. If he turns traitor upon his friends, isn't he just as likely to turn traitor upon the city?

"When he signed that resignation he evidently did so in good faith. He knew perfectly well what he was signing, just as any honest man knows when he places his signature to a note at a bank. He was not coerced into signing that resignation, but did so willingly, of free mind and with due thought. Had he not done so, under the ritual of Socialism, he would never have been made the nominee for mayor, and never would have become mayor.

"As a Socialist, elected by his party, Shook was to be supported by the people and the city officials-elect. But he has gone into office neither a Socialist, nor an Independent, nor a Republican, nor a Democrat, starting upon a public career by turning his back upon the people who honored him, and now ready to deny before the cock crows thrice, the signature of his own hand.

"In such a condition he is to be pitied, but not condoned; he has repeatedly said that he didn't want the office; but this weak speech is very much like his weakness in denying his own hand. Having proven a Judas to his clan, what can be expected from him in the future? Far better the Socialist he professed to be than the salary grabber, in which light he must now appear, solely and singly.

"If the signature to that resignation given of his own free hand is admitted by Mayor Corbin N. Shook, the city council should not hesitate to promptly accept it, though sentiment and sympathy may prevent that body from being so harsh. As all a man has in life is his conscience and his soul, far better the future of O. E. McPherson, Bogardus and others (who were appointed by Shook), who have declined political pelf rather than sacrifice honor, than the future of Mayor Shook, Safety Director Blank, and those others who place salary far above principle; money above soul; the kiss of Judas as preferable to the salute of sincerity; the dictates of a bi-partisan machine above the advice of the little circle of friends who gave their all into another's keeping.

"Mayor Shook at this writing is a bitter disappointment, and if, he appears before council with the whine of a whipped cur upon his lips, council should turn a deaf ear. If he resigned in September his word and signature then should be as much believed as his parol excuses four months later.

"Pity the man; but let him learn the lesson of truth, friendship, sincerity and honor."

TEACHES PRIEST LESSON FROM CATHOLIC CATECHISM

Allan Cook, the well-known Socialist attorney, has been debating Socialism with a Catholic priest, named Father Kress, through the columns of the Piqua (Ohio) Daily Call. In answering a query of Cook Father Kress referred Cook to a Catholic catechism. Cook did so and uncovered some interesting facts. He says:

"I have learned from Catholic catechism that we should look upon "mortal sin" as the most shameful insult to God and the greatest evil that can befall man, and that the most grievous sins are those against the Holy Ghost, and the sins that cry to heaven for vengeance.

"The same catechism teaches that 'the sins that cry to heaven for vengeance, on account of their malice, are these four: (1) Wilful murder; (2) the sin of sodom; (3) oppression of the poor; (4) defrauding laborers of their wages.

"Those who aid and abet tyrants, plunderers and exploiters in the oppression of the poor are equally guilty with the oppressors themselves. Those who aid and abet in defrauding laborers of the wages to which they are entitled are equally guilty with the principals in the crime, even though they do so in the name of religion. Those who defend such grievous sins are equally guilty of the sins themselves.

"There can be but two forms of society under present economical and industrial conditions. Either capitalism or Socialism must prevail.

"Capitalism has its basic principles set in the oppression of the poor and the defrauding of the laborers of the product of their toil. Father Kress is using all the powers, faculties and cunning at his command to aid these great capitalistic robbers in the oppression of the poor and in defrauding the working class of the fruits of their toil.

"The bitter cry of the children whose lives and souls are being ground into gold by industrial tyrants makes no impression upon his ear or touches not his heart. The despairing wail of seven million women wage slaves in the United States, and the heartrending condition of millions of working men who have given the prime of their lives to their capitalistic masters only to be cast in the junk pile of humanity when they cease to be a profitable asset in business fails to touch his Christian (?) heart.

"He goes on forever shouting for the tyrants, hurrahing for the exploiters and denouncing those who dare raise their voice in behalf of the oppressed. He sees the jails, the workhouses and penitentiaries crowded with criminals which society has produced as a by-product in its manufacture of millionaires; he sees the insane asylums overflowing with the unfortunate victims of the evil system of capitalism which drives the human mind to madness and despair; he sees a great army of 600,000 public prostitutes recruited from the fairest blossoms of the working class selling their souls on the auction block of lust for bread and raiment; he sees a great army of inebriates marching down to a drunkard's hell; he sees the hideous system of capitalism engaged in the process of dehumanizing our race, and yet, with all these facts staring Father Kress in the face, he denounces the Socialists as immoral, irreligious, ungodly, for offering the only solution to the great economic and moral problems of our age.

"According to the Catholic teachings the 'oppresion of the poor' and the 'defrauding of laborers of their wages' are placed in the same list of crimes as 'wilful murder' and the 'sin of Sodom.' Father Kress seems to be getting in very bad company.

"I further learn from the Catholic catechism that 'the chief effects of the mortal sin are: (1) It deprives man of sanctifying grace and puts him in the power of the devil; (2) it brings upon the sinner both temporal and eternal punishment.' I have further learned that 'if we fall into mortal sin we must repent for it, make an act of contrition and resolve to go to confession as soon as possible.'

"I simply mention these facts for the purpose of calling Father Kress to repentance so that he may mend his ways before it is everlastingly too late."

OTHERWISE.

In the recent Congressional Investigation of the Steel Trust affairs, Andrew Carnegie stated that competition was "dead," and regardless of all laws, the "Big Business Interests," would find a way that would guarantee stability of prices, by gentlemen agreements or "otherwise."

"Otherwise," was the method used on the Tennessee Coal and Iron Co., when the Steel Trust felt disposed to stifle competition on their part. "Otherwise," is the great "Money Trust," that effective lever in the control of "Big Business," whose use in the withdrawal of capital and credit, and the furnishing of the bi-monthly payrolls, strikes terror into the hearts of the smaller competing concerns.

These small Steel Mills haven't half the fear of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, as they have of the "Money Oligargly," controlled by Morgan and his associates. The Sherman Law can be evaded and successfully lawed out of court, and if a conviction is brought about, it means only a nominal fine. But from the "Money Trust," there is no evasion. Its quick action ruthlessly lays smaller industries low, by closing down their plants through withdrawal of capital and credit. Without credit these plants cannot operate, as practically 90 per cent of the business of the nation is done on a credit basis, therefore they are compelled to be heavy borrowers of operating capital.

What an effective threat this is, only those compelled to use banks for their operating capital can appreciate. Of course, the officials of the Steel Trust would not be cognizant of the fact, when Mr. Small Steel Mill Owner, wishing to fill his mills with orders shades the price a little per ton, receives an order from his banker for a private talk, and a statement of his liabilities and assets.

Oh, no, Steel Trust officials need not know anything about this little private affair transacted in the Banker's private office. Otherwise, though is now in practical operation. Mr. Small Steel Mill Owner must now lay bare the secrets of his business in detail.

After this private little talk, Mr. Banker shows Mr. Small Steel Mill Owner the error of his way. In a practical way he demonstrates to Mr. S. S. M. O. that competition is "dead." If Mr. S. S. M. O. still shows a disposition not to submit to terms as laid down by the "Business Ethics, of Big Business," he is quickly brought to the realization of modern business methods, by the banker telling him, "Well, Mr. S. S. M. O., there is a little account here of $200,000 about due, and we trust that you will be in a position to meet it, good day."

Shades of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, what is M. S. S. M. O. compelled to do? Fight, he dare not, as he has not the means. Submit, he must, or quietly see his Steel Mill shut down and thrown in the hands of a receiver.

As long as money, the life blood of the nation, is in the hands of private individuals, "Otherwise," will see to it that "Big Business," can laugh at the capers performed by the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. The laws of concentrated business are superior today, and stimulate more fear in the hearts of business men than all the laws placed on the Statute Books to regulate them; Trust busters to the contrary.

Andy is right. Competitions is dead, and "Otherwise," regulates stability of prices. Today "Otherwise," the Money Trust, holding the millions of bonds issued against these indiustries and railroads, is insisting for the greater amount of security possible and that these bonds do not go by default in paying interest. Competition in an open market would force down the price, and as earnings are based on labor and price, dividends would suffer proportionately.

Today American Bankers will not take up an issue of bonds against a new Railroad being promoted, that is a competing line with a Railroad in operation being capable to take care of the business that results from this territory.

As the laws of business evolution are moving into the mammoth Trust stage, from which will evolve the newer and more modern human society, based upon the ethics, "That to the producers belongs all wealth," those ignorant of this iron law must suffer.

WHAT IS DAN'S POLITICS?

That eminent, moral and religious exponent, the Ohio State Journal, last Sunday, devoted an entire page to the marital career of Dan Hanna, of Cleveland. It asks the following question:

"First—Dan Hanna married May Harrington. They had three sons. After a divorce the first Mrs. Dan Hanna married Edmund K. Stallo, who has two daughter. She has now sued him for a divorce.

"Second—Dan Hanna married Mrs. Walter de S. Maud, formerly Daisy Gordon. They had one daughter. This Mrs. Hanna, after a divorce, married Frank D. Pelton, who had a son by a previous marriage.

"Third—Dan Hanna married Mrs. Frank E. Skelly, formerly Marie Stuart. They have two daughters. While this Mrs. Hanna was Mrs. Skelly she had a daughter.

"Now, what relation are the Stallo girls to Dan Hanna's three sets of children. What relation is the Pelton boy to the Stallo girls? What relation are the Skelly girls to the Stallos and the Peltons?"

The only detail lacking to make the Journal's story complete is in regard to Dan Hanna's politics. Had he been a Socialist it would have been stated in the first line across the page. Dan is a Capitalist.

GOVERNMENT BY JUDGES.

Charles Summer was wrong! Any thing for human right is NOT constitutional. The United States Supreme Court has just decided that the laws forbidding the Railroads to employ men more than sixteen consecutive hours are unconstitutional. The poor Railroad men who have been voting capitalistic these past years have thus been given a jolt that may reach their understanding and cause them to turn over a political new leaf. Right here in Columbus, with the Constitutional Convention in session in the Capitol, the Supreme Court, sitting in the Annex, refused to recede from a decision, which many lawyers have declared may be made the basis for attacking popular government in Ohio, as expressed in the Initiative, Referendum and Recall, even if the measures are put into the new organic law. The decision was in the case of Dr. Boone, of Hardin County and knocked out the Vital Statistic law. In other words the new Constitution may be declared unconstitutional by the State Czars, who construe the laws passed by the people's representatives. What are you going to do about it? Pass a Recall Law? Those guys in the Supreme Court can declare it unconstitutional. We working class folks had better do some thinking or the "Gobblins will git us."

GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT STORES.

Victor Berger, Socialist Congressman, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives, empowering the Government to establish at Washington, a large department store for the benefit of Government employes, operated on the same basis as the stores run by the Government at Panama.

The object of the bill is to furnish the Government employes their necessities at cost. The Government buying in immense quantities naturally could buy cheaper than individual dealers, consequently these employes would be able to buy their necessities at still a lower cost than individual dealers.

However, we fear that this bill is unconstitutional, as it would make the Government amenable to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, as through this method the Government would drive out all competition, by price-cutting, and monopolize all the business in necessities, and, if it was operated for Government employes alone, it would be "Class Legislation."

$1,000,000,000 in Ruins

It is said that no human being can get any adequate comprehension of what a billion means, and, indeed, that even the comprehension of a million is very imperfect with most people.

But we have been habituated during the last few years to these terms and talk of the "Billion-Dollar Steel Trust" as glibly as if we understood thoroughly what the numerating adjective means. So we are not in the least surprised when we hear that there is a billion dollars lying right now under the ruins of the Equitable Building on lower Broadway, New York.

Though the newspapers spell out the sum for us in figures—$1,000,000,000—nobody believes that there is actually the value of that sum in money or products lying there. It is not even in the form of paper purporting to represent money. The "billion dollars," in the form which it now is, might have been utterly destroyed in the fire, and the wealth of the country not decreased one particle. Intrinsically, it has no more value than so much waste paper.

What is here called "a billion dollars" is mainly a mass of paper known, in the jargon of finance, as "negotiable securities." It does not represent wealth, but the power to control wealth and the creators of wealth, the people whose labor produces wealth. The possession of this paper enables its holders to appropriate the things which labor produces now or will produce in the future. These papers are, in fact, legal warrants by which some people exploit others and appropriate to themselves what these others have labored to produce. Their destruction in the fire at most would merely have meant that there would have been some temporary confusion among those possessing them as to the "dividing up" of the values produced by the labor of the workers.

While the latter submit to wear, as working cattle for the capitalist, the harness that these papers represent, they are worth a billion dollars, and their value increases as the labor of the working cattle becomes ever productive. When they refuse to bear the yoke any longer, the "billion dollars" becomes waste paper.

But as it is, the entire power of the United States Government is behind this mass of paper "securities." That power is itself the real "security," and it is in the last resort furnished by the people whom the possessors of this "negotiable" paper exploit. That is to say, the workers furnish the power to "secure" to others the legal right to rob them of what they produce, under the strange delusion that if they did not secure the capitalists in robbing them, they could not live.

The real value of these documents is, after all, founded on faith—the faith of the capitalists in the infinite and eternal stupidity of the working class.

TO COMRADES AND WORKING PEOPLE:

Look over the advertising in your paper. Patronise those who patronise you. Remember those who refuse to advertise in a labor paper are unfair to labor and are not worthy of your patronage.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

ATTENTION, COMRADES.

The time in which we must get those 5,000 new ones is growing short and we must get on the job and that quickly if we intend to do the work we have laid out.

This campaign for 5,000 new subscribers was not started on the impulse of the moment. The matter was thoroughly gone over, and it was the sense of those having in charge the management of the paper, that the subscribers were loyal enough and hustlers enough to get the required number in the time set. Let every Comrade and sympathizer stick to his or her post for the next thirty days, and when the time is up you will have set a record you can point to with pride. Be proud of your paper (and IT IS your paper). You dont need to be afraid to show "The Socialist" to any one, and ask for their subscription. Go after those neighbors and fellow workers of yours. Keep the paper uppermost in your minds at all times, and you will be surprised at the number of new subscriptions you can get.

To you readers who as yet have not joined us in this subscription campaign, I want to ask you in particular to get in with us for the next thirty days. Get the habit! Get Subscriptions! Subscriptions! Subscriptions! Roll them into this office so fast that we will be compelled to get still larger quarters. Everybody all together, keeping in mind that one idea: 5,000 new ones by March 1st. Dont delay starting to do your share DO IT NOW!

Sending in two new ones for a year each, Comrade Thos. White, of Uhrichsville, Ohio, writes as follows:

"In spite of the minions of Ecclesiastics and hords of plutocrats, Socialism has come to the world with its hands unstained with human blood, attuning afresh the harp strings of harmony, and implanting within the breasts of the workers of the world, hopes of a better day. How Christ-like and inspiring when one care-worn worker meets another and grasps his hand with the greeting: 'Comrade, how are you, and God bless you.' The glorious news from our German Comrades across the waters puts new zeal and new hope, and new determination to press forward in the fight for liberty and justice.

"Yours fraternally,

"THOS. WHITE."

With instructions to go ahead and hook up the rasdals, because he knows we are right, Comrade S. A. Babbitt sends in his renewal.

Comrade Mrs. Frank Asher, out on rasural route, brings in nine. Eight new ones and one renewal and the boosters consider her a valuable addition to their ranks.

Comrade Jake Moninger, of the First Ward, once more kicks the Plutes square in the face by bringing in nine. If everybody works like Jake for the next 30 days there is no doubt about those 5,000 new ones.

Comrade N. C. Gallentio makes a grand slide for home plate with seven new ones. Three cheers for Socialism.

With a keg of dynamite in his pocket, a stilletto between his teeth, a six-shooter in his left hand and six subscriptions in his right hand, Comrade W. M. Ulrey rushes in, disturbs the peaceful slumbers of Old Man Lewis and persuades him to put the said six on the list.

When Comrade H. E. Fisher lands 'em he lands 'em right, and we credit him with five yearlys.

Comrade D. W. Doan, of Wilmington, Ohio, is another valuable addition to the boosters' ranks. He sends in five six-month subs. We lok for more anon.

Comrade E. S. Marquette shakes his clothes and out drops four yearly subs. Before you could say "Scat" the office boy had pounced upon them and we had them on the list.

Comrade J. W. Cassidy, of the 10th Ward, is determined that the voters ever there shall find out what our councilmen are doing so he brings in four, as a starter.

To help the grave-digger along Comrades J. A. Schumm, C. Margraff and W. E. Bues each bring in three. "Oh you grave for capitalism."

The following Comrades each land two: F. E. Allen, Pete Kinnear, L. B. Taylor, Adolf Meir, G. E. Birmingham, T. C. Southard, Mrs. Agnes Vaughm, G. E. Robinson, Thos. White. Keep up the good work, Comrades."

Look over the advertising this week and dont fail to use the red ticket. This is the duty of every boostér.

Once more, "Dont forget to use the red ticket."

The full list of Boosters for this week will appear in our next issue.

GET READY FOR A DAILY

Now is the Time to Get Ready for a Daily.

The Socialist has been in existence over one year. From the first it has had to fight and fight hard to hold its own. This paper was born of necessity, started with practically no capital and, of course, had to meet all obstacles that usually confront a Socialist paper.

Today, with a rising subscription list and a fair amount of advertising, "The Socialist" comes nearer to paying its expenses than ever before. As the class war grows ever fiercer and fiercer it becomes necessary to put this paper not only on a solid financial foundation for the present but to be prepared when our present contract expires in January, 1913, to be able to own a printing plant of our own.

Many friends and readers of this paper have urged that we make a campaign to sell the balance of our capital stock and that all money so secured be placed in a separate fund for the purpose of securing our own plant. We have on hand yet to be sold 650 shares of stock. Each share is worth $10.00, payable $1.00 down and $1.00 per month.

With this stock subscribed for at once you can readily see that at the end of this year we wil lhave a fund of $6,500.00 with which to equip our own plant.

Remember, there are only 650 shares yet to sell and if you want to see this paper made the greatest fighting machine in this country in the interest of the working class you should subscribe at once for at least one share.

When you come to think of it $6,500.00 is not much. And yet, how much it means to. "The Socialist." The only difficult part of raising the amount is in getting you to make up your mind to start.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND. Resolve to be one of the first to give this effort a good start. Give others a good example to follow. Take as many shares as you with or can, but get behind the proposition by sending in this application at once.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Central Labor Unions and Labor Press of Ohio.

Greetings:

Now that the Constitutional Convention has got down to a working basis, the State Federation will endeavor so far as possible to keep you posted on all matters concerning labor's welfare that comes before the convention.

Those delegates who are members of trade unions have met, organized and elected a secretary and will hold regular meetings weekly and oftener if necessary to discuss among themselves all of the problems that will come before the convention, and arrange to aid one another in the various propositions that will be submitted by each one to the convention.

Their names are Harry D. Thomas, Secretary O. S. F. of L.; S. S. Stilwell, Painters No. 102; Thos. Farrell, Business Agent Waiters No. 106; Wm. Davio Lathers, No. 2, Cleveland; Wm. Halenkamp, Printing Pressmen; John Hoffman, Brewery Workers; Henry Cordes, Business Agent Carpenters, Cincinnati; A. Ross Read, Carpenters, Akron; Percy Tetlow, United Mine Workers, Washingtonville; J. W. Harbarger, Molders, Columbus; J. F. Lambert, Carpenters, Jackson; O. H. Harter, Musicians, Norwalk; L. P. Kunkel, Glassblowers, Zanesville; Illion Moore, Socialist Farmer, Zanesville. Total, 14.

The employes selected to do the clerical and other work in connection with the convention with union cards are W. T. Blake, Editor of the Potters' Herald, East Liverpool, as First Assistant Secretary; Wm. Childs, Secretary Waiters No. 106, Cleveland, Assistant Postmaster; Wm. B. Hasset, Carpenters Union, Alliance, Custodian Committee Room, and John Littlejohn, of United Mine Workers, as told you by the daily press. Herbert Bigelow was elected President; S. P. Fess, of Xenia, Vice President; C. J. Galbreath, Secretary, and J. H. Sherlock, Sergeant-at-arms.

The following constitute the 17 members of the Labor Committee: S. S. Stilwell, Cleveland, Chairman; Harbarger, Kinkle, Halenkamp, Farrell, Crites, Wagner, Dwyer, Fitzsimmons, Cordes, Donahey, Tetlow, Dunn, Beatty of Wood Co., Kellar, Thomas and Cody.

The trade union members have been assigned to the following committees:

Davio—Printing, Equal Suffrage, Miscellaneous Subjects, Short Ballot.

Farrell—Labor, I. and R., County and Township Organizations.

Hoffman—Claims Against Convention, Corporations Other Than Municipal.

Harter—I. and R., Good Roads, Methods of Amending Constitution.

Halenkamp—Labor, Printing, Taxation.

Cordes—Labor, Schedule, Public Works.

Lambert—Liquor, Good Roads, I. and R.

Moore—I. and R., Agriculture, County and Township Organization.

Kunkel—Labor, Method of Amending Constitution, Miscellaneous Subjects, Municipal Government.

Stilwell—Labor, Judiciary, Corporations, Method of Amending Constitution.

Tetlow—Labor, Judiciary Taxation, County and Township Organization.

Thomas—Labor, Legislative and Executive Education, Submission and Address to the People.

Harbarger—Labor, Equal Suffrage, Legislative and Executive, Short Ballot.

Read—I. and R., Public Works, Taxation.

The Labor Committee met Monday evening after adjournment, organized and is ready for any business that may be referred to it.

The delegates have gone one better than the trade unions in the regulations, fixing working hours and working days, and in fact have almost reached the Socialist ideal in that respect. The weekly sessions of the convention will be called to order at 7 p. m. Monday, adjournment at close of business Thursday. It was really interesting from a trade union standpoint to hear the professors, lawyers and farmers discuss the need of the other days and hours for study, etc. Let us hope they will accord the same consideration to the industrial workers, when that subject comes up for discussion.

Over fifty amendments, one of them by Evans, of Portsmouth, including a so-called Model Constitution have so far been introduced. Those of particular interest to labor are the New Bill of Rights, Equal Suffrage, and limitations of working hours, Workmen's Compensation for accident and disease, old age, sickness, and invalidism insurance, submitted by Thomas, of Cuyahoga; Workmen's Compensation for accident and disease by Cordes, of Hamilton, and Nye, of Lorain; Initiative and Referendum by Crosser, of Cuyahoga, and Ulmer, of Lucas; Home Rule for Cities and Recall of Public Officials by Ulmer, of Lucas; Short Ballot by Elson, of Athens.

Copies of these various proposals will be furnished the central bodies on request and unions and Central Labor Unions are requested to take up these subjects for discussion and action.

LEGISLATIVE SECRETARY.

THE VACANT CHAIR.

(Rededicated to Governor Judson Harmon.)

The State of Ohio some time back was supposed to have elected a Governor—and Judson Harmon was his name.

The State went through with the ceremony of inaugurating this mentioned official, and since that time the affairs of the State have been left in the hands of a coterie of military politicians, assisted by henchmen who represent the various repudiated corporate interests.

When within the State's borders Governor Harmon has readily signed all bills that created so-called "State Commissions." This was to his advantage, because such acts added new cogs to Presidential nomination machinery, and at no time have his supporters failed to use the people's money for political advantages. The newly created commissions represent commercial and church political strength. Some of the appointments would make the A. P. A. day utterances shiver to pieces. We claim that Governor Judson Harmon is a hypocrite of the worst nature, because while he is at all times ready to further his own ends, politically, he proved himself an ingrate by refusing to sign the Woman's NINE-HOUR BILL which measure aimed to relieve and protect the future generation. Judson Harmon DID NOT SIGN THIS BILL.

Governor Harmon is continually prating about "State Economy." The lines are drawn so tight in the various departments that the Labor Commission has to beg the manufacturers to send in their (useless) statistical reports because of the State shortage of funds. But we ask the question: Has any Ohioian heard of Governor Harmon returning to the State Treasury any part of the salary he has not earned because he was out of the State? This has occurred in many instances twenty days in a month.

Suppose a worker was to be employed on a yearly salary and he was to spend eight months out of the year hunting another job. What would his employer say?

The Governor's chair is vacant at the time of one of the worst industrial crises in the history of the State. Men are unemployed and women and children are starving in their homes, while the presupposed representative of the common people—Governor Harmon—can be heard of by name in some distant territory thousands of miles from the scene of our industrial misery.

Who is responsible, Governor Harmon? If you cannot answer the question, put it up to your master on Wall street. We know these gentlemen are responsible for the vacant Ohio Governor's chair at the present time.

SOCIALIST FORUM

COMRADE GREEN ON DIRECT ACTION.

Dear Comrades:—I want to say a word about the question which is just now agitating the minds of Comrades, sympathizers and enemies all over the country, the question of direct action. I am in favor of direct action, possibly not in the direction that some of our hasty Comrades want to act, but all the same I believe in doing something right away that will forever destroy capitalism and the profit system.

In the last numer of The Socialist you speak of the "dreams" of Edward Bellamy. Bellamy was not dreaming, he only saw that the people of the world, through oppression on one side and education on the other, must needs in time, call a halt to the confused conditions that are ever growing more confused, revise and straighten out the kinks in civilization so as to establish the kingdom of God in this world equal to heaven itself.

The word God means good, but man has changed the word from g-o-o-d to g-o-l-d.

No sooner have we started in life on the good road than, by the bars of ignorance and poverty, our way is diverted from the good road to the gold road. Following this gold road a ways we find that the spelling of the word g-ood- has been changed to bl-oo-d.

This is the road that we have always been led over through all ages of history, there are times when traveling through life along this bloody trail that we catch glimpses of the good road but if we call the attention of our fellow travelers to its brightness as did Bellamy, some one is ready to shout, "Utopia."

As impractical as Mr. Bellamy seemed to be, a great many of his "dreams" are coming true and today a bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives, along the lines of Bellamy's "dream."

The author of the bill is a civil engineer of wide reputation and a man of unquestioned integrity, is a man who understands every phase of the money system and while some of you might call him a dreamer, when you read his bill you will say that he believes in direct action, but along the good road and not along the bloody trail. The bill was introduced by Senator Hobson, of Alabama. A post-card addressed to him at Washington, D. C., asking for a copy of H. B. 9446 will get the bill. I would like for every Socialist to read the bill.

How much better it would be if we would take up something along the line of Bellamy's Utopia than to spend our time defending the McNamaras, thus butting our heads against a stone wall while looking for laurels.

Capitalism can stand a lot of abuse but when you propose a plan like H. B. 9446 they cannot stand it. They would a thousand times rather see a bloody revolution than to have the people present and urge a practical plan in the way of a bill.

Christ said, "the kingdom of God is within you." He also said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and all else shall be added unto you." Then why not leave the trail of mammon and murder—the road that leads to destruction—and step over onto the great highway that leads to the kingdom of God or into Utopia if you please?

I am not a preacher and have no love for the cant of the cloth. Whenever any one religious faith predominates as in Mexico, the Philippines, Japan, Russian or China, the toilers are uneducated, underfed and immoral. What we want is industrial economy. Our own Government pretends to teach political economy but practices wholesale extravagance. It talks peace fund and encourages militaryism, and pillage of other nations. Oh, brothers, when are you going to catch on?

Yours for a definite plan and direct action.

W. W. GREEN.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

The average Democrat or Republican will tell you (in all seriousness, too) that he believes in "the survival of the fittest" in society. Let us examine the above phrase for a moment, a phrase that is parroted from mouth to mouth, few understanding its origin or meaning. When Darwin, the evolutionist, scientists and naturalist, conceived his theory of natural selection, he had to acknowledge that the condition of survival was adoption to environment or in other words if an animal could not harmonize itself with its surroundings it perished and the higher order of animal, in other words the fit took its place, to live on, and propagate and perpetuate its kind.

Now, Mr. Individual, let me show you wherein you do NOT believe in the survival of the fittest. In the first place you call yourself a believer in individualism which to define in other terms means absolute sway of individual whims regardless of the effects of these actions (whims) on those about you, your fellowmen.

You look upon the business world as a place to go into to get yours. Don't you? Of course you do. You say to the Socialist, "Oh quit your kicking and get into the game and get yours." What is your preachment as regards business? Is it not one of "every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," and then, Mr. Gentle Democrat, Mr. Individualist, Mr. Republican, you urge and impress upon the public, from your press, from your pulpit, from your prayer book, from your divine, heaven whispered messages that it is our solemn duty to "Love thy neighbor like thyself."

"Are not then your ideas of survival of the fittest doctrine rather mixed when you and some more with the same ideas of business, get together a hospital, a tuberculosis camp, a fresh air fund for children's camp or a co-operative institution of any nature to aid the "unfit." For is not the helping of those who have not the power of adoption to environment (in other words the unfit) like providing care for the injured, the sick and the crippled in our society, an act of co-operation.

Get in front of the largest mirror in your home and ask yourself if you believe in survival-of-the-fitest and at the same time think of Elizabeth and the babies.

PLEA FOR CO-OPERATION.

Columbus, O., Nov. 12, 1911.
Socialist Publishing Co.,
26 North High St.

Gentlemen:—Since we have over ten thousand Socialist voters in this city, why could we not have a Socialist co-operative store. Let each Socialist voter contribute one dollar as a capital to begin with and by selling at a reasonable price we should be able to do a successful business and at the same time benefit the workers of Columbus, and give a practical demonstration of the workings and benefits of co-operative ownership. Let us hear from you through your valuable paper to which I am and intend to continue to be a subscriber.

Sincerely yours,
G. H. SHULL.

WILMINGTON WAKES UP.

I thought I would drop you a few lines. I belong to the local of Wilmington. The Socialists carried the Second Ward. If the Council had been elected by wards like they had been before there would have been one councilman elected. We made a big gain anyway; in 1910 there was only 14 votes, in 1911 we made a gain of 197 votes.

D. W. DOAN.

Recently the Hearst papers and other yellow sheets printed a dispatch sent out of Los Angeles stating that J. Stitt Wilson, the Socialist Mayor of Los Angeles, had tipped off Burns detectives and the police to keep an eye on Anton Johannsen, who was later arrested for alleged complicity in the McNamara case. The story was extensively circulated in the East for reasons plain enough. When Wilson learned of it he immediately wired the New York Call and other papers a bitter condemnation of the yarn, declaring that it was started for no other purpose than to create internal dissension in Socialist and labor organizations. "It is a shameful, coarse, and groundless invention," says Wilson. "The statement is a fable from beginning to end. It is made of whole cloth. It is a heinous falsehood from A to Z. I cannot emphasize this too strongly. Comrades in the East may wonder what the motives of these bandits may be in lying so shamelessly. But we here, in the West, we are well aware of these motives."

The great farce of deluding the people is once more to be played by the Republican and Democratic parties in the selection of a President. Governor Wilson has been backed by the leading literary exponent of Wall street; Taft is a protege and representative of capitalism, while the Big Tooth has the backing of the Steel Trust and the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company. There is but one choice for the working people—the Socialist candidate. But then the workingmen are so dense that they rally round the flag on election day and get bullets in their carcass when they strike.

The lack of intelligence in using votes leads to the senseless use of bombs.

"BELOVED JUDGES."

"I love the judges! I love the courts; they are my ideal on earth, and typify what we shall meet in heaven under a just God."

When Taft, ex-judge, said all this, no doubt he had in mind that "All the world loves a lover."

But there are lovers and lovers so to speak, and the lover of the nine fickle old gentlemen who solemnly sit in black gowns on a bench in Washington is not the kind of a lover that all the world loves.

I have no doubt but that Taft has many a pain when he thinks that he might be on the Supreme Bench himself, above and beyond all this Recall turmoil, had he not felt called upon by heaven and Teddy to accept the Presidential crown.

When Taft compared our judges with beings especially manufactured by God, he might have at the same time explained a little more definitely exactly what is his idea of a "just God in Heaven." The last time he referred to God publicly was at Cooper Union in New York, when he replied "God knows" in answer to a questioner as to how to solve the unemployed problem.

However, while Taft may put on to God the solution of the unemployed problem, when it comes to going out of his way to show the people of Arizona how to make a constitution, he is quite accommodating.

The "Saturday Evening Post" has the following, showing that Taft did not always think all judges heaven-born:

"In his first annual message to Congress, December, 1909, Mr. Taft said 'The deplorable delays in the administration of civil and criminal law have received the attention of committees of the American Bar Association. I do not doubt for one moment that much of the lawless violence and cruelty exhibited in lynchings is directly due to the uncertainties and injustice growing out of the delays in trials, judgments and the executions thereof by our courts.'

"In his message of December, 1910, he said: 'One great, crying need in the United States is the cheapening of the cost of litigation by simplifying judicial proceedure and expediting final judgment. Under present conditions the poor man is at a woeful disadvantage in a legal contest with a corporation or a rich opponent.'

"Much else in the same strain might be quoted from the President's utterances—suggesting, certainly, that his conceptions of heaven are deplorably inadequate.

'Away back in 1895, Mr. Taft, then a judge of the United States Circuit Court, said:

"'The opportunity freely and publicly to criticise judicial action is of vastly more importance to the body politic than the immunity of courts and judges from unjust aspersion and attack. But non-professional criticism also is by no means without its uses, even if accompanied, as it often is, by direct attack upon the judicial fairness and motives of the occupants of the bench; for if the law is but the essence of common sense the protests of many average men may evidence a defect in judicial conclusions, though based on the nicest legal reasoning and profoundest learning.'"

We do not quarrel with Taft for defying the judges and wishing to put them beyond being recalled to earth by the mortal voters of Arizona and California, but we would suggest that inconstancy has not before been considered as God-like virtue. Taft loves the judges when they say that an income-tax is constitutional, and he still loves them when they say it is not.

He loves them when they say that all monopolies are illegal, and he loves them when they say only the "unreasonable" ones are illegal.

I wonder if he would love a California railway judge freshly picked off the political plum tree by the "Recall"?

The man who works is approaching closer to the poverty line while the loafer is becoming more familiar with the champagne bottle, divorce scandals and shooting scrapes. Funny that the working people cannot see that they are providing the money for the grand carnival of crime, vice and dissipation.

The New York Call seems to be having more than its share of luck. Recently the Tammany politicians sued the daily for a hundred thousand dollars, as though it were possible to libel a Tammanyite, and now the Public Library Board at Bristol, Conn., has barred the paper from its reading room because it refused to yell for the blood of the McNamaras. The Call is bound to become a great, popular daily.

The bomb is out of place in a country where workers have the use of the ballot.

BERGER HITS CONGRESS ON WAGE QUESTION

Says That Lowest Pay Should be $900 for any Federal Employe

(By National Socialist Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Victor L. Berger, the Socialist Congressman, waged a strong but unsuccessful fight on the floor of the House against a scale of sweatshop wages proposed by the Democratic Party for laborers employed by the Government of the District of Columbia.

"I am glad that I finally got the position of the Democratic Party on the wage question," declared Berger after Congressman Burleson (Dem., Texas), had made a speech in defense of a clause in the appropriation bill providing for annual wages for certain laborers as low as $240 a year. "In other words," continued Berger, "you Democrats want the Government to do as badly or even worse, if possible, than the private employer does. You know wages are fixed nowadays in the open market and not by the best employer, but by the one who is paying the lowest wages."

The fact that some of these laborers are colored is no excuse for the low wages proposed," said Berger. "A colored man has red blood in his veins, and if you employ a colored man you ought to pay him wages as you pay to a white man," declared the Socialist Congressman. "I believe it is a disgrace for this great Government to pay any man a wage of $240 a year. Of course, you can get men to work for this wage. I suppose there are some poor negroes out of work who would work for 50 cents a day."

Pointing out that private employers must make profit of their workers and that the Government is not in such a position, Berger urged the members of the House to vote for his amendment establishing a minimum wage of $900 a year. "I believe $900 is about the minimum wage on which a man with a family can live half decently in the city of Washington."

"I will say," Berger said, "that if the two old parties continue as they do, the gentlemen on this side as well as the gentlemen on the other side, then we shall soon have a powerful section of about 100 Socialists in the House. And then both old parties will fall over each other to not only accept propositions of this kind, but infinitely more radical measures. That is what the capitalist parties did in Germany. But their good will came too late. The Socialists continue to grow and last week they polled four million votes.

"And in our country the Socialists will have about two million votes at the next election—maybe two millions and a half."

Berger's amendment to give workers living wages was, of course, ruled out of order. A few minutes after the House went on record against ordinary justice for ordinary laborers Republicans and Democrats took the floor to speak for an increase of pay to the Corporation Counsel of the District of Columbia from $4,500 to $5,000 a year.

As soon as this proposition came up Berger rose and said:

"If the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Burleson) should not make a point of order in this instance, I shall do so, for the reason that I will never stand by idly when men who get $240 do not get their poor wages raised, while a man who gets $4,500 a year would get a salary raise of $500. That is just for the information of the gentleman."

Burleson, who had charge of the appropriation bill, could not easily escape this bit of information from the Socialist member of the House. He made a point of order. And it was sustained, too.

Everything is founded upon the job; everything from exploitation to patriotism; from child labor to religion; from art down to the traffic in virtue comes from conditions on the job which is the environment and life of the toiling slaves. The job is the source of civilization; organize, therefore on the job and see what happens.—Auckland Socialist.

The count just completed shows that the railway workers of Great Britain are overwhelmingly in favor of another general strike.

A radical demand comes from the Denver central body of organized labor. The Trades and Labor Assembly of Denver has unanimously endorsed a resolution asking the Legislature to place the coal mines of the State in operation under State management and to sell the output to the people at cost.

A LESSON FOR SOCIALISTS

(From International Socialist Review.)

We reprint herewith a document which we recommend to the thoughtful consideration of members of the Socialist Party everywhere. It is a resolution adopted by the Executive Committee of the newly formed British Socialist Party and addressed to the railroad workers whose general revolt came so near dislocating the entire industrial and social life of Merrie England last summer. It is of immense significance as marking the departure of British Socialists from the old policy, so long clung to, of so-called "neutrality" towards the economic organizations of the workers and of pure and simple politics. When that great strike began, the Socialist organizations of England found themselves completely outride of the greatest working class movement in the history of Great Britain. This resolution indicates their final waking up to the fact that the Socialist Party cannot afford to confine itself to the advocacy of political action alone but must be with the workers in their every struggle, even though that be the dreaded "general strike." That is exactly the doctrine for which this magazine has consistently stood up. There is a distinct lesson for the Socialist Party of the United States in the passage of this resolution. It shows very clearly that the Socialist Party, like every other organization, must keep up with the times. It cannot adhere to a "standpat" policy and remain vigorous. Standing pat means stagnation, and finally reaction. We counsel a careful reading of this resolution. It is full of meaning for every Socialist:

"It is with no desire to interfere in your business but as well-wishers to the cause of labor, and therefore concerned for its effective organization, that we ask you to consider what follows.

"Your wretchedly low wages and the sweated conditions under which you work are a scandal to the nation.

"In August last you wisely and courageously determined upon a big united effort to improve this state of things, and on the 19th of that month you made yourselves masters of the situation by withdrawing your labor in a mass and thereby creating a deadlock of the railway traffic. By standing firmly together for a few days (at the longest) you could have enforced every reasonable demand that you made. The companies were helpless and the Government was at its wit's end.

"Yet in the very moment of your success the fruits of victory were rejected by your trade union officials—assisted by leading "Labor" M. P.'s—in their stupid and cowardly acceptance of a Royal Commission of Inquiry, a stale device which you had contemptuously declined but a few days before.

"The object of the directors and friends in the Government in trapping you into an "inquiry" was, of course, to gain time and meanwhile get you back to work—that is, to break the strike by a trick. Thanks to the incompetency of your own representatives the companies succeeded in obtaining three months' breathing space in which to prepare and arrange for your next move.

"The Railway Commission's report gives you nothing—it was never intended to—and the Government's new resolution of November 28, asking both sides to meet "to discuss the best mode of giving effect to the report" of that commission gets you, and can get you, nowhere.

"Meanwhile your trade union officials and the leaders of the parliamentary "Labor" party group appear to be divided between their alarm at your righteous indignation and militant spirit and their own consuming anxiety for peace at any price. And a ballot is being taken by them on the question of whether, after all, to strike now. Your officials give you no help to come to a decision, but appear to be merely intent on shouldering all responsibility on to others.

"It appears to us that, having given away the magnificent opportunity of August 19 and allowed the companies three months' grace in which to get ready for you, a strike at this present time on the limited lines (railway men only), which at that date might have spelt victory, might now very easily prove unsuccessful.

"We, therefore, advise you not to take the risk of a beating, but so make your next effort irresistible by first arranging with your fellow workers, and the seamen—to act all together and simultaneously. Such a combination would be overwhelming if well and faithfully conducted—and surely you will not permit yourselves to be 'had' again!

"This combination would not only secure the enforcement of your own immediate claims, but would also constitute an invaluable object lesson of the solidarity of labor and its enormous power when acting in concert. It would demonstrate, moreover, the dependence of the whole nation for its very existence upon the workers alone.

"Special attention should, of course, be given to the means of your own support during such a general holiday. Strike pay in money would be of no use in view of the scarcity of food and the consequent rise in prices. The union funds should be spent beforehand in necessary foodstuffs, and at least three weeks' supply should be stored in every striker's home.

"Further, the combined strike must be sudden. A Joint Strike Committee representing the workers in the four allied industries should be appointed, and the power to declare a combined strike without further warning be placed in their hands. Surprise is the most potent ally in class warfare.

"Finally, beware that when you do strike it shall be for substance, not shadow. 'Recognition' of your officials by the companies means nothing more than a further series of 'arrangements' pledging you to docility and tame inaction over long agreed periods. See that you keep your hands free of at all costs.

"Our sympathies are with you, heart and soul; and it is because we are eager to help you that we thus adjure you to make certain of success beforehand.

"THE NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE SOCIALIST PARTY.

FREE SPEECH IN AMERICA.

"There is too little respect in this country for the principles of freedom of utterance. It is a sinister weakness of our people, which, unless it is cured, will work their own ruin. All other freedoms, all national happiness, depend upon this freedom. We cannot guard it too jealously. We Americans are confident that our liberties are greater than those of any people who tolerate an aristocracy or are subjects of effete monarchy. Yet the Englishman is sturdier in his support of the guarantees than the American, and his speech is freer. It was one of the wisest Englishmen of our day, Sir Leslie Stephen, who said: 'Toleration implies that a man is to be allowed to profess and maintain any principles that he pleases; not that he should be allowed in all cases to act upon his principles, especially to act upon them to the injury of others. No limitation whatever need be put upon this principle in the case supposed. I, for one, am fully prepared to listen to any arguments for the propriety of theft or murder, or if it be possible of immorality in the abstract. No doctrine, however well established, should be protected from discussion."

The above is not from any crank Anarchist paper, but from an editorial criticising our criminal Post Office in the "Chicago Tribune," which is an organ of the Republican Party.

It shows that the Post Office autocracy has gone pretty far when a protest comes from the "Tribune."

The convicts in the Ohio penitentiary have been granted an eight-hour work day.

There are millions of so-called free men who are working ten.

THE STORY OF LITTLE SPINDLE-LEGS.

By Rose L. McGovern.

Last Monday noon I saw Mrs. Gunness rising like a phoenix from her ashes. A little, white-faced girl of 14, or thereabouts, was pleading with her mother in a low voice to be allowed to keep her week's wages "to get herself a dress and some flowers for her hat."

"You know I need 'em, Ma," she said over and over again.

Her mother, who might have been the original of Kipling's "rag, a bone and a hank of hair," so cruel and heartless he looked, listened to her daughter's pleadings in silence for several minutes. Then, with a suddenness that almost swept me off my feet, she jumped at the girl, shook her roughly, and said:

"Say, now, you quit your foolish blab about flowers and dresses. Don't you know the rent has got to be paid this week. Hand that in over here."

Needless to say, the girl handed it over, looking shame-facedly at me and the other spectators, as she meekly followed her mother on the car. What a pathetic little figure she was, to be sure, in her shabby dress, and oh, such a fright of a hat.

Poor little Spindle-legs, it is chiefly for you, and all the other gaunt-eyed little Spindle-legs of the world, that the vast army of Socialism, with its millions of fearless and undaunted soldiers, is fighting day and night; fighting to save you from the ills of poverty; to save you from the ignominy of life-long slavery; from dishonor worse than death.

They want to give you a chance; and some day—a day that is very near, now—the Hosts of the Red Banner will triumph; and, then, they will go around to all the dreary, God-forsaken prison-houses of toil to the sweat-shops, factories and department stores, and turn every last one of you out into the field and meadows, to play to your heart's content. There you may roam among the flowers, listen to the songs of birds and dream the happy care-free dreams of childhood. There you may grow up into beautiful men and women with well developed brains and bodies, with high ideals and hopes, and well quipped, in every sense of the word, to be the parents of a future generation.

That is how God meant the world to be for you, Little Spindle-legs, and that is how it will be in that day when Capitalism goes down to its inevitable defeat and Socialism reigns supreme.—New Times.

LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR

The following editorial taken from the Pittsburg Leader has been sent us with the request that we publish it in full.

It contains a few simple thoughts and truths which observed and practiced cannot fail to help al mankind. We give it in full, in the hope that it may do SOME good.

Here it is:

"THOU SHALT LOVE thy neighbor as thyself."

"If a man say, 'I love God,' and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?"

Just now, when one of the greatest religious movements the world has ever seen is being put under way, is a good time to take stock of ourselves.

The men who are financing it, the men of great wealth, and the men who are doing the actual work, say they love God, and that the present movement is for the glory of God.

Do they love their brother whom they have seen?

We will take their word for it that they love God. That is between them and their God, to be settled between them.

But, whether they love their neighbor, who is their brother, is something different. On that their word will not be taken at face value. They must show.

Is there anybody who cannot tell one who loves him from an enemy, one who not only does merely love him, but one who actually, and actively, hates him? Can't anybody tell a friend from a foe?

The little child, the mere babe, cooing, unable to talk, with that unerring free masonry of brotherhood which has defied explanation on any other grounds, never fails to pick its friends.

The most consummate hypocrite never deceived a little child into taking him for a friend if he wasn't.

But, among practical men and women, how is the friend, and one who loves us differentiated from one who doesn't? By words? By deeds?

Your faith, brother, you may shelter behind words, if you choose. That is your own affair with God.

But to prove your friendship you must show deeds. You must do something.

If you love your brother whom you have seen as much as you say you love God, whom you have not seen, you must prove it by acts. We take your word only when it is backed up by deeds.

Have the wealthy men who originated the present great religious movement and who are financing it, proven by deeds that they love their brother whom they have seen? If they haven't are they not going to have a big job to convince the brother that they love him and that they are his friends?

Of course, it is merely assumed that they say they love their brother whom they have seen. They may not have said it. The assumption is fair because, otherwise, why should these men of great wealth have originated the movement to forward religion for their brother? If it isn't that, what is it?

Besides, the active leaders in the movement say the purpose is to combat, to overcome, the widespread unrest, social and economic. That blurs out the assumption that these men say they love their brother whom they have seen.

Have they shown it by deeds, or words, or how? Who is to be benefited by more religion, the men of great wealth, or their humble brother whom they hath seen?

More religion will not remove the unrest. It is not caused by irreligion. The unrest wil remain until the cause is removed. To cunningly, and deftly, and swiftly, remove the earthly blessings and comforts of the brother whom they have seen, and enlarge upon the heavenly blessings as a substitute, will not help the case.

The unrest and discontent arises from unjust conditions. It will not be removed except by the removal of the unjust conditions.

The sufferings of the oppressed people through unjust economic processes cannot be given relief through more religion among the poor.

Just now the people are doing a lot of economic thinking. If they are thinking of religion it is for that reason. They know that not religion, but economic action, is to bring relief.

The people are not oppressing themselves; they are not forcing themselves into suffering. That comes through economic pressure applied by certain men of great wealth. Religion applied there would help.

The hungry man is seldom, if ever, a religious man, but he is always a dangerous man. And he becomes even more dangerous when his oppressors, the men who have forced him, his wife and babies, into hunger and cold are posing as religious men.

Do they love their brother whom they have seen, and for whom they want more religion to relieve his hungry wife and babies?

Read again what Christ said about your neighbor, who is your brother.

Take stock of yourself, and of others, those who say they love their brother, and those who do not.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH WARD SOCIALISTS ATTENTION.

This paper has been distributed in your wards free for the past few weeks by a few active Socialists for the purpose of showing you and your friends and sympathizers the merits of this organ. There is no charge against any one for those copies, but this free distribution ends with this issue. If you do not now care for it enough to pay for it and in that way support the only paper in Columbus without a muzzle, then you deserve to be a wage slave. However, if you are financially unable to pay for this paper there are comrades in the party who will see to it that you get the paper if you will write the editor at this office and so state.

MAYOR KARB WHACKS THE COLORED VOTERS SLAP-DAB IN THE FACE.

His Honor can easily find a way to appoint certain church faithfuls to good jobs but cannot find any way to give the colored voters even a job of shoveling snow, although Providence furnishes the snow in abundance.

A visit to City Hall will show the observer who waits for his turn that never comes.

His Honor told the colored voters he saw before him at a meeting in the East End that they would be given better things than sweeping streets and those deceived voters did their part for in Precinct K of the Sixth ward there were two blocks of five showed up in counting the votes where the voters scratched only Marshal's name on an otherwise straight Republican ticket and voted for Karb.

They did their part. Mayor, have you done yours? Are they already settled with, and if so, how much did it cost?

They are still sending poor men to jail for minor infractions of the law, but they are careful to avoid applying the criminal code to the lawless wealthy. It is "reasonable" to be a robber on a large scale, but a positive infraction upon the "majesty" of the law to commit a minor offense. Sure thing. When rich judges hand down the decisions they can see nothing reprehensible in a thief stealing a million or two, but they can never forgive the man who from hunger's pangs takes a loaf of bread that belongs to another. Keep oppressing labor, and the giant will eventually break the chains of his bondage.

PERRY MUSICIANS ELECT OFFICERS.

T. W. Wright, of New Lexington, was again elected president of Local 418, American Federation of Musicians, at the meeting held in Corning this week. John Avery, also of New Lexington, was elected a member of the board of trustees. The other officers are: E. L. Pitcock, Crooksville, vice president; John Napier, Corning, secretary-treasurer; Joseph A. Siemer, Corning, sergeant-at-arms; Thomas Napier, S. L. Pitcock and Joseph Siemer, auditing committee. The next quarterly meeting of the organization will be held at Crooksville in April.

"RUNNING OUR OWN BUSINESS."

Much gratuitous advice is being handed out nowadays by the union-hating employers' associations and their venal subsidized newspapers, outlining the methods in conducting organizations of workingmen. Speaking for the International Typographical Union, The Journal will say that this sordid admonition will not be accepted by the membership, which considers that it has been fairly successful in conducting its own affairs without receiving the counsel of those who have eagerly grasped an opportunity to discredit the entire labor movement because of the crimes of a few individuals. An organization that has an honorable existence of sixty years, that has increased wages and shortened the hours of labor, that has established the greatest institution of its kind in the world as a haven of refuge for its sick and aged members, that has evolved an old age pension system, that has in operation a death benefit fund at a cost of less than half the rate charged by old-line insurance companies, that has founded a correspondence course for advanced technical education, that has an arbitration agreement with the newspaper publishers of the country, and that has nearly sixty thousand loyal members, needs and will accept no advice from such sinister sources. —International Typographical Journal.

MASKED BALL.

One of the biggest hits of the season was experienced at the grand masked ball given by the Socialist Band at Gay Dancing Academy, southeast corner Gay and High streets, on Friday evening, January 10th, when about 225 were in attendance and the good time we had was something to remember. Everyone was out for a good evening of amusement and we surely had it. A great many different characters were represented in good form. The down and out hobo was represented by several characters. One unique character, the most elaborate present, was bedecked with a hat and shoes so immense that he required an assistant to get into the hall. His outfit seemed to be a combination of the hobo, the funny man and the king of the cannibals, it would be hard to determine which. There were clowns, comedians, Red Riding Hoods, ghosts, Simple Simons, gypsy girls, Indians and Indian maidens and others too numerous to mention. The great Socialist color, red, was in abundance and bedecked some of the best characters. Comrade Naigel carried off first prize for the gentlemen as Inquisitive Edwin and Miss Madge North captured the ladies' prize as a Japanese woman.

The spirit of fun and good fellowship was in the air and was kept to its highest pitch to the end of the evening's festivities and it is to be hoped that the interest shown will continue to manifest itself and we will have a big crowd at all of our dances in the future.

There will be a regular dance at the same place on Friday evening, February 2nd, and another masked ball on Friday evening, February 16th. At this masked ball six prizes will be given, three for the ladies and three for the gentlemen. One for each of the following characters in both sexes:

The two who come the nearest representing the cause of Socialism in any of its phases.

The two who come the nearest representing any other character.

The two most comical characters.

Now, Comrades and friends, get busy and let's have another record breaker. Everyone should get the habit and let's generate the spirit of fun along with the serious side of our movement. This will help us bear our share of the burden of changing the Capitalist System into the Co-operative Commonwealth.

Bring the children and let them enjoy the fun along with yourself. They will be admitted free.

Yours for the Revolution,

A. C. EBY.

The Los Angeles Central Labor Council has drafted a circular letter to the various central bodies of the State asking them to engage in political activity as embodied in the Socialist Party, and recounting the excellent results obtained in Los Angeles by this method.

The future is full of hope for Socialism. Never before have the prospects been so bright as now. As soon as our sympathizers enter the ranks, and fight with us we will win. It is now that you should join. It requires organization to accomplish results.

OHIO MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

EXECUTIVE OFFICE
504 CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING

COLUMBUS, O., JANUARY 26, 1912

Gentlemen—Please read the enclosed matter on Socialism.

The plan of the Socialists is to take your property without compensation of ay kind, on the ground that you did not secure it rightfully in the first place. "Restitution" is the word they use. They teach that they are producing the wealth, and you are stealing it.

So far, nothing has been done in Ohio to fight Socialism effectively. Wouldn't it be cheaper for you to pay out a thousand dollars a year for the next five years, and keep your business, than to become a party to the plan of "restitution?" Many men in your shops, and probably some of them in yiur office, are contributing money and time to promote Socialism, and they'll get it too if employers don't wake up now.

This Association is beginning a real fight against Socialism. We ask the co-operation of every manufacturer in Ohio.

If you are not against us, please enlist today, and do your share of the fighting.

Yours very truly,
Ohio Manufacturer's Ass'n,
OPHA MOORE,
Secretary.

The "enclosed matter" alluded to in the above contains several articles copied from the Columbus Socialist, besides some from other Socialist papers. The Ohio Manufacturers' Association is in hard straits when it raises such a ridiculous cry. It is only a scheme to scare more money out of Ohio employers, to be used, as in the past, to influence legislation and pay Opha Moore's salary. The Manufacturers' Association stands self-confessed, as a briber of legislators in the past and of inducing men to commit crimes against the law. Mr. Moore, however, is justified in his alarm and he will have more in the near future. He, however, is not stating a fact when he intimates that Socialism means confiscation in the sense that he uses the terms.

It would be well for members of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association to understand that they are arrayed against an organized force vastly outnumbering them, but that this force does not propose to deal cruelly, unwisely or unjustly.

We greatly fear that Mr. Moore's whine will not get him much money. Issue another one. The Socialist will get it as usual.

PITCHFORK HENDERSON TOLD THE ACTUAL TRUTH

Statements Made in Lecture at Trinity Church Are Corroborated.

Comrade James Henderson in his debate at Trinity Parish House last Sunday night stated that the members of the Hatters' Union of Danbury, Conn., had been sued by the employers and their homes and savings attached under orders of the court. His statements were denied and denounced by capitalistic representatives present. Jim doesn't like that sort of thing. He tells the truth all the time.

Fortunately Brother Thomas F. Kane, general agent of the United Hatters of North America, is in the city. On Wednesday Brother Kane submitted evidence to The Socialist showing that 240 homes in Danbury are now under attachment by the courts in addition to all moneys deposited in the banks by the members of the United Hatters' Union. This state of affairs has existed for four years.

JAMES HENDERSON TOLD THE TRUTH LAST SUNDAY NIGHT.

LOCAL COLUMBUS.

Local Columbus Socialist Party will meet in joint session tomorrow, Sunday, February 4, at 285½ South High street. Every party member should be present.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

BACHMAN MEETS NO OPPOSITION

Addresses Crowded Hall on East Side and Talks on Socialism and Catholicism

The meeting held last Sunday evening at the East Side Market House drew an audience that crowded the hall to its fullest capacity in spite of the unfavorable weather. The people commenced to arive at 6:30 and remained until a late hour. Comrade Dominick J. Farrel was chairman and made an effective plea for The Columbus Socialist.

Comrade J. L. Bachman, who was prepared to meet any champion of the Catholic Church in debate, found no opposition.

He, thereupon, proceeded to make it clear that neither he nor the Socialist Party opposed the Catholic Church as a religious institution but only as that church through its priests entered the domain of politics and sought to deceive the people as to the real issues of the day. He stated plainly the true economic doctrine of Socialism as set forth in our platform and literature since the organization of the party and its entrance into the arena of modern thought and action not only in this country but all over the world.

He traced, century by century, the bloody history of Papal Rome as shown in the arrogant, cruel and immoral acts of its Prelates who subverted the teachings of the lowly Carpenter of Nazareth to serve their unholy schemes for temporal power and wealth. He quoted only the generally accepted statements of modern history as it records the horrible facts of oppression through the so-called middle ages.

The duty imposed upon Comrade Bachman was not a pleasant one but he had ample material, which he ably used, to prove that Socialism is in accord with the highest ideals of morality and religion.

In response to urgent requests he will continue his presentation of the subject at the West Side Market House, Sunday evening, February 11. The original challenge still holds good.

MAYOR SEIDEL'S SPECIAL ARTICLE.

Comrade Emil Seidel, Mayor of Milwaukee, has writen a special article for The Columbus Socialist which will be published in this paper next week. Orders for extra copies should be sent in at once. The article deals with the question of the problems which Socialists will face in cities where they obtain partial or complete power.

ORDER A BUNDLE NOW.

COMRADE HAYWOOD'S SPEECH.

The full authorized report of Comrade W. D. Haywood's speech, delivered in New York City at Cooper Union, under the auspices of Local New York Socialist Party, will be found in the February issue of the International Socialist Review. Copies of the Review may be purchased at the Socialist Reading Room, 108½ South High street, 3rd floor, Room 9.

ECONOMY.

The Democratic-Republican City Council could find no money with which to pay the City firemen decent living wages, and the Comon Laborers a minum wage of $2.00 per day, but could find plenty with which to buy land adjoining the Storage Dam at a fabulous price per acre. This if all signs do not fail will develop into a beautiful real estate swindle on the part of promoters who can now purchase land further up the river and work the same game, with the City of Columbus as the sucker. Yes this administration is starting out with Economy as a by-word joke.

"Habeas corpus be damned! We will give them post mortems instead." Adjutant General Sherman Bell, of Colorado militia.

BRANCH SECRETARIES, TAKE NOTICE.

The Branches are requested to get their dates in for the Local Lyceum course, four dates or more will do.—Now don't forget this.

DARROW IS INDICTED FOR ALLEGED BRIBERY

Warning Served Upon All Socialists and Labor Unionists to Beware.

Clarence Darrow, a lawyer, who resides in Chicago, was on last Monday indicted at Los Angeles for bribery in connection with the trial of the McNamara brothers. Darrow was the attorney for the McNamaras and it is charged that he attempted to "fix" two jurors. Darrow has never been a Socialist. He is a Democrat in politics. As an attorney he has made a specialty of defending labor unionists charged with offenses against the laws. In this case the prisoners pleaded guilty after sensational charges were made against people alleged to be connected with the defense. As to the evidence before the grand jury at Los Angeles we have no information, but one thing is certain and that is that it is possible for detectives of the Burns type to "frame up" evidence against any member of the working class or any of its agents whether attorneys or officials of unions. With the courts owned and controlled by the capitalists it would be possible to indict a score of Socialists in Columbus and put their lives and liberty in jeopardy. All that would be needed would be the false witness of hired detectives of whom there are a hundred in this city right now.

What would you do about it?

NOTICE COMRADES.

For the benefit of those Comrades, who cannot pay dues at their Branch meeting, they can be accomodated at the Socialist Reading Room, 108½ S. High St., Comrade Bates will have charge of dues stamps.

D. J. FARRELL,
City Organizer.

FIRST WARD BANQUET.

The Socialists of the First Ward had a "Dutch lunch" at their hall, Parsons and Jenkins, on Thursday evening of last week, which was the most hon-ton affair held in that Proletarian section this year. That's what the large number present say.

PRESIDENT TAFT GETS COLD RECEPTION

Political Flunkeys and Scab Promoters Greet Him in Columbus Last Tuesday.

William Howard Taft, who is just now employed by the United States as President, was in Columbus on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. He was here ostensibly to "dedicate" the new Federal Building at the corner of State and Third streets. His real mission was to line up the political fakirs of the Republican party in this part of Ohio for his own renomination as the Republican candidate for another term as President. The people of the United States pay $25,000 per year, in addition to the regular $50,000 for the "traveling" expenses of the President.

Mr. Taft, during his stay in our fair city, was chaperoned by Fred Herbst, president of the Chamber of Commerce, the chief business of which body is to promote scabbery in Columbus, buy guns for deputy sheriffs at the expense of the State of Ohio and keep down the wages of workingmen, women and girls.

There was not the faintest ripple of applause when President Taft rode along the streets of Columbus.

There were not half the people out who would have come to see a circus parade. The G. A. R. Veterans, who marched in the rear, were greeted with enthusiasm because they are honored for what they have done in the past. Taft has done nothing but do the people.

The whole affair was a disgusting exhibition of flunkeyism and lick-spittle politics.

Taft never said a word about Socialism.

He has become both a coward and a hypocrite.

OUR NEW OFFICE.

The Socialist is now located at 108½ South High street, Third floor. The business and editorial departments are in Room 6, front. The Socialist Reading Room is in Room 9 to the right of stairway. In Room 9 is also located the Socialist Legal Department where legal advice and assistance can be obtained. Good Socialist literature is for sale or for reading free.

COUNCILMEN DODGE CITY PRINTING DEAL

Old Parties are Between the Devil and the Deep Sea. Socialists Present New Measures.

"This is not a baseball game. This is a meeting of the City Council. If there is any more applause I will clear the lobby." In anger Dave Logan, President of the City Council, uttered these words last Monday night during the regular session of the city dads.

The occasion was the approval by the crowd present of some honest words from members of Council when the city printing contract was under consideration. It is strange that Mr. Logan was not so sensitive two weeks ago when Bill Mahanna, George Harper, "Doc" Waddell and Mose Schlesinger led a gang who applauded every speech against the electric light extender resolution.

The Committee on Printing reported in favor of letting the contract for legal advertising to The Ohio State Journal at its bid of $1 per square for the first insertion and 60 cents for the second insertion; to the Times, Pat McAllister's paper at 90 cents and 50 cents, and to the Westbote at 85 cents and 40 cents. Thereupon Councilman Bohnert moved to amend by letting the contract to The Socialist as one of the papers at its bid which was the lowest of any.

The previous question was moved and President Logan put the motion on the adoption of the committee's report instead of upon Bohnert's motion. The report was rejected by a vote of 14 to 5, after several councilmen had changed their votes. The matter of the city printing was then referred again to the Committee on Printing Rules and Revision.

It was clearly shown by Councilman Sherman that the bid of The Columbus Socialist at 30 cents and 15 cents would save the city $8,400 during the year. The Socialist members simply sought to put the Council on record as to expending the public's money and as to the legal standing of various papers bidding. Most of the councilmen seem to be anxious to adhere to "business" principles in having this work done but don't know how to do so and be true to their party bosses. The Socialist is not after profit but offers to do what must be done under the law. Democratic factions are at each other's throats and the exhibition was very amusing to the citizens in the lobby of the hall and provoked some merriment. This is what riled the dignified president, Mr. Logan.

Socialist members of Council, according to a resolution introduced at the meeting Monday evening, believe the city should have a purchasing agent. The resolution provided that a committee of five confer with the Mayor and the heads of departments in providing such an agent. It was introduced by Councilman Warren and referred to the judiciary committee.

Recommendation of the fire department committee that $40,000 bonds be issued to erect a two-door engine house in the Hilltop district was approved and Councilman Bohnert's resolution goes through.

An ordinance providing inspection of gas meters passed its second reading and was refered to a committee. A chief inspector is to receive $100 a month, two deputies $75 each.

Still another of the Socialists' acts which was given its second reading would require automatic air pressure sanding devices and also heavy lifting jacks for street and interurban cars. A fine of from $20 to $100 is provided for the first offense. It was introduced by Councilman Zimpfer.

An ordinance providing $175,000 bonds to purchase land near the storage dam to prevent river pollution passed its second reading. Similar action was taken on one for $200,000 bonds to extend water mains.

PARTY REFERENDUM

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SOCIALIST PARTY OF FRANKLIN COUNTY.

Dear Comrades:

In compliance with the State Election Laws, the Franklin County Executive Committee of the Socialist Party hereby gives notice of the nominations on the enclosed circular, that must be nominated and by petition placed on the ballot, subject to the primary election to be held May 21st, 1912.

All nominations will be made by party referendum. Branches or locals will make their nominations for each office on enclosed list, from the party membership at large throughout the County.

Nominations may be made for the following offices:

Two Common Pleas Judges, one Congressman, one State Senator, five State Representatives, one Prosecuting Attorney, one Clerk of Court, one Sheriff, one Auditor, one Treasurer, one Probate Judge, one Recorder, one Coroner, three Commissioners, three Infirmary Directors, one Member of County Central Committee from each ward in the city and each township, in the county.

Blanks properly filled out with branch nominees must be mailed or forwarded to R. M. Woody, 1189 Michigan Ave., Columbus, O., not later than February 10th, 1912.

All names sent in for each office will be placed on the first ballot for election, by party referendum. The two persons receiving the highest number in the first ballot for each respective office, will have their names placed on the second ballot, and the one receiving the highest number of votes, will be declared the party nominee of the party and by petition, placed on the primary ballot, May 21st, 1912.

Very truly yours,
R. M. WOODY,
Sec. Campaign Committee.
D. M. KUHNS,
Chairman.

GRAND MASKED BALL.

The Socialist Glee Club Forward will give a grand masked ball Saturday evening, February 17, at Munich Hall, 285½ South High street. Admission 25 cents. One prize for most comically dressed lady and one for neatest dressed lady. Union music.

In the present system you are known as Hands! Hands! Not heads. The capitalist wants only hands. He wants to furnish the head.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH WARD SOCIALISTS ATTENTION.

This paper has been distributed in your wards free for the past few weeks by a few active Socialists for the purpose of showing you and your friends and sympathizers the merits of this organ. There is no charge against any one for those copies, but this free distribution ends with this issue. If you do not now care for it enough to pay for it and in that way support the only paper in Columbus without a muzle, then you deserve to be a wage slave. However, if you are financially unable to pay for this paper there are comrades in the party who will see to it that you get the paper if you will write the editor at this office and so state.

MAYOR KARB WHACKS THE COLORED VOTERS SLAP-DAB IN THE FACE.

His Honor can easily find a way to appoint certain church faithfuls to good jobs but cannot find any way to give the colored voters even a job of shoveling snow, although Providence furnishes the snow in abundance.

A visit to City Hall will show the observer who waits for his turn that never comes.

His Honor told the colored voters he saw before him at a meeting in the East End that they would be given better things than sweeping streets and those deceived voters did their part for in Precinct K of the Sixth ward there were two blocks of five showed up in counting the votes where the voters scratched only Marshal's name on an otherwise straight Republican ticket and voted for Karb.

They did their part. Mayor, have you done yours? Are they already settled with, and if so, how much did it cost?

They are still sending poor men to jail for minor infractions of the law, but they are careful to avoid applying the criminal code to the lawless wealthy. It is "reasonable" to be a robber on a large scale, but a positive infraction upon the "majesty" of the law to commit a minor offense. Sure thing. When rich judges hand down the decisions they can see nothing reprehensible in a thief stealing a million or two, but they can never forgive the man who, from hunger's wants takes a loaf of bread that belongs to another. Keep oppressing labor, and the giant will eventually break the chains of his bondage.

PERRY MUSICIANS ELECT OFFICERS.

T. W. Wright, of New Lexington, was again elected president of Local 418, American Federation of Musicians, at the meeting held in Corning this week. John Avery, also of New Lexington, was elected a member of the board of trustees. The other officers are: S. L. Pitcock, Crooksville, vice president; John Napier, Corning, secretary-treasurer; Joseph A. Siemer, Corning, sergeant-at-arms; Thomas Napier, S. L. Pitcock and Joseph Siemer, auditing committee. The next quarterly meeting of the organization will be held at Crooksville in April.

"RUNNING OUR OWN BUSINESS."

Much gratuitous advice is being handed out nowadays by the union-hating employers' associations and their venal subsidized newspapers, outlining the methods in conducting organizations of workingmen. Speaking for the International Typographical Union, The Journal will say that this sordid admonition will not be accepted by the membership, which considers that it has been fairly successful in conducting its own affairs without receiving the counsel of those who have eagerly grasped an opportunity to discredit the entire labor movement because of the crimes of a few individuals. An organization that has an honorable existence of sixty years, that has increased wages and shortened the hours of labor, that has established the greatest institution of its kind in the world as a haven of refuge for its sick and aged members, that has evolved an old age pension system, that has in operation a death benefit fund at a cost of less than half the rate charged by old-line insurance companies, that has founded a correspondence course for advanced technical education, that has an arbitration agreement with the newspaper publishers of the country, and that has nearly sixty thousand loyal members, needs and will accept no advice from such sinister sources. —International Typographical Journal.

MASKED BALL.

One of the biggest hits of the season was experienced at the grand masked ball given by the Socialist Band at Gay Dancing Academy, southeast corner Gay and High streets, on Friday evening, January 19th, when about 225 were in attendance and the good time we had was something to remember. Everyone was out for a good evening of amusement and we surely had it. A great many different characters were represented in good form. The down and out hobo was represented by several characters. One antique character, the most elaborate present, was bedecked with a hat and shoes so immense that he required an assistant to get into the hall. His outfit seemed to be a combination of the hobo, the funny man and the king of the cannibals, it would be hard to determine which. There were clowns, comedians, Red Riding Hoods, ghosts, Simple Simons, gypsy girls, Indians and Indian maidens and others too numerous to mention. The great Socialist color, red, was in abundance and bedecked some of the best characters. Comrade Naigel carried off first prize for the gentlemen as Inquisitive Edwin and Miss Madge North captured the ladies' prize as a Japanese woman.

The spirit of fun and good fellowship was in the air and was kept to its highest pitch to the end of the evening's festivities and it is to be hoped that the interest shown will continue to manifest itself and we will have a big crowd at all of our dances in the future.

There will be a regular dance at the same place on Friday evening, February 2nd, and another masked ball on Friday evening, February 16th. At this masked ball six prizes will be given, three for the ladies and three for the gentlemen. One for each of the following characters in both sexes:

The two who come the nearest representing the cause of Socialism in any of its phases.

The two who come the neafest representing any other character.

The two most comical characters.

Now, Comrades and friends, get busy and let's have another record breaker. Everyone should get the habit and let's generate the spirit of fun along with the serious side of our movement. This will help us bear our share of the burden of changing the Capitalist System into the Co-operative Commonwealth.

Bring the children and let them enjoy the fun along with yourself. They will be admitted free.

Yours for the Revolution,

A. C. EBY.

A Great Mid-Winter Clothing Opportunity

THIS CUT PRICE PROPOSITION ON SUITS AND OVERCOATS is certainly a mighty fine thing for you—incidentally, it's important to us as well. One must reduce winter stocks quickly at this time, and there's no stimulant like a big bold markdown to get quick action. Clearance is on in dead earnest. We've cut the "gizzards" out of regular season prices on the whole stock.

Particular attention is called to the three lots today displayed in the windows.

Take a look at them. It's a sample of the exceptional under pricing on the clothing floors for men and young men.

Gentlemen—Please read the enclosed matter on Socialism.

The plan of the Socialists is to take your property without compensation of ay kind, on the ground that you did not secure it rightfully in the first place. "Restitution" is the word they use. They teach that they are producing the wealth, and you are stealing it.

So far, nothing has been done in Ohio to fight Socialism effectively. Wouldn't it be cheaper for you to pay out a thousand dollars a year for the next five years, and keep your business, than to become a party to the plan of "restitution?" Many men in your shops, and probably some of them in yiur office, are contributing money and time to promote Socialism, and they'll get it too if employers don't wake up now.

This Association is beginning a real fight against Socialism. We ask the co-operation of every manufacturer in Ohio.

If you are not against us, please enlist today, and do your share of the fighting.

Yours very truly,
Ohio Manufacturer's Ass'n.,
OPHA MOORE,
Secretary.

The "enclosed matter" alluded to in the above contains sevral articles copied from the Columbus Socialist, besides some from other Socialist papers. The Ohio Manufacturers' Association is in hard straits when it raises such a ridiculous cry. It is only a scheme to scare more money out of Ohio employers, to be used, as in the past, to influence legislation and pay Opha Moore's salary. The Manufacturers' Association stands self-confessed, as a briber of legislators in the past and of inducing men to commit offenses against the law. Mr. Moore, however, is justified in his alarm and he will have more in the near future. He, however, is not stating a fact when he intimates that Socialism means confiscation in the sense that he uses the terms.

It would be well for members of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association to understand that they are arrayed against an organized force vastly outnumbering them, but that this force does not propose to deal cruelly, unwisely or unjustly.

We greatly fear that Mr. Moore's whine will not get him much money. Issue another one. The Socialist will get it as usual.

BACHMAN MEETS NO OPPOSITION

Addresses Crowded Hall on East Side and Talks on Socialism and Catholicism

The meeting held last Sunday evening at the East Side Market House drew an audience that crowded the hall to its fullest capacity in spite of the unfavorable weather. The people commenced to arive at 6:30 and remained until a late hour. Comrade Dominick J. Farrel was chairman and made an effective plea for The Columbus Socialist.

Comrade J. L. Bachman, who was prepared to meet any champion of the Catholic Church in debate, found no opposition.

He, thereupon, proceeded to make it clear that neither he nor the Socialist Party opposed the Catholic Church as a religious institution, but only as that church through its priests entered the domain of politics and sought to deceive the people as to the real issues of the day. He stated plainly the true economic doctrine of Socialism as set forth in our platform and literature since the organization of the party and its entrance into the arena of modern thought and action not only in this country but all over the world.

He traced, century by century, the bloody history of Papal Rome as shown in the arrogant, cruel and immoral acts of its Prelates who subverted the teachings of the lowly Carpenter of Nazareth to serve their unholy schemes for temporal power and wealth. He quoted only the generally accepted statements of modern history as it records the horrible facts of oppression through the so-called middle ages.

The duty imposed upon Comrade Bachman was not a pleasant one but he had ample material, which he ably used, to prove that Socialism is in accord with the highest ideals of morality and religion.

In response to urgent requests he will continue his presentation of the subject at the West Side Market House, Sunday evening, February 11. The original challenge still holds good.

MAYOR SEIDEL'S SPECIAL ARTICLE.

Comrade Emil Seidel, Mayor of Milwaukee, has writen a special article for The Columbus Socialist which will be published in this paper next week. Orders for extra copies should be sent in at once. The article deals with the question of the problems which Socialists will face in cities where they obtain partial or complete power.

ORDER A BUNDLE NOW

COMRADE HAYWOOD'S SPEECH.

The full authorized report of Comrade W. D. Haywood's speech, delivered in New York City at Cooper Union, under the auspices of Local New York Socialist Party, will be found in the February issue of the International Socialist Review. Copies of the Review may be purchased at the Socialist Reading Room, 108½ South High street, 3rd floor, Room 9

ECONOMY.

The Democratic-Republican City Council could find no money with which to pay the City firemen decent living wages, and the Comon Laborers a minum wage of $3.00 per day, but could find plenty with which to buy land adjoining the Storage Dam at a fabulous price per acre. This if all signs do not fail will develop into a beautiful real estate swindle on the part of promoters who can now purchase land further up the river and work the same game, with the City of Columbus as the sucker. Yes this administration is starting out with Economy as a by-word joke.

"Habeas corpus be damned! We will give them post mortems instead." Adjutant General Sherman Bell, of Colorado militia.

BRANCH SECRETARIES, TAKE NOTICE.

DARROW IS INDICTED FOR ALLEGED BRIBERY

Warning Served Upon All Socialists and Labor Unionists to Beware.

Clarence Darrow, a lawyer, who resides in Chicago, was on last Monday indicted at Los Angeles for bribery in connection with the trial of the McNamara brothers. Darrow was the attorney for the McNamaras and it is charged that he attempted to "fix" two jurors. Darrow has never been a Socialist. He is a Democrat in politics. As an attorney he has made a specialty of defending labor unionists charged with offenses against the laws. In this case the prisoners pleaded guilty after sensational charges were made against people alleged to be connected with the defense. As to the evidence before the grand jury at Los Angeles we have no information, but one thing is certain and that is that it is possible for detectives of the Burns type to "frame up" evidence against any member of the working class or any of its agents whether attorneys or officials of unions. With the courts owned and controlled by the capitalists it would be possible to indict a score of Socialists in Columbus and put their lives and liberty in jeopardy. All that would be needed would be the false witness of hired detectives of whom there are a hundred in this city right now.

What would you do about it?

NOTICE COMRADES.

For the benefit of those Comrades, who cannot pay dues at their Branch meeting, they can be accomodated at the Socialist Reading Room, 108½ S High St., Comrade Bates will have charge of dues stamps.

City Organizer.

FIRST WARD BANQUET.

The Socialists of the First Ward had a "Dutch lunch" at their hall, Parsons and Jenkins, on Thursday evening of last week, which was the most bon-ton affair held in that Proletarian section this year. That's what the large number present say.

PRESIDENT TAFT GETS COLD RECEPTION

Political Flunkeys and Scab Promoters Greet Him in Columbus Last Tuesday.

William Howard Taft, who is just now employed by the United States as President, was in Columbus on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. He was here ostensibly to "dedicate" the new Federal Building at the corner of State and Third streets. His real mission was to line up the political fakirs of the Republican party in this part of Ohio for his own renomination as the Republican candidate for another term as President. The people of the United States pay $25,000 per year, in addition to the regular $50,000 for the "traveling" expenses of the President.

Mr. Taft, during his stay in our fair city, was chaperoned by Fred Herbst, president of the Chamber of Commerce, the chief business of which body is to promote scabbery in Columbus, buy guns for deputy sheriffs at the expense of the State of Ohio and keep down the wages of workingmen, women and girls.

There was not the faintest ripple of applause when President Taft rode along the streets of Columbus.

There were not half the people out who would have come to see a circus parade. The G. A. R. Veterans, who marched in the rear, were greeted with enthusiasm because they are honored for what they have done in the past. Taft has done nothing but do the people.

The whole affair was a disgusting exhibition of flunkeyism and lick-spittle politics.

Taft never said a word about Socialism.

He has become both a coward and a hypocrite.

OUR NEW OFFICE.

The Socialist is now located at 108½ South High street, Third floor. The business and editorial departments are in Room 6, front. The Socialist Reading Room is in Room 9 to the right of stairway. In Room 9 is also located the Socialist Legal Department where legal advice and assistance can be obtained. Good Socialist literature is for sale or for reading free.

COUNCILMEN DODGE CITY PRINTING DEAL

Old Parties are Between the Devil and the Deep Sea. Socialists Present New Measures.

"This is not a baseball game. This is a meeting of the City Council. If there is any more applause I will clear the lobby." In anger Dave Logan, President of the City Council, uttered these words last Monday night during the regular session of the city dads.

The occasion was the approval by the crowd present of some honest words from members of Council when the city printing contract was under consideration. It is strange that Mr. Logan was not so sensitive two weeks ago when Bill Mahanna, George Harper, "Doc" Waddell and Mose Schlessinger led a gang who applauded every speech against the electric light extender resolution.

The Committee on Printing reported in favor of letting the contract for legal advertising to The Ohio State Journal at its bid of $1 per square for the first insertion and 50 cents for the second insertion; to the Times, Pat McAllister's paper at 90 cents and 50 cents, and to the Westbote at 85 cents and 40 cents. Thereupon Councilman Bohnert moved to amend by letting the contract to The Socialist as one of the papers at its bid which was the lowest of any.

The previous question was moved and President Logan put the motion on the adoption of the committee's report instead of upon Bohnert's motion. The report was rejected by a vote of 14 to 5, after several councilmen had changed their votes. The matter of the city printing was then referred again to the Committee on Printing Rules and Revision.

It was clearly shown by Councilman Sherman that the bid of The Columbus Socialist of 30 cents and 15 cents would save the city $8,400 during the year. The Socialist members simply sought to put the Council on record as to expending the public's money and as to the legal standing of various papers bidding Most of the councilmen seem to be anxious to adhere to "business" principles in having this work done but don't know how to do so and be true to their party bosses. The Socialist is not after profit but offers to do what must be done under the law. Democratic factions are at each other's throats and the exhibition was very amusing to the citizens in the lobby of the hall and provoked some merriment This is what riled the dignified president, Mr. Logan.

Socialist members of Council, according to a resolution introduced at the meeting Monday evening, believe the city should have a purchasing agent. The resolution provided that a committee of five confer with the Mayor and the heads of departments in providing such an agent. It was introduced by Councilman Warren and referred to the judiciary committee.

Recommendation of the fire department committee that $40,000 bonds be issued to erect a two-door engine house in the Hilltop district was approved and Councilman Bohnert's resolution goes through.

An ordinance providing inspection of gas meters passed its second reading and was refered to a committee. A chief inspector is to receive $100 a month, two deputies $75 each.

Still another of the Socialists' acts which was given its second reading would require automatic air pressure sanding devices and also heavy lifting jacks for street and interurban cars. A fine of from $20 to $100 is provided for the first offense. It was introduced by Councilman Zimpfer.

An ordinance providing $175,000 bonds to purchase land near the storage dam to prevent river pollution passed its second reading. Similar action was taken on one for $200,000 bonds to extend water mains.

PARTY REFERENDUM

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SOCIALIST PARTY OF FRANKLIN COUNTY.

Dear Comrades:

In compliance with the State Election Laws, the Franklin County Executive Committee of the Socialist Party hereby gives notice of the nominations on the enclosed circular, that must be nominated and by petition placed on the ballot, subject to the primary election to be held May 21st, 1912.

All nominations will be made by party referendum. Branches or locals will make their nominations for each office on enclosed list, from the party membership at large throughout the County.

Nominations may be made for the following offices.

Two Common Pleas Judges, one Congressman, one State Senator, five State Representatives, one Prosecuting Attorney, one Clerk of Court, one Sheriff, one Auditor, one Treasurer, one Probate Judge, one Recorder, one Coroner, three Commissioners, three Infirmary Directors, one Member of County Central Committee from each ward in the city and each township, in the county.

Blanks properly filled out with branch nominees must be mailed or forwarded to R. M. Woody, 1189 Michigan Ave., Columbus, O., not later than February 10th, 1912.

All names sent in for each office will be placed on the first ballot for election, by party referendum. The two persons receiving the highest number in the first ballot for each respective office, will have their names placed on the second ballot, and the one receiving the highest number of votes, will be declared the party nominee of the party and by petition, placed on the primary ballot, May 21st, 1912.

Very truly yours,
R. M. WOODY,
Sec. Campaign Committee.
D. M. KUHNS,
Chairman.

GRAND MASKED BALL.

The Socialist Glee Club Forward will give a grand masked ball Saturday evening, February 17, at Munich Hall, 335½ South High street. Admission 25 cents. One prize for most comically dressed lady and one for neatest dressed lady. Union music.

In the present system you are known as hands! Hands! Not heads. The capitalist wants only hands. He wants to furnish the head.

Socialism and Religion

At the Urgent Request of Many who Could not Attend the East Side Meeting, Sunday, Jan. 28th,

J. L. BACHMAN

Will Speak under the Auspices of the SOCIALIST PUBLISHING CO. at

West Side Market House

Sunday Evening, Feb. 11

at 7:30. The Subject will be

J. L. BACHMAN

RESOLVED, That Socialism is in accord with the highest ideals of Morality and Religion and gives the greatest opportunity to attain such ideals.

A challenge is hereby duly issued to Dave Goldstein, any Catholic priest, in this or any other city, or any other person authorized to represent the Catholic Church. Said representative of the said organization will be allotted one and one-half hours to present his case and if this is not sufficient time, he will be extended further time. DON'T FAIL TO COME. Comrade Bachman has an indictment against the said organization, that every liberty-loving American should hear.

THE GREAT WHITE PLAGUE AND THE MERCHANTS' AND MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

On every hand we are confronted with evidences of the Great White Plague, that terrible menace that stalks continually thru the ranks of the working men and women, smiting them down and claiming them victims of the deadliest death-dealing agency known to the race today.

The unmistakable signs of the hetic spot upon the cheek, the cough, the sunken chest, the unusual brilliancy of eye, all tell one story, the crimes of capitalism. This story we read daily in the faces of the larger percent of working people who serve our needs

The White Plague is unknown where men and women enjoy pure air, nourishing food, sufficient sleep, rest and freedom from worry. Yet, there is not an industry in our land today that grants to its workers all of these necessities. Some grant a few; many deny all. Of the result we are only too familiar

In the cotton and woolen mills, little children, the laughter gone from out their eyes, the music from out their voices, toil from early till late, breathing the clouds of lint as they fly from the never ceasing shuttles, until this accumulation in their baby lungs causes them to be stricken in poorly ventilated buildings, toil with a fierceness inhuman, because they are compelled to; the while breathing and rebreathing air foul with the germs of death and disease. This physical exhaustion of the workers amid unhealthful conditions, makes them a prey to consumption.

The men in the mines, shut away from the sunlight that God intended for all his creatures all the time, toil early and late in an unnatural environment of damp and darkness. They breathe air heavy with particles of coal, their lungs become blackened in consequence, they develop consumption and die.

In the factories of glass manufacture, the atmosphere is charged with minute particles of glass. These breathed into the lungs year in and out causes an irritating weakness from which consumption follows.

In the occupation of silk winding, flax spinning and the manufacture of felt hats, the atmosphere is kept quite moist to facilitate the work as it is believed to do. This artificial moisture added to a factory's unwholesome ventilation becames likewise a hot bed for the breeding of consumption.

In all wood-working industries the air is laden with fine sawdust. This taken in to the lungs daily thru the long, long hours of toil, injures them and starts the helpless victim consumptionward. Similar conditions obtain in marble works, steel industries, soap and soappowder factories. Each produces its particular form of consumption, all equally fatal and from which, save for only the fittest physically, there is no escape—And so we see that there is scarcely an article in use but what comes to our hands tainted with the undermining of the health of the worker who has produced it

The clerks in the store, the bank and the office may enjoy sunshine and the blessing of good ventilation, but yet they are either underpaid or overworked, or both. In either event they are forced to bear the burden of fear and worry, and this condition is as much responsible for tubercular victims as it the sweatshop.

These are facts that cannot be denied. On the altar of the Great White Plague, thousands upon thousands of workers have been sacrificed, and will continue to be sacrificed as long as men, for profit, are allowed to sap the strength of the nation's health, that they may be kept from doing any part of the necessary work of the world. These works of the world, if rightly distributed, would keep all men whole and wholesome. To attain to this blessing all men must or all are alike menaced; for the evil is retroactive, and as the worker thru excess of work weakens and dies, so in time also does the class that growing farther and farther away from the nourishment of the soil of mother earth, become effete, sicken and die.

Quite recently the inroads of this terrible malady among the workers having become so alarming in the East, that it could no longer be ignored by a people calling themselves civilized, the Merchants' Association of Worcester began to take steps relative to the prevention and cure of the disease.

These "steps," were the situation not so tragic, would be absolutely funny.

An so we find the Merchants' and Manufacturers of the United States at last turning philanthropists and caring for their tubercular employees. How is it being done? Now it is not the part of a Socialist to disparage any help extended to the worker. The Socialist, above all others, realizes their pressing need for help—But to him this method adopted by the Merchants and Manufacturers is little less than an outrage.

The Merchants and Manufacturers have begun to study the question. They have arrived at the solution. It is this: Education is the touchstone that brings about wonderful transformations in the fight against consumption. Hence, all we must do is to teach our employees that fresh air is not to be feared, that they must eat they must not worry. So arrange-they must not worry. So arrangements were forthfith started for noonday lectures in the stores and factories where specialists are hired to teach these precious truths to poor sufferers. I quote the following from an extract of one of these lectures: "If you are a poor consumptive, don't despair. Remember that tuberculosis is a curable and preventable disease and that you have many chances in your favor if you but reach out for them. Don't neglect an early cold or cough. You will always find kind hearted physicians in every city who will steer you right. Don't let your pride keep you from seeking aid. Solicit the aid of your pastor. He in turn will place you in touch with some kind hearted person who will assist you. Remember the press and its mighty power is at your disposal,—This having been accomplished and a few of the worst cases sent to the sanatarium, the merchant and manufacturer now realizes the joy derived from sources other than the accumulation of wealth. They believe within their hearts they are benefitting their workers. Serenely and untroubled they go their way to their fashionable churches, and to the reading of the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," piously they answer: "Lord have mercy upon us and incline our hearts to keep this lew." But the echo from this hollow refrain, could their greed deafened ears be made to hear is ever: "If a son shall ask bread will you give him a stone?

ANNIE MINTURN.

A VIEW FROM THE SCRIPTURE

And they shall build houses, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them

They shall not build and another inhabit, they shall not plant, and another eat.

They shall not labor in vain, nor bring forth for trouble.

Isaiah XV, 21-23.

What argeement is there between the hyena and a dog? and what peace between the rich and the poor?

As the wild ass is the lion's prey in the wilderness; so the rich eat up the poor.

As the proud hate humility; so doth the rich abhor the poor.

A rich man, beginning to fall, is held up of his friends; but a poor man being down, is thrust also away by his friends.

When a rich man is fallen, he hath many helpers; he speaketh things not to be spoken, and yet men justify him; the poor man slipt, and yet they rebuked him too; he spoke wisely, and could have no place

When a rich man speaketh, every man holdeth his tongue; and look, what he saith, they extol it to the clouds; but if the poor man speak, they say, what fellow is this? and if he stumble, they will help to overthrew him.

Ecclesiastics VIII, 21-23.

ARE THE TIMES PROSPEROUS?

By John M. Work.

A metropolitan paper is authority for the statement that we are enjoying a season of great prosperity.

Is it really true that the times are prosperous?

Let's look at the matter very briefly from several different angles.

If the times are prosperous, no one ate a charity Christmas dinner.

If the times are prosperous, there is not a single beggar on the streets.

If the times are prosperous, there is not a worker out of a job.

If the times are prosperous, the charity organizations have gone out of business.

If the times are prosperous, prostitution is unknown.

If the times are prosperous, child labor has ceased.

If the times are prosperous, poverty has become extinct.

If the times are prosperous, there are no tramps.

If the times are prosperous, crime has become a rarity.

If the times are prosperous, suicide, insanity, drunkenness and disease are seldom heard of.

Now, answer the question yourself.

THE REVISED CATECHISM.

Ernest Frederick Robinson in The Coming Nation.

What is the chief end of man?

To glorify Gold and employ it with fervor.

What is the chief end of woman?

To gobble that Gold and enjoy it forever.

How can a man make both these ends meet?

Say nothing, saw wood, and do others before they do you.

Who made you?

No one. I am a self-made man.

What is a self-made mas?

One for whom others have made wealth enough to make him.

Does the self-made man ever make anything else?

Yes. He usually makes trouble.

Who are our best citizens?

Those best able to "best" the better part of the community.

Do our best citizens do the best work?

No. It is derogatory to work.

Who constitute the Higher Classes?

Those who have inherited wealth and never earned any.

What are the lower classes?

Those who do the work that creates all wealth.

What do these men do with all the wealth they create?

Nothing. They do not have it.

How is this brought about?

By the aid of the "Sacred Trinity" of Profits, Isterest, and Rent.

What are profits?

The tax you pay for being allowed to work.

What is interest?

The tax you pay men for making use of your money.

What is rent?

A private tax you pay on the house you built.

What do the Higher Classes do to earn Profits, Interest and Rent?

Nothing.

Do the lower classes look up to the Higher Classes?

Yes.

Is it right that they should do so?

Yes; the Higher Classes support them.

How do they support them?

By allowing them to work and paying them wages.

Where do the Higher Classes obtain the money for wages?

From the wealth created by the lower classes.

Does the worker, then, create his wages as well as profits?

Yes.

What is Poverty?

The end product of Profits, Interest and Rent.

Which end?

That of the working class.

When does Poverty come about?

When there is only wealth enough to placate the "Sacred Trinity."

What is the cure for Poverty?

Charity.

What is Charity?

Theoretically, a tithe of Profits, Interest and Rent.

Would doing away with the "Sacred Trinity" cure Poverty?

No. Without them the world and all that is in it would perish.

How do you know this?

We are taught so by our Better Classes.

The ones who receive these benefits?

Yes.

Do the lower classes ever regard this idea as wrong?

No. It is not well for the lower classes to think.

Could the lower classes exist without the Higher Classes?

Yes.

What would become of the Higher Classes without the lower classes?

"God knows."

Who constitute the lower classes?

About ninety per cent. of the population.

How much of the wealth do they possess?

About ten per cent.

How much of the wealth did the Higher Classes produce?

None of it.

What is a gentleman?

A male human being who does no work.

Why is this so?

Because working is not a gentle occupation.

What is a lady?

I do not know. "They toil not, neither do they spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

What are children?

What are the offspring of the higher classes?

The offspring of the lower classes.

Young gentlemen and ladies—when they have any.

What is the chief end of the children?

To go to work as early as the law will allow them.

Is this good for the children?

No.

What is it good for?

Good for more Profits, Interest and Rent.

What is the chief end of women of the lower classes?

To prevent Race Suicide, and, between times, to work in a factory.

Is this good for the women?

No.

Good for their children?

No.

Good for the men of the lower classes?

No.

To whom do all the good things of the earth belong?

To the Better Classes.

The trail of death leads from the home of the working class to the factory door. And all because of profits.

LAWLESS LAWRENCE.

There has been a wonderful scurrying toward Lawrence, the great mill city on the banks of the Merrimac. Detectives scent work to do, and they are going to get right on the job. Dynamite has been discovered, enough almost to blow a stump out of a field or crack a rock that stood in the way of a small cellar. The Governor of the State of Massachusetts has been threatened. By whom he was threatened or why is not known. But he was, and that is sufficient invitation to activity. Violence prevails in Lawrence, and, behold, the forces of good government are ready to deal with it. Strange to say, these forces of good government happen to be the most miserable aggregation of criminal conspirators way.

A few days ago some of the strikers, lashed by hunger, held up baker wagons and milk wagons to snatch from them a little food.

They had a right to do it. No one will deny them the right. In fact, it is more than probable that many of those who seek to crush all possibility of revolt out of the strikers will applaud them for this act.

But if the strikers cleaned out every grocery store, every butcher shop, and every bakery in Lawrence, they would have gathered, at the most, food only for a few days. Blind advocacy of such a course may lead the strikers on to similar acts.

But that is mere petty trifling, though it may at first sight seem drastic. It is the idea of temporary relief. It is the essence of foolish reform.

In order that there may be an end of the horrible and inhuman conditions that exist in Lawrence, nothing less than absolute revolution can effect anything. There must be a complete overthrow of the existing ownership and control of the means of production. You cannot accomplish that by the capture of a bakers wagon. You cannot accomplish it by capturing all the food shops in the city. You cannot accomplish it even by seizing and holding by force the mills of the city.

You must overturn the existing economic state and establish your own right to erect another .

There has never been presented in this or any other country a program so drastically revolutionary as that of the Socialist Party. It includes everythng that may be done for the immediate benefit of the working class. It includes everything that ultimately will result in the emancipation of the working class. So great, so comprehensive is that program that the starving mill workers of Lawrence, as well as the better fed workers of other districts, must inevitably turn to it for relief. Whoever tries to tell the striking workers that the capture of a few loaves of bread or a few bottles of milk is a victory worth considering, are either traitors to the strikers or so utterly ignorant that they have no right to speak in the name of labor.

Whatever the strikers got in that way they had to get, for the strikers are hungry. But they must get control of everything, or else they can control nothing. And they must get that control through Socialism, for no other program offers them anything of lasting benefit, and, actually, no other program offers them anything even of immediate relief.

Underpaid, overworked, the Lawrence mill workers were at last forced to rebel.

May their rebellion mean revolution! May it lead to a real figure for the salvation of the whole working class.

Any one who has ever stood at the mill gates in the morning and watched the toilers scurry through the shivering gloom to their work, and has seen them, the workday finished, trail, stumble, or even totter out of the mills, cannot but have an absolute desire that this fight will mean something worth while to the workers.

How is it to be won? There is one great open way.

Let the workers own the mills.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS.

The National Executive Committee has adopted the following motion made by Comrade Haywood:

"Calling attention to condition of striking textile workers of Lawrence, Massachusetts, where thirty thousand men, women and children are fighting against the master class for better living conditions, I move that immediate action be taken to raise funds and that every possible assistance be rendered the strikers."

Contributions for this purpose should be sent to the National Secretary, 206 West Washington street, Chicago.

Carl Legien, of Germany, International Secretary of the National Centres of Trades Unions, and a member of the Social Democratic Party of Germany, will make a speaking tour of the United States beginning some time in April and lasting about eleven weeks. Part of his tour will be under the auspices of the Socialist Party and part under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor. At the request of the German State Agitation Committee of New York, the National Executive Committee has turned over to it the arranging for his tour under the party auspices. Locals desiring information regarding dates and terms should address the German State Agitation Committee, 343 East 84th street, New York City.

The National Office can furnish copies of the bill introduced in Congress by Comrade Berger providing for the collective ownership of the trusts, at the following rates: Single copy, 5 cents; 35 cents per dozen; $1.00 per hundred.

By a recent referendum in Wisconsin, Winfield R. Gaylord, 43 Estes street, Milwaukee, was elected a member of the National Committee; Victor L. Berger, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., and Carl D. Thompson, City Clerk's Office, Milwaukee, were re-elected to the same position.

The Jewish Socialist Agitation Bureau has just issued a booklet on American Institutions. The name of it is, "The American Government, How It Came to Be, What It Is and Whom It Serves." The author is B. Holzman, at one time editor of the "Jewish Forward." It is an explanation of how our American governmental institutions developed and is highly recommended by the Agitation Bureau as of very great value in teaching Jewish working people to understand the present position of the working class and its mission. The price is ten cents per single copy, and seven cents a copy in bundles of twenty-five. Order of the Jewish Socialist Agitation Bureau, 141 Division street, New York City.

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

DeKalb county is becoming alive with Socialist enthusiasm as the national campaign approaches. As a starter Comrade Condo organized Garrett with ten members and Comrade Hurnie writes that the Comrades there are enthusiastic over the prospects.

Waterloo, a neighboring town of Garrett in the same county, is also getting ready to organize and Comrade Showalter writes: "I believe it a necessity for all communities having Socialist leanings to organize and protect themselves as well as the cause, for it will not be long until the shyster politicians will be clamoring to get in or even organize locals for selfish purposes."

Thomas Wirt writes in from Newberry in Green County asking for a lecture by the State Secretary and stating that there is a chance to organize a local there. Newberry will get what it wants at an early date.

The local at Bicknell has been dead for months but like other towns it is reviving and the Comrades are arranging for Sunday lectures and expect to have the membership again paying dues soon.

From Syracuse in Kosciusko County comes the word that the Socialist propaganda has extended far enough that a local will probably be organized there soon. Comrade Clintie asks for instructions on how to do it and he will get to work on the job.

The inquiries coming into the State Office during the cold weather regarding organization indicates that there is a widespread interest among isolated Socialists and that they are eager to get into the party. Many other towns should be heard from in the next few weeks.

The new local at Rutland did not lay down on the job, but went out after the avowed Socialists with the result that it doubled its membership at the first meeting and elected a delegate to the State convention.

Local New Albany reports that after repeated efforts James M. Ashabraner to appear for trial for accepting the nomination on a people's ticket for township trustee, was expelled by the local.

The State Secretary has sent a communication to all locals for the purpose of organizing the Congressional Districts. The Seventh District is already organized and the Tenth District is organizing.

Women are one-half of this and every other nation. And as true as it is that no land can endure part slave and part free, it is true that woman must be given the title to every political and social right possessed by man.

We are growing! Labor's great cause is making wonderful progress. With about ten million Socialist voters and ten million Trade Unionists, the International Labor movement have become one of the world's "great powers."

Socialism and the Socialist movement are based on economic and social conditions and are the result of these conditions. The same economic forces that produced modern capitalism called forth Socialism and the modern labor movement.

Call for a National Referendum.

Everett, Wash.,urn
Everett, Wash., Jan. 30, 1912

Comrades:—No one will deny that in the selection of Oklahoma City, Okla., as the city in which to hold our National Convention, the Preferential Ballot system has played us a trick which shows the weakness of this system of voting. In an effort made by various comrades to have the Convention held in Chicago, Milwaukee or some other central and acceptable point, these Comrades gave gave first choice upon the preferential ballot to that city which they thought the best competitor as against their first choice. And in the scramble, Oklahoma City won out

There are important reasons why Oklahoma City is not an acceptable place for our National Convention

1st—It is a city of small size, not an industrial center, does not afford the conveniences for a convention nor the opportunity for propaganda and news notice

2nd—To get there means the use of from two to four different railroads.

3rd—It is not centrally located, being too far south, which means the expenditure of an immensely greater amount of railroad fare than if a more central city had been chosen. We have no money to throw away to the railroads.

Comrades, this is not a question of city patriotism but one of dollars and cents to the Socialist Party. We the Fifth Ward Loyal, Socialist Party of Everett, Wash., therefor call upon you to support this call for a national referendum to change the convention to Indianapolis, Ind. This is a city of 233,000 inhabitants, centrally located, a city which affords the necessary accomodations and the selection of which means an immense saving in railroad fare. We select Indianapolis because there remains no time to allow each Local to nominate its choice.

Quick action is asked of you. Below is appended a blank endorsement. Fill out properly and mail it to the National Secretary.

JOHN M. WORK,
National Secretary, Socialist Party
205 Washington street,
Chicago, Ill.

Comrade:—This is to inform you that we endorse the motion for National Referendum made by Local Fifth Ward, Everett, Wash., Which reads as follows:

"That the National Convention for 1912 be held in Indianapolis, Ind., instead of Oklahoma City, Okla."

Signed:
Name of Local ..... State .....
Members in good standing .....
Chairman of meeting .....
Secretary of Local .....

All the above officially issued by Local Fifth Ward, Socialist Party of Everett, Wash., thru its Referendum Committee: Al Roeder, G. Lindberg and Alfred Wagenknecht.

MAKING GOOD.

The St. Mary's Socialists Are Strictly On The Job.

Having a few hours in St. Mary's I called upon Mayor Scott Wilkins, never having had the experience of meeting a workingman's mayor. I found him at home reading Fuerback's "The Roots of the Socialist Philosophy." One not knowing he was mayor would never think such was the case. The Sunday before election Father John Sailers preached against Socialism, and the following Monday Comrade Wilkins called upon him at noon and they had quite an interesting time until dark, quite different from the methods of Comrades in Columbus before the election. Another instance Comrade R. A. Burton was discharged from the St. Mary's machine shop because of his agitation. The Comrades started him in a small grocery store and after taking office he was appointed clerk in the water works department and he is also editor of the St. Mary's Socialist, which shows they are a bunch of fighters. The old party politicians have done almost everything they could to discourage and cause their administration to be a failure. Just as soon as they found the Socialists had won out, council reduced the mayors salary from $700 to $400 and the city treasurer from $300 to $150. Comrade Hawk, who was elected to this office, is a man 50 years of age and just think what a rotten bunch of capitalistic blood-sucking tyrants will stoop to do. But this loyal Comrade does not have to spend all his time at the treasurer's office, and works as a laborer at the chain shops so as to keep from being an object of charity.

They had considerable trouble in securing bonds for the elected officials, especially the treasurer. Neither of the banks would have anything to do with them, and they were forced to pay $175 to a bonding company out of their own pockets and some others who were in sympathy with them. But now that they are making good progress and have called the bluff of these parasites they have made the Socialists a proposition, that they will pay them $175 which they were forced to pay for the bond. The banks fearing they will not reap the interest from the deposits of the city's money. But the Comrades are standing firm and will not accept any favors from such slimy hands as these, and have ignored all their propositions entirely, and they are not going to compromise one iota. They are certainly a class conscious bunch. This is exactly the position that should be taken, in my estimation, because just as soon as these slave-drivers find themselves beaten they are going to hedge and the very moment the workers give an inch they are doomed to utter defeat. Such has been the case in the past and will continue so, until we educate the heathen to vote to own his job, organize on the job and put a pair of overalls on the boss. To do this we must not only preach political action, but must also educate from the standpoint of one big union. Another thing they have done here in St. Mary's that proves to all the thorough spirit of democracy in the Socialist Party was the method they used in selecting a health officer. They have no doctors in the party, therefore all the doctors in the city were called together and they were told to select one from among themselves and it must be done by a secret ballot, since which time their democratic spirit has appealed to all doctors in town and the Socialists have their support. As a result of this meeting Dr. Chas. McKee was endorsed by the Local and appointed as the health officer. Comrade J. F. Bales was formerly a machinist but is certainly making good with a vengeance as city auditor and only 28 years of age. I attended their meeting Sunday afternoon and it did my heart good to see a set of such thorough class-conscious revolutionary Comrades, and they voted unanimously to instruct their State Committeeman from this district to submit a motion allowing Comrades Haywood and Bohn to speak and organize in Ohio as there is a movement on foot to prohibit them. The night after they were inaugurated, the Local gave a banquet, charging 35c a plate, so as to cover expenses, and any person not having the two bits did not go away hungry. This banquet was not given to make money but to bring all together and have one jolly good time. The fact that only $1.65 was left in the treasury proves this fact. Local St. Mary's has 138 members and about 130 in good standing, with a population of about 6,600. After securing Comrade Mayor Wilkins' subscription to the Columbus Socialist for one year and bidding him and his charming wife, Mrs. Anna Wilkins, good night I hit the trail back to the caboose.

W. G. INGRAM.

OUR BOASTED CIVILIZATION

STORK COMES ON SIDEWALK, BUT BABY DIES.

Mother Had Just Gotten Off Street Car.

HUSBAND IN PRISON.

Child Dies of Exposure; Mother May Die.

Mrs. Ida Green, 18, of 927 Arsenal avenue, was visited by the stork late Tuesday evening a few moments after she had alighted from a car at Leonard and Garfield avenues on her way home from a visit to the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Friessell, of Short avenue. The baby was born on the sidewalk.

The baby dies of exposure. Her husband is in Federal Prison at Leavenworth on a bigamy charge.

The woman is in destitute circumstances.

This is civilization so they say. Is it possible that the majority of people wil stand idly by and allow a civilization like this to continue. Mr. Roosevelt talks much of race suicide. I would like to know if this is a case.

If all the babies that are born were cared for before and after birth the cry of race suicide would not be heard. We allow our babies to be born in an atmosphere reeking with rottenness in some cases, and I might say in many cases under worse conditions than those mentioned in the quotation. But what would the Socialist do?

We would establish a lying-in hospital where any woman could go regardless of her position in society and bear her child in surroundings conducive to the health and happiness of the child, its mother and also safeguard the body politic from having sickly, crippled weaklings brought into the world, because of malnutrition and other causes.

Thousands of children are murdered each year by this cursed system and it is time we were waking up and eliminating the ruthless slaughter of innocents.

But the smug capitalist and his prostitutes say it is Providence and fate and they know they lie a woeful lie. It is not Providence and fate but it is our system.

A resolution was introduced into the U. S. Senate to establish a Children's Bureau and the Senator said he wished to place babies on a level with pigs. He said they send private cars filled with experts to a district in which hogs are infested with some disease. But babies can die by the carload and the Government does not raise a hand.

In Milwaukee they are saving the babies, and the Socialists are in power there. Let us not hearken to the rattling of tin cans about Providence and fate, drunkenness, etc., etc., but let us go to the root of the evil.

Charity may help one here and there but in the ultimate it is only a moving star that leaves the sufferer still worse off.

Robt. Hunter says the line of demarkation is plain between the poor man and the pauper. Let a man accept alms once and he becomes a paupar and in a vast majority of cases he stays a pauper. Just as a criminal stays a criminal—once he crosses the line.

Let us not mince words—the working class want none of your charity, they want justice and let me say they are going to get it. The Red Flag of revolt and brotherhood will wave in your streets. Let us hope in peaceful demonstration. But continue to oppress and starve the working class and murder the children—then it may be other than peaceful. I hope for a peaceful solution.

And the change will come if man's right leads, but if it is denied it may swep in a storm.

Justice is our right and that right cannot be denied us. We will walk to the ballot box and do our part, we will educate the worker as far as is in our power. But this failing the ignorant hordes may break loose and trample under foot all law and order.

I beseech each working man to study Socialism so that the goal for which we strive may be reached peacefully and calmly and the change from Capitalism to Socialism from this chaotic scramble for dolalrs to civilization will come to us like the glorious rays of the sun and each child will have as his birthright equal opportunities.

THE LAWRENCE TEXTILE MILL WORKERS' STRIKE.

The 30,000 textile mill workers of Lawrence, Massachusetts, on strike, are only a small example of what must follow, on the part of the entire working class of the United States, in the next few years.

The terrible exploitation that these workers were put to for the purpose of creating large profit for the Wool Trust, has brought about a solidarity of the textile workers, which the Wool Trust from now on must reckon with.

Thirty thousand men, women and children practically unorganized do not cease production to suit the whim of so-called agitators. The agitator is only the open expression of what is slumbering underneath the surface. That something is wage slavery, exploited to its highest point of efficiency by the Modern Trust, exacting from the workers the largest amount of production for the lowest wage possible.

The Trust does not even recognize the union wage for the worker, consistant with active energy that must be expended, but forces the worker below this level into a state bordering on slow starvation. For a time the worker can subsist by this method, but fall he must and his place is quickly taken by the large army that is unemployed, seeking work, who in turn become quickly emaciated and through the same law forced into the army of inefficients.

This method of exploitation is adopted by practically every trust in the United States, good trusts being no exceptions. Consequently the outburst at Lawrence on the part of the 30,000 textile workers, is only the slumbering flame that will whip itself into a mighty conflagration and by industrial organizations and political expression take a position against the Trust, by demanding the social ownership of these mamoth combinations, in the interest of human society through production for use and not for profit.

The unskilled worker, when he can get a job, is working away below a standard minimum wage, while the skilled mechanic, at his best through the high cost of living, is finding his standard of living lowered day by day through profit exploitation in the necessities of life. Therefore, daily, the condition of the entire working class is coming more to a common level, wiping out the foolish class distinction that craft unionism has fostered, and creating the identity of interests on the part of the worker that is necessary for concrete action.

The solving of the greatest problem that has ever faced the human race lies today in the hands of the workers. They, and they alone, can solve the trust problem; progressive statesmen to the contrary. The point of regulation or control on the part of the political government to give a partial relief to the masses, was passed several years ago. The trust, as an economic machine, is all too powerful to be affected by political legislation. It controls its destiny and demands of the political state protection in its right of exploitation as at Lawrence, where troops were furnished the Wool Trust, even before the workers went on strike.

The trust magnates are unable to run their high-priced machinery. Only the workers know how; consequently when the working class demands the social ownership of the trusts, they will base their demand upon the highest natural law known—use value and its application to modern needs.

A profound sensation was created last week when the daily papers, under a black headline, "Big Politician Sentenced to Year in Prison," told of the fate of a millionaire at Atlantic City. His name was Louis Kuehnle, a Republican, and he was recently convicted of unlawfully participating in the awarding of a contract to a company in which he was interested while he was a member of Atlantic City water commission, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment at hard labor and to pay a fine of $1,000. Kuehnle was released on bail pending an appeal for a new trial.

It seems astounding that even the farce of sentencing such a man would be tolerated. This took place in New Jersey. The idea of sentencing a millionaire to prison is revolutionary.

Jane Adams turned the tables upon men in a speech in Milwaukee recently. Reversing thet ime-honored objections to "lovely woman" and the ballot, she cleverly satirised the subterfuges of masculinity by showing how corrupting the ballot for man would be, how man would vote as wife and mother did and all the rest. The most noticeable thing about male opposition to the woman voter is its extreme juvenility. It should be spanked and put to bed without its supper.

PLURAL VOTING.

Dr. Gladden has come out openly favoring plural voting on the part of property holders. Bexley's inhabitants, living outside of the corporation line to escape the heavier municipal taxes, feel that they should also have a vote in the city, where most of their property, bringing them large rentals, is located. Beautiful idea.

The next suggestion in order would be that voters owning no property should have no vote. This would be the ideal political state for the large property holders.

The next suggestion made by this eminent divine was that women owning property should have the right to vote. What of the women ground down by wage slavery, working for a pittance that barely keeps body and soul together? If consideration should be given women, we feel that these last named should be given the first consideration, so that by the use of their ballot they could ameliorate their condition of servitude, and maybe in time accumulate enough to buy a lot in Green Lawn Cemetry, thereby becoming property owners in a sense. Let's have equal justice for all.

There are quite enough child-labor laws, but who obeys them? Revelations in the new Hampton Columbian Magazine make it clear that the rule in regard to these laws is to break them. Doubtless the stockholders in textile mills have their literature carefully expurgated for them before they read it, or the terrible pictures of ruined childhood and the accounts of babes at toil would make them curse themselves and the economic conditions upon which they fatten.

GLORIOUS PROSPERITY.

Workers, get ready for prosperity. It is on the way and so is an election.

It may be that the two events have no relation, but we prefer to believe they have. Whether they have any relation or not is of no great consequence. It is enough to know that they are to happen and one is as evident on the horizon as the other. What concerns us is the ultimate result.

With an era of prosperity during the several months that will elapse between now and November, the slaves will be made satisfied by being allowed to toil long and hard each day for a fifth part of what their labor produces. At the end of that time they will be fat in body and satisfied in mind and will conclude that their masters have been made the objects of ungrounded attack by those miserable Socialists and that they are not the robbers of the working class they are reputed to be.

Then comes the election and the satisfied workers elect their masters' ticket and the mills close down and the workers have served their purpose both in the industries and at the ballot box

Some may question this view, but if one will stop for a moment and consider the increase ability of the worker to produce one would realize that they can produce enough in a few months to supply those, who can gain access to the things they need, for five years.

Understand, we do not say that all needs will be supplied for five years. Thousands upon thousands will go starved and in rags until the product they create in the next few months will have been wasted by the private owners who now stand between such product and those who need it, and they will go hungry.

We suppose that in the course of human events we will have to go through this process, but it does seem a shame to force the little children and the wives of the workers to go through the crucible simply because the voting mules will not study their own interests and support them at the ballot box.

A few hours with a primer of Socialism will do it. Supply yourself.

CONVENTION CITY MAY BE CHANGED.

CHICAGO, JAN. 30—In answer to a communication from National Secretary John M. Work to W. B. Moore, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Oklahoma City, the national office has today received a reply which brings about an undestanding with reference to the date for holding the Socialist national convention in that city.

National Secretary Work advised the Chamber of Commerce that the conflict in dates with the Southern Baptist convention which will be in session at the time set for the National Socialist convention would not necessarily interfere with the latter.

He stated in his communication that the number of delegates would be limited by the apportionment to about 300 and that not a great number of visitors are expected.

In answer to this information the Chamber of Commerce has advised that it will do everything in its power to entertain the Socialists who attend the convention.

A hall will be provided which according to the letter received will comfortably seat about 600 people. In its letter the Chamber of Commerce further offers to do what it can to arrange for a mass meeting in the Auditorum for one night during the convention.

A motion for a national referendum is now pending to change the place for holding the convention to Indianapolis, Ind.

SOCIALISTS LIKELY TO CAPTURE ARIZONA.

New State May Be First Star in the Worker's Republic.

LOS ANGELES, JAN. 31—"Arizona, the first State for Socialism." This will be the slogan of the Socialists in Arizona from now on. And the slogan has been adopted not without calculation as to the possibilities of its realization, writes E. A. Cantrell to the California Social Democrat from Pheonix.

In the election just held only a few more than 21,000 votes were cast in the entire Territory. This was considered a heavy vote. In a three-cornered fight, such as will be made this year, the Socialists will need only 10,000 votes to swing the State into line for Socialism. Eight thousand votes properly distributed would do it. Can the Socialist party get the votes? After fifteen days' campaigning in the Territory, I am convinced that, with anything like an efficient campaign, this can be done, "hands down."

The population of the Territory is found mostly in the mining towns, where the wage workers predominate. Even Phoenix, the capital is a wage workers' city. And the dominant influence among the workers, particularly in the mining towns, is the Western Federation of Miners—one of the most thoroughly class conscious labor organizations in th country.

The workingmen have already made themselves felt in the movement for Statehood. It is to them we are indebted for the radical clauses in the Constitution that achieved the distinction of causing President Taft to veto the Statehood bill during the last session of Congress.

TO COMRADES AND WORKING PEOPLE:

Look over the advertising in your paper. Patronize those who patronize you. Remember those who refuse to advertise in a labor paper are unfair to labor and are not worthy of your patronage.

The Booster's Column

—By F. E. JOHNSTON—

What will you do for the paper for the next thirty days? Will you all get together and pledge yourselves to each put on at least five subscribers, per week, until March 1st?

If you can't put on five, get as many as you possibly can. Set your mark high, and you will at least accomplish something. A great many Socialists do not realize the importance of a larger circulation, or if they do so, they do not have confidence enough in themselves to believe that they can get subs.

You can do it just as well as these other Boosters, whom you will see with us from week to week. Just try it for the next thirty days. If you haven't got sub. cards use a blank piece of paper and forward us the names and addresses, together with remittance to cover and we will take care of them. If you want to do something for the paper, but don't want to solicit subs., send up the money and we will use it to help put every Barber Shop in this County on the sub. list.

Just a word to the Ward Branches. Put the newspaper on your regular order of business. Discuss it. Endeavor to boost the circulation in every way. Be sure that you always have a good supply of sub. cards on hand, and it will surprise you at the amount of work that can be accomplished.

Every body all together for those 5000 new ones.

The report for two weeks follows:

The Mark Set	5,000
Balance to Get Last Report	4,770
Names Put On	219
Expirations	102
Gain for Two Weeks	117
Balance to Get March 1st	4653

In order to properly celebrate "Corporation Bill's" sojourn in our midst, Comrade Adolf Meier brings in four.

We understand that none of the Boosters of this paper were invited to attend the "fat one's" banquet, and as a protest, Comrades H. Wilhelm, H. H. Hoover, O. E. Reed, each bring in three.

Tell our advertisers you saw their ad. in this paper and don't fail to use the Red Ticket.

The grave-digger again reports progress this week, but states that in order to do his work properly, he needs the assistance of about 500 more Boosters. In order to give him some encouragement the following Comrades each land two: C. C. Martin, J. A. Ebright, Irwin Douglas, H. C. Searfoss, B. Loudenslager, F. W. Seaman, C. A. Bubb, C. E. Warren, H. A. Weichers, W. S. Tomlinson, F. Diebert, G. W. Calvert, D. E. Fulmer and O. D. Dillingham.

Boosters with one or more to their credit: Fred P. Zimpfer, John Feith, John Diehr, J. T. Liddy, C. C. Jenkins, T. H. Blackburn, J. A. Schumm, T. C. Southard, W. J. Rout, Frank Johnson, (not F. Du Boe, M. G. Zang, R. M. Woody, and Lewis Priller.

Let us make a record next week. We must boost this circulation and I know that if you Comrades make up your mind to do it, you can, and will. Don't read any more until you have turned the matter over in your mind and decided on 5 member of prospects you are going to see, this week. Start out Sunday moring, and lambast the Capitalist system all day, and let's see what is in the mail Monday. How many of you are willing to go out Sunday and stay on the job until you land at least one? Let's all make a concerted effort this Sunday. This office promises to do its share. How loyal and determined are you.

—THE MAIL WILL TELL MONDAY.

Hurling defiance at the Capitalist system, Comrade C. S. Crawford sends in 2, and promises more soon.

The following boosters come under the wire with one or more to their credit: E. A. Comer, Ike M. Robinson, C. E. Garner, J. D. Hartzell, C. E. Warren, T. H. Blackburn, E. L. Fries, A. L. Saunders, J. GET READY FOR A DAILY

Now is the Time to Get Ready for a Daily.

The Socialist has been in existence over one year. From the first it has had to fight and fight hard to hold its own. This paper was born of necessity; started with practically no capital and, of course, had to meet all obstacles that usually confront a Socialist paper.

Today, with a rising subscription list and a fair amount of advertising, "The Socialist" comes nearer to paying its expenses than ever before. As the class war grows ever fiercer and fiercer it becomes necessary to put this paper not only on a solid financial foundation for the present but to be prepared when our present contract expires in January, 1913, to be able to own a printing plant of our own.

Many friends and readers of this paper have urged that we make a campaign to sell the balance of our capital stock and that all money so secured be placed in a separate fund for the purpose of securing our own plant. We have on hand yet to be sold 850 shares of stock. Each share is worth $10.00, payable $1.00 down and $1.00 per month.

With this stock subscribed for at once you can readily see that at the end of this year we wil lhave a fund of $8,500.00 with which to equip our own plant.

Remember, there are only 850 shares yet to sell and if you want to see this paper made the greatest fighting machine in this country in the interest of the working class you should subscribe at once for at least one share.

When you come to think of it, $8,500.00 is not much. And yet, how much it means to "The Socialist." The only difficult part of raising the amount is in getting you to make up your mind to start.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND. Resolve to be one of the first to give this effort a good start. Give others a good example to follow. Take as many shares as you wish or can, but get behind the proposition by sending in this application at once.

I AM LABOR!

By Walter D. Hilton.

I am Labor! And I raise my head
After ages of subjection; now I rise
Alive among the living. Mouldy dead
Are superstitions and all other ancient lies.

I am Labor! And my opened eyes
See that which was for centuries hid from me.
I look, and lo! the fearsome size
Of things I feared down dwindles, weak and wee.

I am Labor! And I raise my song;
And as I shout, kings hide behind the queens I gowned!
And then, reverberating, long,
The echoes roll and roll and wrap the earth in sound.

I am Labor! And I raise my hand,
The while my muscles play in new found might—
And in the majesty of power make demand:
"THE WORLD—THE WORLD—WITH ALL ITS LIFE AND LIGHT!"

Chainmaker Helpers on Strike.

The Chainmaker Helpers of Columbus are on strike for better wages. Union men and others take notice.

SHOULD PAY THEIR SHARE.

Prominent English Newspaper, in Referring to Big Strike, Endorses the Positions of Unions.

Reynolds' Newspaper, one of the most substantial and accurate publications in England, has this to say anent the labor situations of that country:

"The new year has opened with a general unrest in the labor world, and the issues at stake are of national importance. Apart from a number of minor trade troubles there is the great lockout in the cotton trade. This involves the question of non-union labor. It seems outrageous that workers who do not share the cost of self-protection should have the impudence to work side by side with those who tax themselves to maintain a living wage, control the hours of work and abolish sweating. Yet we find this state of things not only in the cotton industry, but also amongst miners and in other trades. Non-unionists gain all the advantages won by organized workers, yet it does not cost them a single penny. The trade unionist has, however, come to the conclusion that this is an impossible state of affairs. It must be stopped and the present struggle will clear the air."

CLOTHING WORKERS ARE URGED TO UNITE.

John B. Lennon, treasurer of the A. F. of L. and well-known member of the Journeymen Tailors' Union, is out with a plea for all branches of workers in the clothing industry to uniting the Garment Workers, Ladies' Tailors and other orgahizations under the Journeymen Tailors' Union.

Lennon does not go into details. At this time he only suggests there be one center, and the various departments have two members to constitute a general executive board. He asks that the fundamental theory of unity between the organizations be first agreed upon, and that if this is once settled, discussion and experience can adjust such questions as dues, benefits, conduct of strikes, lockouts, conventions, representation and other matters of greater or less importance.

OVERPRODUCTION?

The present winter has demonstrated more than ever before, the utter inefficiency of the capitalistic system of production and distribution, based on earnings and profit, to supply the people with the proper food, clothing and shelter.

In the large industrial centers, manufacturing establishments are either working half-time or closed entirely, cause—lack of orders. Merchants with their shelfs loaded to the ceiling, waiting for prospective customers that do not come, complaining bitterly, cause—lack of business.

In the agriculture districts Mother Nature produced abundantly, causing the farmer to look forward for a prosperous year, with abundant crops turned into cash luscious fruit decaying on the trees, potatoes rotting in the soil, causing the farmer anxious moments and sleepless nights, wondering why, cause—lack of demand.

Thousands of the working-class on the verge of starvation, walking the streets. Seeking jobs where their are no jobs—cause over-production of necessities.

What a travestry, what a mockery, what a shame, what a dammnable lie, over-production, lack of business, lack of demand, lack of work, must be to the intelligent workingman in need of all the necessities.

In his fruitless search for employmentment, the worker passes the store houses of wealth with his heart's desire that his mucle produced; the things that he must have to live, but dare not take, without a return of labor for same. Willing, more than willing to return labor compensation for these necessities, if opportunity were offered, so he and his kind need not become pitable objects of public and private charity, he is still denied.

Lack of business, when his purchasing powee, wages, will only permit him to buy the cheapest clothes, probably one suit a year.

Lack of demand, when his little children rarely, very rarely, know the taste of fruits, rottening in the farmer's orchard, at the command of the distributor, fearing a glut in the market that might effect his profits.

Over-production, when the worker and his family are in crying need of shoes, to protect their feet against the rigors of the winter, while shoe factories are working half-time.

A deaf, dumb and blind man with an ounce of brains can preceive that civilization, to move into grander and greater accomplishments; a radical change must take place in the factory and workshop. The profit system must be destroyed and in its stead a system of production and distribution builded, that will supply the workers needs for use and not profit.

The fruits decaying in the orchards must be garnered in the years of plenty in the interest of all that desire fruit. The potatoes allowed to rotten in the soil, to keep the market price up, must be gathered and used to develop the blood and sinew of the nation. The ceasing of the turn of one factory wheel as long as all the needs of the people have not been supplied shall be a crime.

How long will the worker persist in suffering and fail to take advantage through industrial organization and political action, the historic mission of his class the abolition of wage slavery and substituting Industrial Freedom. The time is ripe and rotten ripe for change. It must come.

THE MASTER'S OPEN SHOP IS THE WORKMAN'S OPEN GRAVE

The capitalists who control the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company, who are at the present time fighting organized labor, know precisely what they believe and why they believe it. They have the full courage of their convictions.

They stand for the relation of masters and slave, with no obligation on the part of the master to provide work, food or shelter for the workman in his day of health or refuge for him in his days of weakness and old age. They say:

"We stand for the open shop—for the right of every citizen to employ whom he pleases, when and where he pleases, if he is an employer. To work when, where and for whom he pleases if he is an employe.

"We stand for the right of the employer to pay whatever he pleases to whomever he pleases. LABOR IS A COMMODITY. Like all other commodities, its value to the consumer is based on supply and demand.

"If the laborer is not satisfied with the wages we pay here in Milwaukee, let him go where wages are higher. If he has no money to go on, that is his own fault or misfortune. If he is able to save nothing for sickness or old age, that also is purely a personal matter with which we have nothing to do."

There we see the doctrine of the open shop in all its naked horror.

Men may work if they can get work. They may take whatever employers please to give them. If they cannot get WORK or if they cannot live on what their employers please to give them, then they can starve.

These arrogant capitalists, who control the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company, stand upon their so-called right of "FREEDOM OF CONTRACT." This freedom for the organized capitalists means to work men such hours and pay them such wages as the men in the fierce competition for jobs and bread may be compelled to acept. It is freedom to maim, to break legs, to tear out arms, to murder with wornout machinery, without the company assuming any liability for industrial accidents.

This individual freedom of contract under modern conditions is a myth, kept alive by higher economists and courts befuddled with ancient precedents and technicalities. But the owners of the Milwaukee street railway find it a profitable myth, a dividend-paying doctrine, and its profits are paid in the coinage of blood and tears.

CAN YOU NOT SEE WHAT MEN ARE FIGHTING FOR WHEN THEY FIGHT FOR THE UNION SHOP?

They are fighting for the lives and happiness of their women and children. They are fighting for the right to live a decent existence.

To this end they strive to make it possible for the employer to pay "whatever he pleases" to "whomever he pleases." They insist he shall pay union wages to union men.

The employer says he cannot afford to pay what the union demands. The union says it cannot stand to take what the employer pleases to give, on the theory that labor is a commodity governed by supply and demand.

Of course all of the captains of industry, who now control our public ultilities, are leather-lunged upholders of property. They wail, "The union don't respect property." But let us see if the traction owners are respecters of labor's property. WHENEVER THEY ARBITRARILY THROW MEN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT THEY CONFISCATE LABOR'S PROPERTY. LABOR HAS NOTHING TO SELL OR TO EARN FOR IT A LIVING EXCEPT ITS LABOR POWER. And hence, when the traction company "fires" men for the "good of the service" and takes away from labor its jobs and its life, THEY CONFISCATE LABOR'S PROPERTY. The tragedy of it all is that labor has no court wherein it can secure an injunction preventing the well-fed owners of the traction company form discharging them.

The men who are now fighting the organization of the street car men's union are blind with greed. They don't see the essential difference between labor and the thing labor creates. They fail to see the vital differecnce between street cars and men and women. They measure their values by the same standard—gold.—Milwaukee Leader.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

To the Central Labor Unions and Labor Journals of Ohio:

About one hundred and fifty proposals have been introduced as amendments to the constitution, and it looks very much as if it will reach four hundred before the close of the session. Those introduced by the Labor members are as follows:

Mr. Cordes of Hamilton, No. 24.—Requiring the General Assembly to enact laws providing compensation for injuries, death and occupational disease from a State Compensation fund.

Mr. Davio of Cuyahoga: A. Empowering the State, counties, municipalities etc., to engage in any enterprise, business or occupation.

B. Prohibiting the importation of strike-breakers into the State.

C. Prohibiting the granting of police powers to employers of officers of private concerns.

Mr. Farrell, No. 63—Requiring Supreme Court decisions on unconstitutionality of laws to be unanimous.

Mr. Farrell, No. 122—Empowering the Legislature to make laws regulating the employment of women, children and persons engaged in hazardous employment.

Mr. Farrell, Uo. 123—Providing an eight-hour work day on public works.

Mr. Halenkamp. No. 134—Limiting injunctions in industrial disputes and providing for trial by jury in contempt cases.

Mr. Moore—Providing for the short ballot and the recall.

Mr. Road, No. 90—Providing for the Initiative and Referendum. Proposals for this have also been submitted by Mr. Crosser of Cuyahoga; Mr. Ulmer, of Lucas and Mr. Aby.

Mr. Thomas, No. 3—Socialist Bill of Rights.

Mr. Thomas, No. 34—Industrial regulations providing maximum workday and a day and a half rest each week for all workers; weekly pay days, establishing employers' liability, and the right to compensate from a State Insurance Fund all those injured or killed, also all who are affected or die from occupational diseases; also providing for old age, sickness and invalidity from a State Insurance Fund.

Mr. Thomas, No. 35—Woman Suffrage.

Mr. Thomas, No. 134—Compulsory education with free school books, free meals, clothing and all the things necessary to educate the child.

In addition to the above, Mr. Nye has introduced Proposal No. 6, providing for workmans' compulsory compensation.

Mr. Pettit, No. 118—Regarding the merit system of appointment for public office.

Mr. Miller, of Fairfield, No. 131—Relative to strikes, riots and great industrial disturbances.

N. B.—Unions should write letters to S. S. Stillwell, Chairman of the Committee on Labor, protesting against the adoption of No. 131.

Mr. Anderson, No. 138—Providing for Home Rule for Cities.

In connection with this subject; the Ohio Municipal League, composed of delegates from all the cities and towns in the state, have been in session here this week. Mayors Hunt, of Cincinnati; Whitlock, of Toledo, and Baker, of Cleveland; addressed the Convention Thursday, and it is expected this League will have a definite proposal to submit to the Convention next week as their plan of Home Rule of Cities.

Judge Dwyer of Dayton introduced Proposal No. 71, providing for a Labor Board of five members, with power to regulate all conditions of employment, settle industrial disputes and fix a minimum wage.

Mr. Pierce, No. 68—Provides for capital punishment.

Mr. Ulmer, No. 11—Provides for Recall of public officers, including judges.

There are numerous other proposals submitted of interest to labor, but this will suffice for this week.

The Ohio Progressive Constitution League is arranging to form organizations in all Ohio cities and towns, which all citizens are asked to join for the purpose of meeting weekly and discussing for themselves the problems and proposals that come before the Convention to the end that delegates representing their counties in the Convention may be instructed as how to vote on the different measures.

Labor Unions should either join these Leagues and take up a general discussion of these subjects with other citizens, or take up at their Central Labor Union meetings discussion of some of these Proposals, that they may be thoroughly acquainted with the subjects by the time they are submitted for referendum vote.

The labor group are arranging, following the adoption by the Convention on Wednesday of a resolution to publish the proceedings in full, to send tto the various central bodies and labor papers a complete report of the proceedings from day to day, and there is no better subject the unions can take up during the time the Convention is in session than a discussion of the Proposals submitted, and do as they have been doing in past years, keep up a continuous correspondence with the delegates from their various counties, acquainting the delegates with labor's sentiments on these subjects.

NEW ANTI-SOCIALIST PAPER.

The American Anti-Socialist is the latest publication with the modest purpose of wiping the Socialist movement out of existence. It is edited, published and managed by one John Basil Barnhill, an office-holder in the United States Capitol at Washington.

Barnhill is rather a lean one. He is employed as what is known as the "folding room" of the House. His job consists of addressing and wrapping franked speeches, delivered and undelivered by members of the House.

It has been the irony of fate that Barnhill's principal work should have been to assist in mailing, and wrapping the million copies of the speech on tariff by Congressman Ber-

Barnhill enjoys his heroic job of slapping the Socialist party on the wrist. He will debate against Socialism when anybody who is willing to listen to a lot of quotations and clippings of the sayings on Socialism by "unquestioned authorities." The Anti-Socialist will no doubt furnish some work to the printing trade.

WHY WE HONESTLY FEAR SOCIALISM

By Charlotte Perkins Gilman

A peaceable elderly Englishman of a bald and scholarly aspect, inquired, following a lecture on Socialism, "Will the speaker state in one sentence what Socialism is?" He wore an air of mild gentlemanly triumph: apparently imagining that he had demanded the impossible.

But the speaker, seeming unconscious of any difficulty replied, "Certainly, Socialism is the public ownership of all natural monopolies and the means of production."

This simple definition is advanced to start with, that we may know what we are talking about. This is the essence of Socialism—public ownership of public things; the real point at issue being, "What things are public?"

The vast majority of us do not yet understand this easy and clear definition; and no wonder; for the Socialists themselves are for the most part so lost in grief over the sufferings of the poor and in rage over the misbehavior of the rich, that they find it hard to speak gently. Most of us having but vague ideas of Socialism, fear it on several grounds, some of them easily removable as mere mistakes; other requiring careful treatment.

The mistakes are these:

Error 1. "Socialism will abolish private property."

Answer. Quite wrong. It will do no no such thing. You are thinking of Communism. The early Communists like the early Christians, held all things in common, but Socialism urges no such doctrine. It does however, restrict our definition of what is private property; just as was done when human slavery was abolished.

Slavery was once universal, and still exists in many countries. It was held legal and honest to personally own human beings—they were property. In our great civil contest of half a century since, the north, from a southern point of view—confiscated property when the slaves were freed. But from the northen point of view the slave was not property at all. This is a very vivid instance of change of opinion on property rights. Such rights" are wholly of our own making; and change from age to age.

Error 2. Socialism would reduce us all to a dead level.

Answer. Quite wrong. Eating at the same table in the same family does not reduce brothers and sisters to the same level; some remain far smarter and stronger than others. By a wiser system of education we may greatly increase the difference in people—Socialism would not hinder it. A higher average level of income—which is what Socialism ensures, will give people a chance to differ more than they do now. Your machine-like educational system, long hours of labor, specilized monotony of mill work, and "the iron law of wages" do tend to reduce us to a dead level. Socialism does not.

Error 3. Socialists are atheist.

Answer. How anyone can say this when they know of the immense organization of Christian Socialists is amazing; but then it is always amazingto see how queerly people think. Some Socialists are atheists. So are some monarchists and some republicans. A Socialist may be an atheist, or a homeopathist, or a Holy Roller—it has nothing to do with Socialism.

Error 4. Socialists are immoral.

Answer. Again—some are; but so are some other people. The immorality of which we hear most in the papers is by no means that of Socialists; but of most prominent capitalists.

Error 5. Socialism is unnatural—you must alter "human nature" before it would be possible.

Answer. This is a very common position, based like most of the foregoing on lack of understanding. It assumes that Socialism requires a state of sublime unselfishness and mutual deference, in which all men are willing to work for nothing. But why assume this? It is no product of Socialism. Our socialistic public parks and libraries do not presuppose that people will be angels. They may tend to make them such, but the progress is not rapid enough to alarm us. In regard to this particular error we should learn that Socialism is not a totally new and different scheme of things; but a gradual and legitimate extention of previous tendencies. Human nature is socialistic—and is progressively extending socialism.

Error 7. Socialism will destroy competition. Competition, most of us believe, "is the life of trade," in other words, we are supposed to work, not merely to get something for ourselves, but to get ahead of other people.

Answer. Admitting that we do; admitting that such an incentive is useful; the simple answer is that Socialism would not destroy competition.

Even in financial reward some would still be paid more than others; and far beyond this lies the larger competition for fame and glory and public esteem, which has always moved men more strongly than the love of money. This remains always open.

UNPARALELLED PROSPERITY FOR COAL MINES.

By Geo. W. Spangle.

The full dinner pail and the promised unparalelled prosperity, are myths in the mining industry.

There is on one on God's green footstool needs Socialism worse than the miners.

The miner must toil, toil, toil, day after day, in dark, musty, dirty and dusty holes in the bowels of the earth, for a mere pittance, compared with the danger he runs and the product he produces.

The miners in Central Pennsylvania are barely getting enough in wages to keep their bodies together, and this means that those dependent upon them are suffering untold agony from hunger, shabby clothes and cold houses. And the children! It is a blot, an arraignment of our so-called civilization, to see the children of the miners in cheap, shoddy clothes, and scantily clothed at that, poorly fed, wading the snow to the little school house.

I have investigated the conditions and average wage received by the miners at Eriton mine, of the Erie Railroad Company, near DuBois, a union mine and a good chronicle of the average mine in Central Pennsylvania.

Here are the facts in figures:

Miners loading coal after machines in rooms receive 35.46 cents per ton, in headings 37.46 cents. This is the district union price. The average miner working in the Eriton mine does not load 50 tons per two weeks.

At this figure the average miner does not receive $9.00 per week.

Nine dollars per week, and here is what is deducted from the nine before the miner receives his pay:

A number of the men live in DuBois and pay 20 cents per day for car fare to and from the mine. Others live in the township and pay 10 cents per day car fare.

Powder, $1.00 per week; oil, 20 cents per week; union check-off, 35 cents per week; blacksmithing, 5 cents per wek; doctor for married men, 25 cents per week; doctor for single men, 12½ cents per week. A total of $1.85 deducted from the wages of a miner with a family, who is making at the most $1.50 per day. If the miner deals at the company store he will pay the highest rate for his necessities, and among our miner acquaintances are those who never draw any cash. They are in debt at the company store.

The mine workers must receive more of the fruits of their toil. They are ready for Socialism, but are being misled by the upholder of the present nefarious system.

The coal barons are determined that the miners shall not receive any increase in wages or better working conditions. The miners are determined that they must have more wages and better conditions. If a strike is called it will be a bitter struggle.

Awake, worker, awake. Join the Socialist Party and conduct the mines on the co-operative basis, that all men who toil may receive the full social value of their labor.

STATE LIABILITY LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

The Ohio supreme court has declared that the workmen's compensation act, passed by the last legislature, is sound law. The act is copied from Germany, in that workers are to contribute toward the fund. Their share is 10 per cent, while the employers' is 90 per cent. The law applies to every employer of five or more persons. Many employers favored the bill, as the public hearings showed that if some plan could be worked out whereby court costs and attorneys' fees were eliminated, and direct benefits awarded, results would be more satisfactory. The suit was in the nature of a test case, as no one wanted to contribute toward the fund until the legality of the act was settled.

THE VALUE OF UNIONISM.

By Robert Hunter.

Let him who questions the value of unionism pause to consider for a moment just one thing that unionism has accomplished.

It is well known that in the early days of the present factory system the day's work extended usually to fourteen or sixteen hours.

This long day existed for all workers, the skilled and the unskilled, the children as well as the men and women.

The workers had not yet learned to organize and as individuals they were utterly helpless to effect a change in the hours of their labor or in the scale of their wages.

There were, of course, no laws to protect them and so they lived entirely at the mercy of their employers.

The normal conditions that existed little more than half a century ago in England and elsewhere throughout the world of the factory system are equaled today only in certain plague spots.

When one reads the stories of the misery and oppression, the long hours and low wages of those days one wonders how the workers managed to live at all.

How much the conditions of the workers generally has been improved it is by no means easy to say, but we doknow that the conditions of the workers has vastly improved wherever they have learned to value unity.

In those trades where the men have known enough to fight for their rights and to stand together there has arisen what some scoffers like to call an "aristocracy of labor."

And if in certain trades there are indeed aristocrats of labor it is simply because they have had intelligence enough to fight together, to pay dues to one organization and to battle always with unity and solidarity.

And what they have done all other workers can do.

The "aristocrats" hold no patent on their method of action, and by acting in the same manner all other toilers can win all the "aristocrats" have won.

Now, it is difficult to ascertain just how much union workers have benefited by higher wages.

In that matter there is always the question as to the increased cost of living, which make difficult any comparison of wages here and abroad or of wages now with those of forty years ago.

The best one can do is to compare wages and hours today in one trade that is unorganized.

This has been well done by the department of labor at Washington and the figures gathered by that department show beyond dispute the enormous benefits that have come to labor as a result of organization.

Consider for one moment the following facts:

We all know that the workers in the iron and steel trade are poorly organized, and we find that the hours of labor in this trade are from sixty to seventy-two per week.

The hot blast men in all parts of the country work about eighty-four hours per week.

On the other hand, we all know that the stone and granite cutters are well organized.

When we look up the figures of their hours we find that they work about forty-eight hours per week.

The bricklayers, the carpenters, the hodcarriers, the painters, the paper hangers, and the plumbers are highly organized trades and when we inquire into the hours worked by these men we find that they rarely average more than fifty hours per week.

These workers, then, are the aristocrats of labor simply because they are well united in their trade, are loyal to their organization, pay their dues and fight a common battle.

It would be difficult to find an argument in support of unionism as potent as this one.

To find one set of workers like the stone cutters working forty-eight hours per week and another set of workers in the iron and steel trade working eighty hours per week should alone be enough to convince every toiler in this wide land of the value of unionism.

But this is not all. The hot blast men who work an average of eighty-four hours per week obtain only about sixteen cents per hour for their labor.

The stone cutters who work on an average of forty-eight hours per week receive an average of forty cents per hour.

In other words, the stone cutters working about half the time of the hot blast men receive at the end of the week much larger wages.

To look at it in another way, a hot blast man during his life sells to his boss an amount of labor about equal to that sold by two stone cutters during their life.

THE HOT BLAST WORKER GIVES IN ONE LIFE WHAT ONE STONE CUTTER WOULD NEED TWO LIVES TO GIVE AND HE GIVES THE LABOR OF TWO LIVES FOR LESS MONEY THAN A STONE CUTTER RECEIVES FOR THE LABOR OF HIS ONE LIFE.

Think of this and then consider how tragic it is that one must actually persuade workingmen to believe in industrial unity.

It is almost impossible to believe that any class of the workers should be blind to the value of unionism or loth to suffer almost anything to achieve it.

And what astounding evidence of working class stupidity it would be if the workers of this country should without a fight allow their unions to be crushed and their right of organization taken away by the capitalist legislature and courts.

The value of unity is so clear, the gains for those who have united are so evident and the necessity of organization for all workers is so great that it would seem that men, if they have inteligence to fight for anything they would surely fight for this.

STRIKES ARE NEVER LOST.

"The shorter work-day, generally speaking, is justified by humane considerations, and is in harmony with the principles of modern political economy."

The above was one of the statements made by R. W. Irwin, a prominent Grand Rapids furniture manufacturer, before the recent convention of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers.

At the close of Mr. Irwin's address a resolution was passed declaring that a nine-hour day should be adopted by the furniture industry, and that a committee of 14 be created to report next June on the best plan to secure the co-operation of interested employers.

The action of furniture employers is interesting, in view of the strike, last summer, in Grand Rapids, at which time the public was informed the labor unions were routed in their demands for a shorter workday and that the $250,000 spent by the organized movement at that time was a criminal waste of money.

Now we find that the bosses are conceding the very thing demanded, which again proves that no strike is ever lost—Toledo Leader.

THE OHIO MINE WORKERS' DEMANDS

First—A national settlement in all districts where contracts expire March 31, 1912, or a general suspension in all districts.

Second—A run of mine system and all coal to be weighed and paid for on that basis.

Third—A general substantial advance in pick and machine mining.

Fourth—A flat differential of 7 cents per ton between pick and machine mining.

Fifth—A uniform inside day wage scale with a proportionate advance with mining rates.

Sixth—A uniform wage scale for all classes of outside labor with a proportional advance with the mining rates.

Seventh—A seven-hour work-day with a half holiday on Saturday.

Eighth—A proportionate advance for all dead work, narrow work and yardage.

Adopted by the Twenty-Third Annual Convention of District 6 at Columbus, O., Jan. 9-13, 1912.

JNO. M. COLBORN,
Member of Scale Committee.

The National Socialist, of Washington, D. C., the first issue of which will be published on January 27, will contain greetings by Eugene V. Debs, Lucien Sanial, Victor L. Berger, Kate Richards O'Hare, John Spargo and Robert Hunter; articles by Dr. Helen L. Sumner, the writer on labor subjects, W. J. Ghent and others.

The National Socialist, as already announced, is a "weekly newspaper of facts and constructive propaganda," and is owned and published by an association of Washington Socialists. Its aim, as exemplified by the contents of the first issue, is to provide Socialists throughout the country with ammunition for use in the daily campaign which they are waging against capitalism.

Among the articles appearing this week is one on the Congressional investigation of the "Taylor system," another on "the struggles of women to organize," another on "phossy jaw" and numerous short articles beside the seven regular departments.

The subscription price is 50 cents a year, 25 cents for six months, and the address is 423 G street N. W., Washington, D. C.

"PATERNALISM"—A BEGGAR'S PHILOSOPHY.

It usually requires considerable self-restraint on the part of Socialists to avoid expressing contempt, and at times, irritation regarding the utterances of anti-Socialist critics, and as we are not remarkable for a rigid observance of the conventional proprieties these expressions are frequently given vent to openly.

And, perhaps, the most contemptible and irritating of all these comments is the hackneyed observation that Socialists desire to establish a "paternalistic" government, and that such government has always failed.

It may be noted here that this particular specification, nine times out of ten, comes from spineless, fawning creatures, who themselves are often selected for their ability to wheedle and cajole donations and largesse from the big plutocrats who own the government. These intellectual beggars, lying Lazarus at the rich man's gate, displaying their sores and expectantly waiting for the crumbs, are the very fellows who use this charge most frequently in the indictment against Socialism. The cynical plutocrat who uses the government as a tool, and who is under no illusions as to its "paternal" character with respect to him, rarely brings this charge. Whatever else may be said of him, he isn't a beggar and hasn't the mind of a mendicant, so he leaves it usually to the intellectual beggars who are dependent upon his "charity."

That President Schurman, of Cornell University, should have dwelt upon this charge of "paternalism," in his recent address to the students of that institution, need occasion no surprise therefore. It is exactly what might have been expected. Capitalism has to a large extent transformed the function of the modern university president from a scholar to that of an expert beggar, and these people are usually chosen with an eye to their qualifications as successful mendicants.

And as every man's "public" is in his mind a reflex of himself, and their habits of mind measured by his own, it is not strange that Schurman, lying at the gate of the rich man's house—the government—sees the Socialist approach with the evident intention of entering the premises, and naturally cannot conceive that he has any object there except to solicit crumbs. And if the Socialist is successful in his solicitation, there may not be crumbs enough to go around, and Lazarus Schruman and his like may be deprived of part of their expected ration. Hence, the Socialist who would impair the proprietary rights of Lazarus as a beggar at the gate is looked upon as an undesirable competitor who, by increasing the demand for crumbs, is certain to diminish the supply. There is not enough to go around, and Schurman's further declaration that poverty exists because enough cannot produced, fits admirably into his philosophy of beggary.

This mental picture of the Socialists entering the premises of the government not to take possession but to solicit the government to be "good to them," to become "their father and their mother and their only Aunt Jemima," is naturally enough the concept that the mind of a professional beggar might be expected to evolve.

At present the government is merely the tool through the possession of which one class is enabled to maintain its exploitations of another. The capitalists use it as such, and never dream of the tool they use, standing in a paternal relation to them. The idea that the Tafts, Knoxs, Rooseveltz, Wickershams, et al., throw crumbs to them is one they have never entertained. They are masters of the house, and the Presidents, Attorney Generals, Supreme Courts, Senators and Congressmen are no more than the house menials who serve the master and do his bidding. And their reward is the same as that of Lazarus—the crumbs from the table. That they could on their own initiative apportion the dinner reserved for the capitalists among themselves, the Socialist beggars and Lazarus, outside the gate, just as they please, is an impertinence of which they are too well trained to be guilty. The capitalist master knows it, too.

No, there is not going to be any "paternalistic" government set up by the Socialists any more than the capitalists have established one that they rely on as beggars to be good to them.

We shall use the government as our instrument just as they do. They do not permit their servants to control them, and neither will we. The possession of the government has not rendered the capitalists subservient and cringing in their attitude, but rather aggressive and confident in their mastership. And we shall take exactly the same mental attitude towards it as the capitalist does when we have supplanted him in its possession. And when such possession is taken with the definite object of securing the full social value of the collective product to the producers, those taking possession being the producers themselves, there is no room for "paternalism" to function. And as for the incentive to produce which Schurman doubts will exists under Socialism, that will be identically what it is now—the possession of the product. It is now sufficient to supply incentive enough for the capitalist who takes it, and it will be sufficient for us also

Of course, President Schurman also declared that the workers were now getting the full product of their labor, and without taking the trouble to refute it, we may also recognize that the statement proceeds logically enough from his philosophy of beggary. The beggar always gets the "full value of his product" without regard to his ability.

After years and years of militant struggle, fighting resolutely and relentlessly for the overthrow of the capitalist system of industry against opposition of every kind, continually announcing in no uncertain tones the revolutionary purpose that inspires us, declaring the existence of a world-wide class struggle, and uncompromisingly, taking part in it always and everywhere, when we have grown to count our numbers by tens of millions, when on all hands the capitalists of the world view our pregress, with fear, alarm and hatred, the intellectual Lazarus lying at the rich man's gate can see nothing in us except a multiplied reflection of himself, a host of beggars trying to induce a fetich called government to "be good to them," an army of mendicants whining for an equal division of crumbs! If we did not understand the groveling philosophy that interprets the working of all social forces in terms of beggary and comprehend the reason for its existence, it is possible that our irritation against it might be much greater than it now is.

But when we Socialists take possession of the house our work will not stop with clearing out the capitalist owners and their politicians. The approaches and grounds will be set in order also, and we shall pay particular attention to Lazarus at the gate, to close up the business he has so long conducted at the old stand. His sores may be disgusting, but still more disgusting is the constant whining repetition of his beggar's philosophy as the measure of a movement, one of the principal results of which will be to hake beggars and beggary forever impossible.

MISSION OF THE AGITATOR.

Misery and poverty are so absolutely degrading, and exercise such a paralyzing effect over the nature of men, that no class is ever really conscious of its own suffering. They have to be told of it by other people, and they often entirely disbelieve them. What is said by great employers of labor against agitators is unquestionably true. Agitators are a set of interfering, meddling people, who come down to some perfectly contented class of the community, and sow the seeds of discontent among them. That is the reason why agitators are so absolutely necessary. Without them, in our incomplete state, there would be no advance towards civilization. Slavery was put down in America, not in consequence of any action on the part of the slaves, or even any express desire on their part that they should be free. It was put down entirely through the grossly illegal conduct of certain agitators in Boston and elsewhere, who were not slaves themselves, nor owners of slaves, nor had anything to do with the question really. It was, undoubtedly, the Abolitionists who set the torch alight, who began the whole thing. And it is curious to note that from the slaves themselves they received, not merely very little assistance, but hardly any sympathy even; and when at the close of the war the slaves found themselves free, found themselves indeed so absolutely free that they were free to starve, many of them bitterly regretted the new state of things. To the thinker, the most tragic fact in the whole of the French Revolution is not that Marie Antoinette was killed for being a queen, but that the starved peasant of the Vendee voluntarily went out to die for the hideous cause of feudalism.—Oscar Wilde.

How hard it is for the average working man who is steadily employed to get along, especially when expenses are so high in these bitter days of winter. And harder still must it be for those who are unemployed and have whither not to lay their heads. Surely this is an indictment on the glorious system that the well-fed bellow so loudly about. Mr. Worker, why don't you think?

The epidemic of democracy that is sweeping across the country may reach us yet. Since China has become a republic there seems to be hope for the United States. We may yet have a democracy instead of a plutocracy.

THE SEAL

Wherever the bitter fight is,
For life gainst human greed;
Where the workers rally ere hope is gone
That nerves for the valiant deed;

When the price is paid in silent pain,
In want and in nameless dread,
And the victory near, then the scabs sneak in
Like ghouls that rob the dead.

They pluck from a vine they did not prune;
They reap where they have not sown,
With a canting look and a craven heart,
And a soul that is not their own.

In a darker age when the world was young,
This jackal human crew,
Skulked in the rear while the fight was on,
And preyed on the valiant few.
They snatched the bone from a woman's hand,
And snarled at a hungered child,
'Till the heroes perished from out the land,
And earth's gardens became a wild.

And ever and ever, where human greed
Holds the human race in thrall,
The fight will be fought by the nobler few,
And the victory shared by all.

Then falter not 'till the is won;
There is only your fears to dread;
Though cowards skulk and scabs sneak in
Like ghoulds that rob the dead.

Will those who wish us to be contented and happy give us bread when we are hungry? Guess not! They will tell us we are lazy. Nice sop to throw to a workingman who is honest in providing for his family. But slop is what the shirkers hand the workers.

The new census shows a rapid increase in insanity in the United States. An insane system is sure to make insane people.

WHY MUST THEY STARVE OR FREEZE

With our mountains stored with coal and the bowels of the earth bursting with oil and natural gas, with the cold storages filled with meat and the store houses full of food, bedding and warm clothing and shoes, people are freezing and starving for the lack of these commodities? Think of it. Right here in Charleston in the center of one of the greatest natural gas fields in the world, surrounded by one of the greatest coal producing fields in the nation, people are freezing because they can't get fuel. Then think again of our mountains of coal and the thousands of hungry miners who are anxious to rob mother nature of this wealth she has stored for the benefit of humanity, who are not allowed to work because a few coal barons have laid claim to these natural resources and claims them as private property. It is bad enough to go hungry when the weather is warm, but it is hell to starve and freeze at the same time, and it is more hell to be forced to starve and freeze in sight of plenty and worse yet when we know that that plenty is the product of the victims' sweat and toil. The poor who have toiled all the year through the heat and rain creating wealth for their masters, were given only enough of the product of their labor for a bare existence, and now that they are unable to work, must set idly by and watch their wives and babies suffer from cold and hunger because there is no work for the willing hands and when there is no work, there is no food or fuel for the starving, freezing family. Such are the injustices of the system. Such are the conditions the poor ignorant wage slaves vote upon themselves and families. When he sold his ballot for the glad hand and a drink of cheap whiskey, a few paltry dollars and a deceptive smile of a political prostitute and voted his master's ticket, he bartered away his right to enjoy the comfort and products of his own labor and brought upon his wife and children this unnecessary suffering. The only course left open to him now is to starve, freeze and die, or become the degraded recipient of charity. Look into the homes of the idle rich, with their well carpeted floors, and steam heated houses, surrounded by every comfort and luxury, then take a look into the workingman's home, there you find an over-worked mother and a lot of poorly clad, hungry children, hovering over a few smoldering embers to keep from freezing. What a contrast! Then to think that these same working men dug the coal or drilled the well that furnishes the fuel to heat the mansion of the rich. These same workers built the mansion though they live in a hovel, they wove the warm carpet, though their floors are cold and bare. How long will you suffer while another leads a life of wasteful luxury off of the products of your labor? Will the workers remember their sufferings election day or will the warm, balmy summer cause them to forget these terrible days of winter?—Charleston Labor Express.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

NOTICE TO THE LOCALS OF OHIO.

The Columbus Socialist requests each Socialist Local in Ohio to send to us as often as convenient brief reports of its work, prospects and other items of interest to the party. These reports will be published in our "Socialists in Action Department." Address all communication to Editor Socialist, 108½ South High street, Columbus, Ohio.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

"The Socialist" has grown to a size where it is now absolutely necessary that we get larger and more suitable quarters. Towards this end we have been working, and we have now secured a suite of rooms at 108½ South High street (southeast corner State and High).

We will have a reading room in connection with the business department, and all Comrades and friends, boosters or otherwise, are cordially requested to come in at any time.

The reading room will remain open evenings until 8:30 and we will also keep on hand all the best Socialist literature procurable.

Anyone having a book they wish to donate to the library can feel assured that we will welcome same.

We will remain in our present quarters the balance of this week and our removal will take place Monday, January 20th.

Don't forget the number, 108½ South High street (third floor).

SOCIALISTIC DEBATE.

On Thursday evening, Feb. 8, the Thirteenth Ward Branch will hold a debate; subject, "Resolved, that confiscation is the best means of acquiring possession of the national industries." Meeting called to order at 7:30 p. m. at 174 East Fifth avenue.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

All $12.50 and $15.00 suits and overcoats now only $8.75, at The Liberty, 196-200 East Main Street, between 4th and 5th Sts.

LINDEN HEIGHTS LOCAL.

The Linden Heights Socialist held a regular meeting Sunday, Jan. 21, at Comrade Fluhart's, home at which they elected and installed new officers. A number of articles in regard to the needs of the village were discussed. The Socialists at Linden are up and around—all right.

L. W. FORTUNE,
Secretary.

SOCIALIST MEMBER SCHOOL BOARD IS STILL LOYAL

Report That June Purcell Guild Repudiated Party is Denied.

The statement published in the local daily papers that Mrs. June Purcell Guild, Socialist member of the Board of Education, had repudiated the Socialist party, is vigorously denied by her law partner, H. Anna Juinby and other friends. The authority for the report was alleged to be President King, of the Board. President King states that he gave out no such report and that Mrs. June Purcell Guild never made any such statement to him. There seems to have been an effort made to discredit a worthy and loyal Socialist.

SOCIALIST ENTERTAINMENT OF DRAMATIC CLUB.

You are all invited to come and hear some of the talent you may have heard about. The admission is free, but the show will be worth far more than the price of admission to a dozen picture shows. Look over some of these specialties:

The Great and Only Suddick, Comedy Recitation.

Professor Alphonse Crook, Indian Clubs.

"Romeo" Tegenkemp, Dramatic Sketch.

Director Stewart, Poetical Reading.

These are the ones we can promise surely. We take especial pleasure in announcing our play director, Stewart, as he alone is well worth coming miles to see. There will be others, too; more particularly, the great comedy sketch, entitled, "A Visit to the Morgue," but negotiations have yet to be completed in this case. Remember, next Sunday night, Feb. 4, at 335 1-2 South High St., and you bring the girl.

THE BIVOUAC OF LABOR.

Editor the Socialist:

Comrade G. H. Shull struck a responsive chord in my mind in his "Plea for Co-operation," in your last issue, in which he suggests the idea, that the ten thousand Socialist voters contribute $1 each to finance a co-operative store.

In next week's issue of the Socialist, by permission of ye editor, I will have an article under the caption, "The Municipal Equity League," which will embody Comrade Shull's idea, and furthermore to embrace a plan to change our municipal commercial oligarchy into a municipal industrial democracy.

The feasibility of the plan will be discussed.

THE BASIS OF CIVILIZATION.

By George D. Herron.

No man ever ruled other men for their own good; no man was ever rightly the master of the minds or bodies of his brothers; no man ever ruled other men except for their undoing, and for his own brutalization. The possession of power over others is inherently destructive—both to the possessor of the power and to those over whom it is exercised. And the great man of the future, in distinction from the great man of the past, is he who will seek to create power in the peoples, and not gain power over them. The great man of the future is he who will refuse to be great at all, in the historic sense; he is the man who will literally lose himself, who will altogether diffuse himself, in the life of humanity. All that any man can do for a people, all that any man can do for another man, is to set the man or the people free. Our work, whensoever and wheresoever we would do good, is to open to men the gates of life—to lift up the heavenly doors of opportunity.

This applies to society as well as to the individual man. If the collective man will release the individual man and let him go, then the individual will at last give himself gloriously, in the fullness of his strength, unto the society that sets the gates and the highways of opportunity before him. Give men opportunity, and opportunity will give you men.

COMRADE BERGER TALKS ON TARIFF

Tells Congress Some Plain Facts About the Ancient Issue

(By National Socialist Press.)

WASHINGTON, JAN. 30.—"As far as the tariff question is concerned, the American working class is between the devil and the deep blue sea. Here is the Republican devil and there is the Democratic deep blue sea. And, gentlemen, the rock of rescue is Socialism, when every person will own his job and get the full value of the product of his or her labor."

The above pointed paragraph is from a short speech delivered by Victor L. Berger, the Socialist Congressman, during a stormy debate in the House over the steel tariff schedule. Berger was applauded by the Democrats whenever he made a remark derrogatory to the Republicans and vice versa. But there was no applause when he coupled both parties as being responsible for present economic conditions.

"Both big parties are playing politics on this great question of the employment of workers," declared Berger. A few members laughed. They thought Berger was just talking to get his speech into the record. But the Socialist Congressman soon showed them, if capitalistic Congressmen can be shown, that he was talking from his heart. "It is a very serious thing," he said. "All I can do is to watch, with a grim smile, how both sides of this Chamber play the game. Yet upon such important questions we should drop politics."

Declaring that the high protective tariff protects the manufacturers and not the laborers, Berger said:

"When I got to Milwaukee, some 30 years ago, I remember they paid the workmen in the rolling mills as high as $10 to $15 a day. Then the employers introduced new machinery and new processess, and now under the blessings of protection, the workmen get $1.75 a day for similar work. The Republican protection theory was only invented because the workmen have votes. So much for this side of the House.

"Now to my friends, the Democrats. (Laughter.) While I am absolutely against the high tariff, because it is simply a means of exploitation—it hits the poor man as a consumer, and the workingmen do not get any more than they can force by unions, strikes and boycotts—free trade would be worse. (Applause on the Republican side.)

"Of course, manufactured products would be cheaper. One could get a suit of clothes like the one I have for $10. But a Chinaman would make it, or a Japanese would make it, or a Hindoo would make it. Our people would be without work. We would be very much in the position of a gentleman from Texas who said he remembered the time when he could buy a county in Texas for a pair of boots. When asked why he did not buy the county, he replied that he did not have the boots. (Laughter and applause.) That would be the condition of the working class."

At this point Berger pointed out that the workingman of this country is between the devil and the deep blue sea and that Socialism is the only solution. Berger proceeded to show by official Government statistics that miserable wages are being paid to American workers despite the claims of high tariff. He also pointed out that our Government, has never furthered any legislation to protect State of Ohio, Franklin County, SS. workers in old age as the European Governments do.

Under capitalism, Berger told the House, industrial panics are inevitable. "There is no doubt in the world but that we are going to have a panic, because no matter how much or how little they produce they create more than they can buy back with their wages."

Asked by a Democrat whether his party was not all right as far as it goes, Berger replied:

"Well, they are just a little more right on this question (the tariff) than are the gentlemen over here. On the other hand, I can see the time when my neighbors (the Republicans) may be more nearly right than the other side. But only the Socialists are always right on the question of bread and butter for the working class."

Representative Buchanan, a Gompers Democrat, here unburdened himself of this question: "Does the gentleman argue in this House on his Socialistic policies?" Berger asked him to explain his question, but the Chairman's gavel cut off further debate. Berger's time had expired.

AFFIDAVIT FROM YOUNG MOTHER

She Tells in Plain Language the Story of Her Awful Ordeal

Affidavit:

Ada Green, being first duly sworn, says she is the wife of Chester A. Green; that she was married to her said husband Dec. 24th, 1908; that on Tuesday night, January 23rd, 1912 on returning home from a visit to her mother, she was taken sick suddenly and unexpectedly and gave birth to a premature child within two minutes after stepping off the car at Garfield and Leonard avenues; as affiant stepped from the car some young man, seeing her in distress asked if there was anything he could do for her and after being told she was very sick, went after Drs. Griffin and Snyder and then called her sister, Mrs. Peters on Arsenal avenue; then some man wanted to carry her into a nearby house and some woman said, "No if you touch her she will die," and another woman said "Don't touch her or you will kill her;" affiant asked the woman for a quilt or something to put over her and the women with one accord said, "We haven't got a thing, we haven't got a thing;" then the some young man offered his overcoat, but affiant declined his offer because it was a light colored and costly overcoat and she could not bear to see it ruined; at this time the police patrol arrived and took her home and by their kindness and courtesies rendered affiant more assistance and encouragement than all the women who saw her distress, even preparing the bed for her when at home, wrapping her in their overcoats and handling her as tenderly as a doctor would.

ANOTHER WORKER LOSES JOB BECAUSE HE IS A SOCIALIST

Comrade Van Schoyck Fired from Foremanship at Workhouse. Superintendent McDonald's Son Gives Reason.

Since the election last November hundreds of workingmen and other employes of corporations in Columbus have been discharged for no other reason than because they are Socialists more or less active in the work of the party. Very few of them have dared to give the fact any publicity because they needed work and would be "blacklisted" if they advertised their misfortune. Socialists know of most of these cases and this action of employers only shows how desperate the Master Class has become in its fight against class-conscious toilers. One of the latest examples, however, has a decided political tinge and indicates that the administration of Mayor Karb is in league with the scab Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Manufacturers' Association in their assaults upon the working class in general and Socialists in particular. Comrade Van Schoyck, whose affidavit follows, was employed as foreman at the Work House by a prison contract concern which pays the city thirty cents per day for the labor of each prisoner in the Columbus Work House. He is a workingman obliged to sell his labor power to those who desire to buy it. An article, exposing the labor of "Reedy" McDonald, Karb's newly appointed superintendent at the Work House, which appeared in The Socialist, has made the city administration angry and its spite has been vented upon Van Schoyck. There is no limit to which the political gangsters will not go. Comrade Van Schoyck happens to be able to live a month or two without work and therefore defies the gang. Read his sworn statement:

AFFIDAVIT.

State of Ohio, Franklin County, ss.

"Ora G. Van Schoyck being first duly sworn says he has been employed for seven years past by the Bromwell Wire and Brush Goods Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, which has a branch factory at the Columbus, Ohio, Work House wherein prisoners from Franklin County are committed for misdemeanors from Police, Probate and Common Pleas Courts; that during said seven years he had charge of all departments therein at different times except two; that on the 3rd day of February, 1912, he was laid off indefinitely by the general manager of said company by letter directed to the superintendent of the contract department of said work house in which it was given as the reason for his lay off the following: "Our general manager has written me that because of the general business depression in the country at the present time it has been necessary to curtail expenses at all of their factories"; that said other factories are: Cincinnati Work House; Baltimore, Maryland, Penitentiary; Greenburg, Indiana; Trenton, New Jersey, Penitentiary; Dayton, Ohio, Work House and Cedar Key, Florida; that when he was laid off the factory at Columbus Work House had on hand less than $10,000 worth of stock while there has been times when there was more than $80,000 worth of stock on hand; that up until January 15th, 1912, the Columbus factory was from four to six weeks behind with orders and had to send one-fourth of their orders to Dayton and Cincinnati Work Houses to be filled; that the above facts do not bear out the reasons in the letter to lay him off but that the real facts are that when the new superintendent of the Work House, Reedy McDonald, took charge under his appointment by Mayor Karb the fact was commented on by "The Socialist" newspaper, which angered the said "Reedy" whose son made the boast that if "We can get rid of that d——n Socialist Van Schoyck there will be no trouble here"; that on or about January 24th, 1912, said Reedy McDonald called said affiant to task regarding the statements published in said "The Socialist" and that affiant disclaimed any responsibility for its publication as he had no control or authority over said "The Socialist" or its publication; that said affiant was the second oldest foreman in service in said Work House and that there were six foremen employed after affiant who are still employed there; while it has always been the custom to lay off the younger men in service first; that on January 31st, 1912, the next day after President Taft visited Columbus, the general manager of the said company, Thomas G. Mellish, held conference with said Reedy McDonald, superintendent of said work house, and on the following Saturday affiant received his lay off papers in which it was stated, "I take pleasure in stating that during your seven years' service there has been entire satisfaction in your efforts and should you wish to use me for reference as to your character or ability you are at liberty to do so"; that up until four months ago there were two trustees who helped affiant with his work but said trustees escaped through no fault of affiant and that for said four months past affiant has done the work of three men without extra pay.

TO ALL WORKING MEN AND WOMEN OF MASSACHUSETTS AND ELSEWHERE

Fellow Workers:—

"We, textile workers of Lawrence, are on strike; we are striking against unbearable conditions.

"It is not sufficient that our wages were low, but the masters, taking advantage of the fifty-four hour law that was passed to reduce the admittedly too long working hours of women and children, have cut our pay to an average of fifty cents a week, which to us means ten loaves of bread.

"According to the figures furnished by the other side, the manufacturers paid out in wages on January 12, for one week's work on the fifty-four hour basis, to a total number of 32,000 operatives, the sum of $150,000, or an average of six dollars per week, and in making up the average it must be considered that the high weekly wages of the overseers, etc., of the mill, figure in the total wages paid.

"It is considered and admitted that this is the busy season, and if six dollars a week is the average wages in the busy season, then, fellow-workers, consider what must be our miserable lot in the slack periods.

"For years past it was not sufficient that the employers had forced conditions upon us that gradually and surely broke up our homes, and what was left but an excuse; they have forced our wives to the mills to work alongside of us, not that their wages be levelled up to the men, but that the men's be reduced, and they be forced to compete with women.

"They have taken away our wives from the home, our children have been driven from the playground, stolen out of the schools and driven into the mills, where they are strapped to the machines, not only to force the fathers to compete, but that their young lives may be coined into dollars for a parasite class, that their very nerves, their laughter and joy denied, may be woven into cloth.

"For all these past years the operators have gradually reduced our wages, and at the same time have speeded up the machines so that we turn out in some cases three times the amount of work and receive about one-third of the old rate. All this is admitted, although unwillingly, by the opposition. The secretary of the Wool Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Marvin, admits that the wages paid in the textile industry are the lowest in any industry in America.

"It is not sufficient that we had drunk all the bitterness that the cup of misery contained; the masters proposed that we must drink of it to the very dregs.

"Taking advantage of the 54-hour law, they have, it is true, cut the wages, and are now making it their war-cry, "Fifty-four hours' pay for fifty-four hours' work;" but we submit to a candid world the fact that the hours have only been reduced "officially," and in order to comply with the law but some of the mills are stealing sufficient time around the hours of starting and quitting each day in the week to make up the two hours "reduced."

"If the cut in wages is allowed to stand, then the weavers and loom-fixers, because of the insufficientness of their wages and because of the lure of the premium or bonus at the end of the week, will speed up the looms and weave fifty-six hours into fifty-four; thus all the other workers who are week-day workers and who feed up the looms, will have to work that much faster in order to keep it up. It requires little imagination to see that a condition of that nature will have a tendency to make our lot more precarious; it will mean a saving for the companies, the driving of the workers at a speed that more surely than now will wreck their nerves and lives and fill the cemeteries with overworked slaves; it will drive the old; our fathers and mothers, who in the past have given of their lives all that is best in weaving cloth for the operators, to compete with their sons and daughters; in competing with younger men and women they will gradually be driven out of the mills and the responsibility and burden of the sons and daughters will be greater, and by that the masters figure to turn matters that much more to their advantage.

"Because we dared to rebel, militiamen have been sent to drive us back to work, and already the bayonets of hired Hessians have wetted in the blood of our fellow-workers.

"Fellowworkers! Men and women! Take heed! We are waging a battle that means much to us, but we are equally fighting the battle of the wage workers throughout this state who have been affected as we have. If we can, by our devotion and your support, win, it will mean a victory for all the workes of this state and all the workers in the wool and cotton industry. If lack of support on your part drives us back into the mills, then, not only we, but you, may prepare youselves for the lash that the masters will lay on with that much more force.

"We must win this fight! Our lot is beyond resignation. We must resist now, or all hopes in the future ae lost.

"So we appeal to all workers, men, women and children, whose lot may be what ours was, or may be better; we appeal to you and all those whose sympathies are with the aspirations of the working class for support this strike, not merely morally, but financially. Remember that many of our fellow-workers have but one week's wages between themselves and starvation.

"Financial aid is needed, and needed quickly. He who gives quickly gives doubly. We propose to establish a commissary for the needy and we ask for clothes, provisions and money. Get among your shopmates, make collections in the mills and factories, hold meetings to raise funds, and protest against the way political and military agents of the masters have treated us. Send for subscription lists to use among your fellow-workers. Send committees to business houses in your cities to secure and send provisions of all sorts.

"Address all communications and make out all money orders to "Textile Workers' Strike Committee," Joseph Bedard, secretary, 9 Mason street, Lawrence, Mass.

"To the aid of your fellow-workers who are battling against worse misery than the past. An injury to one is an injury to all. It is we who are in need today; who knows, it may be your turn to ask us after our victory?

"Sincerely yours for the cause of twentyfive thousand men, women and children.

"STRIKE COMMITTEE,
"Joseph Bedard, Secretary."

"P. S.—Our demands on the operators: Fifteen per cent increase in wages and prices on the fifty-four hour basis. Abolition of the premium system. Double time and pay for all overtime. All strikers must be taken back to their positions occupied before the strike."

COUNCILMEN HEAR AND HEED THEIR MASTER'S VOICE

Rail-Light Influence Plainly Manifested in Awarding the City Printing Big Show Lasted Until Midnight.

THE LINE-UP.

For The Weekly Week: Beiderman, Ellis, Griffin, Hayden, Lucks, McGuire, Nailor, Reinhard, Stribling, Wegman—10.

For The Socialist (lowest bidder): Alcott, Baldridge, Bohnert, Connolley, Sherman, Warren, Wilson, Zimpfer—8.

Barry, refused to vote.

A majority of the members of the City Council of Columbus certainly "heard their master's voice," last Monday evening and obeyed it even if it did oblige the Council to remain in session until after midnight.

The "voice" was first heard when the Socialist ordinance to repeal the unreasonable peddlers' license was defeated. Only the four Socialist members, Bohnert, Warren, Wilson, and Zimpfer voted for the repeal of a city law that is without justification under any pretext.

The proposal to put up to the people on May 21 a $350,000 bond issue for the purchase of sites for a municipal center is the first step toward securing the square east of the capitol for public buildings to harmonize in architecture with the State House. The plan is:

For the city to purchase sites for the city hall, mail and art museum and erect municipal buildings.

For the Columbus Art Association to locate fine arts buildings on land donated by city.

For school board to purchase sites in this square and erect administration buildings.

For State to purchase sites on Third street and erect needed annexes.

With the plan completed Trinity Church would be only present building standing in square east of capitol.

It is proposed to locate the city hall on Fourth street; the art museum at Broad and Fourth; the board of education building at State and Fourth, and State buildings on Third street either side of the mall or garden leading from Third street to the city hall.

The continuous vaudeville commenced about 9 o'clock when the committee on rules, printing and revision made its report "without recommendation." The bids for the legal advertising were as follows: Ohio State Journal, $1 per square for first insertion and 50 cents for second; Express-Westbote, 85 and 45; Times, 71½ and 47½; Week 40 and 30; Review, 65 and 35; THE SOCIALIST 30 AND 15 CENTS.

The Times, after the discussion, reduced its bid to 40 cents and 30 cents and the Express-Wesbote patriotically came down to 65 and 45 cents.

It would be impossible within the space of this paper to properly describe the gyrations of the contending Democratic factions. See-See Philbrick demanded that he be heard in defense of his character which had been, as he alleged, aspersed by Councilman Sherman.

See-See Talked.

Councilman Barry, who talks like a bishop and acts like a ward beeler, later moved that Pat McAllister of the As-Yet-Unborn Daily Times, be heard. Pat told his tale of woe. Even the editor of The Socialist was accorded the floor. He, in effect, told the Council to go to the abode of his satanic majesty.

After countless tricks of parliamentary practice, a score of ballots, the Ohio State Journal and the Express-Westbote were approved. Then The Weakly Week, the unborn Daily Times and The Socialist were twice rejected on their bids. The only papers that did not lower their bids were the Journal and The Socialist The Journal had a pull and The Socialist bid as low as the work could be done.

A motion to refer the matter back to the committee was defeated and two motions to adjourn were voted down.

At last when the hour of midnight had been reached, Councilman Warren (Socialist) made the motion that "called" the hand of the Rail-Light-Karb-Ross gang.

It was agreed to settle the question by balloting on "The Times" and "The Week," and dropping the one having the lowest number, and then balloting on the winner and the Socialist.

The first vote was: For "The Week"—Biederman, Ellis, Griffin, Hayden, Lucks, McGuire, Nailor, Reinhard, Stribling, Wegman—10, For "The Times"—Alcott, Baldridge, Barry, Bohnert, Connolley, Sherman, Warren, Wilson, Zimpfer—8.

The last vote, which gave the contract to Philbrick's "The Week" was: For "The Socialist"—Alcott, Baldrige, Bohnert, Connolley, Sherman, Warren, Wilson, Zimpfer—8. For "The Week"—Biederman, Ellis, Griffin, Hayden, Lucks, McGuire, Nailor, Reinhard, Stribling, Wegman—10. Barry refused to vote on the last ballot.

It can be said that at no time did The Socialist expect to get the city printing. We did however, by our low bid, compel The Weakly Week (See-See Phil's paper) to come down from $1.50 to 70 cents for two insertions of a square of advertising. The unborn Daily Times also came down to 40 and 30, but too late. Neither The Weakly Week nor The Times has a bonafide circulation and neither has been admitted to the mails. The efforts of Mayor Karb and Solictor Bolin in behalf The Weakly Week, were simply promoted by a desire to reward a political supporter for whom there was no job on the payroll. Amen.

LOCAL COLUMBUS ENDORSES TEXTILE WORKERS.

Socialism and Religion

At the Urgent Request of Many who Could not Attend the East Side Meeting, Sunday, Jan. 28th,

J. L. BACHMAN

Will Speak under the Auspices of the SOCIALIST PUBLISHING CO. at

West Side Market House

Sunday Evening, Feb. 11

at 7:30. The Subject will be

J. L. BACHMAN

RESOLVED, That Socialism is in accord with the highest ideals of Morality and Religion and gives the greatest opportunity to attain such ideals.

A challenge is hereby duly issued to Dave Goldstein, any Catholic priest, in this or any other city, or any other person authorized to represent the Catholic Church. Said representative of the said organization will be allotted one and one-half hours to present his case and if this is not sufficient time, he will be extended further time. DON'T FAIL TO COME. Comrade Bachman has an indictment against the said organization, that every liberty-loving American should hear.

Comrades and Friends should come prepared to buy Socialist Sub. Cards.

MAYOR EMIL SEIDEL WRITES ABOUT OLD MILWAUKEE TOWN

Innumerable have been the requests from as many sources to tell what the Socialists have done in Milwaukee. In the indefatigable effort to crowd as much work as possible in the short space of two years, there cannot be much time for review. And while the desire of interested friends and Comrades to know of the accomplishments is comprehensible, the lack of such information needs no apology. This article can at best be but a mere sketch. For even the time to write this is lost to other efforts.

One thing has been proven conclusively—that the Socialist administration is honest. While this is the least that a Socialist boasts of, there are thousands of cities that cannot make the same claim.

During the nineteen months it has been in power, the administration has not yet introduced the co-operative commonwealth. It must first pay the penalty for many sins of the past: legal entanglements, usurped power of the courts, slip-shod engineering, neglected improvements, poor financiering—the result of all of these must first be corrected before we can proceed.

The new administration was not in power one hour when it had passed a resolution that abolished the old Board of Public Works consisting of four members with the responsibility divided, and substituted therefore one Commissioner of Public Works. This meant a tremendous burden thrown upon our shoulders and yet that was necessary in order to have a clear field in that department.

The change was contested in the courts and the news spread broadcast that through this blunder many hundreds of thousands of dollars were lost to the City of Milwaukee. But the Supreme Court of Wisconsin has reversed the findings of the lower court and only a few days ago decided that the change was legal.

Reduce Cost of Improvements.

A direct result of this change from a four man board to a board with one head is that the citizens of Milwaukee are now paying $1.36 to $1.36 per square yard of asphalt pavement instead of $2.30 to $3.40 as was formerly paid for an inferior quality of asphalt. The entire department has been reorganized. There is now a Superintendent of Street Construction of Street Cleaning and Ash and Garbage Collection; Sewers, Bridges and Public Buildings.

All of the public work is in charge of this department. During the year nearly one fifth of all the streets of the city have been either repaired, repaved or resurfaced. Over 70 miles of streets have ben treated with oil and thus rendered dust and mud proof. About 100 rubbish cans and 75 waste paper boxes have been placed in the busiest streets of the city to keep filth from the streets. Forty bubbling drinking fountains have been placed throughout the city and thus a long felt want met.

New street flushing machinery has been purchased under a fair test for all competitors. No charge of graft can possibly be made under this method.

Welfare of Workers.

Nor is the welfare of the workers neglected. This department has made many changes for their benefit. Formerly 33 bridge tenders were on the job, 72 consecutive hours and one day off. This has been changed to 12 hour shifts. The wages of the street laborers were raised from $1.75 to $2.00 per day for eight hours' work. Help in the book bindery of the Library was increased. The salary revision committee has just reported changes which reduce the salaries of some of the department heads and raise those of the subordinates.

An eight-hour ordinance applying to all work done by and for the city has been passed.

Where mechanics are employed on city work, fair conditions such as demanded by their organization have been inaugurated. Wherever possible the administration considers it its duty to aid workers in their fight to maintain a higher standard of living.

The Department of Public Works is also at work on plans for a municipal light plant. Before this is completed we may be hampered with legal proceedings, as we are on numerous occasions when attempts at progressive measures are made. The use of the courts by interest to block progressive legislation can be best appreciated by those struggling for better conditions.

Under this department a new isolation hospital is in course of construction, and when completed poor patients may feel safe that their sick children are in sanitary quarters. The hospitals left from previous administrations are a disgrace and have been condemned.

Courts Hinder Progress.

How the courts can make progress example: Under the old law, taxes must be collected in December and January, the worst time of the year for a city workman. Work is slow, expenses high. Taxsharks generally reap a rich harvest by buying delinquent taxes for the redemption of which the unfortunate worker was then obliged to pay an interest of fifteen per cent, per annum. To give relief a law was asked permitting the city to extend the time for the payment of taxes until July 1st, of the current year at an increase of six per cent. This was 9 per cent less than the tax shark got. Someone feared the loss of this graft and applied for an injunction stopping the city from carrying into effect this law. Whether or not this injunction shall stand the judge has now under advisement.

The charge that Socialists are dreamers, has been more than met by the Socialists in office. A man that has no dreams nor aims high is a failure. Yet no one administration in all of Milwaukee's history has made so many sound improvements in business methods as the present one. There never was such a thing as a scientific budget in Milwaukee before. There never was such a thing as property accountability. There never was an inventory. Financial accounting never was under complete control. A deficit had been accumulated for years and its extent was never known, much less an attempt made to wipe it out. All this has been dug up and changed by the Socialist administration.

We have today a complete inventory. We have today a modern budget. We have today monthly financial statements.

Today cash recipts and disbursements are checked up daily by the comptroller through means of suitable records and independent of the treasurer's books. We have now departmental accounting, and placing of individual responsibility. There are no more blanket apporpriations in the budget.

Public Accounting.

There have been introduced a set of clean cut ledgers as follows: (a) General, (b) Property, (c) Bonded Debt, (d) Miscellaneous Liability, (e) Revenue, Expense and Appropriation, (f) Interest and Sinking Fund, (g) Trust Fund. Complete check on and a system of uniform payrolls; and a great number of forms, records, vouchers were devised to insure control, cross checking, co-operation between departments, thus reducing the possibility of leakages and graft. Business men who visit the City Hall and who see these innovations have nothing but words of praise for the change made. Lack of space prevents dwelling at length upon any of the above subjects.

Milwaukee has been for years laboring under old and obsolete building laws. Time and again the press and public has clamored for improvements in this direction. The last building inspector had been in the city service for many years. At the time of his last appointments he received the support of the Socialists in the council under the promise that he was working on a new building code and wished to complete the work. After reappointment by the previous mayor, however, he did not keep his word. When the present mayor appointed another man in his place, the press raised the cry that old and trusted (?) city officials were "thrown down" by the Socialists.

But since the new building inspector is in office, the new building code is progressing with rapidity. Ordinances drafted by this commission have already been passed relating to garages, dry cleaning establishments, soils and foundations, moving picture show-houses, internal combustion engines and explosives. Nearly ready for passage are the following: Storage of oils, concrete blocks, moving of buildings, heights of buildings, unsafe buildings and condemnations, signs and permits, fire districts, business zones, elevators.

In the past, the various departments have not co-operated to the best advantage. It was not unusual to have one department head complain that he could not get the support of another department. The Smoke Inspector and others frequently raised that complaint. This complaint is rarely made now. And when heard, then only of such departments that are not under Socialist control.

With co-operation, the money and power of a community can be made to go very much farther than otherwise. When some department has trouble with someone operating under a city license or permit, it can cope with the miscreant easily if supported by the mayor who has the power to revoke such license or permit. The City Attorney may or may not vitiate the work of a department. A health or some other inspection department can accomplish many times the amount of work if properly supported by the City Attorney's force. With the new administration many of the departments even not under Socialist control have been imbued with a new spirit. They are showing a desire to make a record where formerly their work was disheartening. A new enthusiasm now prevails.

City Law Department.

The City Attorney and his force are mostly young enthusiastic men. They were sneered at as Dan Hoan's (City Attorney) kids. But many old 'waw hoss' has been given a severe drubbing by the 'kids.' And today some very flattering offers have been made some of these kids to quit the department. But they will stick. The record of this office is phenominal, and too big to cover in a short article.

Our victory in April 1910 was not, as has so often, erroneously been stated, a complete one for the Socialists. The offices of the Mayor, Comptroller, City Attorney, Treasurer, and Common Council were gained by the electors. The majority in the council is not sufficient for all purposes. The City Clerk is elected by the aldermen. The Commissioner of Public Works was appointed by the Mayor, as was the Commissioner of Health. The City Engineer and the Water Registrar were appointed by the Mayor after the present administration had been in power one year. The present tax commissioner's term of office does not expire until Dec. 31, 1913. The Mayor is no longer the head of the police and fire departments due to a new law passed by the last legislature. The chiefs of these respective departments are under the control of the Police and Fire Commission. By reason of the terms of office, we have only a partial control of the Police and Fire Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Board of Trustees of Museum and Library and the Park Board. Of the fifteen members of the school board elected by the people, there are only two Socialists members. So it is misleading to say that the Socialists are in control in Milwaukee.

The claim has been made by the capitalist press that the social democrats have not carried out all of their platform pledges. Any platform that can be carried into effect in two years does not amount to much. The city is hampered by legal restrictions which stifle the best work. Nor is ever an opportunity missed to use this against the administration. However, the city has made an honest attempt to get enabling legislation by presenting about forty bills to the legislature, asking for home rule and the power to carry out some of these pledges. Some were passed, others emasculated, the rest killed.

A notable achievement is the creation of the Bureau of Economy and Efficiency, the only bureau of its kind in this country maintained by a city government. For its maintainance we have spent $3000.00 in 1910 and appropriated $18,000.00 for the year 1911. Aside of this several thousand dollars were spent on special work. The purpose of this bureau is two-fold. It conducts an efficiency survey with the end in view to place a department on the highest basis of efficiency and economy and establishing a "cost unit" system so that the people can keep tab on its servants. Then it conducts social surveys, the purpose of which is to furnish the administration with reliable data on social problems, the magnitude of a given problem, the necessary steps to be taken to cope with it and the means at the disposal of a community that can be used to solve it.

The efficiency work has led to reorganization of various departments, installation of a proper system of records, forms and indices. Through consolidation of departments with over-lapping fuctions time and money was saved that can elsewhere be used to better purpose.

The social survey has been begun and the work done in many fields already has lead to some results. Commissioners have been appointed that are operating along various lines. Some of them are doing good work; others have only begun. Following are the various commissions created by the common council: Housing Commission, Tuberculosis Commission, Child Welfare Commission, Market Commission, Harbor Commission, Unemployed Commission. The following Social Studies are now in progress: Garnishment of Wages, Women's Wages, Free Legal Aid, Communicable Diseases, Infant Mortality, Meat and Foods.

Educational Survey.

Much work has been done by numerous other departments that can, however, not be touched upon. A Land Commission is in course of appointment. The splendid work of the Health department, its system of vigorous health inspection, its new publication inaugurating a campaign of education, its factory inspection and the splendid spirit that has been engendered there by our Comrade Dr. Kraft, cannot go without mention, however.

Our enemy is laying awake nights planning how again to get rid of the Socialists. What better compliment to Socialism than to say, The enemy is mad in Milwaukee. When the taxes in Milwaukee are spoken of elsewhere—remember we did get our tax Commissioner until January 1st, 1913. Then we shall be glad to be responsible for the assessment. Until then we must politely decline to stand for the assessment.

And this let me add: Give us more control of the city government, elect more Socialists to your state legislature, give us some social democrats on the bench, elect more Socialists to Congress, in a word give us more power and we will prove that the working class can work out its own salvation. We have demonstrated in Milwaukee that the working class can run a big city and do it honestly and more efficiently than it has ever been run before.

Of the Socialists in Milwaukee it can be said: "They are continually planning with their brain, ripping down with one hand, building up with the other, and balancing themselves on one foot, give the yellow cur whenever he comes to close, a telling kick with the other.

EMIL SEIDEL.

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS AND CORRESPONDENTS.

Hereafter the forms of The Socialist will close Wednesday at 4 p. m. All announcements and notices should be in this office by Wednesday at 9 a. m. There is no use in Comrades sending in lengthy articles, as they will not be published. All general communications should reach us by Monday of each week. Important items may be used at the last moment, but we cannot guarantee it.

WAR ON HIGH PRICES.

New York, Feb. 3.—War on high prices in vegetables for the poor of New York has been begun with the opening by a committee of clergymen and others of the first of what is proposed to be a series of sales places where the products of the soil will be transferred from the producer to the consumer without a middleman's intervention. A few days ago large quantities of carrots, potatoes, cabbages, beets, turnips and other vegetables were quickly disposed of at cost.

Everybody's Magazine is muckraking the courts. Read it, it's educational, and then let your mind run over some of the antics of the courts in this county.

The kept ladies of the capitalist press are in despair. They are about to lose one of their easy snaps. "Peanut Hulls" Post announces that he will contribute no more paid ads. of drivel about the labor movement. They'll have to hand the blackmail to the merchants a little stronger to make up for the loss of revenue.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

OHIO SOCIALIST BULLETIN

A PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

(Submitted by Local Wellsville.)

That any two or more Locals in any one County may form a County Local which will elect a Secretary-Organizer to work for the advancement of Socialism in such County under rules, consistent with the State Constitution, as may be adopted by the membership by County referendum.

Signed:
D. H. CLARKE, Chairman.
Signed:
B. E. SHREVES, Chairman.

Comment.

Much work in the unorganized rural districts is to be done and by establishing County Locals with a Secretary-Organizer, through whom due stamps for all Locals in such County as may organize can be purchased at an advance of from 2½ to 5 cents, and by taking in members-at-large where a locality is unorganized, and by employing speakers and routing them in an economical manner, funds can be secured to do the work of organizing unorganized districts and much good can be accomplished by spreading the literature and propaganda where it is needed. Such county organizations would also reduce the work of the State Secretary materially by reducing his correspondents in many counties to one where there are at present many.

REPORT OF SPEAKERS AND ORGANIZERS FOR JAN., 1912.

Speakers and Organizers hereafter will be routed through the State Office. All communications pertaining to speakers and organizers should be forwarded to State Office, Socialist Party, 121½ East Town street, Columbus, Ohio.

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS.

At the present time it seems probable that the special mileage fund, accumulated by setting aside ten per cent. of the national dues, will lack a few thousand dollars of being sufficient to pay the mileage of the delegates to the national convention. The National Secretary will endeavor to accumulate sufficient money in the regular fund to meet the deficit.

A State convention of the Public Ownership (Socialist) Party of Minnesota will be held at Minneapolis, February 18th.

The year 1912 has started off auspiciously by a good increase in the party membership. Up to the close of last year, the highest was $6,084.40 in the month of November, 1911. The amount received for dues during January, 1912, was $6,093.10. This indicates a membership of 121,861. Of course the only way to calculate the actual membership is to average a number of months. The average membership for 1911 was 84,716. The average membership for 1912 bids fair to considerably exceed 100,000.

During the month of January the National Office published four hundred thousand additional four page leaflets, as follows:

A second one hundred thousand of "Who Are the Peacemakers," by Morris Hillquit.

A third one hundred thousand of "Government by Commission," by J. J. Jacobson.

A third one hundred thousand of "Old Age Pensions," by W. J. Ghent.

A fourth one hundred thousand of "Private Property," by John M. Work.

As hitherto, these leaflets are on good paper and with large type. Price, $1.50 per thousand, or $1.00 per thousand in lots of ten thousand or over, single or assorted. The National Office prepays the express.

The National Headquarters has got out a tasty twelve-page price list of books, pamphlets, leaflets, and party supplies. A copy is being mailed to each local secretary. A bunch of them will be sent free of charge to any Comrade who will pass them out to persons who are likely to send in orders.

The last Sunday in February is Woman's Day. A circular leter on this subject, from the Woman's Department in the National Office, has been sent to all local secretaries. The subject for discussion is the White Slave Traffic. It is hoped that all locals and branches will celebrate the day in a fitting manner.

Nominations for Woman's National Committee and International Secretary closed at the National Office on January 31st. All nominees having received five or more nominations have been notified. Acceptances and declinations will close February 10th. The ballots will be shipped to the State Secretaries as soon as possible after that date.

A copy of the motion passed by the National Executive Committee regarding the textile workers' strike has been sent to all local secretaries, remittances to be sent to the National Office.

The National Office has made arrangements to take orders for Charles Edward Russell's pamphlet, "Gouged." This is a reprint of a speech delivered at Carnegie Hall, New York. It tells the story of the development of the trusts, their inevitability, their good features, their bad features, the foolishness of trying to "bust" them, and shows that the Socialist remedy of collective ownership is the only solution of the difficulty. The book holds the reader's attention from the first to the last. Seven expressive cartoons help to drive the truth home. Nothing attracts like pictures. It is printed on good paper, neat and catchy, twenty-four pages, and every one of them stuffed full of conservative killers and thought starters. There is nothing better to start off the campaign year. Price, 100 copies for $6.50; 15 copies for $1.00; single copy for 10 cents. Address, National Headquarters, 205 West Washington street, Chicago.

PROPOSED NATIONAL PARTY REFERENDUMS.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1912.

Local Toledo, Ohio, of the Socialist Party, with 380 members in good standing, proposes the following referendum:

"(1) To insert after Article IX of our national constitution the following:

Article IXa.

"Sec. 1. Candidates for President and Vice President of the United States of America shall be nominated by referendum vote, and their election as our candidates shall be conducted at the same time and in the same manner as that of the Executive Committee as far as the following provisions permit.

"Sec. 2. Each local may nominate two candidates without distinction between presidency and vice presidency, and each voter shall designate his choice for president by the figure '2,' which is to indicate two votes, and his choice for vice president by the figure '1,' which is to be counted as one vote, but more than two votes shall never be counted for the same candidate from one ballot.

"Sec. 3. If the highest number of votes cast for one candidate, according to this counting, constitutes at least one-third of all the votes cast, that candidate shall be declared our presidential candidate, and if the second highest number of votes is at least one-sixth of all the votes cast, the comrade for whom these votes were cast shall be our vice-presidential candidate. If no candidate has received one-third of all the votes, the four names having received the highest numbers of votes shall be submitted to a second ballot, after which the comrade having received the highest number shall be declared our presidential, the one with the second highest our vice-presidential candidate. If the first ballot result in a choice of the presidential, but not of the vice-presidential candidate, the two names having received the second and third highest numbers of votes shall be submitted to a second ballot for the vice-presidential candidacy.

"Sec. 4. In the case of a vacancy in the presidential candidacy, the vice-presidential candidate shall become the presidental candidate, and a vacancy arising in the vice-presidential candidacy from this or any other cause shall be filled by the comrade having received the highest number of votes among the candidates rejected at the last ballot.

"(2) To add to Article X, Section 1, the following:

"It shall declare as our candidate for President and Vice-President the two comrades previously selected by the membership in accordance with the provisions of Article IXa.

"(3) That immediately upon the adoption of the present referendum a call shall be issued for the nomination of candidates for our national ticket for 1912, that the nominating and voting shall be conducted in the manner prescribed by Article IXa, that only one ballot shall be held, however, on account of the lateness of the season, and the candidate having received the highest number of votes shall be declared our presidential candidate, the one having received the second highest our vice-presidential candidate."

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

James Oneal, State Secretary, 309½ Ohio St., Terre Haute.

Indiana is perhaps the first State in the Union to nominate a State ticket and Presidential electors for the coming November elections. There were 144 delegates and many visitors in attendance at the State convention held last week, which was one of the best ever held in the State.

Local Duncan, in Floyd County, is another new local added to the list, and though it starts with only five members, with the asistance of its neighbors, Jeffersonville and New Albany, it will prove a lusty infant.

Word reaches the State Office from Greenfield that the town is ripe for organization, and instructions are in the hands of the Comrades there, who will get on the job without delay.

Auburn, in Dekalb County, is another town that will be in the organized fold within a week and join in the big campaign that wil be waged the coming summer. Comrade Condo will speak there on February 8 and complete the work of organization.

R. H. Cunningham, of Frankton, in Madison County, writes for a list of Appeal readers and states that it is possible that there are enough Socialists in the town to organize a local. Plenty of assistance wil be given by the county organization.

Comrade Garrison spoke recently in Elwood to a good house and notwithstanding the race prejudice there, many who heard him ar anxious to hear him again. One local paper gave a good synopsis of his address.

Local Alexandria has opened up a permanent headquarters and placed in a supply of tobacco and candies, the profits from which will go into the treasury of the local. Later on they expect to arrange one propaganda meeting each week.

Locals are notified that the recent circular sent out by the State Office regarding Congressional organization is a blunder, as some of the Congressional districts have been changed. The districts that did not make arrangements at the State convention for their district convention should write to the State Secretary, so that the initiative can be taken with the locals.

State Senator Robert Slack, of Elkhart, at a banquet in Elkhart, wiped out the red flag of Socialism and disposed of the reds in general. This great statesman suggests that the capitalist should hold out a "helping hand" to brother labor, but the trouble is that the hand generally has a bayonet or an injunction in it.

GOOD WORD FROM NEW YORK

Comrades:

I enclose money order for $1 for renewal of The Socialist. I did not receive the issue of last week, which I think terminated the old subscription. Kindly forward this to me.

I desire to congratulate you on the great improvement you have recently made in the paper. Up and at 'em.

FLUTE SHEET FIGHTS ABOLITION OF LICENSE.

Hamilton, Ohio.—The Socialist Local of this city passed a resolution to repeal the peddlers' license, which the Socialist members of the council will present before that body.

The Hamilton Evening Journal came out with an editorial voicing the demands of its masters declaring that if the peddlers' license is abolished peddlers from Cincinnati will come into the town and spoil the local merchants' business.

The Journal believes that the people should care for the home merchants, as they pay the taxes.

"The Journal fails to state that the merchants are passing the expense incurred by taxes on to the members of the working class, who must bear it, as they can not pass it on to anyone else," said Charles Manny, a well known Socialist. "It is to the interest of the workers to buy wherever they can secure goods the cheapest.

"The peddlers also not only pay their own taxes but those of the merchants also, from whom they secure their goods.

"There are merchants whose trade would be ruined by the peddlers, as they are now selling half-rotten fruit, chickens, rabbits and eggs at exorbitant prices and then yell about patronizing home trade.

"The Socialists are looking to the interests of the working class and they believe that the working people, who comprise the vast majority of the population, are the people who must suffer if the peddlers' license is continued."

Terrible things are happening in Belgium these days. Royalty is actually becoming respectful towards the people. In a dispatch from Brussels it is stated that while the queen's carriage was stopping outside a picture exhibition the other day, the little princess was waiting in it for her mother and amused herself by sticking out her tongue at the crowd that assembled to admire her, for the Brussels people delight in the pretty pink and white baby princess. The queen was horrified when she heard of it and poor Marie-Jose was duly punished, since in a country where Socialism is making such headway it does not do for royalty, big or small, to stick out its tongue at the people.

Seven pages of delinquent tax sales in the Ohio State Journal is another indication of the wonderful prosperity in Columbus and Franklin county. Thousands of workingmen with small homes will have to pay extortionate tribute to loan vultures or tax sharks in order to save their modest cottages from being sold. The worker is always encouraged to buy a home, for then the real estate fakers and the robbers above named get a whack at the toiler's meagre earnings.

The class struggle may not be either beautiful or dignified; but there are other necessary struggles which are neither beautiful nor dignified, either. For example, the struggle of herbiverous animals against lions and tigers, or of the population of India against poisonous serpents; and—we will not pursue the comparison further, though.

Mayor Karb, City Solicitor Bolin, C. C. Philbrick, Boss Ross and other representatives of "Big Bizness" used their hypnotic influence very effectively on members of council last Monday night when the printing bids were considered. It was pitiful to see Hayden, Reinhard, McGuire, Ellis and others kiss the hand of the Rail Light.

PROPERTY—THAT'S ALL.

"The right of property rests not upon the philosophical or scientific speculation or upon commendable impulses of charity nor yet upon the dictates of natural justice."—From the decision of the New York Court of Appeals on Workmen's Compensation.

"It amounts to this, whether the operatives of a country shall be bought and sold and themselves become property, as in this State, or whether they shall be hired and their labor only become property as in some other states."—Charleston Baptist Association, defending negro slavery, 1835.

COLUMBUS "PROSPERITY."

The wonderful "prosperity" that prevails in Columbus was emphasized last Tuesday evening when Otto W. Davis, superintendent of the Columbus Associated Charities, stated that there was more destitution in this city than ever before. He gave statistics showing that 337 new cases of family destitution had been added during January, as against 155 for 1911 and about the same number for 1910.

More than 200 families had to be put off for lack of funds during January, although 633 families were cared for. More than 2400 visits and calls were made during the month.

Mr. Davis' report showed that it is not the foreigner who furnishes the greatest amount of destitution, as is generally supposed. Only 10 per cent of the total are foreigners, while 75 per cent are native born. The colored population furnishes 24 per cent.

This is startling when we consider what has been said by the smug capitalists who have tried to demolish Socialism at the Sunday night meetings at Trinity parish house. They tried to convey the idea that the working class was enjoying all the comforts and luxuries of life. By the way, we would like to see the latest annual report of the Associated Charities. The one The Socialist reviewed a year ago showed that $3.50 was expended in salaries, stationery, rent of offices, etc., for every $1 directly applied to relief of those in distress. Modern "Charity" is not what is desired by the toilers. We want justice and the full product of our labor. "Modern charity" is a farce.

SEES RED ADMINISTRATION IN LAWRENCE, MASS.

The editor of the Grand Junction, Colo., News predicts a Socialist administration in Lawrence, Mass., within the next few years as a result of the present strike. The editorial which follows is taken from his paper:

"Press reports tell us that eight companies of militia were called out and one boy has been fatally injured in a bayonet charge upon the strikers at Lawrence, Mass. Sure, what is the militia for, if not to bayonet strikers?

"Perhaps some of you workingmen will be able to see through the following extract from a government bulletin recently published, even if you never could before:

"'The National Guard is particularly commended to the earnest consideration of all employers. It is believed that if they thoroughly understand its importance and value, they will unhesitatingly encouraged the young men in their employ to enlist.'

"Mr. Workingman, how would you have liked to belong to that militia and be called upon to bayonet men and boys who toiled for weeks at the same bench or machine with you? How would you feel now if it had been your bayonet which was stained with the blood of that boy? 'Tis bad enough when the capitalists murder the workers through neglect and for profits to themselves, but when workingmen will voluntarily serve in an organization which may be called upon any day to murder brothers, fathers, or shop-mates trying to improve their conditions, then what must we think? The boast of the capitalist that he can hire one-half of the workers to murder the other half must be true indeed when, for the sake of the use of a second-hand uniform and an occasional outing, men will consent to becoming a cog in a murder machine.

"Basing my predictions on the harvest of Socialists reaped by the militia in other parts of the country, I would predict that Lawrence, Mass., will have a Socialist administration inside of the next two years at most."

WHY NOT?

In a moment of most unexpected levity and unusual hilarity the New York Commercial says:

"One wonders how the laborites would take it were the employers to institute reprisals; why not a little dynamiting of the strikers' homes, picketing of meeting halls and mobbing of stray strikers?"

And to think that this paper flaunts at the head of its editorial column the announcement that "it is the direct successor of the New York Price Current, which was established in 1795." The editorial writer might as well come to this country, or if he is here he might as well find out what goes on.

These many years one of the pleasant occupations of the police has been that of clubbing the "laborites." And isn't that particular twist of the word an indication of great and overflowing friendliness on the part of the Commercial writer? Furthermore, union meeting places have over and over again been invaded, documents have been stolen and records have been destroyed.

As far as dynamiting the houses of the "laborites" is concerned, that is unnecessary and would be bad policy. Most of the "laborites" do not own their own homes. And what would be the sense in the capitalists destroying their own property merely to send to perdition the tenants thereof—unless the insurance happened to be worth while? It is much easier and far more economical to starve the tenants to death than to blow them up. There is then no financial outlay for dynamite.

Besides, it is legal to starve the "laborites," club them or mob them, while it is not legal to blow up private property, even if the property happens to belong to yourself.

So the Commercial should revise its little joke. What it suggests might be done is done every day, except in the matter of dynamiting the strikers' homes. That would undoubtedly be done if the homes belonged to the strikers. But they do not. They belong, for the most part, to the very persons against whom the "laborites" are striking.

IS IT A SWEAT SHOP?

One week ago last Monday the writer in passing the so-called convent at Broad and Sandusky, this city, noticed a sign conspicuously displayed from one of the windows with this inscription:

"NO SHIPMENT TODAY."

The next day a sign appeared notifying one of the express companies to stop for a shipment.

Is it a sweat shop or not? The citizens of Columbus can judge.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE OHIO MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.

Sirs:—So you intend to start to fight us, hey? Good! We welcome you! This is what we have lain awake nights wishing and hoping for. And we are ready—in Columbus 11,000 strong, in Ohio 185,000, in the nation 1,000,000. It makes no difference to us what weapon you use. We are ready. Perhaps you will try to suppress this paper. Do it, and watch us grow. Perhaps you will start a campaign of lies and villifications. Do it, and watch us nail every lie, and sweep this county and State. Perhaps you will start a campaign of coercion. Do it, and the ones thus coerced will only be the more determined and work the harder, to bring about your downfall the quicker. Perhaps you will do as Harrison Grey Otis, "The Bloodhound of the Pacific Coast," suggests; remove quetly, some of the so-called leaders of the Socialist movement. Do it, and for each one thus removed will arise 10,000 valiant men and women, and through the ballot-box, or otherwise, will tumble this damnable capitalist system, which you so ably represent, about your ears.

Come on. The working class, through the organized Socialist movement, is prepared for you, no matter what your tactics. Come on; with your Goldsteins, Catholic priests, hired assassins, dynamiters and bribers of legislatures. Your star is already beginning to set. The people of this State and city are done with you and yours. Your past has been a record that smells to heaven, and calls for vengeance.

The thousands of workingmen in this State whom you have ground down to the last dregs of poverty know you, and will repudiate you at the ballot-box.

The thousands of workingwomen in this State, whose homes you have confiscated by upholding a system that forces them into your mills and factories, are done with you, and are working night and day for your overthrow.

The blood of thousands of little children of this State, which this system you represent has forced out upon the streets, and into the tenement houses, there to die a premature death, is upon your heads, and is crying aloud for vengeance. And we have heard their cry and our answer will be to next fall send to every office in this State class conscious revolutionary Socialists who will put laws upon the statute books that will begin to strip you of the power of life and death over the citizens of this State.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

Well, Comrades, the battle is on. The Ohio Manufacturing Association has declared war against us. Now, the most effective way to fight this gang is to roll in subs. to this paper. That's what they are watching. It is strange that their yelp should come right at the time when our sub. list is showing a gain each week. That's the barometer. That's what sends cold chills chasing each other up and down their spinal column and if things keep moving next week as they have been this week, we will have a report that will give them worse than cold chills. Many who have not joined the boosters before have lined up with us this week, and are making things hum. We are winning. The enemy's outposts have been already captured. We are pressing their center and it is beginning to give way. Soon the mists will disappear in the morning air then we can see better. The sun is already risen, and is mounting towards the zenith, ushering in that happier day in which, poverty, crime, disease, and slavery shall be unknown. Be of good cheer Comrades. You have lived, and are helping to bring about that epoch in the development of the human race that poets have sung about, and dreamers have dreamed about since the beginning of civilization.

Last Sunday, owing to the untimely death of a dear Comrade, the Boosters did not have an opportunity to do much for the paper, as they attended the funeral. Let us make a determined effort this coming Sunday boys. Let us see how many we are good for, next week. Every body, altogether as one man, turn the old State inside out looking for subs, and our report next week will be a dandy.

Good Comrade Rice,

Took our advice;
He landed six,
"Oh, 'aint that nice!"
(With apologies to Shakespeare.)

Each of the said six for a year, each. Slam them again, Comrade.

"Capitalism to the junk- pile," yells our " P. H. Booster," as he bustles in with thirteen in his fist. Two yearlys, five six months and six three months. That's the record for this week. Who'll make it fourteen next week?

Comrade Rev. Jim Alford of Magnetic Springs, O., does not believe in hiding his light under a bushel, so in order to shed more light in dark places, he sends in five six month subs to this paper. Another preacher gone bad.

Comrade John L. Michel of the First Ward is determined to wake 'em up so he slips in six and we put them on the list.

If somebody don't stop Comrade Fred Myers, all of the Plutes will soon have to put on a pair of overalls and go to work. To bring that worthy day nearer he brings in five

The zero weather has been very bad for the "grave-digger's" health, but we expect to issue a favorable bulletin next week. Comrades N. C. Gallentin, W. A. Ellis and T. B. Fisher have reported the trouble, "lack of the proper amount of exercise." For a tonic, they gave him three subs, each.

Comrade Fred Outcalt brings in two for a year each, and reports "that it's like pulling teeth to get some of them to subscribe the first time, but after that, it a cinch." Comrade Outcalt is a good loyal Booster.

Comrade E. S. Marquette of the Tenth Ward landes two. Another Booster who is always on the job.

Each of the following Comrades drove two spikes in the coffin of Capitalism, this week: A. Watson, C. N. Auckerman, A. L. Kimble, G. H. F. Fries, Wm. M. Califfe, Adolph Meier, T. C. Rector, and A. Wright. You can't beat us.

The Plutes papers made a mistake. It wasn't the Ground Hog saw his shadow, Feb. 2nd, it was Capitalism. The monster glanced at its own horrible shadow which scared it half to death, and as it fled the following Comrades bombarded it with one or more subs: G. E. Birmingham, E. L. Fries, F. Diebert, O. D. Dillingham, W. C. Bates, J. P. Bohnert, F. Kinnear, J. H. Jeager, J. W. Northuf, T. C. Southard, J. A. Schumm, C. C. Straub, Agnes Vaughn, Geo. Smith, F. P. Zimpfer, H. Wilhelm, W. R. Evans, J. E. Walker, Grant Cusack, H. E. Owen, J. H. White, Geo. Koehler, Bert Clickenger, E. J. Dutton, L. L. Nothstine, E. M. Underwood, Adam King, J. R. Lohr, K. H. McCloey, A. L. Snedeker, Ernest Brown, Carlton Berry, C. R. Sweringer, F. D. Townsend, Jos. Weckstine, Wm. King, E. A. Palmer, M. W. Cooper, Jasper S. Dean and J. A. Bradley.

And don't forget the Red Ticket when you purchase from our advertisers. If you haven't got tickets, tell them you saw their ad in this paper.

This is important, Comrades, as we must use our purchasing power to support our paper. If you are out of Red Tickets, remember we have plenty on hand.

GET READY FOR A DAILY

Now is the Time to Get Ready for a Daily.

The Socialist has been in existence over one year. From the first it has had to fight and fight hard to hold its own. This paper was born of necessity, started with practically no capital and, of course, had to meet all obstacles that usually confront a Socialist paper.

Today, with a rising subscription list and a fair amount of advertising, "The Socialist" comes nearer to paying its expenses than ever before. As the class war grows ever fiercer and fiercer it becomes necessary to put this paper not only on a solid financial foundation for the present but to be prepared when our present contract expires in January, 1913, to be able to own a printing plant of our own.

Many friends and readers of this paper have urged that we make a campaign to sell the balance of our capital stock and that all money so secured be placed in a separate fund for the purpose of securing our own plant. We have on hand yet to be sold 880 shares of stock. Each share is worth $10.00, payable $1.00 down and $1.00 per month.

With this stock subscribed for at once you can readily see that at the end of this year we wil lhave a fund of $8,800.00 with which to equip our own plant.

Remember, there are only 880 shares yet to sell and if you want to see this paper made the greatest fighting machine in this country in the interest of the working class you should subscribe at once for at least one share.

When you come to think of it, $8,800.00 is not much. And yet, how much it means to "The Socialist." The only difficult part of raising the amount is in getting you to make up your mind to start.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND. Resolve to be one of the first to give this effort a good start. Give others a good example to follow. Take as many shares as you wish or can, but get behind the proposition by sending in this application at once.

PLEADS FOR ASSISTANCE FOR SUFFERING BUTTON WORKERS.

F. M. Moody Tells of Strike—Says Employers Broke Pact With Workers—Charges Police With Cruelty.

"I am seeking aid for the suffering strikers of Muscatine, Ia.," said F. M. Moody, button worker, who is in Columbus. "If you could only witness the atrocious cruelties of the officials in our city your heart would go out to the struggling men and women.

"The trouble betwen the Button Workers' Protective Union of Muscatine, and the manufacturers, started in November, 1910, when the organization, which had only seven members, took a mushroom growth and sprang to 3,000 members—2,200 men and 800 women. When the manufacturers realized the growth, in February, 1911, notices were placed in the factories, notifying the workers that the plants would be closed down. We had only a few minutes' notice, as it was Saturday night and the great mass of workers had no opportunity to find work elsewhere.

"The executive board of the union called the president of the Manufacturers' Association to ascertain the cause of the lockout. The information the board received was that the union had grown in such proportions that the manufacturers feared the workers would make demands that they could not meet. They told us that the only way we could get back into the factories would be by tearing up our union cards and disband as a union. This, of course, we would not do.

"After eleven weeks of strife on our part we signed agreements through the Governor of the State to return to work with right of organization without discrimination. The first day after our return the manufacturers violated their agreement with the Governor. We called on the Governor for aid, but he told us it was beyond his power to make the manufacturers abide by their agreement.

Would Not Stick to Agreement.

"After this the 'batle royal' began, many men and women were discharged for holding union cards.

"We are struggling to save our lives from the hands of Chicago sluggers, who have been imported to Muscatine to beat us into submission. I myself have felt the strong arm of the sluggers, having had my jajw bone broken by a black jack. Many others, including women and girls, have been beaten because they were doing peaceful picket duty.

"Even the manufacturers, wearing the badges of deputy marshals, are parading the streets doing police duty.

Strikers Are Suffering.

"The strikers are in need of food, clothing and other necessities of life.

"Children under 14 have been arrested and thrown into prison because in their enthusiasm they called non-union workers 'scabs.' They arrested one girl, about 12, for doing picket duty and placed her in a cell with three men over night, without any charge being preferred against her.

"At another time two women were brought before the chief of police without any charge against them. The chief is said to have told the policeman not to arrest them again but 'beat their heads off,' and the police have taken that line of action ever since."

BARTENDERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Bartenders' International League No. 493 has elected and installed the following officers:

Michael Turney, President; Jerry Nevil, Vice President; Chas. Miranda, Financial Secretary and Treasurer; James Crane, Recording Secretary; Edward Lang, Chaplain; Joseph Keller, Inside Guard.

The local union is making good progress.

FROM JOURNEYMAN BARBER.

Kindly give space to this short article, wishing to let all readers of the Journal know what has happened during the past month with Local 204. While everything has been very quiet we made a small gain in membership. Owing to the holidays several candidates waited until January, 1912, to get in line. During the past year of 1911 Local 204 gained over two hundred in membership (not so bad for a bum organization) and hope we can be alive enough during 1912 to gain as many more. I think with the way the indicator points right now that we will come very close, as I have more force to back me up with Brother Will McCauley as president, not to speak ill of our past president, as Brother P. H. Balzer did his work well and spent many extra hours for Local 204. I myself can extend many congratulations to Brother Balzer for the good work he did during his term in the chair during the year 1911, while Brother McCauley has a more forceful and controlling way, and I will say is more determined, and determination is what it takes in presiding over any and all meetings of any and all organizations.

Local 204 is making every preparation to hold the greatest mass meeting that was ever held in Columbus for the purpose of bettering conditions in general, and we hope to induce every boss, as well as every journeyman barber to attend, which will be held on or about February 12, 1912.

We had an election and the following officers were elected:

President—Will McCauley.
Vice-President—J. E. Valentine.
Corresponding Financial Secretary—C. C. Apple.
Recorder—H. L. Blair.
Treasurer—E. D. Barnett.
Guide—Spencer Miller.

ANOTHER SYSTEM FEDERATION.

Denver, Feb. 3.—A System Federation of the employes in the operative department of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, numbering approximately 3,000, has just been effected. This Federation represents the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. This is the first System Federation among the brotherhoods to occur, and is following out the policy of the American Federation of organizations in federating organizations in federating organizations employed outside of the operating department.

SLEUTHS "PLANT" DYNAMITE.

Massachusetts Officials Declare Employers Use Old Trick to Start Reign of Terror.

"It is an unusual course for me to comment on a criminal case, but there are indications to show that the men and women arrested, charged with having 'planted' dynamite in this city, are innocent victims of a plot of some persons interested in maintaining a reign of terror in this city."

The above statement was made last week by Judge J. J. Mahoney of Lawrence, Mass., at the hearing of strikers charged with attempting to blow up the woolen mills of that city.

Members of the Massachusetts state police were just as emphatic in their opinion that the dynamite was "planted" by imported thugs only interested in holding soft snaps. Captain Proctor of the state police said: "You may say officially that we have entirely disconnected the dynamite incident from the textile strike. The strikers had nothing to do with planting the explosive. It is not difficult to trace the dynamite, but it is difficult to get evidence that will convict."

REFERENDUM ORDERED.

On Question of Workmen's Compensation and Old-Age Pension for Brewery Workers.

As the members are already informed through the Brewery Workers' Journal, the committee appointed in conformity with a decision of the last convention, together with a committee appointed for the same purpose by the United States Brewers' Association, have agreed upon a plan to establish a workmen's compensation and old-age pension system for brewery workers. The entire membership of our International Union now has to decide whether the plan shall become a reality and whether the conditions of the members shall be considerably improved through the adoption of the plan.

For that purpose the International Executive Board, according to Article XIV of the constitution, hereby orders a referendum or popular vote to be taken. The time for discussion of the question under consideration in the Brewery Workers' Jounal is hereby set for the thirty days between February 15, 1912, and March 15, 1912; the vote has accordingly to be taken between March 15, 1912, and April 15, 1912. The official ballots will be sent to secretaries of the local unions at the proper time.

THE IRISH OF IT.

Two Irishmen died, so the story ran. One went to heaven and the other didn't. Mike called down to Pat:

"What arre yez doin', Pat?"

"Shovelin' coal."

"Arre yez workin' harrd?"

"Not very. We has shifts an' work only three hours a day. What arre yez doin' up there in Hivin?"

"O'im sweepin' the golden stairs."

"Arre yez workin' hard?"

"Yis. Oi hov to worrk eighteen hours a day. We're short of men up here!"

INDIANA SOCIALIST TICKET.

The Socialists of Indiana have already named their State ticket as follows:

Governor, Stephen M. Reynolds, Terre Haute; Lieutenant Governor, S. S. Condo, Marion; Secretary of State, Dr. R. C. Townsend; Auditor, William Sheffler; Treasurer, John W. Farmer; Clerk Supreme Court, W. H. Jackman; Attorney General, W. V. McGregor; Superintendent Public Instruction, Miss Florence Wattles; Geologist, S. C. Garrison; Statistician, Mrs. Carl Ott; Supreme Court, District 1, Charles L. Bourne; Supreme Court, District 4, S. B. Teplin; Appellate Court, District 1, F. W. Long.

Among the greatest givers of the world are the workers who give all but barely enough to keep themselves alive.

STREET CAR MEN'S UNION A FACT.

Treasurer Resin Orr of the Amalgamated Car Men, and Business Agent Quinlivan of the C. L. U. are still "on the job" of organizing the local street car men, who evince a ready response when away from company "spotters." Orr and Quinlivan are working night and day, and their incessant efforts during the past several months is now bearing fruit.

Traction Company seems to have changed its policy. Its "detectives" no longer follow the unionists. Neither is Orr's hotel or the home of Quinlivan watched. The reason for this is unknown, but it makes little difference—the Street Car Men's Union is a fact. The day can be hastened if organized workers continue their agitation.—Toledo Leader.

THE LATEST POSTAL ORDER.

Washington, Feb. 3.—In a recent order issued by the Postmaster General is included an executive order from the President amending Civil Service Rule XII, relating to removals and reductions of classified employes. It is rather a one-sided affair, done without question to cloud the situation, and practically gives no redress to any postal employe as far as removal or reduction is concerned. Under Section 2 of the order it states: "A person whose removal is proposed shall be furnished with a statement of reasons and be allowed a reasonable time for personally answering such reasons in writing, but no examination of witnesses nor any trial or hearing shall be required except in the discretion of the officers making the removal. Copy of such reasons and answer and of the order of removal shall be made a part of the records of the proper department of office, and the Commission shall upon its request be furnished with a copy of the record in the case. The above procedure shall be followed in like manner in reduction in grade or compensation." But now look at the fourth section, in view of what is contained in Section 2: "The Commission shall have no jurisdiction to review the findings of a removing officer upon the reasons and answer provided for in Section 2 of this rule, nor shall the Commission have authority to investigate any removal or reduction unless it is alleged, with offer of proof, that the procedure required by Section 2, of this rule has not been followed, or that the removal was made for political or religious reasons." Apparently the Postoffice Department is determined not to permit an appeal from the decision of any departmental head.

CAN DEPORT CHINESE.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Chinese, like other foreigners, may be deported by order of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and are not entitled to have a judicial determination of their rights to remain in this country. The Supreme Court has so decided, holding that the United States Circuit Court of Appeals was wrong in preventing the Secretary from deporting Wong You and four other Chinamen, alleged to have been smuggled into New York from Canada. Secretary Nagel said that the decision of the lower court greatly compromised his department.

AN EIGHT HOUR DECISION.

Boston, Feb. 3.—A decision that is far reaching has been rendered by Judge Ely in the first session of the Municipal Court, when he found that a contractor who had employed a night watchman in excess of eight hours was not guilty of violating the eighthour law. The point was raised by the attorney that a night watchman was not a working man within the meaning of the act of the Legislature, and the Municipal Court judge apparently took that view of the matter and rendered the decision as above stated.

HARRIMAN STRIKE.

Reports fom Various Sections of Territory Reveal Progress Being Made by System Federation.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—The president of an international union, having made an extended tour of the West, has just returned to Chicago. He was particularly interested in noting the effect of the Harriman strike on the operation of trains, and other instances in relation thereto. He reports that in his trip from Salt Lake to Ogden, Butte, Montana; Pendleton, Oregon; Seattle, Portland, Oregon, and then south to Los Angeles, trains were nearly all late, almost wholly due to defective equipment. From Los Angeles back by way of Phoenix, Arizona, to El Paso and San Antonio, Texas, trains were running from one hour to ten hours late; the same reasons applying as above noted. It was further stated that the strikers at the various points affirmed that the passenger service is being taken care of, but that the freight service was practically demoralized. It is a common practice now to use freight engines on passenger trains, thus showing the lack of repairs. It was stated that the situation as a whole looked extremely favorable to the strikers, taking into consideration the fact that there have been very few desertions, and also that it is rumored that the officials of the Harriman System are becoming disheartened over their attempt to deny the recognition of the System Federation. The outlook for the future seems to be bright.

NEW CONSTITUTION FOR LOCAL COLUMBUS SOCIALIST PARTY

ARTICLE I.

The name of this organization shall be Local Columbus of the Socialist Party, and it shall be affiliated with the Socialist Party of Ohio and the United States; and with the County Local of Franklin after the revision of the State Constitution of the Socialist Party, permitting such affiliation.

ARTICLE II.
Organisation.

Section 1. The organization shall be composed of ward branches and language branches within the corporate limits of the City of Columbus, duly organized in accordance with this Constitution.

ARTICLE III.
Ward Branches.

Section 1. The membership of each ward branch of Local Columbus shall be composed of at least five persons, who subscribe to the principles as embodied in the National and State Constitution of the Socialist Party. No more than one branch of any one language shall be organized in any one ward.

Sec. 2. Language branches other than English, composed of party members, may organize separately in their given language as local or ward branches, but shall not be recognised in ward political matters, except as individuals, in conjunction with English branches.

Sec. 3. The officers of ward branches shall consist of a Chairman, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Financial Secretary, Treasurer, Organizer and Literature Agent. These with the exception of the Chairman are to be elected for one year. The Chairman to be elected at each meeting.

Sec. 4. Organized ward branches shall elect their officers and delegates to the City Local Committee during the month of December. Officers and delegates shall assume their term of office the first business meeting in January.

Sec. 5. Applicants for membership in ward branches shall be elected by ballot. Applicants receiving two-thirds vote of the branch members voting shall be referred to the City Local Committee for final action.

Sec. 6. Regular dues shall be 25c per month payable in advance. A branch may order the dues of any one of its members unable to pay on account of unemployment or sickness, paid out of the treasury.

Sec. 7. When a member becomes three months in arrears he shall not be in good standing, and shall have no vote on party matters.

Sec. 8. Any member may be suspended or expelled by a two-thirds vote of the members of the branch voting, provided that he has written charges preferred against him and has had a fair trial, and such action referred to City Local Committee for further action.

Sec. 9. Each branch shall hold at least one meeting a month.

Sec. 10. Branches may make such sub-divisions and carry on their work as they may deem necessary, provided they do not violate the principles of the Local, State and National Constitution.

ARTICLE IV.
City Local Committee.

Section 1. The City Local Committee shall be composed of one delegate at large from each ward and language branch and he shall be the Branch Organizer, and one additional delegate for each twenty-five members or major fraction thereof of members in good standing who are not more than three months in arrears.

Sec. 2. The City Local Committee shall be elected annually and each member must present proper credentials of his election from his branch.

Sec. 3. The City Local Committee shall fulfill all legal requirements of the Socialist Party of Columbus, and conduct the work of organization, education and agitation; call general meetings and conventions of the Local; conduct the general correspondence; transact the business of the Local with the State and National Secretaries; employ an organizer and conduct general propaganda meetings.

Sec. 4. The officers of the City Local Committee shall be: Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Financial Secretary, Treasurer, Organizer and Literature Agent. These are to be elected for one year. The Chairman to be elected at each meeting. The City Local Committee may also elect such standing and special committees as it may deem necessary to carry on special work.

Sec. 5. The revenue of the City Local Committee shall be derived from the sale of due stamps at 18c each to the branches (of which it shall remit 10c for State and National work) and from such other agencies as may be adopted.

Sec. 6. It shall be the duty of the delegates to the City Local Committee. Any delegate failing to attend three consecutive meetings without acceptable excuse to the City Local Committee shall forfeit his position and his branch notified of the vacancy and instructed to elect another delegate. It shall be optional with the branches to change their delegates at any time.

Sec. 7. The City Local Committee shall have the power to suspend the proceedings of any branch that it may consider in violation of the National State, County or Local Constitution of the party, and shall call a general mass meeting of the Local party membership within two weeks, upon demand of such branch, and take action thereon.

Sec. 8. All acts of the City Local Committee shall be final until altered by a party referendum vote.

Sec. 9. All members of the party in good standing shall have a voice but not a vote in all meetings of the City Local Committee, or any of its sub-committees.

Sec. 10. The City Local Committee shall approve or reject all applications for membership, after the applicant has been recommended by a two-thirds vote of the branch, after which if approved, the applicant may be obligated by his respective branch. All applications must be accompanied by 25c initiation fee.

Sec. 11. The City Local Committee shall make arrangements for at least one mass meeting of Local Columbus, to be held the first Sunday in each month for the purpose of propaganda and the dispensing of such business as may come before it.

Standing Committees and Duties of of Same.

Sec. 12. (1) Committee on Constitution and By-Laws—To consider any alleged or apparent conflicts of the Local Constitution with the State and National Constitution. To pass on the advisability of any proposed amendments or changes. To have in charge any referendum submitted to the membership and to canvass and compile the vote on same. To construe the meaning of any doubtful clauses and provide for a clearer statement of same committee to report back to City Local Committee for final action.

(2) Committee on Organization—Shall be composed of the Organizer of Local Columbus and five other members elected by the City Local Committee. To assist in the work of perfecting the general and special organization of the Socialist Party of Columbus to the end of securing a uniform system of organization throughout the city and as a standing committee of Local Columbus it may assist other Locals of Franklin County to form and perfect a county organization.

(3) Committee on Resolutions and Publicity—To draw up or to recommend any resolutions deemed desirable and to take action on such resolutions as have been adopted. To look after press notices, announcements, etc. This committee of three to comprise one member who is connected with the "Columbus Socialist." But any resolution may be introduced direct to the City Local Committee and adopted.

(4) Propaganda and Literature Committee—Of which the Financial Secretary and Literature Agent of the City Local Committee be members ex-officio and consisting of three other members, same to secure speakers, halls, to pass on and recommend desirable propaganda literature and to arrange for the proper advertising and conduct of meetings, etc., and when necessary and desirable to work in conjunction with the Campaign Committee, also to devise ways and means for the procurement of adequate funds for the proper conduct and prosecution of any work.

(5) Committee on Data—To provide for attendance at the City Council meetings and for reports on same. To provide for attendance at the General Assembly and reports on same and to look after and consider such other matters of party interest as may be recommended to them.

(6) Campaign Committee—We recommend the continuation of the present Campaign Committee of Franklin County, and that it assist the Committee on Organization in the work of establishing a county organization.

(7) Finance Committee—This committee shall be composed of three members. Their duty shall be to first pass on all bills brought before the City Local Committee. Also to look after the finances of the City Local Committee.

ARTICLE V.
The Vigilance Committee.

Section 1. The Vigilance Committee shall consist of one member of each ward branch in the city and one member of each township branch in the county. Only members of one year's continuous membership shall be eligible for this office.

Sec. 2. The ward members shall compose the City Vigilance Committee, and the ward branch members and the township members shall compose the County Vigilance Committee.

Sec. 3. In the first week in February each respective ward and township local shall meet and elect its member for the Vigilance Committee. Their term of office shall be one year. They shall meet the second week in February and organize, by electing a permanent Corresponding and Recording Secretary.

Sec. 4. The duty of the Vigilance Committee shall be to examine the qualifications of all members suggested as candidates for public office, with respect to period of membership, character, general fitness and ability for specific office for which they have been suggested, and the expediency or inexpediency of any member becoming a candidate for office, and for reasons that might be calculated to injure the party's welfare. It shall report its findings in writing to the party in mass convention, providing however that any candidate who may be disqualified shall have the right to defend his qualifications before the party in mass convention. The committee shal adopt its own rules and method of proceedure to secure all such information as to the qualifications of members suggested for public office.

Sec. 5. The Secretary shall notify all members who have been suggested and approved of their proposed nomination by the party, and shall receive from each a signed declaration of loyalty to the Socialist Party's principles, platform, and discipline at least one week before the party referendum is taken on nominations.

ARTICLE VI.
The City Central Committee.

Section 1. The City Central Committee shall be composed of one member of each ward in the City of Columbus.

Sec. 2. The candidates for the City Central Committee shall be nominated by their respective ward branches. Where no ward branch exists, such candidates shall be designated to the City Central Committee by the party in mass convention.

Sec. 3. Within fifteen days after the election of the City Central Committee, they shall proceed to elect a Chairman and Secretary and an Executive Committee of seven members, designated by the City Local Committee in mass convention.

Sec. 4. The duties of the City Central Committee shall be such as prescribed by the election laws of the State of Ohio and such additional duties as the Socialist Party Local of the City of Columbus may designate.

ARTICLE VII.
The County Central Committee.

Section 1. The County Central Committee shall be composed of one member of each ward and township of Franklin County.

Sec. 2. The candidates of the County Central Committee shall be nominated by their respective ward and township locals. Where there is no such ward or township local, such candidates shall be nominated by the County Central Committee.

Sec. 3. Within fifteen days after the election of the County Central Committee, they shall proceed to elect a Chairman and Secretary and an Executive Committee of seven members, designated by the Franklin County membership in mass convention.

Sec. 4. The duties of the County Central Committee shall be such as prescribed by the election laws of the State of Ohio, and such additional duties as the Socialist Party of Franklin County may designate.

BY-LAWS.

Section 1. All officers and members of committees shall be elected by ballot where there is opposition, otherwise by acclamation.

Sec. 2. Election of officers shall be held annually at the first regular business meeting in December. It shall be the duty of the Chairman to announce the election of officers at the last meeting before the time set, but his failure to do so shall not invalidate the election.

Sec. 3. Installation of officers shall take place the first meeting in January, except in special elections to fill vacancies, when installation may take place immediately.

Sec. 4. The Chairman must be elected at each meeting and may be chosen by acclamation, unless where otherwise provided.

Sec. 5. All officers and members of standing committees shall be elected for the term of one year subject to recall, or until their successors are elected and installed; except when the election is to fill a vacancy caused by an unexpired term.

Sec. 6. The Chairman shall preside only at the meeting for which he is elected, preserve order, and sign all orders on the Treasury regularly authorized at such meeting.

Sec. 7. The Recording and Corresponding Secretary shall keep a correct record of all meetings of the City Local Committee, including all financial transactions, attend to all correspondence, call roll of delegates, issue all orders on the treasury, and to be the custodian of all bonds or contracts that may hereafter be provided for.

Sec. 8. The Financial Secretary shall receive all moneys and give a receipt for same. He shall turn all cash over to the Treasurer and receive his recitp therefor. He shall purchase all due stamps from the State Secretary, and make regular reports to him called for by the State Constitution.

Sec. 9. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive all moneys of the Financial Secretary, giving his receipt for same, to pay all bills authorized by the City Local Committee, signed by the Chairman and Recording Secretary of the meeting.

Sec. 10. The Literature Agent when authorized by the City Local Committee, shall purchase all literature intended to be sold and furnish same to literature agents of ward branches at cost. He shall keep a correct account of all sales and purchases made, and make a report in writing the first business meeting in each month, and turn his cash over to the Treasurer.

Sec. 11. The Organizer shall call the City Local Committee to order, and preside for the election of Chairman. He shall endeavor to organize new branches and increase the membership of those organized. He shall make a general report to the City Local Committee the first business meeting in each month. Special organizers may be employed.

Sec. 12. The Auditing Committee shall take an inventory of all properties of the City Local Committee and audit all books of the officers and committees and report to the City Local Committee before the officers are installed for the ensuing year. It shall make special audits in case of vacancy, or as the City Local Committee may require.

Sec. 13. Regular meetings shall be held each week at such time and place as the City Local Committee may select. Special meetings may be called at the regular meetings by a majority of the members present or by the Corresponding Secretary between meetings.

Sec. 14. Meetings shall be called to order by the Organizer for the election of Chairman, or in his absence, by any one of the other officers in the order of precedence named in Article III, Section 4 of the Constitution. In the absence of all officers any member may call the meeting to order and preside for the election of Chairman.

Sec. 15. Reports of all officers and standing committees shall be in writing.

Sec. 16. All committees may elect their own officers, unless where otherwise provided herein, and make such rules as they think best in accordance with this Constitution and By-Laws. A majority of the members of a committee may constitute a quorum. Vacancies caused by the removal, resignation or death, may be filled at the next regular meeting of the City Local Committee.

Sec. 17. Organized branches shall elect their delegates to the City Local Committee in the month of December and such delegates must qualify and organize the City Local Committee the first meeting in January. The number of delegates from each ward and language branch shall be based on the number of members in good standing on the first day of December.

Sec. 18. All branches through their respective Financial Secretary shall report to the City Local Committee on the first day of each month their financial standing and general condition, on report blanks furnished by the Financial Secretary of the City Local Committee.

Sec. 19. Any of these By-Laws may be suspended at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members present.

Sec. 20. The number of delegates corresponding to the number of branches represented in the City Local Committee shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 21. Proposed changes of these By-Laws and Constitution shall be presented in writing by any member, provided however it has received the endorsement of his respective branch. Such proposed changes must be referred to a party referendum and receive a majority vote to become effective.

Sec. 22. Roberts' Rules of Order shall be the parliamentary law in cases not provided for in this Constitution and By-Laws.

Sec. 23. All motions to lay on the table shall be debatable before action is taken on same.

Sec. 24. The following shall be the regular order of business:

1. Roll call of delegates.
2. Credentials of new delegates.
3. Reading and approving of minutes.
4. Reading of applications and action thereon.
5. Admission of new members and obligation.
6. Communications and bills.
7. Report of Organizer.
8. Report of Committees.
9. Unfinished business.
10. New business.
11. Good and welfare.
12. Subscriptions for paper.
13. Receipts and expenditures.
14. Adjournment.

MISCELLANEOUS.

That no member be permitted to serve on more than three standing committees.

That a majority of the members of any committee must be chosen from the members of the City Local Committee. That all matters which may be referred to these standing committees be presented in written form to the Recording Secretary who shall keep a check on same and at once present same to the proper committees. That the standing committees shall have no power to take action on any matters without the consent or sanction of the City Local Committee, except in cases where quick action is necessary and it is manifestly to the interest of Local Columbus that such action be taken. That standing committees must in all cases report back to the City Local Committee either favorably or unfavorably within two weeks.

We recommend that a bulletin of motion of constant application be compiled and kept in a convenient form and place for ready reference of members and committees. That a "Directory" of the composition of "standing committees" with residence address, phone number, etc., be made up and posted in a conspicuous place in the City Local Committee Hall.

Adopted.

COMMERCIAL OLIGARCHY.

Editor The Socialist:

It is very evident that the workingmen—the poletariat, must solve the momentous problem—equity to the masses.

To do so a new regime will supplant the one now in vogue. Indirect representation must give way to direct legislation. This implies the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall.

Now is the opportune time for the poletriat to make their power felt in the reformation of our State Constiution for their common good. The Ohio State Constitution needs a most thorough revision. Our form of government is in need of radical change. Our so-called representative government is a misnomer. Our legislative halls have been but "stock pits," wherein the "Bulls and Bears" of a commercial oligarchy have gambled away the people's rights. The common people have been hampered by legislative enactments, both state and municipal, that favor the vested interests to the detriment of the common good.

The purpose of this and following article is to blaze a way out of this wilderness of discontent—this jungle of imbecility. Many old landmarks must be destroyed and new modern guide-posts set in their stead. The present Constitutional Convention is now in session for this purpose, or should be. It is up to the people to see that the Convention prepares a highway of deliverance broad enough to accommodate the masses. We communites must insist that the the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall become main pillars of the new constitution. It should really be the keystone of the whole fabric. Predatory interests will fight this delegated power to the last ditch. The old party politicians, reinforced by the judicial functionaries of the state and municipal governments, will do everything in their power to defeat the adoption of the Recall into the constitution.

Let the Shibboleth of the poletariat be—"Judicial Recall." The man who cannot say that from his heart is no friend to the toilers. Class him with the Ephraimites.

Upon the adoption of the Recall depends the ultimate success of the Initiative and the Referendum.

Apropos to this discussion President Taft is quoted as follows: "We don't believe that all the people are fitted for popular government. Some of us don't dare say so, but I do; and the question whether a people is fited for popular self-government depends upon the restraint the minority can place upon the majority to see that justice is done."

Here you have the oligarchic idea of government in a nutshell.

The plain English interpretation of the above Taft sentiment is this:

THAT WORKINGMEN ARE ALL UNFITTED FOR POPULAR SELF-GOVERNMENT, and THAT HIS DIVINELY APPOINTED JUDGES ARE THE "RESTRAINING" ADMINISTRATORS OF THE INJUSTICE DONE THE COMMERICAL OLIGARCHY BY THE "UNFITTED" IN TIMES OF INDUSTRIAL STRIFE, OR POLITICAL DISCUSSIONS.

The workingmen of Ohio—the "unfited for popular self-government," should demand by all the power of their constitutional rights that the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall of the judiciary, and municipal home rule become fundamental tenets in the new constitution, and thereby make themselves eligible to first-class citizenship.

My next article will be on "Industrial Democracy," which, with this one, is a preface to the subject I promised on "The Municipal Equqity League, in which we will discuss the feasibility of plans to reduce the cost of living.

Comrade Prosser Calls Pittsburg Preacher Down

Shows Up Men and Religion Forward Movement.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 1.—Although instructions have been issued, it is said, by the leaders of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, conducting an eight days' campaign in Pittsburg, calling for the elimination of politics from meetings, prominent speakers of the movement and Socialists continue to clash here. A sharp exchange of words between Raymond Robins, of Chicago, and Rev. W. A. Prosser, a local Socialist, today in the Second Presbyterian Church practically resulted in the meeting breaking up in confusion.

Yesterday Rev. John Dean, of California, was continually interrupted while holding a meeting in the plant of the Union Steel Company by Socialists shouting: "Isn't J. Pierpont Morgan paying you fellows to come around here to smash the Socialists?" On Tuesday Mr. Robins, during a tilt with Rev. Prosser, dubbed the minister an "intellectual ass."

The trouble today came when Rev. Prosser asked Mr. Robins how he squared church work with the condition of the laboring man. Mr. Robins started to answer, but the preacher, alleging the reply was not straightforward, demanded that he answer the question as asked.

"I know what you want. You're a politician," Mr. Robins retorted.

"I'm simply seeking information, and demand a direct answer," thundered Rev. Prosser, jumping to his feet.

At this juncture handclapping and shouts from the audience put an end to the debate. Many persons started to leave the church, and it was with difficulty that a short dismissal prayer was hurriedly offered.

Previous to the opening of the campaign in this city cards were distributed among the mill employes and other workers. Printed on the cards was a series of questions which the men were asked to answer. Two of them, "Are you a Socialist?" "Are you a union man?" brought many protests. Many men who had favored the movement asserted the questions were impertinent, and objected.

BOY SCOUT HANDBOOK.

The Boy Scouts a peace organization? Yes, just as the army is a peace organization! No war is taught the Boy Scouts. Tell it to the marines! Look at these subjects taken from the index to the Scout Handbook, the official Scout publication:

Subject.	Page.
Uniforms	23
War Songs	25
Morse Code	56
Wig-way or Myer Code	58
Use of Firearms	81
First Aid to the Injured	93
Archery	115

Hostile Spy	150
The Man Hunt	151
Spear Fights	152
War Dance	156
Throwing the Assegai	164
How to Teach Stalking	166
Stop the Thief	168
Smugglers Over the Border	168
Siberian Man Hunt	172
Target Shooting	182
Long Range, Clout, or Flight Shooting	188

Very keenly thought out, isn't it? Very nicely planned to appeal to all boy instincts and at the same time to fit him for "more serious business" later on. How cunningly arranged to instill a love of war and "obedience to employers." Get your thinking cap on!

UNION MEN EARN $3.00; NON-UNION MEN $1.50

Does it pay to organize?

Well, rather!

Here are two instances from Warroad, Minn., where there are two railroads, the Great Northern and the Canadian Northern.

On the Great Northern the section men are unorganized. On the Canadian Northern railroad the men are organized in a strong maintenance of way employes' union.

On the Great Northern the men receive from $1.35 to $1.50 per day. On the Canadian Northern only a few feet away, the men are receiving $3.00 per day.

In Warroad there are two railroads. Warroad is small and the work upon the railroads is about all that is offered men. Note the great difference in pay. As the result of a trade agreement every common laborer on the Canadian Northern is receiving at least $3.00 per day.

F. H. Fijjordal, of Warroad, general chairman of the Canadian Northern of the maintenance of way employes, was in Duluth a few days ago and during the course of a visit paid to The Labor World, he told of the working conditions on the two railroads at Warroad.

In aCnada the section men on the railroads are well organized. In the United States they are not so well organized and this, no doubt, accounts for the improved conditions of our Canadian cousins over the Americans engaged in the same vocation.

In Minnesota section foremen are receiving but from $1.75 to $2.00 per day. In Canada section foremen for the same work are getting from $75 to $100 a month.

The minimum wage paid for railroad work throughout Canada is $2.00 per day. The wage was once the same as is now being paid in Minnesota previous to the thorough organization of the maintenance of way men.

What means this pernicious activity among the military organizations (both church and state) and the Boy Scouts? Is it one of Andy's strategic moves for peace?

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The Convention is finally settling down to work, and the committees have been busy this last week with hearings and discussions on various proposals submitted which at the close of business Thursday had reached a total of 315 with still more to come.

The Labor Committee has given the subject of Workmen's Compensation for accidents and occupational diseases the first consideration, and a thorough discussion of the three proposals submitted on the subject was entered into at the meeting of the committee Monday evening, resulting in the appointment of a sub-committee consisting of Tetlow, Dwyer, Dagner, Thomas and Cordes, to draft out a suitable amendment covering this subject for recommendation to the Convention.

Brother William Davio, of Cleveland, who enjoys the unique distinction of being the smallest delegate in point of stature in the Convention, and who follows the trade of lather when he is not mixed up in Constitutional Convention work, dropped in one of the big proposals of the week. Davio proposes in his measure to amend the constitution so as to confer upon the State, county and municipality, the right to engage in any business, occupation or enterprise, whether that business be building railroads, operating public utilities, or projects of lesser magnitude and importance in the commercial realm.

The Legislative Committee, to which this proposal was referred, took up this proposition at one of its night sessions this week, and proposes to go into the subject deeper at another meeting which will probably be held within the next few days. The importance of this proposal is so self-evident that comment is unnecessary.

The Convention has adopted stringent rules to keep lobbyists off the floor, and out of the smoking room during the sessions of the Convention. Despite this fact, the Bell Telephone Company placed its chief lobbyist in the smoking room as telephone attendant; he was promptly fired by resolution of Thomas, of Cuyahoga County. The Telephone Company replaced him with another attendant whom the Senate last year refused to employ, and a motion by Thomas is now pending to fire both company employes as attendants, and have the Convention designate one of its own employes to do the work.

Proposals submitted by labor delegates this week, are 164 by Thomas, providing for one Legislative Body with the Initiative and Referendum.

Mr. Thomas' measure provides for the abolition of the Senate and vests the power now exercised by that body in the hands of the House of Representatives, the people to have the right to adopt or reject any measure initiated by themselves or proposed by the Legislators.

Brother Stillwell, of Cuyahoga County, has proposed an amendment to the constitution which takes away from individuals, companies or corporations, the right to organize, maintain or employ an armed force or body of men for the purpose of intimidating members of organized labor in industrial disputes.

Brother Stillwell has offered a second proposal, which specifies that no person who is not a citizen of the United States, or has not declared his intention of becoming such, shall be employed on any State, county or municipal work. The amendment delegates to the General Assembly the authority to see that the aforesaid provisions are properly enforced.

Another proposal by Brother Stillwell: Neither the State nor any political sub-division of the State shall have the right to employ anyone who is not a citizen of the United States or who has not made application to become one.

Providing for Mechanics Liens for workmen and material men.

In addition to these, Wm. Harris has introduced proposal 203, providing that Text Books for the State shall be published by the State; and Wm. Walter Brown, of Lucas, proposal 178, to completely abolish all forms of Contract Prison Labor.

Twenty-five proposed amendments considered by the Convention to be matters which the Legislature has now authority to deal with were disposed of during the week, having been indefinitely postponed.

The Good Roads Committee have reported in favor of bonding the State for the building of Good Roads, and an increase in the tax debt limit, is made permissible within the next ten years for that purpose.

The Judiciary Committee has reported in favor of an amendment permitting three-fourths of a jury to decide civil cases. Both matters will be up for discussion and passage this week.

The Women Suffragists are the real busybodies so far around the Convention hall; they held a special convention in Columbus during the week, and speakers of National reputation were brought here to urge their side of the question.

Miss Barnum, of Chicago, talked on the question of why working women wanted votes. She pointed out the low wages and other deplorable conditions under which women are employed. Said they needed votes to correct them.

The Supreme Court of Ohio has again surprised the workers of Ohio by deciding in favor of the constitutionality of the Woman's Nine-Hour Law. This coming right after the favorable decision on Workmen's Compensation Law, has caused Ophia Moore, Secretary of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, to throw a caniption fit, and he has decided to carry the Women's Law to the United States Supreme Court, and knowing, of course, that he will meet with failure there, he is now asking the Ohio manufacturers to contribute $1,000 each to wipe the Socialists off the face of the earth. If Ophia doesn't meet with any more success in cleaning up the Socialists than he has in trying to defeat labor laws, the manufacturers had better save their money.

The delegates are being flooded with letters, pamphlets, and papers from every conceivable organization on every conceivable subject, except from labor, and it's time for our Central Bodies and Unions to be getting busy in letting the delegates know their wants.

LEGISLATIVE SECY.

The Agricultural Year Book for 1910 declares that more than a third of the farm work of the south is now done by women, and more than three-fourths of these women are white. That is how slavery has been ended, and how southern "chivalry" administered through the Democratic party is wholly hypocritical.

I AM LABOR!

By Walter D. Hilton.

I am Labor! And I raise my head
After ages of subjection; now I rise
Alive among the living. Mouldy dead
Are superstitions and all other ancient lies.

I am Labor! And my opened eyes
See that which was for centuries hid from me.
I look, and lo! the fearsome size
Of things I feared down dwindles, weak and wee.

I am Labor! And I raise my song;
And as I shout, kings hide behind the queens I gowned!
And then, reverberating, long,
The echoes roll and roll and wrap the earth in sound.

I am Labor! And I raise my hand,
The while my muscles play in new found might—
And in the majesty of power make demand:
"THE WORLD—THE WORLD—WITH ALL ITS LIFE AND LIGHT!"

You ride in state on election day, it's true—so you can have a fair chance to vote to walk the remaining 364 days of the year.

ACTIVE YOUNG SOCIALIST IS STRICKEN BY DEATH.

Comrade Otis R. Skinner of First Ward Passes Away Very Suddenly.

Socialists throughout this city were shocked to learn Friday morning that Comrade Otis R. Skinner of the First Ward had died at an early hour at Grant Hospital after a serious surgical operation. He had been in good health until a few days before when he was stricken by appendicitis. Comrade Skinner was one of the most active and efficient workers in our cause in the South End and was a young man whose character and conduct won the respect of all. He was born in Meigs County, Ohio, April 28, 1884, and at death was only 27 years, 9 months and 8 days old. He was married to Miss Minnie Barton, of Rutland, Ohio, July 16, 1910. The same day that Comrade Skinner died twin boys were born to the widowed young mother in a home where expected joy had been turned to grief. Comrade Skinner is survived by his widow and two sons, and his mother, besides two brothers' Charles and Harvey, and his sister, Miss Augusta. He was a trusted employe of the Adamson Bros. Co. The funeral was held last Sunday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. Strickler of the South Side Church of Christ. Hundreds of friends including Socialists attended and the Socialist Band gave two appropriate selections. The pall-bearers were Comrades Zimpfer, Hartman, Townsley, Deibert, Tope and Longstreth. Beautiful floral offerings were a torch of red carnations and a pillow inscribed "Our Comrade." Burial took place near Obetz Junction.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy extended us during our sad bereavement the loss of our beloved husband and brother. We desire to especially thank the Socialist Party, the members of the band and the Comrades who acted as pall-bearers, also the Rev. Mr. Strickler and the members of his choir.

Very truly thankful,

GERMAN SOCIALIST EDITOR LIVED REMARKABLE LIFE

Alexander Jonas, founder of the New Yorker Volkszeitung, who recently died from heart failure, was born on March 14, 1834, in Berlin, where his father was the owner of a large publishing house. When in 1848 a reaction took place, after the revolution, the family removed to a small town about thirty miles outside the city.

Here Alexander Jonas performed his first revolutionary act by posting notices in the town calling upon the people to refuse paying taxes, as the government had not instituted the promised reforms. This action of himself and his brother horrified the townspeople.

He came to these shores with little means, but lofty inspirations, at the time America was still suffering from the upheaval of the Civil War.

He at first entered into a business career, but soon exchanged it for that of journalist, and immediately took an active interest in American politics and long before he had become a full-fledged citizen was extremely well versed in American political, social and economic conditions, one of the first questions to claim his attention and support being that of political equality for women. After organizing the German Woman's Suffrage Association he wrote and spoke in its support at a time when such doctrines were not looked upon with favor.

He contributed weekly to the Neue Zeit (New Era), a weekly devoted to the interests of women, being also at the time editor-in-chief of the Arbeither Stimme (Workingmen's Voice), which position he held until the paper suspended publication.

Jonas was a delegate to the first national political organization of Socialists in this country, the Social Democratic Workingmen's party of North America, which was founded July 4, 1874.

He ran as the first Socialist candidate for mayor in New York City, in 1876, and polled a total of 1,600 votes.

In January, 1878, Jonas founded and became editor-in-chief of the New Yorker Volkszeitung.

His body will be cremated and his funeral is expected to be one of the largest ever held in New York City.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

We are a success! We are entertaining ourselves! Why should not the workers entertain themselves? Last Sunday night we all had a good time listening to the program as announced. A charter member also entertained us with impromptu story-telling.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for securing a suitable theater for our first labor play, "Under The Lash," which we expect to give the last of this month.

Our director of plays, Comrade Stewart, has offered to give free instruction to anyone who will come up early next Sunday night. So pick out some recitation or song or some other suitable offering, even dancing, and come up and improve yourself.

Our entertainment committee has selected the following for some stunt next Sunday night at 7:30:

A reading.
A song,
A dramatic recitation.
Something.

Many other sketches. Everybody is welcome so bring your friends to 335½ South High street and BOOST.

BACHMAN TALKS ABOUT SOCIALISM AND RELIGION

West Side Market Hall Crowded by People Eager to Hear Him Sunday Night.

The meeting at the West Side Market House last Sunday evening was a success in point of attendance and interest. The lack of chairs in the hall compelled over half the audience to stand but the people stood and remained. Comrade W. G. Bates was the chairman and made an effective statement for the subscription department of The Socialist. Comrade Jacob L. Bachman then gave his address on "Socialism and Religion" in which, deviating from his former speeches dealing mainly with Catholicism, he made clear the real relation between the aims of the Socialist propaganda and true religion. He presented the question in a calm, logical manner, demonstrating that Socialists were not fighting religion, but were only opposed to the use of bigotry and superstition as used by the Roman Hierarchy against social and industrial progress. As on former occasions he exhibited the rise, progress and decline of the Papacy in the Old World and its subtle influence as manifested in the United States.

The hall was poorly heated, although The Socialist Publishing Company had paid $10 for the use of the place, while other societies never pay more than $7 and the Republicans and Democrats pay nothing usually. There is a difference you know.

PRISON CONTRACTORS TO VACATE.

The Ohio Board of Administration has given notice to the J. R. Landman Company and the Columbus Bolt Works to vacate the State penitentiary not later than April 15. Thus the contract system comes to an end in the State penal institutions. Here is a striking instance of the way in which prison contractors in collusion with boards of control and prison officials friendly to them can continue the inquitous contract system in violation of the law. In 1906 the legislature was favorable to a bill introduced by Representative Wertz for the abolition of the contract system. The then existing contracts had only a year longer to run. Seeing that the bill would pass, the Board of Control and the contractors cancelled the existing contracts and entered into new ones for as long a term as the law would permit, five years. The bill was enacted but the contracts could not be abrogated, thus continuing them until 1910. Even then the contractors were allowed to operate on the plea that they had unfinished material. Then the press service of the contractors sent statements broadcast that if the convicts were not employed they would go insane, etc. This story was exposed by one of the press agencies and the Ohio Federation of Labor. Finally the Board of Control was abolished by law and a new Board of Administration, free from the influences of the contractors, was appointed. Thus for this long period, after the enactment of the law abolishing the system, the last contractor will have taken his departure form the penitentiary.

SOME PLAIN TALK.

The Civic Center Improvement fad is to my mind like a man coming from the coal room after shoveling coal all day, dressing himself in a clean white shirt and a new suit of white clothes without washing his face and hands. What should be accomplished is the establishment of a Municipal Hospital for contagious disease; commodious and sanitary market houses in the four parts of the city and one in or near the center; more and better school houses that should be opened to the public when the schools are not in session, and further to see that nothing interferes with the MUNICIPAL LIGHT EXTENDER BOND ISSUE. The foregoing will benefit the most useful citizens of the city.

Look up the property from the Union Depot to Town street and from Pearl to Young street and you will find that it is owned in good part by the masters who receive that portion of labor's product that has not been paid. You also will discover that the Czars of Industries and the original masters who are serving by Divine Right have invested in good corner lots and locations that they may give charity entertainments to relieve the want and suffering caused by the present industrial system. Labor will be still further exploited so that more distress may prevail so that the Trustees will have the poor always with them that they may do good works and gain a place in Heaven.

SOCIALIST STATE CONVENTION.

The Socialists of Ohio will meet in State Convention in Columbus, Ohio, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 26, 27 and 28, for the transaction of party business. The official call is being prepared.

HEARING OF STRIKE LEADERS CONTINUES

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 15.—The hearing before Police Judge J. J. Mahoney, in the case of Joseph Ettor, leader of the Textile strikers, and his chief aid, Arturo Giovannitti, on the charges growing out of the shooting of Anna La Pizza, continued with the examination by the State of seven witnesses who told of the events leading up to the clash near the Everett Mills two weeks ago.

Several detectives told wild stories of having heard Ettor and Giovanitti advocate violence, but nobody was found who would swear to having seen them near the place where Anna La Pizza was killed.

The defense had thirty witnesses in attendance, and it was expected that the hearing would not end before Wednesday afternoon. Attorneys for the leaders expected that they would be held for the Grand Jury, but they hoped Judge Mahoney would hold their alleged offense was a bailable one.

The courtroom was guarded by a number of militiamen.

There was little change in the strike situation today.

Children for Philadelphia.

William H. Yates, one of the strike leaders, announced today that 200 children would be sent to Philadelphia on Wednesday morning, arrangements for their care in that city having been made by Miss E. Gurley Flynn, one of the National Organizers of the Industrial Workers. Considerable criticism has been heard about sending the children to New York, and to this General Organiser Thomas replies, that it is better for the little ones to be where they can get food and clothing than here where they can have none of these things.

A conference between Adjutant General Pearson, Colonel Sweetser, Mayor Scanlon and members of the City Council was held today at the State armory. Adjutant General Pearson, representing Governor Foss, told the members of the Lawrence City Council to stand "pat" with him for the "enforcement of law and order."

The mill agents claim that more operatives have returned to work than at any time since the strike began, five weeks ago, but were not inclined to give any definite figures.

Several thousand strikers patrolled the principal streets of the city. The strike pickets wore cards upon which were printed the words, "Don't be a scab."

TEDDY WILL BE HERE TO TELL US ALL ABOUT IT

The Great and Only Will Instruct the Con-Con Next Wednesday.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter received at the office of Secretary Galbreath, Monday morning, accepts an invitation to come to Columbus on Wednesday, February 21, for the purpose of addressing the delegates of the Constitutional Convention.

The sun will stand still on that day and small boys and timid people will seek the refuge of cellars and storm coves while Teddy shows his teeth.

Colonel Roosevelt has been an initiative and referendum advocate and in view of the fact that he may take occasion to reply to Governor Harmon's opposition to that principle, voiced in the Governor's speech last week, his views are interesting at this time. He may flop before next Wednesday on this issue. He did that same stunt in 1910 when he reached Columbus and came under the hypnotic influence of the Rail-Light and the scab Chamber of Commerce, although he was the guest of the North Side C. of C.

Miss Stella Weinstein wishes to say to all her friends at The Leader, 1000 Mt. Vernon avenue.

HOCKING VALLEY COAL AND MINING SITUATION

A Fuel Famine and Strike or Plenty of Work and Coal, Which?

In the Ohio State Journal of Feb. 10, W. R. Jackson makes this statement: "Both railroad men and coal men are most pessimistic over the outlook, and as all efforts to clear connecting yards have failed, they do not see how a fuel famine can be avoided after April 1st."

Mr. Jackson, why a fuel famine after April 1st? There will be coal mines, railroads, coal miners and coal dealers after April 1st, and all anxious to do business and make a living.

Again Mr. Jackson says: "In case of a suspension of any long duration after April 1st, indications are that coal will go to a premium."

Why a long suspension or operations, Mr. Jackson? If there is such a demand for coal that that commodity is likely to go to a premium because the consumers cannot get the coal they very much need, then why not grant a little increase to the miners who have been out of work most of the summer and fall and who are in need of not only profits as well as the operators, but actually in need of the necessities of life, to say nothing of clothes and books suitable to send their children to school. If every town in Ohio would establish a Municipal Coal Yard and lay in more than enough to supply the necessities of all its citizens for any winter at the summer prices of coal and thus furnish orders to the operators and employment to the miners during the dull summer seasons and coal to the consumers at reasonable prices than when the cold weather of winter comes and the trains are [illegible] and [illegible] ades it will not be necessary for railroad men to punish themselves by inhuman exposure trying in vain to move the trains nor consumers suffer for want of coal they cannot get nor miners suffer for food for want of work, because cars cannot be had to move the coal as now stated by Mr. Jackson, when he says: "This week, mines in the Hocking Valley have operated to a small percentage, while orders have been enough to have kept the mines producing to full capacity."

A great system this, men anxious to work; consumers anxious to buy; operators anxious to make profits; railroads anxious to get freight; and under this system workers are idle; consumers are freezing; operators are loosing money and railroads are blockaded; beautiful system.

Read This and Then Act

We are starting on the biggest subscription campaign in the history of Ohio. We are going to make "The Socialist" a State paper in every sense of the word. We are going to have a daily, but before we can accomplish this, before we can make the daily a fact, we must put this paper on its feet and run up our subscription list to a large figure.

Here's the plan: We want every Ward Branch and Local in Ohio to pledge themselves to sell a certain amount of sub cards to this paper for the balance of this year. We want every individual Socialist in the State to pledge himself to buy and sell a certain amount of sub cards for the balance of this year.

This will cost the Locals and individual Comrades nothing. All you will have to do is invest the first dollar or five dollars or whatever you wish, then sell the cards and get your money back, and use it again in the same manner.

If you haven't got the first dollars, to start with, a certain Comrade will advance it, and then turn it over to the paper the last week in this year. How many will you pledge yourself to sell?

We want at least one hundred who will pledge themselves to buy and sell $50.00 each the balance of this year. We will publish each week the names of those Comrades, Ward Branches and Locals and the amount pledged. Fill out this Coupon and mail in at once.

COUNCIL APPROVES LARGE ISSUES OF CITY BONDS

Third Street Viaduct Resolution Disappears but is Easily Found. Park For South Side now Possible.

The recent resurrection of dead Democratic newspapers in Columbus when the city printing was to be awarded, was nothing compared with the sudden finding of the Third street viaduct bond issue resolution last Monday before council met. The resolution providing for the submission to a vote of the people of a bond issue of $850,000 was introduced three weeks ago by Councilman Barry. The measure was referred to the finance committee but the committee on railways and viaducts met last Friday night expecting to consider the resolution. It did not do so. The proposition seemed to be somewhere, like the coffin of Mahomet, between heaven and hell. Some inquisitive Socialists got busy last Monday and it suddenly developed that the finance committee had been so engaged with the civic center proposal that the viaduct matter had gone over. Councilman Barry tried to have the committee relieved from the care of the resolution but the finance committee promised to be good and still has it. There seems to have been a well directed effort to side track the Third street viaduct resolution. This is evidently backed by certain interests who have something at stake. Time and the Socialists will compel them to show their hand. The friends of this viaduct plan declare that the enemies of the measure are certain High street real estate owners who want Columbus to be a one-street town for all time.

Council approved the resolution providing that the proposal to issue $350,000 bonds for the purchase of sites for a City Hall, mall and art museum, in connection with the proposed civic center, be voted on at a special election to be held May 31. There was no comment or a dissenting vote.

Two ordinances for as many public parks were introduced, given second reading and referred to committees. One provides for the issuance of $15,000 bonds for the purchase of six acres of land between Parsons avenue and Ann street and Newell and Opp avenues. The part is to be known as Lincoln Park and Recreation Center. The ordinance was introduced by Councilman Zimpfer, who says there is special need of a public park in the district.

Motor-driven fire-fighting equipment will be supplied Columbus if an ordinance introduced in council which provides for $50,000 bonds, is passed. It was given second reading and referred to the finance committee.

Combination hose and chemical and aerial trucks of the latest models will be purchased in the event it is decided to expend the money. It is the plan to keep the proposed equipment in as nearly the central portion of the city as possible so that it will be available to reach all fires without delay.

Council gave an ordinance its second reading which provides for a $10,000 bond issue to install fire plugs in the districts where it is proposed to extend water mains.

An ordinance providing for $250,000 bonds to extend water mains into the North Broadway and Milo and Grogan districts, recommended by the finance committee, was passed.

Councilman Warren introduced a resolution asking that the constitutional convention take action to give a city power to award its advertising contracts to the lowest bidder. It was referred to the judiciary committee after one reading.

KARB AIMS TO MAKE JUNK OF LIGHT PLANT

Appointment of Eichorn is Made for Reasons not yet Clearly Developed.

Harry E. Eichorn has been appointed superintendent of the electric light plant by Mayor Karb. He will replace Superintendent Wirt S. Scott, who has been in charge of the plant since the resignation last September of Herman Gamper. Mr. Eichorn has been chief engineer of the power plant at the Union Station for 10 years. The position at the municipal plant pays $3000. So far as can be ascertained Mr. Eichorn knows about as much about an electric light plant such as is owned by the City of Columbus, as a hog does about political economy. The appointment is an evidence that the Karb administration proposes to do all the damage it can to the municipal electric plant in order that the light extender bond issue may be defeated and the Rail-Light helped. At the proper time details can be supplied.

NOMINATIONS FOR COUNTY OFFICES.

The Ward Branches of Columbus and the Locals of Franklin County have nominated candidates for the various district and County offices to be elected next November. The Executive Committee will (tomorrow) Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18, at 335½ South High street, receive acceptances and declinations which should be filed on or before that date.

LOOK OUT FOR THE MOB! GARY SOUNDS WARNING.

New York, Feb. 13.—"Unless capitalists, corporations, rich men, powerful men themselves, take a leading part in trying to improve the conditions of humanity, great changes will come, and they will come mighty quickly and the mob will bring them."

Not since Andrew Carnegie astounded his former business associates by calmly announcing that the tariff should be removed from steel have financial circles in New York been so aroused as they were by this statement made by one of its leaders, E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the steel trust.

The Gary statement was part of a speech he delivered early Sunday morning to the New York Lehigh Club. Gary made it very plain that the people generally are "evincing a readiness to take things into their own hands." He also stated that the "spirit of unrest" was not confined to the United States, but was worldwide.

Perfection of means of communication and "appeals to the prejudice of what it has seen fit to consider the masses," were the reasons assigned by the steel magnate for this condition.

"Things are being said," he declared, "very similar to things said just before the French revolution. I tell you that the spark may yet make a flame and that soon. I have an especial reason for saying this, a reason that affects you and me.

"Men of great power and influence in the affairs of the country have not all of us done the fair thing. It is imperative that something be done to improve the condition of mankind. Cannot we ourselves do something to improve that condition?

"I say that it is not only good morals, but good policy likewise to improve these conditions. I appeal to you all in your dealings with men under you to do the square thing."

INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY.

Editor The Socialist:

Our present Commercial Oligarchy will be superseded by a more equitable system of industry. The only salvation for the workingmen and their families is in the Democratic control of the industries of which they are the prime factors.

The Oligarchs that now have industry by the throat, fel that they are the superior factors in the affairs of every day life. This is a mistaken idea, and it is for the psoletariat to disabuse the mind of the powers that be of such an inquitous claim.

The Oligarch's president, Mr. Taft, proposes to expend $20,000 for a Commission to endeavor to find the cause for the "High Cost of Living." If Mr. Taft was the president of the people, he would use the means at hand—statistics already compiled to show the cause of the high cost of living, (but to do this he would necessarily discredit his pet "competitive" system.)

Any school boy can take the Commissioner of Labor's annual reports and show the fallacy of this insane commercial system. The daily newspapers, as a class, are false to their mission as an exponent of the people, by not exposing the Oligarchy, which leads me to believe that Senator La Follette's acusation of the daily press is correct, namely, that the "judgments of the editorial staff of the daily press is salaried," that is to say, that vested interests own and control the press and dictate the editorial policies to their own aggrandisement.

There is a disposition on the part of the masses to be shown some real, tangible reason why this unreasonable, insane system of industry should continue.

The purpose of President Taft's Commission will be to frame up some device to obscure the vision, to becloud the brain of the masses an this momentous question of the "High Cost of Living," until after the presidential election, at least. If President Taft was sincere in his purposes to help the common people he would instruct the U. S. Congress to authorize the compliation, in pamphlet form, the cost of production of the necessities of life, and advocate the Congress to apply the economic principles of the trusts in the production of those articles of necessities of the people's use, instead of, as now, for the capitalists profits.

Take for instance the production of wheat, President Taft, himself, in one of his campaign speeches, admitted that the trusts can produce wheat for 2 1-2 cents per bushel.

Government statistics, 13th Annual Report of the Commissioner of Labor, Vol. 2, page 472, published in 1898, gives the cost of wheat production at five and six-tenths (5.6) cents per bushel.

Now, in all candor, why should not the U. S. Government produce the wheat for all the people at cost instead of compelling the public to pay $1 per bushel?

Why make a staple article of food a commodity for individual profit?

Wheat should be grown for use and not for profit. Articles of clothing should be made for use and not for profit. Why does the Government compel workingmen (the prime factors in the production of shoes) to pay $3.50 for a pair of shoes that costs only 33 cents to produce?

And numerous other articles of food and clothing on about the same basis of profit, namely, 500 to 3000 per centum? I answer, it is to maintain this infernal Commercial Oligarchy.

Government statistics prove conclusively that the producers of these commodities of life in this country are robbed 84 per cent of their share of the production. If each worker received the $2460 in value which he produces every year and could buy the commodities of life at the cost of their production, the "High Cost of Living" would be solved. Hence we need to change this Commercial Oligarchy into an International Democracy.

Our whole civic life is loaded down with the accoutrements of vested interests. The municipalities are nursing at their breasts, monopolies that are exacting at least 60 per cent of their strength, while the remaining 40 per cent is impoverished by a system of procedure that is cruel as hell.

For example: This morning a workingman came rushing up to your kitchen door with a grocery order from the Smith Grocery Co., another clerk came hurriedly into your neighbor's house with an order from the Jones Grocery Co., and a 4th from Kroger,—etc., until about 40 thousand houses had ben served from approximately 400 grocery stores. Thus the system compels you to pay 300 to 3000 per cent profits on the very articles you produce.

Now suppose "Uncle Sam" would deliver our mail to us by the same system that our mercantile business is operated? We would prefer charges against him for larceny

It is up to the workingmen to get out from under this infernally insane commercial system, and install in its stead an Industrial Democracy.

How is this to be done?

In my third article on this subject, (next week's issue,) I will endeavor to give some feasible plans—at least to start some discussion that will lead to some practical methods and means whereby the chasm which the Oligarchy has deepened and widened, may be bridged, so that the consumer, who is likewise the producer, may get over into "The Promised Land."

Columbus, O. E. A. PALMER.

WHY SCHENECTADY ELECTED A SOCIALIST MAYOR.

Peter Collins of the McNulty faction of the Electrical Workers put in many days in Ohio, prior to the recent election, telling the voters what bad people the Socialist are and what a sad state of affairs Socialism would bring about. Then the people went to the polls and elected about a dozen Socialist Mayors in Ohio alone.

In Schenectady there is a strong local of the McNulty faction, about 2,500 members. Presumably, these men have been reading Peter's constant diatribes in their Journal against the Socialists. On election day Schenectady elected the entire Socialist ticket by handsome majorities. Though his name does not appear on the list sent out by our National office, nevertheless it is apparent that Peter Collins ranks high as a Socialist agitator. He gets results.—St. Louis Labor.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Columbus, O., Feb. 9, 1912.

Following an all day debate, the Convention on last Thursday adopted the first amendment to the Constitution. This amendment amends section 5 of the "Bill of Rights" and is given in full herewith as follows:

"The right of trial by jury shall be inviolate; but the General Assembly may authorize that in civil cases a verdict may be rendered by the concurrence of not less than three-fourths of a jjury."

As the foregoing language makes perfectly clear the amendment simply gives to the General Assembly the right to make the changes specified, but this is a big step forward in the judgment of those who have given this matter any careful study and thought.

It will certainly put the worker in better shape to get justice when he or any of his dependents are involved in a legal controversy with a corporation. The fact was brought out in the discussion on the amendment that in personal injury cases it often happened that a corporation was able to buy off one member of a jury and thus defeat the ends of justice. This danger will be minimized by permitting three-fourths of the jury to return a verdict. Hung juries and disagreements would become the exception rather than the rule under the new arrangement. The reactionary members of the bar who are members of the Convention, opposed the adoption of the amendment.

Wednesday the Convention discussed the report of the Committee on Good Roads which provides for the raising of the debt limit of the State from $700,000 to an amount equal to one per cent. on the grand tax duplicate, for the purpose of building good roads throughout the length and breadth of the State. The report calls for the issuance of $60,000,000 in bonds to carry out the prejject on the proper scale. The settlement of this question will not be hurried, because the delegates want to look more carefully into the details of the subject before giving their approval to such a vast expenditure of money.

Thursday Governor Harmon addressed the Convention and incidentally came out flat footedly against the Initiative and Referendum. His declaration on this important question came as quite a surprise to the Governor's friends. It is needless to remark his stand was a disappointment to the friends of labor who are committed to this policy. The Governor also endorsed the plan of licensing the saloons.

The I. and R. members got an opportunity to demonstrate what their real strength was on a motion to table a resolution offered by the reactionary forces of the Convention to discredit President Bigelow. The motion carried sixty to forty-five.

President Bigelow proposes to bring the I. and R. members together in a caucus to discuss the best method for submitting this question back to the Convention in a workable form. These conferences will begin the first of the week. The opinions of the friends of the measure differ greatly as to the form it should take; the purpose of the caucus will be to bring them together so that a workable plan can be procured.

The Labor Committee took up the matter of regulating the working hours of women, children and men at one of its regular sessions the first of the week. The discussion was exceedingly interesting, the committee being made up of employes, employers and lawyers, both sides of which had pronounced convictions on this subject. As a climax to the debate, a sub-committee was appointed consisting of Farrel, Crites and Donahey to draft suitable provisions covering the proposed amendment.

Bro. William Halencamp, of Cincinnati, will offer a proposal next week requesting the State to establish its own printing plant. The proposal will have the support of all of the labor delegates. The State now lets out all of its printing to private concerns on the competitive bidding plan.

President Voll, of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, came to Columbus Thursday evening for the purpose of making final arrangements for a conference with the officers of the Columbus Centennial Commission with reference to the part which labor is to take in the Centennial celebration. This conference has ben set for next Thursday night. As is perhaps generally known, the program for Labor Day, which falls in the midst of the festivities, has been left entirely in the hands of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

It has been decided by the Ohio State Federation of Labor to retain the services of Attorney Brandeis to co-operate with Attorney-General Hogan in defending the validity of the woman's nine hour law in the United States Supreme Court. It will be remembered the Supreme Court of this State in a decision two weeks ago sustained the constitutionality of this law, an appeal being made by the opponents of the law to the Federal Court at Washington. With men of the calibre of Hogan and Brandeis championing their cause, labor can feel secure that their interests will be properly safeguarded.

WOMAN'S DAY.

Do not forget to order leaflets for Woman's Day, February 25. "Wimmin Ain't Got No Kick," by Kate Richards O'Hare, is one of the best leaflets ever published on this subject. "The Progressive Woman," has issued a special White Slave edition for distribution on this day. Send in for bundle orders.

Get a speaker to lecture for you, if possible. If you cannot secure one, then prepare a special program and give an evening's entertainment. Suggestions for the same will be supplied upon application to the General Correspondent of the Woman's National Committee, 905 West Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

Spare no effort in making a success of Woman's Day.

A MODEST REQUEST!

Statistics are not always uninteresting. Look at these:

In Massachusetts, 60 per cent of the women over eighteen years of age who work in retail stores, receive less than eight dollors a week.

Of the women who work in candy factories, 93 per cent receive less than eight dollars a week.

Of the women who work in laundries, 75 per cent receive less than eight dollars a week.

Of the women who work in cotton mills, 87 per cent receive less than eight dollars a week.

Now try to figure out how much food, how much clothing, how much rent may be bought with eight dollars in these days of the high cost of living. Remember, those eight dollars often have to put food in the mouths and clothes on the back of others besides the women who earns them.

Here are some more cold figures that have a story to tell:

In Massachusetts, 61 per cent of the candy workers, 102 per cent of the sales-women, 61.2 per cent of the laundry workers, and 28 per cent of the cotton workers earn less than $6 a week; and, respectively, 66.2 per cent, 29.6 per cent, 40.7 per cent and 27.9 per cent of these women workers earn less than $6 a week.

No, reader, those figures were not gathered with hasty zeal by some "muck-raker." They are given in the report of the Minimum Wage Commission created by the Massachusetts legislature. This commission, with ability and industry, made a most exhaustive investigation. Its report is authoritative.

What will Massachusetts do about it? The Commission asks in its report that the legislature create a Minimum Wage Board, as a permanent body for "inquiry and arbitration."

Surely, in view of the facts, a most modest request!

Is any industry that receives a protective tariff so high as to become a national scandal, and in the name of "protection to American labor," to be permitted to work women on starvation wages? Is any industry worth maintaining at the expense of human efficiency, or human well-being?

Let the Massachusetts legislature do its sacred duty. Else shall Massachusetts hang its head before the accusing finger of an outraged civilization.—La Follette's Weekly.

WHOLE PULPIT STAFF.

At J. P. Morgan's Church Resigns—Work Was Too Hard.

NEW YORK.—St. George, the largest Protestant Episcopal Church in New York, finds itself suddenly called upon to obtain four clergymen to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of its entire pulpit staff. The parish has more than 5000 members, and includes among its supporters J. P. Morgan and a score of other millionaires and notables.

Nervous strain on account of the vast amount of work connected with the parish is given as the cause for the resignation of Rev. Dr. Hugh Birckhead, the rector.

WOMEN IN LIGHTHOUSES.

WASHINGTON.—There are twenty-seven women in the service of the bureau of lighthouses under the department of Commerce and Labor employed as keepers and assistant keepers at the lighthouse stations alon the coasts of the United States. The keepers receive $510 to $800 per annum, the assistant keepers, $480 to $600; the loborers, $96 to $2114 and other laborers, $180 to $250. Women keepers and assistant keepers receive 30 cents per diem for rations, in addition to salary. There are 5500 male employes in the service, their average salary being $600.

THE SOCIAL EVIL.

Lydston, in an article on this subject, says that whatever argument may be brought to bear upon the social evil, nothing can controvert these fundamental proposition: 1, Prostitution has always existed in society in one form or another; 2, its frequency and forms have adapted themselves to the conditions imposed by the customs of each social system; 3, latter day social and economic conditions are favorable to prostitution; 4, prostitution keeps pace with civilization. As this advances prostitution increases. The proportion of prostitutes is greater today than formerly; 5, modern industrial enterprises are peculiarly productive of conditions favoring prostitution; 6, prostitution is responsible for a large proportion of the diseases that afflict the race; 7, no universally effective methods of repression or regulation has ever been devised; 8, suppression is an absolute impossibility under present conditions. According to the author the remedies for prostitution comprise everything that will ameliorate the economic conditions of woman, and proper sex education, especially of boys. The dissemination of a knowledge of the venereal diseases will do more to prevent the evils of prostitution than aything that could be mentioned. Every prostitute becomes diseased sooner or later. The instance is rare where a prostitute follows her trade for a year without becoming diseased. Once diseased, she scatters infection right and left. Gonorrhea and syphilis are responsible for more deaths and disability than all the great wars ever known. Our hospitals, asylums for the blind and for the insane, says the author, are full of people who have been shot to pieces in the social war. —Lancet Clinic.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS

Call for National Referendum "A," 1913.

The following proposed National Party Referendum was first published in the Weekly Bulletin of January 27th:

Motion submitted by Local Everett, Fifth Ward, Washington.

"That the National Convention for 1912 be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, instead of Oklahoma City, Okla."

The total of members represented is 7,101.

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution relating to referendums, namely, that the same shall be submitted to the membership upon the request of locals representing five per cent of the entire membership, located in five different state, based upon the dues paid in the preceding year (the number required is 4,336), membership ballots for vote on the above proposal were shipped to the State Secretaries on February 8th. The vote will close at the National Headquarters on March 29th.

The first Eastern Interstate Convention of the Italian Locals of the Socialist Party will be held April 7 and 8, 1912, at Schenectady, New York. State, County and Local Secretaries in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont are requested to urge their Italian Branches to take part in this convention, as it will be a very important one. Inquiries regarding conditions of representation should be addressed to Joseph Corti, Translator-Secretary, 205 West Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

National Committee Motion No. 1, providing that no person who, either in public speech or in print, opposes the principle of political action shall be employed as National Organiser, Lecturer, on the Lyceum Bureau, upon which vote closed February 8, was adopted by the following vote: Yes, 49; No, 6; Not Voting, 20.

The National Committee, by vote closing February 8th, elected a committee of three to investigate and report concerning the Chas. H. Kerr Co., as follows: S. M. Reynolds, of Indiana; W. R. Gaylord, of Wisconsin, and Clyde A. Berry, of Missouri.

The Nebraska State Convention will be held at York, Nebraska, in the Armory Hall, on February 29th.

By a recent referendum in Arizona, J. N. Morrison, of Benson, was re-elected a member of the National Committee.

By a recent referendum in Florida, A. C. Sill, of Ruskin, was re-elected State Secretary-Teasurer, and C. C. Allen, of St. Petersburg, was re-elected a member of the National Committee.

H. Gluski, Translator-Secretary of the Polish Section, is endeavoring to arrange a tour for a Polish organiser through the northwestern states, as follows: Minnesota, South and North Dakota, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California. Secretaries in these states are requested to send in any information they may have about Polish workers. Is there any possiblity of organizing them? Is it advisable to send a Polish organizer through the West?

Address all communications on the subject to, H. Gluski, 205 West Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

State Secretary Jos. C. Schawe, of Ohio, reports as follows: "This is to certify that Corbin N. Shook, Mayor-elect of Lima, was expelled on January 7th, for a violation of Socialist principles and tactics, in that appointments were made from old party ranks to offices without the approval of the organized Socialist movement of Lima. Repeated efforts to adjust the matter were without avail."

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

In the German election the Socialists polled 4,238,919 votes in a total of 12,188,237. The gain was nearly 1,000,00. The Conservatives lost approximately 200,000 and the Clerical party about 167,000 votes. The Liberals held their own and the Progressives gained 200,000.

The January dues received at national headquarters, indicate that the party membership has risen to 121,361 members. The gait is being kept up in good shape.

David Goldstein, the "escaped" Socialist, has been invited by the Reds of New Castle, Pa., to come to that city and deliver an address, they to defray all expenses.

Of the htousand delegates in the United Mine Workers' Convention in Indianapolis 343 carried Socialist membership cards, not to speak of the scores of sympathizers. That is why the principles of Socialism were indorsed.

Of the thousand delegates in the letters that have poured into Berlin congratulating the Socialist upon their splendid victory in the recent elections, none created a more profound impression than a letter from Helen Keller the famous deaf, dumb and blind woman of Wrentham, Mass., who wrote to the New Time of Berlin, and in subscribing for that paper declared that she was heartily in accord with the Socialist movement and hoped that a Socialist paper for the blind would be started. Many blind men and women in Germany did yoeman service in the recent campaign for the Socialist and shamed some of those who have eyes but cannot see.

John Mitchell, Peter Collins and other leaders in the Civic Federation wing of the American Federation of Labor, will be brought to Milwaukee during the coming campaign, if the negotiations begun by men connected with the Republican-Democratic "non-partisan" movement are successful, says the Milwaukee Leader. It is improbable that Mitchell will permit himself to be used by the "non-partisans," but Collins pleased the capitalists and corporation press of Milwaukee with a speech last year and will doubtless be willing enough to return to that city and continue his disreputable methods of arousing religious prejudices. That's his strong card. The Socialists in the McNulty organization at Schnectady, New York, Chicago, and other places ought to take up a collection and purchase a medal for the pious fraud.

There is still another judge who doesn't hesitate to tell the hoipoloi where they belong. He is no less a person than Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee, of LaCrosse, Wis. It appears that the Socialists of that baliwick began to rave about the small number of workingmen who were drawn for jury service and they resoluted in favor of the appointment of a committee to make an investigation of the jury commission. Judge Higbee declared right off the reel that the jruy probe proposition was "the product of irresponsible, uniformed political agitators, ignorant of the law." While the Socialists are deeply impressed by the exudations from the judicial mind, they are just ornery enough to continue their investigations as though they had a right to butt in on the jury juggling game. What the pestiferous Reds will do next to display their crass ignorance cannot even be surmised. Maybe they will have the supreme gall to tell the judge to mind his own business.

REICHSTAG OPENED; SOCIALISTS ABSENT.

Working Class Deputies Scorn Imperialistic Ceremony in Royal Palace.

Berlin, Feb. 7.—The Kaiser today opened the newly elected Reichstag, which has 110 Socialists members.

The most striking feature of the opening ceremonies was the absence of the Socialist deputies.

In accordance with an old German custom the Kaiser did not go to the Imperial Parliament, but had the deputies come to the royal palace, where he delivered his address from the throne in the White Hall.

The opening of Parliament is an extremely pompous affair. There are all sorts of princesses and flunkies present. The members of Parliament are supposed to dress in uniform or court dress.

It was because of this display of imperialism that the Socialist deputies stayed away from the ceremonies, and their absence was strangely ominous and did much to becloud the royal festivities.

The Emperor's speech was apparently carefully censored by his advisers so as to give the Socialists as little material for criticism as possible. Nevertheless the Kaiser's address is sure to stir up a great deal of bitter opposition. The dominant note of the address was an appeal for additions to the military and naval forces. He said:

"For the success of our work of peace at home and over seas the empire must remain powerful enough to defend at all times its national honor and its possessions, as well as its just interests in the world.

"It is, therefore, my constant duty and care to maintain and strengthen both on land and on sea the defensive power of the German people, which does not lack young men capable of bearing arms.

"Measures with this end in view are in preparation, and will be submitted to you, together with proposals for covering the additional cost. In helping this important work, gentlemen, you will be greatly serving the Fatherland."

As soon as the Emperor had finished speaking, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, announced that the Reichstag was opened.

Following the address the members returned to the Reichstag. In accordance with customs, the body was called to order by the oldest member. This honor fell to Albert Treger, aged 89, a member of the People's Progressive party.

SOCIALIST CHOSEN.

As Vice President of the Reichstag and Now President Will Resign.

BERLIN.—Dr. Peter Spahn, the leader of the Clerical Center party, who yesterday was elected President of the Reichstag, announces that he will resign the chair on Monday. He gives as his reason that he declines to be associated with a Socialist Vice President. The first Vice President of the House, who also was chosen yesterday, is Philipp Scheidemann, a Socialist.

INDIANA STATE PLATFORM.

Following is the platform and working program of the Socialist Party of Indiana for the campaign of 1912, as formulated by the convention in Indianapolis, January 27 and 28:

The Socialist Party of Indiana in convention assembled, hereby declare its allegiance to the principles of international Socialism, which advocates the collective ownership and management of the means of production and distribution, such as land, factories, machinery, railroads, mines, etc., to be operated for the benefit of all.

We regard the collective ownership and control as a necessary step in the evolution of industrial society, and pledge ourselves to do all in our power to bring it about peacefully by educational propaganda, and by economic and political organization as means calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalistic oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

1. The shortening of the work day.
2. Abolition of child labor.
3. Insurance of the workers against accident, sickness and old age, and public relief of the unemployed.
4. Equal suffrage without regard to sex, race or property qualifications.
5. Direct legislation by means of the initiatice, referendum and recall.
6. Free textbooks in the public schools.
7. Home rule for cities.
8. Abolition of the poll tax.
9. The passage of an exemption law which shall free from taxation the personal effects of the workers.
10. The abolition of the United States Supreme Court.
11. The abolition of the Senate.
12. Election of the State and Federal Judges by the people for a short term only, and subject to the recall.

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

Although February has also brought a cold wave, there is no lack of interest in organization. State Secretary Oneal spoke to a crowded house at Bicknell last Sunday and sold all the literature he had and could have sold twice the amount. The local there was also revived and Comrade Valentine states that the membership will be at least forty in a few weeks.

The Socialists at Greenfield in Hancock County, have also organized a local with the charter members and the comrades start in with a fund of enthusiasm that means a larger membership in the near future. This county has a number of locals now and if they keep coming they will have to form a county organization next summer to take care of all of them.

Word also comes from the comrades at the Bunsen mines near Clinton that they want to organize and the State Secretary will probably go there in the 18th. Clinton and vicinity are becoming alive with Socialists and there ought to be a good chance to carry the city in the next city election.

Local Madison is somewhat isolated way down on the Ohio river with only one railway outlet, but Comrade Farmer writes that they expect to have a membership of 100 by June 1.

Local Osgood is going to take the initiative in organizing Riply county and Organizer Burroughs has been sent material to do the job. Versailles, Milan and a number of other towns will be invaded and the county put in shape for a big campaign.

Comrade Seybold of Local Moores Ridge, states that they will also get busy and organize Orange county. A special effort is being made to increase the local membership also as a basis for this work.

The State Secretary has sent ballots for the election of party officials and delegates to the National Convention to all locals. If any local failed to get a supply word should be sent to the State Secretary without delay. The vote closes on March 4.

The delegates to the State Convention, as shown by statistics gathered there, were like all Socialist conventions repesentative of the working class. Though incomplete the figures gathered show the following to have been present: Men, 143; women, 8; capitalists of small business men, 8; professional men, 11; wage workers, 115; farmers, 11; members of labor unions, 49; foreign born, 17; native born, 113. Former politics: Democrats, 44; Republicans, 37; Independents, 15; Populists, 8; Prohibitionists, 3.

THE MAGAZINE FOR WORKERS

"Absolutely the finest Socialist [illegible] I have ever come across," is what a man in England wrote in renewing his subscription to THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW, the magazine that fights for the working class.

The REVIEW is the only publication of its kind in the world. It is the only monthly illustrated magazine which is devoted exclusively to the interests of working men and working women. It is the only magazine which actually gets right down into the ranks of the toilers and tells what they are doing and thinking and feeling. It stands for aggressive and uncompromising. The REVIEW is not only a magazine for Socialists; it is with the workers everywhere in their every struggle, not only in America but in other countries as well. Wherever there is a conflict between men and masters, there the Review has its correspondents and its photographers. Every month it is filled with pictures right from the scene of action. Its articles and stories come not only from trained writers but from the workers themselves. Its circulation has tripled in the last four years. It is growing bigger and better from month to month.

Local Columbus Socialist Party has endorsed the motion to change the location of the National convention from Oklahoma City to Indianapolis. We would all like to meet comrade Oscar Ameringer again, but he can beat his way to Indianapolis easier than "we 'uns" can get to Oklahoma. Come on, Oscar! "We gehts! Gesundheit."

The talk about firing Comrade Bill Haywood from the Socialist party seems to have sort of subsided. Thousands of party members have read the full report of his Cooper Union speech in the International Socialist Review and are not half as badly scared as some folks tried to make them think they were.

Out of fifteen employes of the state liability board of awards, ten are reported to us as members of the Knights of Columbus. The K. C.'s seem to have a pull. Pax vobiscum.

Since he has been pardoned, Banker Morse is showing signs of rapid recovery. Nothing is better calculated to improve a banker's health than to place him on the outside of a penitentiary.

One of the chief criticisms which labor leaders in this city and in the state make against the state department of labor is that the inspections of factories are farcical because the factory owners are tipped off and know exactly when the factory inspectors are to be expected. This enables them to clean up the place.

The Chicago Tribune admits that recent dynamite scares have not diminished the strength of the labor movement, and infers that they should not diminish it. Even the capitalists' press occasionally echoes the new spirit which is in the air.

Elbridge Gary of the steel trust must have drank some good wine Saturday night in New York. He made a speech in which he warned his class against going too far in oppression of the people. What was that wine, Mr. Gary? We will send a couple of bottles to Rockefeller.

From New York it is reported that the Harriman lines have lost over a million dollars in dividends on account of the strike of the shop men. The actual losses are probably double the amount, as the figures are based upon only part of the time that the men have been out. Reports from the West state that the roads are in terrible condition. Just one instance in many: It required eight engines to haul a freight train over one division from Mojave to Los Angeles. Two "died" on one small section and had to be towed in by a third engine. The strikers are standing true to their colors, but they need financial assistance.

The hope of the Socialist movement lies in the young men and women of the party. They are active, earnest and zealous. They are doing work that is telling for the coming of the new time of justice and life. Go to it, young folks, and the benediction of the old fellows be and abide with you.

Attorney General Tim Hogan is also opposed to the initiative, Referendum and the Recall. Hogan is an accident officially, inflicted upon the people of Ohio for their sins of omission and commission. "From such Good Lord deliver us."

It may be a little late, but developments show that those who seek jobs at the City Hall should first see Jim Ross, Ben Harmon and E. K. Stewart.

Councilman Lucks seems to be lucky. Several of his friends have secured good appointments under Karb. Beiderman also is a safe bet.

Ask any fairly intelligent public school pupil who are the rulers of Europe, and the child will instantly begin to reel off a list of kings, kaisers, czars, presidents, etc., and probably give a correct tabulation. But nevertheless the answer is not correct. Accurate information on this subject can only be obtained at the higher institutions of education, our great colleges and universities.

Here, for instance, is Prof. David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, California, back from Europe with real information on this matter. So important did he consider it that it formed the subject of a special address to his students immediately after his return.

Professor Jordan declared that it was all a mistake to regard the kings and kaisers et al. as the rulers of Europe. He declared, and correctly, too, that the reigning house in Europe is the dynasty of Rothschild, and has been since the battle of Waterloo, nearly one hundred years ago.

These rulers have been the actual arbiters and directors of European affairs, not the kings and kaisers. The nations of Europe are so much in their debt that it will be impossible, says Professor Jordan, for them ever to repay what they owe to the Rothschilds. Professor Jordan doesn't like this state of affairs, and concluded his address with a stinging arraignment of the "unseen empire of finance," but though his efforts may be creditable, it isn't likely that the Rothschilds will consider themselves stung in consequence. It isn't an easy feat to sting an unseen thing, unless perhaps with an unfelt sting.

Professor Jordan, however, didn't inform his class that the Morgan-Rockefeller combination occupied about the same position in this continent that the Rothschilds do in Europe. That combination also constitutes an "unseen empire," and many professors and others find it profitable to allow it to remain unseen—and unmentioned.

LEST WE FORGET.

We favor the principle of the initiative and referendum."

That was one of the vital planks in the platform of the Democratic convention which nominated Judson Harmon for governor in 1910. Upon that platform Harmon made his campaign and asked for the votes of the people of Ohio, pledging himself to make every human effort to carry out the pledge of the party. The people believed in his honesty and sincerity of purpose and re-elected him governor by over 100,000 plurality.

Yet, last week, Governor Judson Harmon, in a speech before the constitutional convention, repudiated the initiative and referendum and lined up directly with the Masters of Finance who own him body, soul and breeches. Socialists are not surprised except at Harmon's frankness in publicly showing the collar of servitude that he has always worn.

In the meantime the Daily Citizen weeps over his downfall and exhorts the people to vote for Woodrow Wilson. As a capper for the capitalistic game the Citizen is proving effective. It has aided in buncoing the workers several times. Its most recent effort in this line were when it touted Knight and Peters as "progressive" candidates for the constitutional convention. Both have proven traitors even to the halfway policy of the Citizen. Now Harmon jumps over the fence. There is no middle ground. The workers must own the works and nothing else will satisfy.

HARMON.

Smote by the lash of Wall Street the ancient man of the Stone age snarls against the progress of the people. Like vultures they wish to continue to pick the bones of the dying.

American Woolen pays 7 per cent. on $69,500,000, Pacific more than 18 per cent. on $3,000,000, and in 1907 paid 30 per cent. extra cash—or a measly $5,000,000 in hard coin—and in 1905 the Arlington Mills paid a dividend of 33 per cent. Any workers reading these figures can see why it is necessary for the stockholders to steal 22 cents a week from starving women, children and men.

WAS LINCOLN A SOCIALIST?

"Labor is prior to, and independent of, capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the higher consideration."—From Lincoln's annual message to Congress, December 3rd, 1861.

How many of the mental prostitutes and retainers of the capitalistic class, who have delivered "spread eagle" orations eulogizing the memory of Abraham Lincoln, are aware of these lines and their social significance? Not many of them, we think, and those who do understand, gloss over it the same as many preachers gloss over the words: "You cannot serve God and Mammon." They do the only thing left open for them. They forget it.

And those swine, who have lauded the memory of one of the few great men this country has produced, belong to the class that during the Civil War did nothing but attack and malign his motives.

The men who stand before the audiences of this country and quote the words "That Government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth," know in their hearts that they are lying when they assert that there is such a thing today.

Lincoln in that message to Congress was preaching the text of Socialism. A Socialist could hardly have put the idea in plainer words. Lincoln may not have known its social significance. We know that Congress did not grasp its meaning, but those words "Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed," are plain to everyone. They contain a truth that only those blinded by the false glitter of capitalist gold cannot see. Think well over their meaning and then try and reconcile them with the actions of the owners of the textile mills and the authorities of Lawrence, Mass. Try it. You will find it difficult.

If Lincoln were alive today we are sure that he would be in a front rank of the Socialist Party fighting for the emancipation of the wage-slaves of the World; the same as he fought for the emancipation of the chattel slaves of the South.

The only people who have the right to honor and respect the memory of Abraham Lincoln are the members of the working class.

THE STATE AND THE STRIKERS.

Maud Thompson.

The Lawrence strike has proved once more that the state is master of the workers.

We speak of "our public servants." We imagine the state as a power that we have created and that we control. But we merely elect from time to time the office-holders. The state is a permanent power behind the temporary office-holders. It is made up of many elements, out-of-date laws, traditions, precedents, small political organizations with tremendous power, and great business powers without political organization. But all its legal and illegal powers join in one end—the protection of property.

The workers are fighting to one end—the protection of life. They are a great unorganized mass guided now and then for brief periods by the smaller more compact body of organized workers and by a few strong leaders. Their power consists of a few simple elements, numbers, class solidity, the courage of those who have little to lose. They have no property to lose; therefore they are not paralyzed by the cowardice of possession. But one thing they cannot do—wait. For the wolf is at the door. They are fighting for life and there is no time to make terms with starvation.

The employers whom they force in the struggle can well afford to wait, for the larder is full. They are few in number, but they have that which multiplies each a hundred times—money. Witness the 2000 private detectives said to have been hired by the Lawrence mill-owners. Yet the employers have a vital point that makes them at once timid and reckless—fear for their property.

They do not face starvation, but they shudder at the threatened loss of profits as a worker does at the thought of his hungry children. It is the dreaded loss of profits, perhaps the threat of bankruptcy, that makes it impossible for the employers to close the doors of the mills and wait for peace. When contracts involving millions of dollars must be taken on Monday or go to rivals, the American Woolen Company cannot sit happily behind closed doors. When the stock of American Woolen falls from one to four points on Wall Street, the mill-owners dare not let peaceful means settle the strike.

So, although not a single act of violence could be charged to the strikers, the riot act was read. The state was called in on the side of property and against the protection of life. The workers were merely using what lawful powers they had, displaying their numbers by marching in procession, their courage by their banners and songs, and their solidity by picketing. Against this peaceful parade of power by the defenders of life the defenders of property directed the force of police and militia.

Then the amazing spectacle is shown of the "powers of law and order" creating violence in order to have violence to suppress or to charge the strikers. A woman striker is shot and the strike leader is arrested for complicity. Dynamite is discovered in the house of Syrian strikers and even the judge in the case suspects "planting" and dismisses the case. Bail is refused to the jailed strike leader until habeas corpus proceedings compel his release. Was it long enough to serve the purpose of crippling the strike?

So it goes—the devious devices of the state pitted against the elemental powers of the mob. Will the workers need many more lessons like the Lawrence strike to show them that they must BECOME THE STATE?

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

On to Washington! That's us, by heck. We are going to send a working class representative to Congress this fall or bust a hame-string trying. Anyhow, when the fight's over, that Democrat rooster will be minus all his tail feathers and otherwise look like he had been through a Missouri cyclone. And that G. O. P. (grafters off the people) elephant will look like he had just come through a six months famine. In other words we are going to give the two old parties hell and lots of it.

Every day, as one goes up and down the highways and the byways, you can hear them cussing that gang of pirates as they never cussed before.

The working class of this country are being taught such a lesson this winter, that they are not likely to soon forget because many a Republican and Democratic belly has gone empty this winter and they are calling aloud for vengeance.

Now, Comrades, we want to win this fall. WE MUST WIN. And in order to do it, you know as well as we, that we must boost the circulation of our paper. Taking everything into consideration with the bad weather and so forth, the Boosters have done fine. But we must not stop. The paper is now almost, but not quite, paying its own way. The least let-up would put the figures on the wrong side of the column. A little extra effort on the part of every one will start the figures moving in the right direction. An appeal is made to those Comrades and friends who, as yet have failed to join us in this campaign, assuring you that if you do not want your name mentioned, we will not do so.

We would like to ask the Ward Branches to buy all the sub-cards they possibly can as advertising is darned hard to get right now.

Everybody pledge themselves to get at least one subscriber next week. Everybody, altogether.

Report for two weeks follows:

The mark set—5000.
Balance to get last report	4653
Names put on	210
Expirations	103
Gains for two weeks	107
Balance to get	4546

Another one of our "P. H. Boosters" shows up this week with five yearly and one six-month. Going some, I guess.

Determined to put into wider circulation a "newspaper without a muzzle" Comrade Frank Geren sends in four yearlies.

Sending in a list of seven, Comrade Blanche Conaghan writes as follows: "I am so well pleased with 'The Socialist' that I wish all my friends could educate their intelligence by reading it." Boosters, you have sure got a valuable addition to your ranks.

Comrade Emmett Binns ties a tin can on the tail of Capitalism, by sending in four. You can't keep him down.

Raus Mit 'Em, yells Comrade Carl Bauch, as he slides home with three.

Comrade E. Hartman of the First Ward writes that he feels kind of slighted when he looks at the Boosters Column, because he is Literary Agent of the First Ward and don't have much of a chance to get subs. However, he says further, that he don't care a continental whether he gets his name in the Boosters Column or not. He's going to keep his eye on the First Ward Branch and see that they always have a supply of sub-cards on hand. Moral, Literary Agents of the other branches, "Go thou and do likewise."

The "grave-digger" says, these dod-burned Socialists are making me work over-time. Sure, get busy yells Comrades A. Wright, A. Lewis, D. E. Fulmer and H. Friedland as they each hand in three subs.

To properly celebrate the birthday of that great Socialist, Abraham Lincoln, the following Comrades each land two: J. P. Bobnert, O. J. Harris, A. Meier, H. H. Hoover, P. Highland, G. E. Birmingham, C. A. Bubb, Morris Cohn and O. G. Van Schoyck.

The following Comrades each made a home run this week: J. A. Ebright, Rufus Piper, F. E. Seeds, L. J. Volz, Alfred Poenisch, W. H. Graumlich, E. H. Dressel, W. R. Fiester, W. L. Mulvaney, F. Faught, W. C. Atkinson, W. J. Flory, O. L. Neds, O. E. Reed, A. Patterson, F. P. Zimpfer, H. W. Wiechers, J. W. Richards, W. S. Tomlinson, W. C. Bates, D. C. Woodward, H. Wilhelm, Mrs. Wm. Bingmer, E. O. Griffis, J. S. Tidball, M. S. Sims, J. B. Shay, G. A. Sutton, Mrs. A. Vaughn, H. Spires, T. C. Southard, A. L. Kimble, A. Nick, B. Loudenslager, J. F. Brown, Harry Landenberger, John McCune, Dr. Dills and J. A. Orders.

FEDERATION OF LABOR WILL WATCH CONSTITUTION

Weekly Meetings Will Be Held to Consider New State Organic Law.

The Columbus Federation of Labor proposes to take up in earnest the work of influencing the acts of Ohio Constitutional Convention, now in session, in the city. Last Monday evening the Federation voted to meet everyFriday night, beginning this week, and appoint a Legislative Committee to push policies which may be adopted at the sessions. The body customarily meets every second and fourth Monday of each month.

The committee appointed last night is composed of Messrs. C. C. Apple, A. L. Leavitt, M. J. Giblin, A. Z. Larrison and Charles Rebert.

All union men showing cards will be admitted to the Friday night sessions.

Action of local union barbers, who have asked that shops close at 7 instead of 8 p. m., was indorsed.

No person who is a member of any military organization formed under the Dick military act can be a delegate to the Columbus Federation of Labor, if a Constitutional amendment to that effect is adopted.

A VALENTINE.

(From Electrical Workers:)

Written in verse, short and terse,
despicting the fate of a labor skate.
There used to be a labor skate,
McNulty was his name;
Who tried to fool us fixers,
But we busted up his game.

McNulty got it in his head, that
He was born to lead;
And in systematic fashion, tried
Our pocket books to bleed.

But before this mighty chieftan knew
Just what he was about,
We called a big convention
And we kicked McNulty out.

Now what should this McNulty do
On getting such a slam!
But flee with his lieutenants, to
His Royal nibs, called Sam.

And what should Uncle Sammy do
Of fakiration fame!
Why! declare McNulty innocent,
The rank and file to blame.

McNulty also had a pal,
The boys all called him "Pete;"
Who was badly crippeld in his head,
And his brains were in his feet.

So when Peter found that he must go
He whimpered like a beast;
Now he's barking at the Socialists,
In the Militia of Christ.

S. G., P. S.

FIELD NOTES.

Ella Reeve Bloor, State Organizer.

In writing up the work of the State Organizer for January and February it is hard to be brief, the field is so ripe for organization and the encouragement all along the line makes one enthusiastic. Even the bitter cold weather the long walks in snow drifts—rides in open sledges, cannot cool the ardor of the Organizer. When at the end of the walk or ride, there is a school house or a miners' hall full of men and women eager to hear the gospel of Socialism.

In January new locals were organized in West Jefferson, Madison County; Negley and Rogers, Columbiana County; Pleasant Valley, Mahoning County, and Louisville, Stark County. Many weak locals were reorganized and strengthened and everywhere a new spirit is growing.

In Canton there's a live bunch of workers, all reaching out to help in the county organization, twelve of them went to Louisville the night we organized there and helped. Dan McCartan's brother "Jack" is secretary of Canton Local and Dan, who was there on a visit, went with us on some of our organizing expeditions, organized a large woman's committee of the party at Canton with Mrs. Ed. Powell as chairman.

In Belmont County, where I have spent most of February, I found it almost all one big mining camp. The vice president of District 6 of the Miners' Union, Wm. Roy, joined one of my new locals in Belmont County, Local Klee, and the president of the district, Albiason, joined another new big local. I organized in Kirkwood a part of Bridgeport. George N. Kaine, president of the Glass Workers' Union, also joined this local as charter member and was elected secretary of the local.

At Martin's Ferry I heard Comrade Ricker, of the Appeal staff, give his lecture on "Socialists at Work." He is just such a teacher as Comrade Richardson, who came to us in Columbus last winter, and his lectures in Ohio will most certainly do a great deal of good in educating our mass of new Socialists.

On Friday evening Comrade Ricker and myself were invited to be present and address the Legislative Committee at Martin's Ferry which advises the Socialist officials of the city every week. It was one of the most inspiring sights I ever witnessed, the intelligent group of men so anxious to do their duty as Socialists. Every official but one in the entire city government is a Socialist. Mayor Wyckoff is a quiet man, but has a large amount of reserve force. He has worked for years on the "Wheeling News" and still works a part of the time on the paper. Clark Gilbert, the Director of Public Service, an inventor and electrician, is a live wire himself—and every man elected and appointed seems specialized for his job.

At Comrade Gilbert's home on Thursday I organized a woman's committee with Mrs. Gilbert as chairman and the mayor's wife as an active member.

But in all the joy of success the Martin's Ferry Comrades do not forget the miners of surrounding towns and several Comrades attended many of my meetings.

The County Secretary of Belmont County, C. M. Brownfield, of Steel, Ohio, shipping clerk at Neff's Mines, has a perfect genius for organization, and is working toward a County Local with many branches. He calls regular county meetings of their Central Committee and helped me by attending most of my meetings after his hard day's work, often walking four miles home after the meeting.

At Kenwood, near Cadiz, I found a local organized by a farmer, Chauncey Davies, single-handed. He made this first entering wedge in Harrison County and on Sunday the whole county knew of our school house meeting on the hill overlooking the Kenwood mines. These Comrades are now trying to surround the old conservative town of Cadiz with other new locals and fully expect to capture that, too.

It is a significant fact that in all the seven new locals organized in this first few weeks of the new year, the majority of the charter members are miners and farmers, and I verily believe much of voting strength has come from these men in our State. They read and reason and then help us to build this wonderful organization, the Socialist Party.

FROM CANAL DOVER.

In looking through the columns of the Columbus Socialist a notice to Locals wishing them to send you a little news about the Local has attracted my attention.

Local Canal Dover has fifty good members and about twenty that are not quite so good but we have quite a bees' nest. And in some cases you may chase some with the ants. But it is the same here as elsewhere, so many dare not show their color. We have two members of the school board, one councilman and one assessor. Good for the first trial. Our candidate for mayor received three hundred and fifty-seven votes out of 1890. We thought it good. At that time we did not have enough members to fill the ticket; we are better now and still growing. If you can get anything out of this that is of any account to you use it as I am not a writer for a paper.

Yours truly,
OSMOND SALMON.

NEWS FROM OHIO SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS.

State Secretary J. C. Schawe and his assistant, Comrade Annie Minturn, are very busy this week. Six different votes are being sent out for the consideration of committees and the membership and this with the usual routine of the office supplies some work.

Up to last Tuesday applications for charters were pending from the following places: Snydertown with eleven members, Navarre with fifteen members, Klee with twelve members, Taylor's Corners with six members.

State Organizer Ella Reeve Bloor is doing effective work. For the past two weeks she has been in Jefferson and Belmont counties principally in the mining regions.

Comrade Robert McCaleb, of Wisconsin, is being toured in this State for the month of March. His work will be among the farmers.

The State Office is circularizing the locals for dates for Comrade Wm. Francis Barnard of the Chicago Daily Socialist staff.

The following motion is being voted upon: "That the National Convention for 1912 be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, instead of Oklahoma City, Okla." Members should file their ballots with the Local or Branch Secretaries not later than March 14, 1912. Secretaries of branches should file their reports with the Secretaries of the Central Committees on or before March 16, 1912. Local Secretaries in organized States or Territories should file their reports with the State Secretaries on or before March 19, 1912. Local Secretaries in unorganized States or Territories should file their reports with the National Secretary on or before March 20, 1912. State Secretaries should compile and file with the National Secretary a complete tabulated statement of the vote by locals in their respective States or Territories on or before March 30, 1912.

My Motto: "A SQUARE DEAL"

DID YOU EVER NOTICE?

By Silas Hood.

Did you ever notice:

That a vicious or brutal looking man or woman is never found in the Socialist movement?

That drunkards and crooks take no interest in Socialism?

That the ignorant and perverted are not attracted by the Socialist cause?

That the grafters, bribers and political shysters are confined to the ranks of the old parties?

That the "successful" business man is not an enthusiastic supporter of the Socialist philosophy?

That mighty few promoters are attracted by the beautiful truth of Socialism?

That the rich suffragette is useless as a Comrade?

That the psalm-singing man or woman is invariably a poor worker for the cause?

That the illiterate are seldom converts of Socialism?

That army offiicers have had the wrong training to appreciate the Socialist arguments?

That the wealthy and "well born" are generally of little use as active Comrades?

That society women (and men), both real and "codfish" are worse than useless to the cause of Socialism?

That millionaires and mendicants are never active Socialists?

That pawn-brokers and mortgage sharks are never found in the party ranks?

That the pessimist is seldom found in the movement?

And did you also notice:

That intelligent refined men are generally the most active and earnest workers in the cause?

That the genius of the world is attracted by the Socialist philosophy?

That the most honest and intelligent farmers, carpenters, printers, inventors, mine, mill and factory workers, together with the most clear headed editors and college men, are those which compose the backbone of the Socialist movement?

If summing up the whole situation it is the better fed and the better educated proletarians who are and will continue to be the hope of the world.

And as there is more intelligence, more good than badness the triumph of the working class is sure.

And as the people of the earth—the majority class—are going to learn more about economics in the next four years than they have learned in the last 100 years, the new era is not so very far away.

This system of capitalism has played its part—an important part—in the development of society. Now it is no longer necessary, nor adapted to the needs of social development. Moreover, it is plainly and rapidly disintegrating, and it is, Socialists believe, possible to end it without bringing upon society any of the lamentable evils which follow upon attempts to abrogate or interfere with the great universal laws of evolution.

WOMEN IN THE SOCIALIST PARTY.

By Caroline A. Lowe, General Correspondent, Woman's National Committee.

Many requests come to me inquiring about the way in which the women carry on the work. In this article a few extracts are given from letters and reports sent in from local correspondents all over the country. These show the many lines of activity entered upon by the woman, also the success with which their efforts are meeting.

When we bear in mind that it is only during the past eighteen months that any definite, concentrated effort has been made by the Socialist Party to reach the women the results are more than encouraging. Lack of space permits us to publish only a few of these reports.

Reports of Woman's Committees.

Reading, Pa.—"We have about 65 women members. During the past year we have had two lectures and given five suppers. 20,000 leaflets have been distributed from house to house, 1,000 at factories and 6,000 at meetings. We have raised $140.93 of which $15 was contributed to the campaign fund, $31.60 to buy literature and $112.93 was paid out for improvements at headquarters. We have a committee at work on organizing a Socialist Sunday School. We have assisted some of our Comrades who are out of work, both financially and held donation parties to bring them eatables. Our sick committee visited all of the sick Comrades and took them flowers. Gertrude Breslau Hunt gave the first lecture and we had no less than 300 women present. Therese S. Malkiel gave a good lecture to about 1,000, most of whom were women. She is also writing us a few articles for women which we are trying to get to every woman in the city. At our next meeting I shall urge upon the women to get a number of sub. cards for the Progressive Woman and sell them at the Sunday night lectures and at all street meetings; also to get several hundred copies of this paper to distribute among the women."

(Signed) MINNIE M. RAPP.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"We have about 85 women members in our local. We have had 25 lectures during the year and distributed several thousand leaflets. The Progressive Woman has been on sale at all meetings."

(Signed) ANNA COHEN.

Mansfield, Ohio.—"We have 11 women members of our local. During the past year we have had one lecture and distributed 18,000 leaflets. Our committee took charge of the task of folding and directing the party paper which is a weekly. We helped to prepare the campaign literature for distribution, arranged hall and procured chairs, took collection and sold tickets for the Debs and Haywood meetings. A library was turned over to us and is now under our management. We had 12 suffrage petitions signed. We gave 5 cents each month per member. Small as this amount is we now have it in the bank. Last August it came to our notice that a woman was sick and helpless; had applied to other organizations and failed to procure aid. We went to the rescue. The folding of the party paper has been turned over to another committee and we will now have time to take up the woman's propaganda work proper.'

(Signed) DR. LAURA HOBSON McQUESTON.

ROCKFORD, ILL.—"We had four Progressive Women programs and the men stayed outside till the program was over and then came in and played cards by themselves. They will not mix socially with the women. They don't want them to come into headquarters and change the partition so only an 'emancipated' woman will have courage to go into the rear of the store where the men prefer to play cards, etc. We have a woman as secretary of the English branch, but no woman has ever been sent as a delegate to the county central committee. The men don't want their wives and sisters to come to the meetings. I was the only woman present at the convention last evening, where the whole ticket was nominated, and you should have seen their faces fall when I walked in. W. E. Clark lectured here on "Woman's Natural Place in Society," and his audience all had cold feet. We will push the woman's suffrage petition as far as possible. We have 11 women members of the local and have raised about $16. About $6 was spent for literature. The rest went to buy linoleum for the platform. We have 30 copies of "What's So and What Isn't" loaned out, and distributed 1000 cards at picnics.

(Signed) MARY L. TEBBETT.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—"We have 50 women members of our local. During the past year we have held four lectures and two picnics. We distributed 700 copies of the Progressive Woman at our meetings. We have raised $262.55 $30 was given to the campaign fund; $5 to Socialist papers; $5 to the Chicago Garment Workers' strike. We have a fine Socialist school with an average attendance of 300. One woman watched at the polls. In 1910 we raised $275 which we turned over to the local for propaganda purposes and $100 was given to the campaign fund.

(Signed) MARY A. HAMMER."

NEW YORK CITY.—"We have about 600 women members in the local. Since Nov. 1, 1911, we have distributed 25,000 leaflets and raised about $1000. Our work has only been really serious and concentrated since Nov. 1st. Our report will not be very much. First: The women are coming into the party rapidly. Second: Each branch is having a woman's committee and each branch will carry on special woman's work. So far there have been three large mass meetings since Nov. 1st. There are three Socialist Suffrage Clubs each meeting twice a month, with lectures and discussions following. All the year these have been successful. Most of the girls and women of the Suffrage Clubs are not Socialists and we aim to teach them the principles of Socialism. The woman's committee members of each branch in turn must be Socialist party members and their work is to go from house to house to call upon enrolled voters' wives, sympathizers' wives and sisters, distribute literature to them and get them into the Suffrage clubs. After six months in the club, they are urged to join the party and in turn join the woman's committee of that branch and get into active work. We also aim to bring the children of these women into the Socialist schools. We all carry application blanks ready to get the enrolled voters and sympathizers into the party. As Local New York is still in the process of organization, I cannot give you a complete report. Our branch alone covers the same territory as Milwaukee and that branch is going nicely.

(Signed) MARGARET H. SANGER."

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"We have 47 women members of our local. During the past year we had one lecture, four entertainments, 12 study classes and one fair. We raised about $350 and distributed 10,000 leaflets. We donated $300 to the local to start a Socialist paper.

(Signed) MARION R. ROSSELL."

HERVE ON GERMAN VICTORY.

By Gustave Herve.

Translated for the Appeal by A. M. Simons.

(The following is the leading article by Gustave Herve in the current number of his paper La Guerre Sociale. Herve is the most prominent direct actionist and syndicalist in the world. Some time ago he was sentenced for his anti-military activity. While in prison he continued to edit his paper and has since been sentenced to nine more years for articles writen while in prison. He was at one time a member of the central committee of the French Socialist Party, but finally resigned because, as he said, he felt that his advocacy of direct action was injuring the party. In view of these facts, his comment on the German election is most significant:)

While we may consider the vote as of only secondary importance as a revolutionary weapon, we cannot deny the importance of four million and a quarter of suffrages.

"Without giving offense to any one, it seems to me that even if I were an anti-voter (a mania with which I have never been tainted) I still could not repress a certain jubilation when I see the magnificent slap in the face that the German Socialists have administered to the Kaiser, and to the united protestant and catholic clericals.

"I have formerly jeered at the German Socialists somewhat. I believe that I even said once to its face—to be sure it was only for the purpose of spurring it on—that it was only a machine for gathering votes and dues.

"When last summer our German Comrades made their splendid manifestation against war, and when, in France, we had shown so little of brilliancy—we who are usually so noisy—then it was that I recognized that this formidable machine for the gathering of votes and dues might transform itself, if the Kaiser became too brutal, into a formidable machine with which to smash him and his supporters. Then, I began to wish that we had such a machine in France.

"And I wished this all the more when I came to see that the Socialists were moving further and further from dogmatic doctrinarism into actual life.

"Now that the German Socialists have turned from metaphysics to practical tactics it is time to quit smiling, my emperor.

"Do you know of what this continuous, irresistible march reminds me?

"It recalls to me the great enveloping movement of the army of the royal prince of Prussia in August, 1870, against the unfortunate army of Napoleon III, and the forced marches which ended at Sedan.

"But this time it is not the army of Napoleon III that is being surrounded and besieged. It is that of Kaiser Wilhelm. The catholic center still rests like the infantry of marines at Bazeilles. But this center, recoiling upon itself, is losing hold, and one feels that its resistance will soon have an end.

"The heavy battalions of the Socialists march methodically forward, making no mistakes, no false movements, but occupying one by one the cities, investing one by one the villages.

"A new imperial Sedan is impending, whose end will be a new republic—the German republic.

"The Kaiser knows this. He well knows that any European war, no matter what might be its result, might easily precipitate the catastrophe. He knows that he cannot, with impunity, put arms into the hands of a military people, which has this superiority from the revolutionary point of view over the English people, that it was trained in the barracks to use the rifle and the cannon. He knows that he cannot, with impunity, put arms into the hands of a people, even though peaceful, who have given proof of their bravery on a hundred fields of battle, and who have in their past, perhaps, the greatest revolution of modern times—the protestant reformation.

"The electoral triumph of the Socialists is not alone a victory for German liberty, it is a victory for international peace.

"Do we in France know enough to draw from the victory of our friends in Germany the lesson of organization, of method, of discipline, of harmony that we need?

"We certainly have need to attend their school for a little while. They have attained to a cordial understanding between the Socialist Party and the unions, they have created within the bosom of the German working class two formidable organizations; one political, the other economic, marching ever forward in harmony, hand in hand, giving to the German people faith in themselves and that enthusiasm which moves mountains.

"We, on the contrary, whose political life is further advanced than that of the Germans, we have, by means of our internal dissensions, our sterile discussions of personalities, developed a party on the one hand and a general federation of labor on the other, equally stagnant, with equally ridiculous inefficiency, treasuries without money, journals without readers, and have engendered demoralization, skepticism and disgust.

"In truth, I begin to ask myself if, with our great phrases of insurrection, direct action, sabotage, and 'chasing the foxes,' we are not, after all, from a revolutionary point of view, but little children beside the Socialist voters of Germany."

WHY BERGER WANTS CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE LAWRENCE STRIKE.

(By National Socialist Press.)

Washington, Feb. 7.—Forcing the attention of Congress to the pitiful conditions of the striking workers of Lawrence, Mass., Victor L. Berger, the Socialist Representative, introduced a resolution in the House providing for the election of a committee of seven "to investigate the relations of the American Woolen Company to the strike of its operatives."

"The American Woolen Company, a corporation engaged in interstate commerce and practically controlling the worsted woolen mills of the country," declared Berger in his resolution, "has for years been the recipient of a government subsidy in the form of an exceptionally high tariff. This tariff has in recent years been raised to a point which has caused even the President of the United States, who was elected on a protectionist platform, to declare that it is indefensible.

"In spite of this government subsidy, by which enormous profits have been taken from the American people, this corporation has steadily decreased the wages of its operatives until they are now conceded to be the lowest paid in any of the important industries of America; has forced these operatives from employment and imported to take their places thousands of men, women and children from the sections of Europe where the standard of living is lowest."

Representative Berger says that the Lawrence operatives have been goaded into revolt by a long series of oppressive acts and abuses, ending in a reduction of wages of 50 cents a week out of an already miserable wage averaging less than $8 a week.

Pointing out that in the disturbances growing out of this strike lives have been lost and persons injured, property has been destroyed, trade and industry have been paralyzed, and armed force has been brought to the scene, Berger declared that "this corporation, in spite of the disasters to an entire community which have been caused by its policy, has steadfastly refused to treat with the operatives.

The Socialist Congressman's resolution provides that the committee shall "investigate all the facts regarding the strike and the relations thereto of the American Woolen Company, and to report their findings at the earliest practicable time to this House."

TEAMSTERS ORGANIZE AND GET RAISE.

FALL RIVER, MASS.—The teamsters in this city have organized a local union with a good membership and immediately thereafter commenced an agitation for an increase in wages which has been successful. All drivers of single wagons procured an increase of $1 a week, and all drivers of double hitched an increase of $1.50 a week, together with an agreement which calls for time and a half for all labor performed on Sundays and holidays.

TO BAR BUTTER.

CLEVELAND.—It is reported that at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Women's Clubs a resolution was adopted pledging all members to abstain from butter for one week. It is said that this actions involves 11,000 club women of the city and their families, or an estimated number of 55,000 persons.

Printers' ink and paper can't be bought on hot air and Uncle Sam won't let us do business unless we have the wherewithal to pay postage. WHAT, REALLY, IS SOCIALISM?

Extracts From an Article in The Ladies' Home Journal

The Ladies' Home Journal conducts a department headed, "His Letters to His Mother." The following extracts are taken from one dealing with Socialism:

The Request From the Mother.

I wonder if you ever realize, you who live and move in the big world of things, how little a woman like myself, living quietly up here, really knows of the great questions that seem so vital and throbbing to the country. "Where is your newspaper?" you will ask. But the newspaper is too verbose, to say nothing of its prejudiced writing and the previous knowledge its writers take for granted. I suppose I am like hundreds of women: I would keenly like to understand these problems, but who is there to tell us, simply and clearly, and, don't forget, briefly?

What I want to know most is, What, really, is Socialism? I read that it is rapidly spreading in America and all over the world. Why? And how will Socialism make us and our conditions better?

The Son's Answer.

I am not surprised, dear mother, that you are puzzled to know what Socialism is, for hardly any two Socialists would give you the same definition. Yet the various forms of Socialism have a common starting point: they hold the present fierce individual struggle for existence to be all wrong. They have also a common aim: to reorganize society so that the whole community shall do the work and enjoy the profits which now fall to individuals. You may understand this better by an illustration:

Hiram Beers peddles milk through the west end of your village, where the woolen mill is. In a good dairy season he charges 6 cents a quart; but after a long drought, or in the winter, when he has to buy feed for his cows, his price goes up to 8 or 10 cents. The only year I remember when he didn't raise his price in this way was the winter that city fellow—Swann, was his name?—moved into the valley and set up a rival milk route, charging 6 cents. That frightened Hiram so that he, stuck to 6 cents most of the winter, and lost money. But Swan came down to 8, too, and when he threatened to drop to 5, Hiram bought him out. No sooner was the sale complete than Hiram's price went up to 8, and it stayed there till the next June.

The bulk of Hiram's customers are the operators in the mill. They keep no cows, but their little children must have milk. If the mill shuts down and their wages stop, Hiram either cuts them off or lets them go into debt to him. When the mill is running on half time, because the water is low, they get half wages, but the low-water seasons are those in which pasture falls off and Hiram has to buy feed and raise his price; so it is hard all around. Perhaps some of the children sicken and the doctor must be called in, adding to the burdens of the parents at the very time they are least able to bear any.

Socialism Proposes a Remedy.

Now comes along the Socialist and says: "There is no need of all these troubles. Let the town own the mill and run it, not to make big dividends for its stockholders, but so as to make cloth enough for the market without reducing wages for part of the year. Let it own the operatives' houses and keep them in sanitary condition. Let it set up a dairy farm, raise its own feed and exercise other economics possible in business done on a large scale, and sell milk at a uniform price. And let it salary all the physicians, and assign them to duty whenever the demand is most pressing."

Just magnify this simple example, mother, till you grasp the Socialists' conception of our great movement giving everybody employment, furnishing all the necessaries and most of the amusements of life, taking care of everybody's health, providing for the support of mothers while bringing children into the world, and giving an honorable pension to persons too old to work, as well as to widows and immature orphans, cripples and other unfortunates. Of course it would have to make us all pay for keeping ourselves and everybody else going; but it would get rid of the present scramble, where each man thinks only of himself. Look at the three doctors in your village straining every nerve to get practice away from each other! You have only one mill, though the farmers raise enough wool to supply two; for the owners of this mill are resolved not to let another come into the township, as their present monopoly enables them to dictate the price of the local wool crop.

The Socialists assert that their system would not only end this cutthroat rivalry, but would also save money for the taxpayers, because the government's industries, through producing necessaries which could be sold cheaper than those privately produced, would still make profits enough to keep up the schools and the roads, and the other things which we must have but which yield no income themselves. The three main tenets of the Socialists are that the earth belongs to the people who inhabit it, and not to a few; that it is cheaper and easier to do the world's work by wholesale than in driblets; and that to abolish the conditions which breed vice and suffering is wiser than to let these evils come and then try to eradicate them.

People Who Are Socialists Unawares.

Do you think it wonderful that such propositions appeal strongly to generous-hearted persons, especially among the young? Or that a great many good men and women are Socialists without knowing it? These are they who, as soon as anything goes wrong, turn to the government for relief. The farmers think they are not getting enough for their crops, and off they go to Congress and demand laws which shall insure them bigger returns. Meat bills mount too high, and housekeepers insist that the President shall punish the Beef Trust. And all this in a country which used to boast of being the stronghold of individualism, where every man stood squarely on his own two feet and didn't let the government meddle with his affairs.

State Socialism—the sort in which the government shoulders a number of responsibilities originally left to private enterprise—is already well planted and spreading in our republic. Our postal service, for example, costs the whole people 230 million dollars a year, which could be earned with a profit by the sale of stamps if our letters had to be carried only between such centers as Boston, New York and Philadelphia. But no; we assume all the extra expense in order that a fisherman up in northeast Maine may write to his cousin, a soldier on the island of Guam, in the midst of the Pacific Ocean, and pay only the same two cents that you and I, who live one hundred and fifty miles apart and in a thickly populated region, pay.

More than that, the fisherman can mail his cousin a pipe for one cent an ounce postage. The cousin can send him the price of it, either in cash secured for safe delivery by a 10-cent registry fee, or in a money order which is better than a bank check; and if either of them has laid by a few dollars from his earnings he can deposit them in a postal savings bank where they will be secured by the credit of the whole nation and bear interest at 2 per cent, a year!

When our common school system was first established it was bitterly opposed by conservative citizens who contended that it was the business of the parents, not of the taxpaying public at large, to pay for the education of children. Even then the only idea was to teach the youngsters to read and write and do a little figuring. Today, what do we see? High schools, open to the rich and poor alike, where such branches as Latin, geometry, chemistry and mechanical drafting are taught, and expert advice is given about the choice of a means of livelihood; and lower grades where every child receives a general medical examination, his eyes and teeth attended to if defective, and he is treated to a free hot luncheon if his parents are unable to furnish one for him.

Another Side of the Question.

At this point I can fancy you, mother, opening your eyes wide at the picture I have drawn, and contrasting it with representations you have read, in which Socialists are held up to scorn as an immoral and generally reprehensible mob. Such a characterization is as unjust as would be a denunciation of all good churchgoers as hypocrites. The Socialists are just like other people, some good and some bad. A few of the bad ones have attracted attention by their misconduct or their crazy utterances, and thoughtless observers have picked these out as specimens of all, just as a clergyman who commits some wrong will receive more notice than the thousands whose lives are purity itself. Then you may ask: If it is not getting into bad company to join the Socialists, why are we not all Socialists; why isn't Socialism a good thing to adopt right away?

In the first place, because there are a great many captious persons who believe that strong brakes on a railroad train are just as essential to a safe and successful journey as a strong locomotive. There are plenty of men who are glad to run the engines of Socialism, and the speed at which our national train is going shows that they are doing all they can to make time. It remains for some to act as holdbacks, or keep the cars under check and prevent their running wild and jumping the track.

The same conservatives believe, too, that everything in nature is better for having to make its way against some difficulties. Those rose bushes which you trim most severely for example, bear the choicest flowers. The finest human characters you ever encountered are apt to be those that began life with a struggle. So there are people who are convinced that if we all stepped aside, took off our hats, and invited the Socialists to come in and occupy the land without any opposition, all that is worst in their organization and crudest in their plans would push promptly to the front, and we should soon witness a terrible revulsion of popular sentiment. If Socialism is destined to become the governmental system of the future there are many who feel certain that it will be all the purer and better for having had to fight its way up from small beginnings and having been pruned of excrescences by the way.

Probably New Zealand comes nearer to having a truly Socialist government than any other country; and Switzerland, without calling herself Socialistic, is farther along that road than any of her neighbors in Europe, and than any republic anywhere. But Switzerland has worked out her problems in a broad spirit of democracy, and by degrees through many years; and her institutions, I fancy, have come to stay, for she has not gone too far nor too fast for her own good. New Zealand, on the contrary, has rushed into her Socialistic ventures with the ardor of youth, and there are those who entertain strong suspicions than her experiment has not proved unqualifiedly satisfactory.

An Interesting Test in America.

In our own country several small cities and one large one—Milwaukee—have elected Socialists to their principal local offices. In Milwaukee the most interesting test is going forward. The new city government is hampered, of course, by the old laws it is still compelled to work under, but it has some wonderful projects in reserve. Among these is a fine park system, in which the outer fringe of the pleasure grounds is to be planted with fruit and nut trees, so that the city may derive an annual income from the sale of apples to the public at one dollar a barrel, and other products at corresponding prices!

The Movement Has Done Good.

One thing is certain, however: the movement started by the Socialists has done a great deal of good. It has aroused ordinary men and women to their duty toward each other; made employers more humane and reasonable; infused something like a conscience into corporations we all supposed soulless; and reminded men in high positions, both public and private, that they are merely trustees for the people and must give a worthy account of their stewardship. All this is going to bear fruit, not only among us, but also for future generations, and may save the necessity of any actual revolution in our forms of government, if the evils we most deplore are found to be curable without that. The millenium may be somewhat distant still.

BUTTON WORKERS SCORE STRONG POINT.

District Judge Noran, of Muscatine, has made permanent the injunction declaring it illegal to pay from city or county funds the scores of "detectives" brought to that city by the sheriff and chief of police to intimidate the strikers. As a result the officials who secured these men in Chicago, or the button manufacturers behind them, will have to foot the bills. The Iowa State Federation of Labor fought the injunction case to a successful conclusion, and labor officials declare that the decision marks the end of a reign of terror in Muscatine, for the bosses won't fancy paying the bills that were formerly met by the city and county. The strikers are greatly encouraged by the turn of affairs.

ORGANIZZING CAMPAIGN ON.

JOPLIN. Joplin is experiencing a revival. An organizer for the Eelectrical Workers is in the city giving his time to that trade. An organizer from the Stationary Engineers has spent a number of weeks here and succeeded in re-establishing on Engineers' local and in organizing three other locals at Cartersville, Webb City, and Carl Junction. There is an opportunity among a number of other trades for effective work, so it is stated, if organizers were placed in the field.

FOR COAL MINING CONTROL.

WASHINGTON. — Representative of the coal operators in Indiana, Illinois, and Pennsylvania urged the Senate Interstate Commerce Commission recently to create an interstate Trade Commission with the same control over the coal mining industry that the Interstate Commerce Commission has over transportation.

KIRBY HAS A SPASM.

WASHINGTON.—Recently, John Kirby, President of the National Association of Manufacturers, addressed 150 Wisconsin members of the Association in Milwaukee. During his remarks, aside from taking numerous raps at the organizations of labor, he commented on the McNamara case as follows: "Developments may, and they may not, directly connect the President and the Executive Board of the American Federation of Labor with the awful conspiracy. Be that as it may, enough is known to convince any sane person they knew all and sanctioned its execution." Those who are conversant with the violent utterances of this gentleman, have even in a remote way connected the officials of the American Federation of Labor with the crime, it would have been done a long time ago.

GLASS PLANT CLOSES.

COFFEEVILLE, KAN.—The Kansas Window Glass plant has shut down, throwing into idleness about 900 men. In this section of the country natural gas is used largely for manufacturing and domestic purposes, and the reason assigned for the shutting of this plant is poor gas pressure.

BALLET GIRLS ON STRIKE.

PARIS.—There is at present a strike being conducted by the "Ladies and Gentlement of the Ballet." Several dancers have demanded an increase in salary. They at present receive between $550 and $600 and they want an advance of from $100 to $150. The cost of living in Paris has grown enormously and this is assigned as the reason for demanding a higher wage and endeavoring to get same by strike.

INSURANCE COMPANY

Paid Policy on Own Employe, Who Still Lives.

NEW YORK.—After paying a salary for 14 years to William P. Larkin, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has just made the interesting discovery that it paid a policy on his life and recorded him as dead in 1896.

During all the years he had been thought to be dead Larkin was working under his own name in the printing department of the insurance company and living within a block of the company's office. It never occurred to him, he said, that his life had been insured or that his wife had collected his policy on the supposition that he was dead.

Larkin went away from his home in Brooklyn in 1896, and his wife had not seen him since. In 1910 she applied for the payment of his insurance policy. After an investigation it was paid. A few weeks ago one of the company's investigators stumbled upon Larkin in a corridor and recognized him.

I AM LABOR!

By Walter D. Hilton.

I am Labor! And I raise my head
After ages of subjection; now I rise
Alive among the living. Mouldy dead
Are superstitions and all other ancient lies.

I am Labor! And my opened eyes
See that which was for centuries hid from me.

I look, and lo! the fearsome size
Of things I feared down dwindles, weak and wee.

I am Labor! And I raise my song;
And as I shout, kings hide behind
the queens I gowned!
And then, reverberating, long,
The echoes roll and roll and wrap the earth in sound.

I am Labor! And I raise my hand,
The while my muscles play in new found might—
And in the majesty of power make demand:
"THE WORLD—THE WORLD—
WITH ALL ITS LIFE AND LIGHT!"

You ride in state on election day, it's true—so you can have a fair chance to vote to walk the remaining 364 days of the year.

ACTIVE YOUNG SOCIALIST IS STRICKEN BY DEATH.

Comrade Otis R. Skinner of First Ward Passes Away Very Suddenly.

Socialists throughout this city were shocked to learn Friday morning that Comrade Otis R. Skinner of the First Ward had died at an early hour at Grant Hospital after a serious surgical operation. He had been in good health until a few days before when he was stricken by appendicitis. Comrade Skinner was one of the most active and efficient workers in our cause in the South End and was a young man whose character and conduct won the respect of all. He was born in Meigs County, Ohio, April 22, 1884, and at death was only 27 years, 9 months and 6 days old. He was married to Miss Minnie Barton, of Rutland, Ohio, July 18, 1910. The same day that Comrade Skinner died twin boys were born to the widowed young mother in a home where expected joy had been turned to grief. Comrade Skinner is survived by his widow and two sons, and his mother, besides two brothers' Charles and Harvey, and his sister, Miss Augusta. He was a trusted employe of the Adamson Bros. Co. The funeral was held last Sunday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. Strickler of the South Side Church of Christ. Hundreds of friends including Socialists attended and the Socialist Band gave two appropriate selections. The pall-bearers were Comrades Zimpfer, Hartman, Townsley, Deibert, Tope and Longstreth. Beautiful floral offerings were a torch of red carnations and a pillow inscribed "Our Comrade." Burial took place near Obetz Junction.

GERMAN SOCIALIST EDITOR LIVED REMARKABLE LIFE

Alexander Jonas, founder of the New Yorker Volkszeitung, who recently died from heart failure, was born on March 14, 1834, in Berlin, where his father was the owner of a large publishing house. When in 1848 a reaction took place, after the revolution, the family removed to a small town about thirty miles outside the city.

Here Alexander Jonas performed his first revolutionary act by posting notices in the town calling upon the people to refuse paying taxes, as the government had not instituted the promised reforms. This action of himself and his brother horrified the townspeople.

He came to these shores with little means, but lofty aspirations, at the time America was still suffering from the upheaval of the Civil War.

He at first entered into a business career, but soon exchanged it for that of journalist, and immediately took an active interest in American politics and long before he had become a full-fledged citizen was extremely well versed in American political, social and economic conditions, one of the first questions to claim his attention and support being that of political equality for women. After organizing the German Woman's Suffrage Association he wrote and spoke in its support at a time when such doctrines were not looked upon with favor.

He contributed weekly to the Neue Zeit (New Era), a weekly devoted to the interests of women, being also at the time editor-in-chief of the Arbeither Stimme (Workingmen's Voice), which position he held until the paper suspended publication.

Jonas was a delegate to the first national political organization of Socialists in this country, the Social Democratic Workingmen's party of North America, which was founded July 4, 1874.

He ran as the first Socialist candidate for mayor in New York City, in 1878, and polled a total of 1,600 votes.

In January, 1878, Jonas founded and became editor-in-chief of the New Yorker Volkszeitung.

His body will be cremated and his funeral is expected to be one of the largest ever held in New York City.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

We are a success! We are entertaining ourselves! Why should not the workers entertain themselves? Last Sunday night we all had a good time listening to the program as announced. A charter member also entertained us with impromptu story-telling.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for securing a suitable theater for our first labor play, "Under The Lash," which we expect to give the last of this month.

Our director of plays, Comrade Stewart, has offered to give free instruction to anyone who will come up early next Sunday night. So pick out some recitation or song or some other suitable offering, even dancing, and come up and improve yourself.

Our entertainment committee has selected the following for some stunt next Sunday night at 7:30:

A reading.
A song.
A dramatic recitation.
Something.

Many other sketches. Everybody is welcome so bring your friends to 335½ South High street and BOOST.

BACHMAN TALKS ABOUT SOCIALISM AND RELIGION

West Side Market Hall Crowded by People Eager to Hear Him Sunday Night.

The meeting at the West Side Market House last Sunday evening was a success in point of attendance and interest. The lack of chairs in the hall compelled over half the audience to stand but the people stood and remained. Comrade W. G. Bates was the chairman and made an effective statement for the subscription department of The Socialist. Comrade Jacob L. Bachman then gave his address on "Socialism and Religion" in which, deviating from his former speeches dealing mainly with Catholicism, he made clear the real relation between the aims of the Socialist propaganda and true religion. He presented the question in a calm, logical manner, demonstrating that Socialists were not fighting religion, but were only opposed to the use of bigotry and superstition as used by the Roman Hierarchy against social and industrial progress. As on former occasions he exhibited the rise, progress and decline of the Papacy in the Old World and its subtle influence as manifested in the United States.

The hall was poorly heated, although The Socialist Publishing Company had paid $10 for the use of the place, while other societies never pay more than $7 and the Republicans and Democrats pay nothing usually. There is a difference you know.

PRISON CONTRACTORS TO VACATE.

The Ohio Board of Administration has given notice to the E. B. Landman Company and the Columbus Bolt Works to vacate the State penitentiary not later than April 15. Thus the contract system comes to an end in the State penal institutions. Here is a striking instance of the way in which prison contractors in collusion with boards of control and prison officials friendly to them can continue the inquitous contract system in violation of the law, in 1906 the legislature was favorable to a bill introduced by Representative Wertz for the abolition of the contract system. The then existing contracts had only a year longer to run. Seeing that the bill would pass, the Board of Control and the contractors cancelled the existing contracts and entered into new ones for as long a term as the law would permit, five years. The bill was enacted, but the contracts could not be abrogated, thus continuing them until 1910. Even then the contractors were allowed to operate on the plea that they had unfinished material. Then the press service of the contractors sent statements broadcast that if the convicts were not employed they would go insane, etc. This story was exposed by one of the press agencies and the Ohio Federation of Labor. Finally the Board of Control was abolished by law and a new Board of Administration, free from the influences of the contractors, was appointed. Thus for this long period, after the enactment of the law abolishing the system, the last contractor will have taken his departure form the penitentiary.

SOME PLAIN TALK.

The Civic Center Improvement fad is to my mind like a man coming from the coal room after shoveling coal all day, dressing himself in a clean white shirt and a new suit of white clothes without washing his face and hands. What should be accomplished is the establishment of a Municipal Hospital for contagious disease; commodious and sanitary market houses in the four parts of the city and one in or near the center; more and better school houses that should be opened to the public when the schools are not in session, and further to see that nothing interferes with the MUNICIPAL LIGHT EXTENDER BOND ISSUE. The foregoing will benefit the most useful citizens of the city.

Look up the property from the Union Depot to Town street and from Pearl to Young street and you will find that it is owned in good part by the masters who receive that portion of labor's product that has not been paid. You also will discover that the Czars of Industries and the original masters who are serving by Divine Right have invested in good corner lots and locations that they may give charity entertainments to relieve the want and suffering caused by the present industrial system. Labor will be still further exploited so that more distress may prevail so that the Trustees will have the poor always with them that they may do good works and gain a place in Heaven.

HEARING OF STRIKE LEADERS CONTINUES

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 15.—The hearing before Police Judge J. J. Mahoney, in the case of Joseph Ettor, leader of the Textile strikers, and his chief aid, Arturo Giovannitti, on the charges growing out of the shooting of Anna La Pizza, continued with the examination by the State of seven witnesses who told of the events leading up to the clash near the Everett Mills two weeks ago.

Several detectives told wild stories of having heard Ettor and Giovanitti advocate violence, but nobody was found who would swear to having seen them near the place where Anna La Pizza was killed.

The defense had thirty witnesses in attendance, and it was expected that the hearing would not end before Wednesday afternoon. Attorneys for the leaders expected that they would be held for the Grand Jury, but they hoped Judge Mahoney would hold their alleged offense was a bailable one.

The courtroom was guarded by a number of militiamen.

There was little change in the strike situation today.

Children for Philadelphia.

William H. Yates, one of the strike leaders, announced today that 300 children would be sent to Philadelphia on Wednesday morning, arrangements for their care in that city having been made by Miss E. Gurley Flynn, one of the National Organizers of the Industrial Workers. Considerable criticism has been heard about sending the children to New York, and to this General Organizer Thomas replies, that it is better for the little ones to be where they can get food and clothing than here where they can have none of these things.

A conference between Adjutant General Pearson, Colonel Sweetser, Mayor Scanlon and members of the City Council was held today at the State armory. Adjutant General Pearson, representing Governor Foss, told the members of the Lawrence City Council to stand "pat" with him for the "enforcement of law and order."

The mill agents claim that more operatives have returned to work than at any time since the strike began, five weeks ago, but were not inclined to give any definite figures.

Several thousand strikers patrolled the principal streets of the city. The strike pickets wore cards upon which were printed the words, "Don't be a scab."

TEDDY WILL BE HERE TO TELL US ALL ABOUT IT

The Great and Only Will Instruct the Con-Con Next Wednesday.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter received at the office of Secretary Galbreath, Monday morning, accepts an invitation to come to Columbus on Wednesday, February 21, for the purpose of addressing the delegates of the Constitutional Convention.

The sun will stand still on that day and small boys and timid people will seek the refuge of cellars and storm coves while Teddy shows his teeth.

Colonel Roosevelt has been an initiative and referendum advocate and in view of the fact that he may take occasion to reply to Governor Harmon's opposition to that principle, voiced in the Governor's speech last week, his views are interesting at this time. He may flop before next Wednesday on this issue. He did that same stunt in 1910 when he reached Columbus and came under the hypnotic influence of the Rail-Light and the scab Chamber of Commerce, although he was the guest of the North Side C. of C.

Miss Stella Weinstein wishes to say to all her friends at The Leader, 1000 Mt. Vernon avenue.

HOCKING VALLEY COAL AND MINING SITUATION

A Fuel Famine and Strike or Plenty of Work and Coal, Which?

In the Ohio State Journal of Feb. 10, W. H. Jackson makes this statement: "Both railroad men and coal men are most pessimistic over the outlook, and as all efforts to clear connecting yards have failed, they do not see how a fuel famine can be avoided after April 1st."

Mr. Jackson, why a fuel famine after April 1st? There will be coal mines, railroads, coal miners and coal dealers after April 1st, and all anxious to do business and make a living.

Again Mr. Jackson says: "In case of a suspension of any long duration after April 1st, indications are that coal will go to a premium."

Why a long suspension or operations, Mr. Jackson? If there is such a demand for coal that that commodity is likely to go to a premium because the consumers cannot get the coal they very much need, then why not grant a little increase to the miners who have been out of work most of the summer and fall and who are in need of not only profits as well as the operators, but actually in need of the necessities of life, to say nothing of clothes and books suitable to send their children to school. If every town in Ohio would establish a Municipal Coal Yard and lay in there that enough to supply the necessities of all its citizens for any winter at the summer prices of coal and thus furnish orders to the operators and employment to the miners during the dull summer seasons and coal to the consumers at reasonable prices than when the cold weather of winter comes and the trains are piled up by three and snow and blockades it will not be necessary for railroad men to punish themselves by inhuman exposure trying in vain to move the trains nor consumers suffer for want of coal they cannot get nor miners suffer for food for want of work, because cars cannot be had to move the coal as now stated by Mr. Jackson, when he says: "This week, mines in the Hocking Valley have operated to a small percentage, while orders have been enough to have kept the mines producing to full capacity."

A great system this, men anxious to work; consumers anxious to buy; operators anxious to make profits; railroads anxious to get freight; and under this system workers are idle; consumers are freezing; operators are loosing money and railroads are blockaded; beautiful system.

Read This and Then Act

We are starting on the biggest subscription campaign in the history of Ohio. We are going to make "The Socialist" a State paper in every sense of the word. We are going to have a daily, but before we can accomplish this, before we can make the daily a fact, we must put this paper on its feet and run up our subscription list to a large figure.

Here's the plan: We want every Ward Branch and Local in Ohio to pledge themselves to sell a certain amount of sub cards to this paper for the balance of this year. We want every individual Socialist in the State to pledge himself to buy and sell a certain amount of sub cards for the balance of this year.

This will cost the Locals and individual Comrades nothing. All you will have to do is invest the first dollar or five dollars or whatever you wish, then sell the cards and get your money back, and use it again in the same manner.

If you haven't got the first dollars, to start with, a certain Comrade will advance it, and then turn it over to the paper the last week in this year. How many will you pledge yourself to sell?

We want at least one hundred who will pledge themselves to buy and sell $50.00 each the balance of this year. We will publish each week the names of those Comrades, Ward Branches and Locals and the amount pledged. Fill out this Coupon and mail in at once.

PLEDGE

COUNCIL APPROVES LARGE ISSUES OF CITY BONDS

Third Street Viaduct Resolution Disappears but is Easily Found. Park For South Side now Possible.

The recent resurrection of dead Democratic newspapers in Columbus when the city printing was to be awarded, was nothing compared with the sudden finding of the Third street viaduct bond issue resolution last Monday before council met. The resolution providing for the submission to a vote of the people of a bond issue of $850,000 was introduced three weeks ago by Councilman Barry. The measure was referred to the finance committee but the committee on railways and viaducts met last Friday night expecting to consider the resolution. It did not do so. The proposition seemed to be somewhere, like the coffin of Mahomet, between heaven and hell. Some inquisitive Socialists got busy last Monday and it suddenly developed that the finance committee had been so engaged with the civic center proposal that the viaduct matter had gone over. Councilman Barry tried to have the committee relieved from the care of the resolution but the finance committee promised to be good and still has it. There seems to have been a well directed effort to side track the Third street viaduct resolution. This is evidently backed by certain interests who have something at stake. Time and the Socialists will compel them to show their hand. The friends of this viaduct plan declare that the enemies of the measure are certain High street real estate owners who want Columbus to be a one-street town for all time.

Council approved the resolution providing that the proposal to issue $350,000 bonds for the purchase of sites for a City Hall, mall and art museum, in connection with the proposed civic center, be voted on at a special election to be held May 8. There was no comment or a dissenting vote.

Two ordinances for as many public parks were introduced, given second reading and referred to committees. One provides for the issuance of $15,000 bonds for the purchase of six acres of land between Parsons avenue and Ann street and Newell and Opp avenues. The part is to be known as Lincoln Park and Recreation Center. The ordinance was introduced by Councilman Zimpfer, who says there is special need of a public park in the district.

Motor-driven fire-fighting equipment will be supplied Columbus if an ordinance introduced in council which provides for $50,000 bonds, is passed. It was given second reading and referred to the finance committee.

Combination hose and chemical and aerial trucks of the latest models will be purchased in the event it is decided to expend the money. It is the plan to keep the proposed equipment in as nearly the central portion of the city as possible so that it will be available to reach all fires without delay.

Council gave an ordinance its second reading which provides for a $10,000 bond issue to install fire plugs in the districts where it is proposed to extend water mains.

An ordinance providing for $250,000 bonds to extend water mains into the North Broadway and Milo and Grogan districts, recommended by the finance committee, was passed.

Councilman Warren introduced a resolution asking that the constitutional convention take action to give a city power to award its advertising contracts to the lowest bidder. It was referred to the judiciary committee after one reading.

KARB AIMS TO MAKE JUNK OF LIGHT PLANT

Appointment of Eichorn is Made for Reasons not yet Clearly Developed.

Harry E. Eichorn has been appointed superintendent of the electric light plant by Mayor Karb. He will replace Superintendent Wirt S. Scott, who has been in charge of the plant since the resignation last September of Herman Gamper. Mr. Eichorn has been chief engineer of the power plant at the Union Station for 10 years. The position at the municipal plant pays $3000. So far as can be ascertained Mr. Eichorn knows about as much about an electric light plant such as is owned by the City of Columbus, as a hog does about political economy. The appointment is an evidence that the Karb administration proposes to do all the damage it can to the municipal electric plant in order that the light extender bond issue may be defeated and the Rail-Light helped. At the proper time details can be supplied.

NOMINATIONS FOR COUNTY OFFICES.

The Ward Branches of Columbus and the Locals of Franklin County have nominated candidates for the various district and County offices to be elected next November. The Executive Committee will (tomorrow) Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18, at 195½ South High street, receive acceptances and declinations which should be filed on or before that date.

LOOK OUT FOR THE MOB! GARY SOUNDS WARNING.

New York, Feb. 12.—"Unless capitalists, corporations, rich men, powerful men themselves, take a leading part in trying to improve the conditions of humanity, great changes will come, and they will come mighty quickly and the mob will bring them."

Not since Andrew Carnegie astounded his former business associates by calmly announcing that the tariff should be removed from steel have financial circles in New York been so aroused as they were by this statement made by one of its leaders, E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the steel trust.

The Gary statement was part of a speech he delivered early Sunday morning to the New York Lehigh Club. Gary made it very plain that the people generally are "evincing a readiness to take things into their own hands." He also stated that the "spirit of unrest" was not confined to the United States, but was worldwide.

Perfection of means of communication and "appeals to the prejudice of what it has seen fit to consider the masses," were the reasons assigned by the steel magnate for this condition.

"Things are being said," he declared, "very similar to things said just before the French revolution. I tell you that the spark may yet make a flame and that soon. I have an especial reason for saying this, a reason that affects you and me.

"Men of great power and influence in the affairs of the country have not all of us done the fair thing. It is imperative that something be done to improve the condition of mankind. Cannot we ourselves do something to improve that condition?

"I say that it is not only good morals, but good policy likewise to improve these conditions. I appeal to you all in your dealings with men under you to do the square thing."

INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY.

Editor The Socialist:

Our present Commercial Oligarchy will be superseded by a more equitable system of industry. The only salvation for the workingmen and their families is in the Democratic control of the industries of which they are the prime factors.

The Oligarchs that now have industry by the throat, fel that they are the superior factors in the affairs of every day life. This is a mistaken idea, and it is for the psoletariat to disabuse the mind of the powers that be of such an inquitous claim.

The Oligarch's president, Mr. Taft, proposes to expend $20,000 for a Commission to endeavor to find the cause for the "High Cost of Living." If Mr. Taft was the president of the people, he would use the means at hand—statistics already compiled to show the cause of the high cost of living, (but to do this he would necessarily discredit his pet "competitive" system.)

Any school boy can take the Commissioner of Labor's annual reports and show the fallacy of this insane commercial system. The daily newspapers, as a class, are false to their mission as an exponent of the people, by not exposing the Oligarchy, which leads me to believe that Senator La Follette's acusation of the daily press is correct, namely, that the "judgments of the editorial staff of the daily press is salaried," that is to say, that vested interests own and control the press and dictate the editorial policies to their own aggrandizement.

There is a disposition on the part of the masses to be shown some real, tangible reason why this unreasonable, insane system of industry should continue.

The purpose of President Taft's Commission will be to frame up some device to obscure the vision, to becloud the brain of the masses an this momentous question of the "High Cost of Living," until after the presidential election, at least. If President Taft was sincere in his purposes to help the common people he would instruct the U. S. Congress to authorize the compliation, in pamphlet form, the cost of production of the necessities of life, and advocate the Congress to apply the economic principles of the trusts in the production of those articles of necessities of the people's use, instead of, as now, for the capitalists profits.

Take for instance the production of wheat, President Taft, himself, in one of his campaign speeches, admitted that the trusts can produce wheat for 3 1-9 cents per bushel.

Government statistics, 18th Annual Report of the Commisioner of Labor, Vol. 2, page 672, published in 1898, gives the cost of wheat production at five and six-tenths (5.6) cents per bushel.

Now, in all candor, why should not the U. S. Government produce the wheat for all the people at cost instead of compelling the public to pay $1 per bushel?

Why make a staple article of food a commodity for individual profit?

Wheat should be grown for use and not for profit. Articles of clothing should be made for use and not for profit. Why does the Government compel workingmen (the prime factors in the production of shoes) to pay $3.50 for a pair of shoes that costs only 53 cents to produce?

And numerous other articles of food and clothing on about the same basis of profit, namely, 500 to 3000 per centum? I answer, it is to maintain this infernal Commercial Oligarchy.

Government statistics prove conclusively that the producers of these commodities of life in this country are robbed 514 per cent of their share of the production. If each worker received the $3450 in value which he produces every year and could buy the commodities of life at the cost of their production, the "High Cost of Living" would be solved. Hence we need to change this Commercial Oligarchy into an International Democracy.

Our whole civic life is loaded down with the accoutrements of vested interests. The municipalities are suffering at their breasts, monopolies that are exacting at least 60 per cent of their strength, while the remaining 40 per cent is impoverished by a system of procedure that is cruel as hell.

For example: This morning a workingman came rushing up to your kitchen door with a grocery order from the Smith Grocery Co., another clerk came hurriedly into your neighbor's house with an order from the Jones Grocery Co., and a 4th from Kroger,—etc., until about 40 thousand houses had ben served from approximately 400 grocery stores. Thus the system compels you to pay 200 to 3000 per cent profits on the very articles you produce.

Now suppose "Uncle Sam" would deliver our mail to us by the same system that our mercantile business is operated? We would prefer charges against him for larceny

It is up to the workingmen to get out from under this infernally insane commercial system, and install in its stead an Industrial Democracy.

How is this to be done?

In my third article on this subject, (next week's issue,) I will endeavor to give some feasible plans—at least to start some discussion that will lead to some practical methods and means whereby the chasm which the Oligarchy has deepened and widened, may be bridged, so that the consumer, who is likewise the producer, may get over into "The Promised Land."

Columbus, O. E. A. PALMER.

WHY SCHENECTADY ELECTED A SOCIALIST MAYOR.

Peter Collins of the McNulty faction of the Electrical Workers put in many days in Ohio, prior to the recent election, telling the voters what bad people the Socialist are and what a sad state of affairs Socialism would bring about. Then the people went to the polls and elected about a dozen Socialist Mayors in Ohio alone.

In Schenectady there is a strong local of the McNulty faction, about 2,500 members. Presumably, these men have been reading Peter's constant diatribes in their Journal against the Socialists. On election day Schenectady elected the entire Socialist ticket by handsome majorities. Though his name does not appear on the list sent out by our National office, nevertheless it is apparent that Peter Collins ranks high as a Socialist agitator. He gets results.—St. Louis Labor.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Columbus, O., Feb. 9, 1912.

Following an all day debate, the Convention on last Thursday adopted the first amendment to the Constitution. This amendment amends section 5 of the "Bill of Rights" and is given in full herewith as follows:

"The right of trial by jury shall be inviolate; but the General Assembly may authorize that in civil cases a verdict may be rendered by the concurrence of not less than three-fourths of a jjury."

As the foregoing language makes perfectly clear the amendment simply gives to the General Assembly the right to make the changes specified, but this is a big step forward in the judgment of those who have given this matter any careful study and thought.

It will certainly put the worker in better shape to get justice when he or any of his dependents are involved in a legal controversy with a corporation. The fact was brought out in the discussion on the amendment that in personal injury cases it often happened that a corporation was able to buy off one member of a jury and thus defeat the ends of justice. This danger will be minimized by permitting three-fourths of the jury to return a verdict. Hung juries and disagreements would become the exception rather than the rule under the new arrangement. The reactionary members of the bar who are members of the Convention opposed the adoption of the amendment.

Wednesday the Convention discussed the report of the Committee on Good Roads which provides for the raising of the debt limit of the State from $700,000 to an amount equal to one per cent. on the grand tax duplicate, for the purpose of building good roads throughout the length and breadth of the State. The report calls for the issuance of $60,000,000 in bonds to carry out the project on the proper scale. The settlement of this question will not be hurried, because the delegates want to look more carefully into the details of the subject before giving their approval to such a vast expenditure of money.

Thursday Governor Harmon addressed the Convention and incidentally came out flat footedly against the Initiative and Referendum. His declaration on this important question came as quite a surprise to the Governor's friends. It is needless to remark his stand was a disappointment to the friends of labor who are committed to this policy. The Governor also endorsed the plan of licensing the saloons.

The I. and R. members got an opportunity to demonstrate what their real strength was on a motion to table a resolution offered by the reactionary forces of the Convention to discredit President Bigelow. The motion carried sixty to forty-five.

President Bigelow proposes to bring the I. and R. members together in a caucus to discuss the best method for submitting this question back to the Convention in a workable form. These conferences will begin the first of the week. The opinions of the friends of the measure differ greatly as to the form it should take; the purpose of the caucus will be to bring them together so that a workable plan can be procured.

The Labor Committee took up the matter of regulating the working hours of women, children and men, at one of its regular sessions the first of the week. The discussion was exceedingly interesting, the committee being made up of employes, employers and lawyers, both sides of which had pronounced convictions on this subject. As a climax to the debate, a sub-committee was appointed consisting of Farrel, Crites and Donahey to draft suitable provisions covering the proposed amendment.

Bro. William Halencamp, of Cincinnati, will offer a proposal next week requesting the State to establish its own printing plant. The proposal will have the support of all of the labor delegates. The State now lets out all of its printing to private concerns on the competitive bidding plan.

President Voll, of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, came to Columbus Thursday evening for the purpose of making final arrangements for a conference with the officers of the Columbus Centennial Commission with reference to the part which labor is to take in the Centennial celebration. This conference has ben set for next Thursday night. As is perhaps generally known, the program for Labor Day, which falls in the midst of the festivities, has been left entirely in the hands of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

It has been decided by the Ohio State Federation of Labor to retain the services of Attorney Brandeis to co-operate with Attorney-General Hogan in defending the validity of the woman's nine hour law in the United States Supreme Court. It will be remembered the Supreme Court of this State in a decision two weeks ago sustained the constitutionality of this law, an appeal being made by the opponents of the law to the Federal Court at Washington. With men of the calibre of Hogan and Brandeis championing their cause, labor can feel secure that their interests will be properly safeguarded.

LEGISLATIVE SECRETARY.

WOMAN'S DAY.

Do not forget to order leaflets for Woman's Day, February 28. "Wimmin Ain't Got No Kick," by Kate Richards O'Hare, is one of the best leaflets ever published on this subject. "The Progressive Woman," has issued a special White Slave edition for distribution on this day. Send in for bundle orders.

Get a speaker to lecture for you, if possible. If you cannot secure one, then prepare a special program and give an evening's entertainment. Suggestions for the same will be supplied upon application to the General Correspondent of the Woman's National Committee, 508 West Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

Spare no effort in making a success of Woman's Day.

A MODEST REQUEST!

Statistics are not always uninteresting. Look at these:

In Massachusetts, 60 per cent of the women over eighteen years of age who work in retail stores, receive less than eight dollors a week.

Of the women who work in candy factories, 93 per cent receive less than eight dollars a week.

Of the women who work in laundries, 75 per cent receive less than eight dollars a week.

Of the women who work in cotton mills, 67 per cent receive less than eight dollars a week.

Now try to figure out how much food, how much clothing, how much rent may be bought with eight dollars in these days of the high cost of living. Remember, those eight dollars often have to put food in the mouths and clothes on the back of others besides the women who earns them.

Here are some more cold figures that have a story to tell:

In Massachusetts, 41 per cent of the candy workers, 102 per cent of the sales-women, 61.1 per cent of the laundry workers, and 35 per cent of the cotton workers earn less than $8 a week; and, respectively, 66.3 per cent, 30.5 per cent, 40.7 per cent and 37.9 per cent of these women workers earn less than $6 a week.

No, reader, those figures were not gathered with hasty zeal by some "muck-raker." They are given in the report of the Minimum Wage Commi sion created by the Massachusetts legislature. This commission, with ability and industry, made a most exhaustive investigation. Its report is authoritative.

What will Massachusetts do about it? The Commission asks in its report that the legislature create a Minimum Wage Board, as a permanent body for "inquiry and arbitration."

Surely, in view of the facts, a most modest request!

Is any industry that receives a protective tariff so high as to become a national scandal, and in the name of "protection to American labor," to be permitted to work women on starvation wages? Is any industry worth maintaining at the expense of human efficiency, or human well-being?

Let the Massachusetts legislature do its sacred duty. Else shall Massachusetts hang its head before the accusing finger of an outraged civilization.—La Follette's Weekly.

WHOLE PULPIT STAFF.

At J. P. Morgan's Church Resigns—Work Was Too Hard.

NEW YORK.—St. George, the largest Protestant Episcopal Church in New York, finds itself suddenly called upon to obtain four clergymen to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of its entire pulpit staff. The parish has more than 5000 members, and includes among its supporters J. P. Morgan and a score of other millionaires and notables.

Nervous strain on account of the vast amount of work connected with the parish is given as the cause for the resignation of Rev. Dr. Hugh Birckhead, the rector.

WOMEN IN LIGHTHOUSES.

WASHINGTON.—There are twenty-seven women in the service of the bureau of lighthouses under the department of Commerce and Labor employed as keepers and assistant keepers at the lighthouse stations alon the coasts of the United States. The keepers receive $510 to $800 per annum, the assistant keepers, $480 to $600; the laborers, $96 to $3114 and other laborers, $180 to $250. Women keepers and assistant keepers receive 30 cents per diem for rations, in addition to salary. There are 5800 male employes in the service, their average salary being $600.

THE SOCIAL EVIL.

Lydston, in an article on this subject, says that whatever argument may be brought to bear upon the social evil, nothing can controvert these fundamental proposition: 1. Prostitution has always existed in society in one form or another; 2, its frequency and forms have adapted themselves to the conditions imposed by the customs of each social system; 3, latter day social and economic conditions are favorable to prostitution; 4, prostitution keeps pace with civilization. As this advances prostitution increases. The proportion of prostitutes is greater today than formerly; 5, modern industrial enterprises are peculiarly productive of conditions favoring prostitution; 6, prostitution is responsible for a large proportion of the diseases that afflict the race; 7, no universally effective methods of repression or regulation has ever been devised; 8, suppression is an absolute impossibility under present conditions. According to the author the remedies for prostitution comprise everything that will ameliorate the economic conditions of woman, and proper sex education, especially of boys. The dissemination of a knowledge of the venereal diseases will do more to prevent the evils of prostitution than aything that could be mentioned. Every prostitute becomes diseased sooner or later. The instance is rare where a prostitute follows her trade for a year without becoming diseased. Once diseased, she scatters infection right and left. Gonorrhea and syphilis are responsible for more deaths and disability than all the great wars ever known. Our hospitals, asylums for the blind and for the insane, says the author, are full of people who have been shot to pieces in the social war.—Lancet Clinic.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS

Call for National Referendum "A," 1911.

The following proposed National Party Referendum was first published in the Weekly Bulletin of January 27th:

Motion submitted by Local Everett, Fifth Ward, Washington.

"That the National Convention for 1912 be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, instead of Oklahoma City, Okla."

The total of members represented is 7,101.

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution relating to referendums, namely, that the same shall be submitted to the membership upon the request of locals representing five per cent of the entire membership, located in five different state, based upon the dues paid in the preceding year (the number required is 4,336), membership ballots for vote on the above proposal were shipped to the State Secretaries on February 8th. The vote will close at the National Headquarters on March 29th.

The first Eastern Interstate Convention of the Italian Locals of the Socalist Party will be held April 7 and 8, 1912, at Schenectady, New York. State, County and Local Secretaries in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont are requested to urge their Italian Branches to take part in this convention, as it will be a very important one. Inquiries regarding conditions of representation should be addressed to Joseph Corti, Translator-Secretary, 305 West Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

National Committee Motion No. 1, providing that no person who, either in public speech or in print, opposes the principle of political action shall be employed as National Organizer, Lecturer, on the Lyceum Bureau, upon which vote closed February 8, was adopted by the following vote: Yes, 43; No, 6; Not Voting, 20.

The National Committee, by vote closing February 8th, elected a committee of three to investigate and report concerning the Chas. H. Kerr Co., as follows:—S. M. Reynolds, of Indiana; W. R. Gaylord, of Wisconsin, and Clyde A. Berry, of Missouri.

The Nebraska State Convention will be held at York, Nebraska, in the Armory Hall, on February 29th.

By a recent referendum in Arizona, J. N. Morrison, of Benson, was re-elected a member of the National Committee.

By a recent referendum in Florida, A. C. Sill, of Ruskin, was re-elected State Secretary-Teasurer, and C. C. Allen, of St. Petersburg, was re-elected a member of the National Committee.

H. Gluski, Translator-Secretary of the Polish Section, is endeavoring to arrange a tour for a Polish organizer through the northwestern states, as follows: Minnesota, South and North Dakota, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California. Secretaries in these states are requested to send in any information they may have about Polish workers. Is there any possiblity of organizing them? Is it advisable to send a Polish organizer through the West?

Address all communications on the subject to H. Gluski, 305 West Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

State Secretary Jos. C. Schawe, of Ohio, reports as follows: "This is to certify that Corbin N. Shook, Mayor-elect of Lima, was expelled on January 7th, for a violation of Socialist principles and tactics, in that appointments were made from old party ranks to offices without the approval of the organized Socialist movement of Lima. Repeated efforts to adjust the matter were without avail."

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

In the German election the Socialists polled 4,238,919 votes in a total of 12,188,237. The gain was nearly 1,000,00. The Conservatives lost approximately 300,000 and the Clerical party about 187,000 votes. The Liberals held their own and the Progressives gained 300,000.

The January dues received at national headquarters, indicate that the party membership has risen to 121,361 members. The gait is being kept up in good shape.

David Goldstein, the "escaped" Socialist, has been invited by the Reds of New Castle, Pa., to come to that city and deliver an address, they to defray all expenses.

Of the htousand delegates in the United Mine Workers' Convention in Indianapolis 842 carried Socialist membership cards, not to speak of the scores of sympathizers. That is why the principles of Socialism were indorsed.

Of the thousand delegates in the letters that have poured into Berlin congratulating the Socialist upon their splendid victory in the recent elections, none created a more profound impression than a letter from Helen Keller the famous deaf, dumb and blind woman of Wrentham, Mass., who wrote to the New Time of Berlin, and in subscribing for that paper declared that she was heartily in accord with the Socialist movement and hoped that a Socialist paper for the blind would be started. Many blind men and women in Germany did yoeman service in the recent campaign for the Socialist and shamed some of those who have eyes but cannot see.

John Mitchell, Peter Collins and other leaders in the Civic Federation wing of the American Federation of Labor, will be brought to Milwaukee during the coming campaign, if the negotiations begun by men connected with the Republican-Democratic "non-partisan" movement are successful, says the Milwaukee Leader. It is improbable that Mitchell will permit himself to be used by the "non-partisans," but Collins pleased the capitalists and corporation press of Milwaukee with a speech last year and will doubtless be willing enough to return to that city and continue his disreputable methods of arousing religious prejudices. That's his strong card. The Socialists in the McNulty organization at Schnectady, New York, Chicago, and other places ought to take up a collection and purchase a medal for the pious fraud.

There is still another judge who doesn't hesitate to tell the hotpoloi where they belong. He is no less a person than Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee, of LaCrosse, Wis. It appears that the Socialists of that baliwick began to rave about the small number of workingmen who were drawn for jury service and they resoluted in favar of the appointment of a committee to make an investigation of the jury commission. Judge Higbee declared right off the reel that the jruy probe proposition was "the product of irresponsible, uniformed political agitators, ignorant of the law." While the Socialists are deeply impressed by the exudations from the judicial mind, they are just ornery enough to continue their investigations as though they had a right to butt in on the jury juggling game. What the pestiferous Reds will do next to display their crass ignorance cannot even be surmised. Maybe they will have the supreme gall to tell the judge to mind his own business.

REICHSTAG OPENED; SOCIALISTS ABSENT.

Working Class Deputies Scorn Imperialistic Ceremony in Royal Palace.

Berlin, Feb. 7.—The Kaiser today opened the newly elected Reichstag, which has 110 Socialists members.

The most striking feature of the opening ceremonies was the absence of the Socialist deputies.

In accordance with an old German custom the Kaiser did not go to the Imperial Parliament, but had the deputies come to the royal palace, where he delivered his address from the throne in the White Hall.

The opening of Parliament is an extremely pompous affair. There are all sorts of princesses and flunkies present. The members of Parliament are supposed to dress in uniform or court dress.

It was because of this display of imperialism that the Socialist deputies stayed away from the ceremonies, and their absence was strangely ominous and did much to becloud the royal festivities.

The Emperor's speech was apparently carefully censored by his advisers so as to give the Socialists as little material for criticism as possible. Nevertheless the Kaiser's address is sure to stir up a great deal of bitter opposition. The dominant note of the address was an appeal for additions to the military and naval forces. He said:

"For the success of our work of peace at home and over seas the empire must remain powerful enough to defend at all times its national honor and its possessions, as well as its just interests in the world.

"It is, therefore, my constant duty and care to maintain and strengthen both on land and on sea the defensive power of the German people, which does not lack young men capable of bearing arms.

"Measures with this end in view are in preparation, and will be submitted to you, together with proposals for covering the additional cost. In helping this important work, gentlemen, you will be greatly serving the Fatherland."

As soon as the Emperor had finished speaking, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, announced that the Reichstag was opened.

Following the address the members returned to the Reichstag. In accordance with customs, the body was called to order by the oldest member. This honor fell to Albert Treger, aged 83, a member of the People's Progressive party.

SOCIALIST CHOSEN.

As Vice President of the Reichstag and Now President Will Resign.

BERLIN.—Dr. Peter Spahn, the leader of the Clerical Center party, who yesterday was elected President of the Reichstag, announces that he will resign the chair on Monday. He gives as his reason that he declines to be associated with a Socialist Vice President. The first Vice President of the House, who also was chosen yesterday, is Philipp Scheidemann, a Socialist.

INDIANA STATE PLATFORM.

Following is the platform and working program of the Socialist Party of Indiana for the campaign of 1912, as formulated by the convention in Indianapolis, January 27 and 28:

The Socialist Party of Indiana in convention assembled, hereby declare its allegiance to the principles of international Socialism, which advocates the collective ownership and management of the means of production and distribution, such as land, factories, machinery, railroads, mines, etc., to be operated for the benefit of all.

We regard the collective ownership and control as a necessary step in the evolution of industrial society, and pledge ourselves to do all in our power to bring it about peacefully by educational propaganda, and by economic and political organization as means calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalistic oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

1. The shortening of the work day.
2. Abolition of child labor.
3. Insurance of the workers against accident, sickness and old age, and public relief of the unemployed.
4. Equal suffrage without regard to sex, race or property qualifications.
5. Direct legislation by means of the initiatice, referendum and recall.
6. Free textbooks in the public schools.
7. Home rule for cities.
8. Abolition of the poll tax.
9. The passage of an exemption law which shall free from taxation the personal effects of the workers.
10. The abolition of the United States Supreme Court.
11. The abolition of the Senate.
12. Election of the State and Federal Judges by the people for a short term only, and subject to the recall.

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

Although February has also brought a cold wave, there is no lack of interest in organization. State Secretary Oneal spoke to a crowded house at Bicknell last Sunday and sold all the literature he had and could have sold twice the amount. The local there was also revived and Comrade Valentine states that the membership will be at least forty in a few weeks.

The Socialists at Greenfield in Hancock County, have also organized a local with the charter members and the comrades start in with a fund of enthusiasm that means a larger membership in the near future. This county has a number of locals now and if they keep coming they will have to form a county organization next summer to take care of all of them.

Word also comes from the comrades at the Bunsen mines near Clinton that they want to organize and the State Secretary will probably go there in the 18th. Clinton and vicinity are becoming alive with Socialists and there ought to be a good chance to carry the city in the next city election.

Local Madison is somewhat isolated way down on the Ohio river with only one railway outlet, but Comrade Farmer writes that they expect to have a membership of 100 by June 1.

Local Osgood is going to take the initiative in organizing Riply county and Organizer Burroughs has been sent material to do the job. Versailles, Milan and a number of other towns will be invaded and the county put in shape for a big campaign.

Comrade Seybold of Local Moores Ridge, states that they will also get busy and organize Orange county. A special effort is being made to increase the local membership also as a basis for this work.

The State Secretary has sent ballots for the election of party officials and delegates to the National Convention to all locals. If any local failed to get a supply word should be sent to the State Secretary without delay. The vote closes on March 4.

The delegates to the State Convention, as shown by statistics gathered there, were like all Socialist conventions repesentative of the working class. Though incomplete the figures gathered show the following to have been present: Men, 143; women, 8; capitalists of small business men, 8; professional men, 11; wage workers, 115; farmers, 11; members of labor unions, 49; foreign born, 17; native born, 113. Former politics: Democrats, 44; Republicans, 37; Independents, 15; Populists, 8; Prohibitionists, 3.

THE MAGAZINE FOR WORKERS

"Absolutely the finest Socialist publication I have ever come across," is what a man in England wrote in renewing his subscription to THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW, the magazine that fights for the working class.

The Review is the only publication of its kind in the world. It is the only monthly illustrated magazine which is devoted exclusively to the interests of working men and working women. It is the only magazine which actually gets right down into the ranks of the toilers and tells what they are doing and thinking and feeling. It stands for aggressive and uncompromising. The Review is not only a magazine for Socialists; it is with the workers everywhere in their every struggle, not only in America but in other countries as well. Wherever there is a conflict between men and masters, there the Review has its correspondents and its photographers. Every month it is filled with pictures right from the scene of action. Its articles and stories come not only from trained writers but from the workers themselves. Its circulation has tripled in the last four years. It is growing bigger and better from month to month.

Local Columbus Socialist Party has endorsed the motion to change the location of the National convention from Oklahoma City to Indianapolis. We would all like to meet comrade Oscar Ameringer again, but he can beat his way to Indianapolis easier than "we 'uns" can get to Oklahoma. Come on, Oscar! "We gehts! Gesundheit."

The talk about firing Comrade Bill Haywood from the Socialist party seems to have sort of subsided. Thousands of party members have read the full report of his Cooper Union speech in the International Socialist Review and are not half as badly scared as some folks tried to make them think they were.

Out of fifteen employes of the state liability board of awards, ten are reported to us as members of the Knights of Columbus. The K. C.'s seem to have a pull. Pax vobiscum.

Since he has been pardoned, Banker Morse is showing signs of rapid recovery. Nothing is better calculated to improve a banker's health than to place him on the outside of a penitentiary.

One of the chief criticisms which labor leaders in this city and in the state make against the state department of labor is that the inspections of factories are farcical because the factory owners are tipped off and know exactly when the factory inspectors are to be expected. This enables them to clean up the place.

The Chicago Tribune admits that recent dynamite scares have not diminished the strength of the labor movement, and infers that they should not diminish it. Even the capitalists' press occasionally echoes the new spirit which is in the air.

Elbridge Gary of the steel trust must have drunk some good wine Saturday night in New York. He made a speech in which he warned his class against going too far in oppression of the people. What was that wine, Mr. Gary? We will send a couple of bottles to Rockefeller.

From New York it is reported that the Harriman lines have lost over a million dollars in dividends on account of the strike of the shop men. The actual losses are probably double the amount, as the figures are based upon only part of the time that the men have been out. Reports from the West state that the roads are in terrible condition. Just one instance in many: It required eight engines to haul a freight train over one division from Mojave to Los Angeles. Two "died" on one small section and had to be towed in by a third engine. The strikers are standing true to their colors, but they need financial assistance.

The hope of the Socialist movement lies in the young men and women of the party. They are active, earnest and zealous. They are doing work that is telling for the coming of the new time of justice and life. Go to it, young folks, and the benediction of the old fellows be and abide with you.

Attorney General Tim Hogan is also opposed to the initiative, Referendum and the Recall. Hogan is an accident officially, inflicted upon the people of Ohio for their sins of omission and commission. "From such Good Lord deliver us."

It may be a little late, but developments show that those who seek jobs at the City Hall should first see Jim Ross, Ben Harmon and E. K. Stewart.

Councilman Lucke seems to be lucky. Several of his friends have secured good appointments under Karb. Beiderman also is a safe bet.

Ask any fairly intelligent public school pupil who are the rulers of Europe, and the child will instantly begin to reel off a list of kings, kaisers, czars, presidents, etc., and probably give a correct tabulation. But nevertheless the answer is not correct. Accurate information on this subject can only be obtained at the higher institutions of education, our great colleges and universities.

Here, for instance, is Prof. David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, California, back from Europe with real information on this matter. So important did he consider it that it formed the subject of a special address to his students immediately after his return.

Professor Jordan declared that it was all a mistake to regard the kings and kaisers et al. as the rulers of Europe. He declared, and correctly, too, that the reigning house in Europe is the dynasty of Rothschild, and has been since the battle of Waterloo, nearly one hundred years ago.

These rulers have been the actual arbiters and directors of European affairs, not the kings and kaisers. The nations of Europe are so much in their debt that it will be impossible, says Professor Jordan, for them ever to repay what they owe to the Rothschilds. Professor Jordan doesn't like this state of affairs, and concluded his address with a stinging arraignment of the "unseen empire of finance," but though his efforts may be creditable, it isn't likely that the Rothschilds will consider themselves stung in consequence. It isn't an easy feat to sting an unseen thing, unless perhaps with an unfelt sting.

Professor Jordan, however, didn't inform his class that the Morgan-Rockefeller combination occupied about the same position in this continent that the Rothschilds do in Europe. That combination also constitutes an "unseen empire," and many professors and others find it profitable to allow it to remain unseen—and unmentioned.

LEST WE FORGET.

We favor the principle of the initiative and referendum."

That was one of the vital planks in the platform of the Democratic convention which nominated Judson Harmon for governor in 1910. Upon that platform Harmon made his campaign and asked for the votes of the people of Ohio, pledging himself to make every human effort to carry out the pledge of the party. The people believed in his honesty and sincerity of purpose and re-elected him governor by over 100,000 plurality.

Yet, last week, Governor Judson Harmon, in a speech before the constitutional convention, repudiated the initiative and referendum and lined up directly with the Masters of Finance who own him body, soul and breeches. Socialists are not surprised except at Harmon's frankness in publicly showing the collar of servitude that he has always worn.

In the meantime the Daily Citizen weeps over his downfall and exhorts the people to vote for Woodrow Wilson. As a capper for the capitalistic game the Citizen is proving effective. It has aided in buncoing the workers several times. Its most recent effort in this line were when it touted Knight and Peters as "progressive" candidates for the constitutional convention. Both have proven traitors even to the halfway policy of the Citizen. Now Harmon jumps over the fence. There is no middle ground. The workers must own the works and nothing else will satisfy.

HARMON.

Smote by the lash of Wall Street the ancient man of the Stone age snarls against the progress of the people. Like vultures they wish to continue to pick the bones of the dying.

American Woolen pays 7 per cent. on $69,500,000, Pacific more than 12 per cent. on $8,000,000, and in 1907 paid 20 per cent. extra cash—or a measly $5,000,000 in hard coin—and in 1905 the Arlington Mills paid a dividend of 33 per cent. Any workers reading these figures can see why it is necessary for the stockholders to steal 22 cents a week from starving women, children and men.

WAS LINCOLN A SOCIALIST?

"Labor is prior to, and independent of, capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the higher consideration."—From Lincoln's annual message to Congress, December 3rd, 1861.

How many of the mental prostitutes and retainers of the capitalistic class, who have delivered "spread eagle" orations eulogizing the memory of Abraham Lincoln, are aware of these lines and their social significance? Not many of them, we think, and those who do understand, gloss over it the same as many preachers gloss over the words: "You cannot serve God and Mammon." They do the only thing left open for them. They forget it.

And those swine, who have lauded the memory of one of the few great men this country has produced, belong to the class that during the Civil War did nothing but attack and malign his motives.

The men who stand before the audiences of this country and quote the words "That Government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth," know in their hearts that they are lying when they assert that there is such a thing today.

Lincoln in that message to Congress was preaching the text of Socialism. A Socialist could hardly have put the idea in plainer words. Lincoln may not have known its social significance. We know that Congress did not grasp its meaning, but those words "Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed," are plain to everyone. They contain a truth that only those blinded by the false glitter of capitalist gold cannot see. Think well over their meaning and then try and reconcile them with the actions of the owners of the textile mills and the authorities of Lawrence, Mass. Try it. You will find it difficult.

If Lincoln were alive today we are sure that he would be in a front rank of the Socialist Party fighting for the emancipation of the wage-slaves of the World; the same as he fought for the emancipation of the chattel slaves of the South.

The only people who have the right to honor and respect the memory of Abraham Lincoln are the members of the working class.

THE STATE AND THE STRIKERS.

Maud Thompson.

The Lawrence strike has proved once more that the state is master of the workers.

We speak of "our public servants." We imagine the state as a power that we have created and that we control. But we merely elect from time to time the office-holders. The state is a permanent power behind the temporary office-holders. It is made up of many elements, out-of-date laws, traditions, precedents, small political organizations with tremendous power, and great business powers without political organization. But all its legal and illegal powers join in one end—the protection of property.

The workers are fighting to one end—the protection of life. They are a great unorganized mass guided now and then for brief periods by the smaller more compact body of organized workers and by a few strong leaders. Their power consists of a few simple elements, numbers, class solidity, the courage of those who have little to lose. They have no property to lose; therefore they are not paralyzed by the cowardice of possession. But one thing they cannot do—wait. For the wolf is at the door. They are fighting for life and there is no time to make terms with starvation.

The employers whom they force in the struggle can well afford to wait, for the larder is full. They are few in number, but they have that which multiplies each a hundred times—money. Witness the 3000 private detectives said to have been hired by the Lawrence mill-owners. Yet the employers have a vital point that makes them at once timid and reckless—fear for their property.

They do not face starvation, but they shudder at the threatened loss of profits as a worker does at the thought of his hungry children. It is the dreaded loss of profits, perhaps the threat of bankruptcy, that makes it impossible for the employers to close the doors of the mills and wait for peace. When contracts involving millions of dollars must be taken on Monday or go to rivals, the American Woolen Company cannot sit happily behind closed doors. When the stock of American Woolen falls from one to four points on Wall Street, the mill-owners dare not let peaceful means settle the strike.

So, although not a single act of violence could be charged to the strikers, the riot act was read. The state was called in on the side of property and against the protection of life. The workers were merely using what lawful powers they had, displaying their numbers by marching in procession, their courage by their banners, and songs, and their solidity by picketing. Against this peaceful parade of power by the defenders of life the defenders of property directed the force of police and militia.

Then the amazing spectacle is shown of the "powers of law and order" creating violence in order to have violence to suppress or to charge the strikers. A woman striker is shot and the strike leader is arrested for complicity. Dynamite is discovered in the house of Syrian strikers and even the judge in the case suspects "planting" and dismisses the case. Bail is refused to the jailed strike leader until habeas corpus proceedings compel his release. Was it long enough to serve the purpose of crippling the strike?

So it goes—the devious devices of the state pitted against the elemental powers of the mob. Will the workers need many more lessons like the Lawrence strike to show them that they must BECOME THE STATE?

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

On to Washington! That's us, by heck. We are going to send a working class representative to Congress this fall or bust a hame-string trying. Anyhow, when the fight's over, that Democrat rooster will be minus all his tail feathers and otherwise look like he had been through a Missouri cyclone. And that G. O. P. (grafters off the people) elephant will look like he had just came through a six months famine. In other words we are going to give the two old parties hell and lots of it.

Every day, as one goes up and down the highways and the byways, you can hear them cussing that gang of pirates as they never cussed before.

The working class of this country are being taught such a lesson this winter, that they are not likely to soon forget because many a Republican and Democratic belly has gone empty this winter and they are calling aloud for vengeance.

Now, Comrades, we want to win this fall. WE MUST WIN. And in order to do it, you know as well as we, that we must boost the circulation of our paper. Taking everything into consideration with the bad weather and so forth, the Boosters have done fine. But we must not stop. The paper is now almost, but not quite, paying its own way. The least let-up would put the figures on the wrong side of the column. A little extra effort on the part of every one will start the figures moving in the right direction. An appeal is made to those Comrades and friends who, as yet have failed to join us in this campaign, assuring you that if you do not want your name mentioned, we will not do so.

We would like to ask the Ward Branches to buy all the sub-cards they possibly can as advertising is darned hard to get right now.

Everybody pledge themselves to get at least one subscriber next week. Everybody, altogether.

Report for two weeks follows:

The mark set—5000.
Balance to get last report	4653
Names put on	310
Expirations	103
Gains for two weeks	107
Balance to get	4546

Another one of our "P. H. Boosters" shows up this week with five yearly and one six-month. Going some, I guess.

Determined to put into wider circulation a "newspaper without a muzzle" Comrade Frank Geren sends in four yearlies.

Sending in a list of seven, Comrade Blanche Conaghan writes as follows: "I am so well pleased with 'The Socialist' that I wish all my friends could educate their intelligence by reading it." Boosters, you have sure got a valuable addition to your ranks.

Comrade Emmett Binns ties a tin can on the tail of Capitalism, by sending in four. You can't keep him down.

Raus Mit 'Em, yells Comrade Carl Bauch, as he slides home with three.

Comrade E. Hartman of the First Ward writes that he feels kind of slighted when he looks at the Boosters Column, because he is Literary Agent of the First Ward and don't have much of a chance to get subs. However, he says further, that he don't care a continental whether he gets his name in the Boosters Column or not. He's going to keep his eye on the First Ward Branch and see that they always have a supply of sub-cards on hand. Moral, Literary Agents of the other branches, "Go thou and do likewise."

The "grave-digger" says, these dod-burned Socialists are making me work over-time. Sure, get busy yells Comrades A. Wright, A. Lewis, D. E. Fulmer and H. Friedland as they each hand in three subs.

To properly celebrate the birthday of that great Socialist, Abraham Lincoln, the following Comrades each land two: J. P. Bohnert, O. J. Harris, A. Meier, H. H. Hoover, P. Highland, G. E. Birmingham, C. A. Bubb, Morris Cohn and O. G. Van Schoyck.

The following Comrades each made a home run this week: J. A. Ebright, Rufus Piper, F. E. Seeds, L. J. Volz, Alfred Poenisch, W. H. Graumlich, E. H. Dressel, W. R. Ffester, W. L. Mulvaney, F. Faught, W. C. Atkinson, W. J. Flory, O. L. Neds, O. E. Reed, A. Patterson, F. P. Zimpfer, H. W. Wiechers, J. W. Richards, W. S. Tomlinson, W. C. Bates, D. C. Woodward, H. Wilhelm, Mrs. Wm. Bingmer, E. O. Griffis, J. S. Tidball, M. S. Sims, J. B. Shay, G. A. Sutton, Mrs. A. Vaughn, H. Spires, T. C. Southard, A. L. Kimble, A. Nick, B. Loudenslager, J. F. Brown, Harry Landenberger, John McCune, Dr. Dills and J. A. Orders.

FEDERATION OF LABOR WILL WATCH CONSTITUTION

Weekly Meetings Will Be Held to Consider New State Organic Law.

The Columbus Federation of Labor proposes to take up in earnest the work of influencing the acts of Ohio Constitutional Convention, now in session, in the city. Last Monday evening the Federation voted to meet everyFriday night, beginning this week, and appoint a Legislative Committee to push policies which may be adopted at the sessions. The body customarily meets every second and fourth Monday of each month.

The committee appointed last night is composed of Messrs. C. C. Apple, A. L. Leavitt, M. J. Giblin, A. Z. Larrison and Charles Rebert.

All union men showing cards will be admitted to the Friday night sessions.

Action of local union barbers, who have asked that shops close at 7 instead of 8 p. m., was indorsed.

No person who is a member of any military organization formed under the Dick military act can be a delegate to the Columbus Federation of Labor, if a Constitutional amendment to that effect is adopted.

A VALENTINE.

(From Electrical Workers.)

Written in verse, short and terse,
despicting the fate of a labor skate.
There used to be a labor skate,
McNulty was his name;
Who tried to fool us fixers,
But we busted up his game.

McNulty got it in his head, that
He was born to lead;
And in systematic fashion, tried
Our pocket books to bleed.

But before this mighty chieftan knew
Just what he was about,
We called a big convention
And we kicked McNulty out.

Now what should this McNulty do
On getting such a slam!
But flee with his lieutenants, to
His Royal nibs, called Sam.

And what should Uncle Sammy do
Of fakiration fame!
Why! declare McNulty innocent,
The rank and file to blame.

McNulty also had a pal,
The boys all called him "Pete;"
Who was badly crippeld in his head,
And his brains were in his feet.

So when Peter found that he must go
He whimpered like a beast;
Now he's barking at the Socialists,
In the Militia of Christ.

FIELD NOTES.

Ella Reeve Bloor, State Organizer.

In writing up the work of the State Organizer for January and February it is hard to be brief, the field is so ripe for organization and the encouragement all along the line makes one enthusiastic. Even the bitter cold weather the long walks in snow drifts—rides in open sledges, cannot cool the ardor of the Organizer. When at the end of the walk or ride, there is a school house or a miners' hall full of men and women eager to hear the gospel of Socialism.

In January new locals were organized in West Jefferson, Madison County; Negley and Rogers, Columbiana County; Pleasant Valley, Mahoning County, and Louisville, Stark County. Many weak locals were reorganized and strengthened and everywhere a new spirit is growing.

In Canton there's a live bunch of workers, all reaching out to help in the county organization, twelve of them went to Louisville the night we organized there and helped. Dan McCartan's brother "Jack" is secretary of Canton Local and Dan, who was there on a visit, went with us on some of our organizing expeditions, organized a large woman's committee of the party at Canton with Mrs. Ed. Powell as chairman.

In Belmont County, where I have spent most of February, I found it almost all one big mining camp. The vice president of District 6 of the Miners' Union, Wm. Roy, joined one of my new locals in Belmont County, Local Klee, and the president of the district, Albinson, joined another new big local. I organized in Kirkwood a part of Bridgeport. George N. Kaine, president of the Glass Workers' Union, also joined this local as charter member and was elected secretary of the local.

At Martin's Ferry I heard Comrade Ricker, of the Appeal staff, give his lecture on "Socialists at Work." He is just such a teacher as Comrade Richardson, who came to us in Columbus last winter, and his lectures in Ohio will most certainly do a great deal of good in educating our mass of new Socialists.

On Friday evening Comrade Ricker and myself were invited to be present and address the Legislative Committee at Martin's Ferry which advises the Socialist officials of the city every week. It was one of the most inspiring sights I ever witnessed, the intelligent group of men so anxious to do their duty as Socialists. Every official but one in the entire city government is a Socialist. Mayor Wyckoff is a quiet man, but has a large amount of reserve force. He has worked for years on the "Wheeling News" and still works a part of the time on the paper. Clark Gilbert, the Director of Public Service, an inventor and electrician, is a live wire himself—and every man elected and appointed seems specialized for his job.

At Comrade Gilbert's home on Thursday I organized a woman's committee with Mrs. Gilbert as chairman and the mayor's wife as an active member.

But in all the joy of success the Martin's Ferry Comrades do not forget the miners of surrounding towns and several Comrades attended many of my meetings.

The County Secretary of Belmont County, C. M. Brownfield, of Steel, Ohio, shipping clerk at Neff's Mines, has a perfect genius for organization, and is working toward a County Local with many branches. He calls regular county meetings of their Central Committee and helped me by attending most of my meetings after his hard day's work, often walking four miles home after the meeting.

At Kenwood, near Cadiz, I found a local organized by a farmer, Chauncey Davies, single-handed. He made this first entering wedge in Harrison County and on Sunday the whole county knew of our school house meeting on the hill overlooking the Kenwood mines. These Comrades are now trying to surround the old conservative town of Cadiz with other new locals and fully expect to capture that, too.

It is a significant fact that in all the seven new locals organized in this first few weeks of the new year, the majority of the charter members are miners and farmers, and I verily believe much of voting strength has come from these men in our State. They read and reason and then help us to build this wonderful organization, the Socialist Party.

FROM CANAL DOVER.

In looking through the columns of the Columbus Socialist a notice to Locals wishing them to send you a little news about the Local has attracted my attention.

Local Canal Dover has fifty good members and about twenty that are not quite so good but we have quite a bees' nest. And in some cases you may class some with the ants. But it is the same here as elsewhere, so many dare not show their color. We have two members of the school board, one councilman and one assessor. Good for the first trial. Our candidate for mayor received three hundred and fifty-seven votes out of 1290. We thought it good. At that time we did not have enough members to fill the ticket; we are better now and still growing. If you can get anything out of this that is of any account to you use it as I am not a writer for a paper.

Yours truly,
OSMOND SALMON.

NEWS FROM OHIO SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS.

State Secretary J. C. Schawe and his assistant, Comrade Annie Minturn, are very busy this week. Six different votes are being sent out for the consideration of committees and the membership and this with the usual routine of the office supplies some work.

Up to last Tuesday applications for charters were pending from the following places: Snydertown with eleven members, Navarre with fifteen members, Klee with twelve members, Taylor's Corners with six members.

State Organizer Ella Reeve Bloor is doing effective work. For the past two weeks she has been in Jefferson and Belmont counties principally in the mining regions.

Comrade Robert McCaleb, of Wisconsin, is being toured in this State for the month of March. His work will be among the farmers.

The State Office is circularizing the locals for dates for Comrade Wm. Francis Barnard of the Chicago Daily Socialist staff.

The following motion is being voted upon: "That the National Convention for 1912 be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, instead of Oklahoma City, Okla." Members should file their ballots with the Local or Branch Secretaries not later than March 14, 1912. Secretaries of branches should file their reports with the Secretaries of the Central Committees on or before March 16, 1912. Local Secretaries in organized States or Territories should file their reports with the State Secretaries on or before March 19, 1912. Local Secretaries in unorganized States or Territories should file their reports with the National Secretary on or before March 29, 1912. State Secretaries should compile and file with the National Secretary a complete tabulated statement of the vote by locals in their respective States or Territories on or before March 29, 1912.

My Motto: "A SQUARE DEAL"

DID YOU EVER NOTICE?

By Silas Hood.

Did you ever notice:

That a vicious or brutal looking man or woman is never found in the Socialist movement?

That drunkards and crooks take no interest in Socialism?

That the ignorant and perverted are not attracted by the Socialist cause?

That the grafters, bribers and political shysters are confined to the ranks of the old parties?

That the "successful" business man is not an enthusiastic supporter of the Socialist philosophy?

That mighty few promoters are attracted by the beautiful truth of Socialism?

That the rich suffragette is useless as a Comrade?

That the psalm-singing man or woman is invariably a poor worker for the cause?

That the illiterate are seldom converts of Socialism?

That army officers have had the wrong training to appreciate the Socialist arguments?

That the wealthy and "well born" are generally of little use as active Comrades?

That society women (and men), both real and "codfish" are worse than useless to the cause of Socialism?

That millionaires and mendicants are never active Socialists?

That pawn-brokers and mortgage sharks are never found in the party ranks?

That the pessimist is seldom found in the movement?

And did you also notice:

That intelligent refined men are generally the most active and earnest workers in the cause?

That the genius of the world is attracted by the Socialist philosophy?

That the most honest and intelligent farmers, carpenters, printers, inventors, mine, mill and factory workers, together with the most clear headed editors and college men, are those which compose the backbone of the Socialist movement?

In summing up the whole situation it is the better fed and the better educated proletarians who are and will continue to be the hope of the world.

And as there is more intelligence, more good than badness the triumph of the working class is sure.

And as the people of the earth—the majority class—are going to learn more about economics in the next four years than they have learned in the last 100 years, the new era is not so very far away.

This system of capitalism has played its part—an important part—in the development of society. Now it is no longer necessary, nor adapted to the needs of social development. Moreover, it is plainly and rapidly disintegrating, and it is, Socialists believe, possible to end it without bringing upon society any of the lamentable evils which follow upon attempts to abrogate or interfere with the great universal laws of evolution.

WOMEN IN THE SOCIALIST PARTY.

By Caroline A. Lowe, General Correspondent, Woman's National Committee.

Many requests come to me inquiring about the way in which the women carry on the work. In this article a few extracts are given from letters and reports sent in from local correspondents all over the country. These show the many lines of activity entered upon by the woman, also the success with which their efforts are meeting.

When we bear in mind that it is only during the past eighteen months that any definite, concentrated effort has been made by the Socialist Party to reach the women the results are more than encouraging. Lack of space permits us to publish only a few of these reports.

Reports of Woman's Committees.

Reading, Pa.—"We have about 65 women members. During the past year we have had two lectures and given five suppers. 20,000 leaflets have been distributed from house to house, 1,000 at factories and 5,000 at meetings. We have raised $140.95 of which $15 was contributed to the campaign fund, $21.80 to buy literature and $112.36 was paid out for improvements at headquarters. We have a committee at work on organizing a Socialist Sunday School. We have assisted some of our Comrades who are out of work, both financially and hold donation parties to bring them eatables. Our sick committee visited all of the sick Comrades and took them flowers. Gertrude Breslau Hunt gave the first lecture and we had no less than 800 women present. Theresa S. Malkiel gave a good lecture to about 1,000, most of whom were women. She is also writing us a few articles for women which we are trying to get to every woman in the city. At our next meeting I shall urge upon the women to get a number of sub. cards for the Progressive Woman and sell them at the Sunday night lectures and at all street meetings; also to get several hundred copies of this paper to distribute among the women."

(Signed) MINNIE M. RAPP.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"We have about 88 women members in our local. We have had 35 lectures during the year and distributed several thousand leaflets. The Progressive Woman has been on sale at all meetings."

(Signed) ANNA COHEN.

Mansfield, Ohio.—"We have 11 women members of our local. During the past year we have had one lecture and distributed 18,000 leaflets. Our committee took charge of the task of folding and directing the party paper which is a weekly. We helped to prepare the campaign literature for distribution, arranged hall and procured chairs, took collection and sold tickets for the Debs and Haywood meetings. A library was turned over to us and is now under our management. We had 12 suffrage petitions signed. We gave 5 cents each month per member. Small as this amount is we now have it in the bank. Last August it came to our notice that a woman was sick and helpless; had applied to other organizations and failed to procure aid. We went to the rescue. The folding of the party paper has been turned over to another committee and we will now have time to take up the woman's propaganda work proper."

(Signed) DR. LAURA HOBSON McQUESTON.

ROCKFORD, ILL.—"We had four Progressive Women programs and the men stayed outside till the program was over and then came in and played cards by themselves. They will not mix socially with the women. They don't want them to come into headquarters and change the partition so only an 'emancipated' woman will have courage to go into the rear of the store where the men prefer to play cards, etc. We have a woman as secretary of the English branch, but no woman has ever been sent as a delegate to the county central committee. The men don't want their wives and sisters to come to the meetings. I was the only woman present at the convention last evening, where the whole ticket was nominated, and you should have seen their faces fall when I walked in. W. E. Clark lectured here on "Woman's Natural Place in Society," and his audience all had cold feet. We will push the woman's suffrage petition as far as possible. We have 11 women members of the local and have raised about $16. About $6 was spent for literature. The rest went to buy linoleum for the platform. We have 80 copies of "What's So and What Isn't" loaned out, and distributed 1000 cards at picnics.

(Signed) MARY L. TEBBETT.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—"We have 50 women members of our local. During the past year we have held four lectures and two picnics. We distributed 700 copies of the Progressive Woman at our meetings. We have raised $262.55. $50 was given to the campaign fund; $5 to Socialist papers; $5 to the Chicago Garment Workers' strike. We have a fine Socialist school with an average attendance of 900. One woman watched at the polls. In 1910 we raised $275 which we turned over to the local for propaganda purposes and $100 was given to the campaign fund.

(Signed) MARY A. HAMMER."

NEW YORK CITY.—"We have about 600 women members in the local. Since Nov. 1, 1911, we have distributed 25,000 leaflets and raised about $1000. Our work has only been really serious and concentrated since Nov. 1st. Our report will not be very much. First: The women are coming into the party rapidly. Second: Each branch is having a woman's committee and each branch will carry on special women's work. So far there have been three large mass meetings since Nov. 1st. There are three Socialist Suffrage Clubs each meeting twice a month, with lectures and discussions following. All the year these have been successful. Most of the girls and women of the Suffrage Clubs are not Socialists and we aim to teach them the principles of Socialism. The woman's committee members of each branch in turn must be Socialist party members and their work is to go from house to house to call upon enrolled voters' wives, sympathizers' wives and sisters, distribute literature to them and get them into the Suffrage clubs. After six months in the club, they are urged to join the party and in turn join the woman's committee of that branch and get into active work. We also aim to bring the children of these women into the Socialist schools. We all carry application blanks ready to get the enrolled voters and sympathizers into the party. As Local New York is still in the process of organization, I cannot give you a complete report. Our branch alone covers the same territory as Milwaukee and that branch is going nicely.

(Signed) MARGARET H. SANGER."

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"We have 47 women members of our local. During the past year we had one lecture, four entertainments, 12 study classes and one fair. We raised about $350 and distributed 10,000 leaflets. We donated $300 to the local to start a Socialist paper.

(Signed) MARION R. ROSSELL."

HERVE ON GERMAN VICTORY.

By Gustave Herve.

Translated for the Appeal by A. M. Simons.

(The following is the leading article by Gustave Herve in the current number of his paper La Guerre Sociale. Herve is the most prominent direct actionist and syndicalist in the world. Some time ago he was sentenced for his anti-military activity. While in prison he continued to edit his paper and has since been sentenced to nine more years for articles written while in prison. He was at one time a member of the central committee of the French Socialist Party, but finally resigned because, as he said, he felt that his advocacy of direct action was injuring the party. In view of these facts, his comment on the German election is most significant:)

While we may consider the vote as of only secondary importance as a revolutionary weapon, we cannot deny the importance of four million and a quarter of suffrages.

"Without giving offense to any one, it seems to me that even if I were an anti-voter (a mania with which I have never been tainted) I still could not repress a certain jubilation when I see the magnificent slap in the face that the German Socialists have administered to the Kaiser, and to the united protestant and catholic clericals.

"I have formerly jeered at the German Socialists somewhat. I believe that I even said once to its face—to be sure it was only for the purpose of spurring it on—that it was only a machine for gathering votes and dues.

"When last summer our German Comrades made their splendid manifestation against war, and when, in France, we had shown so little of brilliancy—we who are usually so noisy—then it was that I recognized that this formidable machine for the gathering of votes and dues might transform itself, if the Kaiser became too brutal, into a formidable machine with which to smash him and his supporters. Then, I began to wish that we had such a machine in France.

"And I wished this all the more when I came to see that the Socialists were moving further and further from dogmatic doctrinarism into actual life.

"Now that the German Socialists have turned from metaphysics to practical tactics it is time to quit smiling, my emperor.

"Do you know of what this continuous, irresistible march reminds me?

"It recalls to me the great enveloping movement of the army of the royal prince of Prussia in August, 1870, against the unfortunate army of Napoleon III, and the forced marches which ended at Sedan.

"But this time it is not the army of Napoleon III that is being surrounded and besieged. It is that of Kaiser Wilhelm. The catholic center still rests like the infantry of marines at Bazeilles. But this center, recoiling upon itself, is losing hold, and one feels that its resistance will soon have an end.

"The heavy battalions of the Socialists march methodically forward, making no mistakes, no false movements, but occupying one by one the cities, investing one by one the villages.

"A new imperial Sedan is impending, whose end will be a new republic—the German republic.

"The Kaiser knows this. He well knows that any European war, no matter what might be its result, might easily precipitate the catastrophe. He knows that he cannot, with impunity, put arms into the hands of a military people, which has this superiority from the revolutionary point of view over the English people, that it was trained in the barracks to use the rifle and the cannon. He knows that he cannot, with impunity, put arms into the hands of a people, even though peaceful, who have given proof of their bravery on a hundred fields of battle, and who have in their past, perhaps, the greatest revolution of modern times—the protestant reformation.

"The electoral triumph of the Socialists is not alone a victory for German liberty, it is a victory for international peace.

"Do we in France know enough to draw from the victory of our friends in Germany the lesson of organization, of method, of discipline, of harmony that we need?

"We certainly have need to attend their school for a little while. They have attained to a cordial understanding between the Socialist Party and the unions, they have created within the bosom of the German working class two formidable organizations; one political, the other economic, marching ever forward in harmony, hand in hand, giving to the German people faith in themselves and that enthusiasm which moves mountains.

"We, on the contrary, whose political life is further advanced than that of the Germans, we have, by means of our internal dissensions, our sterile discussions of personalities, developed a party on the one hand and a general federation of labor on the other, equally stagnant, with equally ridiculous inefficiency, treasuries without money, journals without readers, and have engendered demoralization, skepticism and disgust.

"In truth, I begin to ask myself if, with our great phrases of insurrection, direct action, sabotage, and 'chasing the foxes,' we are not, after all, from a revolutionary point of view, but little children beside the Socialist voters of Germany."

WHY BERGER WANTS CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE LAWRENCE STRIKE.

(By National Socialist Press.)

Washington, Feb. 7.—Forcing the attention of Congress to the pitiful conditions of the striking workers of Lawrence, Mass., Victor L. Berger, the Socialist Representative, introduced a resolution in the House providing for the election of a committee of seven "to investigate the relations of the American Woolen Company to the strike of its operatives."

"The American Woolen Company, a corporation engaged in interstate commerce and practically controlling the worsted woolen mills of the country," declared Berger in his resolution, "has for years been the recipient of a government subsidy in the form of an exceptionally high tariff. This tariff has in recent years been raised to a point which has caused even the President of the United States, who was elected on a protectionist platform, to declare that it is indefensible.

"In spite of this government subsidy, by which enormous profits have been taken from the American people, this corporation has steadily decreased the wages of its operatives until they are now conceded to be the lowest paid in any of the important industries of America; has forced these operatives from employment and imported to take their places thousands of men, women and children from the sections of Europe where the standard of living is lowest."

Representative Berger says that the Lawrence operatives have been goaded into revolt by a long series of oppressive acts and abuses, ending in a reduction of wages of 30 cents a week out of an already miserable wage averaging less than $8 a week.

Pointing out that in the disturbances growing out of this strike lives have been lost and persons injured, property has been destroyed, trade and industry have been paralyzed, and armed force has been brought to the scene, Berger declares that "this corporation, in spite of the disasters to an entire community which have been caused by its policy, has steadfastly refused to treat with the operatives.

The Socialist Congressman's resolution provides that the committee shall "investigate all the facts regarding the strike and the relations thereto of the American Woolen Company, and to report their findings at the earliest practicable time to this House."

TEAMSTERS ORGANIZE AND GET RAISE.

FALL RIVER, MASS.—The teamsters in this city have organized a local union with a good membership and immediately thereafter commenced an agitation for an increase in wages which has been successful. All drivers of single wagons procured an increase of $1 a week, and all drivers of double hitched an increase of $1.50 a week, together with an agreement which calls for time and a half for all labor performed on Sundays and holidays.

TO BAR BUTTER.

CLEVELAND.—It is reported that at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Women's Clubs a resolution was adopted pledging all members to abstain from butter for one week. It is said that this actions involves 11,000 club women of the city and their families, or an estimated number of 60,000 persons.

WHAT, REALLY, IS SOCIALISM?

Extracts From an Article in The Ladies' Home Journal.

The Ladies' Home Journal conducts a department headed, "His Letters to His Mother." The following extracts are taken from one dealing with Socialism:

The Request From the Mother.

I wonder if you ever realize, you who live and move in the big world of things, how little a woman like myself, living quietly up here, really knows of the great questions that seem so vital and throbbing to the country. "Where is your newspaper?" you will ask. But the newspaper is too verbose, to say nothing of its prejudiced writing and the previous knowledge its writers take for granted. I suppose I am like hundreds of women: I would keenly like to understand these problems, but who is there to tell us, simply and clearly, and, don't forget, briefly?

What I want to know most is, What, really, is Socialism? I read that it is rapidly spreading in America and all over the world. Why? And how will Socialism make us and our conditions better?

The Son's Answer.

I am not surprised, dear mother, that you are puzzled to know what Socialism is, for hardly any two Socialists would give you the same definition. Yet the various forms of Socialism have a common starting point; they hold the present fierce individual struggle for existence to be all wrong. They have also a common aim: to reorganize society so that the whole community shall do the work and enjoy the profits which now fall to individuals. You may understand this better by an illustration:

Hiram Beers peddles milk through the west end of your village, where the woolen mill is. In a good dairy season he charges 6 cents a quart; but after a long drought, or in the winter, when he has to buy feed for his cows, his price goes up to 8 or 10 cents. The only year I remember when he didn't raise his price in this way was the winter that city fellow —Swann, was his name?—moved into the valley and set up a rival milk route, charging 7 cents. That frightened Hiram so that he stuck to 6 cents most of the winter, and lost money. But Swan came down to 6, too, and when he threatened to drop to 5, Hiram bought him out. No sooner was the sale complete than Hiram's price went up to 8, and it stayed there till the next June.

The bulk of Hiram's customers are the operators in the mill. They keep no cows, but their little children must have milk. If the mill shuts down and their wages stop, Hiram either cuts them off or lets them go into debt to him. When the mill is running on half time, because the water is low, they get half wages, but the low-water seasons are those in which pasture falls off and Hiram has to buy feed and raise his price; so it is hard all around. Perhaps some of the children sicken and the doctor must be called in, adding to the burdens of the parents at the very time they are least able to bear any.

Socialism Proposes a Remedy.

Now comes along the Socialist and says: "There is no need of all these troubles. Let the town own the mill and run it, not to make big dividends for its stockholders, but so as to make cloth enough for the market without reducing wages for part of the year. Let it own the operatives' houses and keep them in sanitary condition. Let it set up a dairy farm; raise its own feed and exercise other economies possible in business done on a large scale, and sell milk at a uniform price. And let it salary all the physicians, and assign them to duty whenever the demand is most pressing."

Just magnify this simple example, mother, till you grasp the Socialists' conception of our great movement giving everybody employment, furnishing all the necessaries and most of the amusements of life, taking care of everybody's health, providing for the support of mothers while bringing children into the world, and giving an honorable pension to persons too old to work, as well as to widows and immature orphans, cripples and other unfortunates. Of course it would have to make us all pay for keeping ourselves and everybody else going; but it would get rid of the present scramble, where each man thinks only of himself. Look at the three doctors in your village straining every nerve to get practice away from each other! You have only one mill, though the farmers raise enough wool to supply two; for the owners of this mill are resolved not to let another come into the township, as their present monopoly enables them to dictate the price of the local wool crop.

The Socialists assert that their system would not only end this cutthroat rivalry, but would also save money for the taxpayers, because the government's industries, through producing necessaries which could be sold cheaper than those privately produced, would still make profits enough to keep up the schools and the roads, and the other things which we must have but which yield no income themselves. The three main tenets of the Socialists are that the earth belongs to the people who inhabit it, and not to a few; that it is cheaper and easier to do the world's work by wholesale than in driblets; and that to abolish the conditions which breed vice and suffering is wiser than to let these evils come and then try to eradicate them.

People Who Are Socialists Unawares.

Do you think it wonderful that such propositions appeal strongly to generous-hearted persons, especially among the young? Or that a great many good men and women are Socialists without knowing it? These are they who, as soon as anything goes wrong, turn to the government for relief. The farmers think they are not getting enough for their crops, and off they go to Congress and demand laws which shall insure them bigger returns. Meat bills mount too high, and housekeepers insist that the President shall punish the Beef Trust. And all this in a country which used to boast of being the stronghold of individualism, where every man stood squarely on his own two feet and didn't let the government meddle with his affairs.

State Socialism—the sort in which the government shoulders a number of responsibilities originally left to private enterprise—is already well planted and spreading in our republic. Our postal service, for example, costs the whole people $50 million dollars a year, which could be earned with a profit by the sale of stamps if our letters had to be carried only between such centers as Boston, New York and Philadelphia. But no; we assume all the extra expense in order that a fisherman up in northeast Maine may write to his cousin, a soldier on the island of Guam, in the midst of the Pacific Ocean, and pay only the same two cents that you and I, who live one hundred and fifty miles apart and in a thickly populated region, pay.

More than that, the fisherman can mail his cousin a pipe for one cent an ounce postage. The cousin can send him the price of it, either in cash secured for safe delivery by a 10-cent registry fee, or in a money order which is better than a bank check; and if either of them has laid by a few dollars from his earnings he can deposit them in a postal savings bank where they will be secured by the credit of the whole nation and bear interest at 2 per cent. a year.

When our common school system was first established it was bitterly opposed by conservative citizens who contended that it was the business of the parents, not of the taxpaying public at large, to pay for the education of children. Even then the only idea was to teach the youngsters to read and write and do a little figuring. Today, what do we see? High schools, open to the rich and poor alike, where such branches as Latin, geometry, chemistry and mechanical drafting are taught, and expert advice is given about the choice of a means of livelihood; and lower grades where every child receives a general medical examination, his eyes and teeth attended to if defective, and he is treated to a free hot luncheon if his parents are unable to furnish one for him.

Another Side of the Question.

At this point I can fancy you, mother, opening your eyes wide at the picture I have drawn, and contrasting it with representations you have read, in which Socialists are held up to scorn as an immoral and generally reprehensible mob. Such a characterization is as unjust as would be a denunciation of all good churchgoers as hypocrites. The Socialists are just like other people, some good and some bad. A few of the bad ones have attracted attention by their misconduct or their crazy utterances, and thoughtless observers have picked these out as specimens of all, just as a clergyman who commits some wrong will receive more notice than the thousands whose lives are purity itself. Then you may ask: If it is not getting into bad company to join the Socialists, why are we not all Socialists; why isn't Socialism a good thing to adopt right away?

In the first place, because there are a great many cautious persons who believe that strong brakes on a railroad train are just as essential to a safe and successful journey as a strong locomotive. There are plenty of men who are glad to run the engines of Socialism, and the speed at which our national train is going shows that they are doing all they can to make time. It remains for some to act as holdbacks, to keep the cars under check and prevent their running wild and jumping the track.

The same conservatives believe, too, that everything in nature is better for having to make its way against some difficulties. Those rose bushes which you trim most severely for example, bear the choicest flowers. The finest human characters you ever encountered are apt to be those that began life with a struggle. So there are people who are convinced that if we all stepped aside, took off our hats, and invited the Socialists to come in and occupy the land without any opposition, all that is worst in their organization and crudest in their plans would push promptly to the front, and we should soon witness a terrible revulsion of popular sentiment. If Socialism is destined to become the governmental system of the future there are many who feel certain that it will be all the purer and better for having had to fight its way up from small beginnings and having been pruned of excrescences by the way.

Probably New Zealand comes nearer to having a truly Socialist government than any other country; and Switzerland, without calling herself Socialistic, is farther along that road than any of her neighbors in Europe, and than any republic anywhere. But Switzerland has worked out her problems in a broad spirit of democracy, and by degrees through many years; and her institutions, I fancy, have come to stay, for she has not gone too far nor too fast for her own good. New Zealand, on the contrary, has rushed into her Socialistic ventures with the ardor of youth, and there are those who entertain strong suspicions than her experiment has not proved unqualifiedly satisfactory.

An Interesting Test in America.

In our own country several small cities and one large one—Milwaukee—have elected Socialists to their principal local offices. In Milwaukee the most interesting test is going forward. The new city government is hampered, of course, by the old laws it is still compelled to work under, but it has some wonderful projects in reserve. Among these is a fine park system, in which the outer fringe of the pleasure grounds is to be planted with fruit and nut trees, so that the city may derive an annual income from the sale of apples to the public at one dollar a barrel, and other products at corresponding prices!

The Movement Has Done Good.

One thing is certain, however: the movement started by the Socialists has done a great deal of good. It has aroused ordinary men and women to their duty toward each other; made employers more humane and reasonable; infused something like a conscience into corporations we all supposed soulless; and reminded men in high positions, both public and private, that they are merely trustees for the people and must give a worthy account of their stewardship. All this is going to bear fruit, not only among us, but also for future generations, and may save the necessity of any actual revolution in our forms of government, if the evils we most deplore are found to be curable without that. The millenium may be somewhat distant still.

BUTTON WORKERS SCORE STRONG POINT.

District Judge Noran, of Muscatine, has made permanent the injunction declaring it illegal to pay from city or county funds the scores of "detectives" brought to that city by the sheriff and chief of police to intimidate the strikers. As a result the officials who secured these men in Chicago, or the button manufacturers behind them, will have to foot the bills. The Iowa State Federation of Labor fought the injunction case to a successful conclusion, and labor officials declare that the decision marks the end of a reign of terror in Muscatine, for the bosses won't fancy paying the bills that were formerly met by the city and county. The strikers are greatly encouraged by the turn of affairs.

ORGANIZZING CAMPAIGN ON.

JOPLIN. Joplin is experiencing a revival. An organizer for the Electrical Workers is in the city giving his time to that trade. An organizer from the Stationary Engineers has spent a number of weeks here and succeeded in re-establishing an Engineers' local and in organizing three other locals at Cartersville, Webb City, and Carl Junction. There is an opportunity among a number of other trades for effective work, so it is stated, if organizers were placed in the field.

FOR COAL MINING CONTROL.

WASHINGTON.—Representative of the coal operators in Indiana, Illinois, and Pennsylvania urged the Senate Interstate Commerce Commission recently to create an interstate Trade Commission with the same control over the coal mining industry that the Interstate Commerce Commission has over transportation.

KIRBY HAS A SPASM.

WASHINGTON.—Recently, John Kirby, President of the National Association of Manufacturers, addressed 150 Wisconsin members of the Association in Milwaukee. During his remarks, aside from taking numerous raps at the organizations of labor, he commented on the McNamara case as follows: "Developments may, and they may not, directly connect the President and the Executive Board of the American Federation of Labor with the awful conspiracy. Be that as it may, enough is known to convince any sane person they knew all and sanctioned its execution." Those who are conversant with the violent utterances of this gentleman, know that it could not be expected that he would hold any different view. His expression of opinion, however, does not carry any weight with it. If the hostile interests to labor could have even in a remote way connected the officials of the American Federation of Labor with the crime, it would have been done a long time ago.

GLASS PLANT CLOSES.

COFFEYVILLE, KAN.—The Kansas Window Glass plant has shut down, throwing into idleness about 300 men. In this section of the country natural gas is used largely for manufacturing and domestic purposes, and the reason assigned for the shutting of this plant is poor gas pressure.

BALLET GIRLS ON STRIKE.

PARIS.—There is at present a strike being conducted by the "Ladies and Gentlement of the Ballet." Several dancers have demanded an increase in salary. They at present receive between $550 and $600 and they want an advance of from $100 to $150. The cost of living in Paris has grown enormously and this is assigned as the reason for demanding a higher wage and endeavoring to get same by strike.

INSURANCE COMPANY

Paid Policy on Own Employe, Who Still Lives.

NEW YORK.—After paying a salary for 14 years to William P. Larkin, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has just made the interesting discovery that it paid a policy on his life and recorded him as dead in 1896.

During all the years he had been thought to be dead Larkin was working under his own name in the printing department of the insurance company and living within a block of the company's office. It never occurred to him, he said, that his life had been insured or that his wife had collected his policy on the supposition that he was dead.

Larkin went away from his home in Brooklyn in 1896, and his wife had not seen him since. In 1910 she applied for the payment of his insurance policy. After an investigation it was paid. A few weeks ago one of the company's investigators stumbled upon Larkin in a corridor and recognized him.

JOHNNY ON THE SPOT.

The meaning of these words is well known to everyone. The Socialist Dramatic club being newly organized is not well known yet, but it will be known to everyone in the near future on account of the great headway we are making in our organization. You are missing the good times which we are now having every Sunday night. Our program of characters is increasing each week. Those who have come to see us the last two Sunday nights, were more than pleased with our entertainment. All the members of the cast for the play, "Under the Lash," are very enthusiastic and working every day determined to make it a success. The following is part of our program for Sunday night, Feb. 18th: "The Tramp," by a Comrade, and a "Parody on the Tramp," by Comrade Amann; Violin Solo, by Comrade Suddick; Declaration, by Comrade Crooks; Street Talk, by Creston Brothers, and others. By request, Comrade Bloch will repeat his success which brought down the house Sunday night. Everyone is welcome, 7:30, 335½ South High St.

Call at The Leader and see our jabots, frills, collars and children's and infants' wear and rompers.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS.

A REMARKABLE AND INTERESTING HISTORY

The event of the year in business circles in this city is the opening of The Capitol Clothing Co.'s new store, on North High St., near Russell.

Mr. J. A. Metcalf, the president, one of the best and widest known business men in the city, is a self-made man in every respect.

Born in 1869, of poor parents, down amongst the hills of Gallia County, he found early in life that his opportunities in that section were limited. He determined, therefore to seek other fields, and we next find him in Delaware, Ohio, engaged in the milk business. While this business under his management was successful, yet, Mr. Metcalf still felt that he had not yet found his particular niche in the world of business, that would allow him to develop as his ambitions dictated.

Accordingly, he sold out his business in Delaware in 1898 and came to Columbus. Mr. Metcalf states that upon landing in Columbus, and seeing the State House, the ambition of his life was, "to have a workingmen's store as large as the State House." The money he had saved from his milk business, was invested in a stock of goods and placed in a room he had secured, at the north east corner of High and Russell. Those days were not all sunshine, and Mr. Metcalf states, that had it not been for a few staunch friends, who stood by him, during those dark days, he might not have been able to realize his ambition, and give Columbus what she has today: "The greatest workingman's store in Ohio."

In a few years the old stand at the north east corner of High and Russell could no longer handle the business that had been built up by honest and fair dealing, so larger quarters were secured at the south east corner of High and Russell. This was one more mile stone passed on the way towards the realization of the ambition of Mr. Metcalf. Again the business increased at such a rate, until now Columbus has a store of which its citizens can be truly proud. This new store, located on the west side of High St., near Russell, has all the modern equipments that science can devise, for the carrying on of the business. The building is capped with a dome, which will be when finished an exact reproduction of the dome on the National Capitol at Washington. It is the intention of Mr. Metcalf to give away absolutely free a $450.00 piano for the nearest correct guess as to the distance from the street curb to the pinacle of the flagstaff on the top of the dome.

For the second nearest correct guess, the lucky one will receive a ladies' gold watch, valued at $50.00. Everyone making a purchase, no matter how small, will be entitled to a guess. The highth of the bbuilding is 70 feet and the highth of the dome 44 feet 6 inches. Mr. Metcalf believes that America is a land of opportunity. While he believes in charity for those to whom charity is due, he says that if a man is given something for nothing, it had a tendency to make him lose self-respect.

In talking over the matter with the reporter for this paper, he took from stock a working-man's working overcoat, made of good material, and lined throughout with wool fleece. During the severe winter weather he has been selling this coat for 99c, losing money one every sale, but aiding in his own way the fellow who is down and out. Mr. Metcalf is just in the prime of life, and that he has been appreciated by all with whom he comes in contact is very evident.

He extends a cordial invitation to all the readers and old patrons who will be part owners of this store as one thousand shares of stock will be distributed to old patrons to visit the store at any time, and be assured that they will receive a hearty welcome.

BRUTAL HIRELINGS OF LAWRENCE BOSSES TEAR STRIKERS' CHILDREN FROM THEIR PARENTS AND HOLD THEM PRISONERS

Women Clubbed by Militia and Police in Streets of Town Owned by New England Bloodsuckers

BY WILLIAM D. HAYWOOD.

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 28.—With a determination approaching madness, the police and militia are trying to break this strike with the force of guns, bayonets and clubs.

The brutality of the blue-coated guardians of capitalism was marked this morning with a reckless and cold-blodded disregard of human life. A fusilade of bullets was poured into the ranks of unarmed pickets. At least two strikers were seriously wounded; one, a woman, is not expected to live. Some of the unfortunate pickets who fell into the clutches of the police were clubbed into insensibility.

Two victims with their heads split open, were thrown into the filthy jail, where they lay without surgical attention for several hours. Only after vigorous protest on the part of citizens did the police surgeon lift the prostrate men out of the pools of their own blood and dress their fractured skulls.

The police and militia here are the worst I have ever encountered, having no regard for sex or age. They are the most hardened set of criminals that ever wore uniforms.

The forbearance and self-discipline of the striking textile workers is marvelous. They are stronger in purpose today than at any time since the strike was inaugurated. All national and other prejudices have been forgotten. The workers are welded together in one big union.

Bill Taft is Shocked

Washington, Feb. 28.—Both the President and Congress were forced to take official notice of the outrages at Lawrence by the Socialist Representative Berger.

As a result of a call at the White House by Berger, President Taft has ordered Attorney General Wickersham to instruct the District Attorney at Lawrence to investigate the situation in that city.

Berger showed the President a copy of the New York Sun containing a graphic report of the clubbing and beating of the Lawrence strikers and t heir wives and children. Taft seemed shocked at the accounts and expressed surprise that such an occurance should have taken place.

But Berger pointed out to the President that the Sun was not a labor nor a Socialist paper. Taft then discussed with Berger as to the propriety of federal interference in the Lawrence matter. Berger suggested several constitutional grounds on which the Federal Government could take action.

Last Saturday's Outrage

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 28.—Fifty policemen under direct command of Marshal Sullivan and two companies of militia interfered last Saturday with the attempt of the Strike Committee to send fifty children from this city to outside towns, where they would be cared for. Eight women, five men and ten children were arrested and rushed to the police station.

The interference by the police and militia has added to the gravity of the situation. It follows the action of the military authorities last week when they announced the strikers would be kept, wherever possible, from sending their children out of town. The strike leaders have openly charged that this action was taken at the behest of the mill owners, who know that if the children are kept here and forced to suffer their parents will give up the struggle. It was also known by the mill owners, the strike leaders contend, that if the children had plenty and were safely housed, where their every want could be met, the parents would get along somehow on the small strike fund available.

The children who were innocently responsible for today's trouble were brought to the railroad station. They brought to the railroad station to be placed on board the 7:11 traid. They were to be taken to Philadelphia and Providence, via Boston. Applications for them had been filed more than a week ago, and a special car for their transfer had been provided.

Militia Out Against Children.

Shortly before 6 o'clock Marshal Sullivan ordered out the police reserves and at the head of fifty of the sturdiest members of his force marched to the station. A few minutes later the two companes of militia, their belts filled with ball cartridges and their pieces ready for action, put in an appearance. Sullivan then pressed into service a big two-horse covered truck for use as a patrol wagon and backed it up against the station entrance.

When the strikers appeared with their children the Marshal demanded why the children were to be sent away. Few of the women could understand English, and they were all plainly frightened by the display of force. Sullivan finally ordered a number of the men, women and children to go home. Those who refused were gathered up, hustled into the wagon and driven to the police station.

While this was going on under orders from the Mayor, police and soldiers were gathering in ten strike pickets who had taken positions at the edge of the Common and were asking the men and women who were going to work to join the strike. Charges of inciting to riot were lodged against them and they were locked up.

Not a child was permitted to leave Lawrence and Marshal Sullivan refused to make any explanation of his action. The police and soldiers, acting directly under orders, separated the parents and the children, and forced the latter away from the station [illegible] were made.

Women Beaten.

The militia, in addition to their rifles, were armed with clubs which they used freely on all of the male strikers. In many instances where women threw themselves in front of the men to protect them no discrimination was shown and the women had their clothing badly torn when they were driven back by the police after they had tried to rejoin their children.

The children, their mothers and fathers had been seated in the big waiting room. Five minutes before the train pulled in Sullivan blew a signal on his whistle. Twenty-five policemen, who had been lounging near the door, suddenly rushed across the room. Seizing the children, they hustled them through a door onto Essex Street. Then they barred the door.

The frantic mothers and fathers swept out through another door and tried to get to their children. But the militiamen and additional police were ranged along the street and blocked the way. A fight followed and some of the men and women managed to reach their children, but no sooner had they gathered them into their arms than they were placed under arrest and hustled to the station house.

Before the women were lodged in the station many of them had severely scratched policemen and one of them, Policeman Moore, had his head split open with a stone which a woman picked up and hit him with.

With charges of various nature, from assaulting an officer to obstructing the sidewalk, lodged against them, seventy-five men, women and children were dragged into police court in the afternoon.

Because of the realization that the temper of the strikers had been strained by this lastest attempt to force them to abandon the strike, a large force of police and militia was thrown around the court house and no one permitted to enter.

Entire Nation Up in Arms.

The action of the police has stirred the entire nation and hundreds of messages denouncing it are being received from every section of the United States. Not alone the strikers, but the better class of citizens, are denouncing the high-handed attitude adopted by Marshal Sullivan and insist that he violated both the State and Federal Constitutions. The police official refused pointblank to explain his action. When it was pointed out to him that the children who were taken to the station today to send them to Providence and Philadelphia to be properly cared for, not only had the consent of their parents, who accompanied them to the station, but that each individual child had pinned to his or her coat a card signed by either parent or guardian saying they had such consent, Sullivan replied:

"They are not going to ship these children out of this city," and curtly refused any other explanation.

The children who were dragged from the arms of their mothers during the riots, when both police and soldiers indiscriminately clubbed men and women and man-handled many of the women in such a way that their outer garments were torn to shreds, were charged with "obstructing the sidewalks." Their parents were for the most part charged with assaulting officers. In addition, men and women who were arrested for picketing in the general raid of the morning were accused of "inciting to riot and assault and disorderly disturbance."

PROTEST AGAINST STREET CAR SERVICE MADE.

City Council Asked to Remedy West Side Conditions.

The City Council session last Monday night was a dreary round of routine ordinances except in one or two instances. Councilman Bohnert made a protest against the wretched street car service given the West Side and elsewhere. This was followed by a resolution declaring that the franchise of the street car company directs that two cars must be operated around the loop, and asks that the Rail-Light Company restore this service and maintain a 15-minute service on the West Town street, Central avenue and Sulivant avenue car lines.

However, the resolution reads that, if the city law department holds the franchise ordinance terms cannot be enforced now, an ordinance be submitted to Council which will provide that Round street lines be so routed that they will connect with the other city lines at Gay and High.

MASS MEETING OF LOCAL COLUMBUS.

Local Columbus Socialist Party will meet in joint session (tomorrow) Sunday afternoon at 335½ South High street for the transaction of party business.

HIGH STREET MONOPOLISTS OPPOSE THIRD ST. VIADUCT

There seems to be a concerted effort on the part of certain real estate interests in Columbus to discredit and defeat the Third street viaduct proposition. The Socialist is not next to all the curves of the situation but from what is shown below it is certain that the local daily papers have been muzzled in some way. The letter written to the Ohio State Journal by Mr. Tiffin Gilmore gives some cogent reasons for the Third street agitation. His communication was "edited" by the Journal and sections in black type show what was cut out by the able editor of the O. S. J. for reasons best known to the owners of the Journal and the Dispatch.

Columbus, O., Feb. 21, 1912.

Editor Journal:

The action of a small minority of the North Side Chamber of Commerce condemning the Third street viaduct proposition proves conclusively the need of the same and does no credit to a body of men who have boasted of their "Greater Columbus" activity.

They are the same ones almost to a man who signed the "33" memorial to Council showing in their feeble numbers the overwhelming demand from the North Side for the parallel artery of trade and commerce, to congested High street, that will put good old Columbus out of the "One Street Town" class forever, and enable the city to go forward to the half million mark where most of us will live to see our home city.

Of course, High street landlords will oppose the broadening of the retail district, for as Mr. Fred Shumacher said in his sound and patriotic address before Council Committee:

"So soon as you give us this viaduct which must come sooner or later you reduce the ratio of rents between High street property and Third street property from six to one, to a ratio of two to one."

And the consumer, when he or she goes into the present retail district in High street to make purchases knows, and will know more certainly, before the campaign of education on this matter is concluded that approximately fifteen cents of every dollar spent in that district goes to pay the High Street Landlord's exorbitant rental.

Think of it, laborer and mechanic A dollar and a half saved on every ten dollars spent in retail purchases. That will help you solve the high cost of living in Columbus.

Rip Van Winkle only slept for twenty years. Old Christopher Columbus has already slept for forty, but he is showing signs of awakening, and when he does as will be evinced on May 21st, it will be a rude shock to the selfish to find Columbus pledged to come into its own, for a city rival Cincinnati or Cleveland.

The new hotels, theaters, federal building, interurban depots and civic center only emphasize the need of a parallel to High street and the needed expansion of retail and wholesale district.

At the grade elimination crossings in the circumference of Columbus are not of the tenth of the necessity as that of getting congested High street diverted partly to Third street, thus enabling the Columbus Street Railway Company to operate its cars in, at least, partial conformity to its charter.

More damage to life and limb occurs in six months on High street, as the records show, than in six years in the suburban crossings.

With an east exit for the Union Depot, street car service, an esplanade of over one hundred feet, a stand for vehicles, private and public, which Council assures us will not be monopolized by those who throttle the present traffic, are only some of the advantages which will accrue, a crossover to connect the Fourth street viaduct will go far to save time and weary steps to the mechanic, railway employe and laborers.

Those having the interests of the city at heart expect certain opposition to this needed improvement and discounted the effect of their selfish interests and misrepresentations, but the nucleus of the vote which will carry the bond issue above all others proposed, is now formed in every portion of the city, and the vote at the May primary will demonstrate the live interest the enlightened public take in this measure which concerns, deeply concerns, everyone who lives, owns a home, or buys a dollar's worth of merchandise in this city of Columbus.

The members of the City Council need no defense from the aspersions of that resolution of the North Side Chamber of Commerce. Their vindication will come in due time and in a substantial way when it is shown that they "builded even wiser than they knew."

From the number and character of the protests that have been coming in by phone and otherwise from the influential members of the North Side Chamber of Commerce it would seem that it was not the well known "Boosters' Club" but the "Knockers' Annex" that passed the resolution opposing the Third street viaduct at last night's meeting at the Railway Y. M. C. A.

But laboring men don't forget that dollar and a half per week economy! It will fill your dinner pail three days of each week, or will provide a good pair of new shoes every third week for your wife or yourself.

Resolve now to attend the primaries on May 21st and vote "YES" on the bond issue for the Third street viaduct.

Respectfully,

TIFFIN GILMORE.

COLUMBUS WORKERS RALLY TO HELP LAWRENCE STRIKERS

Two Rousing Meetings at Which Substantial Aid is Given.

Federation of Labor Officials and Members Stand for Working Class Solidarity

The solidarity of the working class in Columbus was splendidly shown last Tuesday evening when a large audience crowded the large hall at Federation of Labor headquarters and cheered to the echo the most radical utterances of the speakers in protest against the barbarities practiced upon the striking textile workers at Lawrence, Mass. Marsh C. Green, vice president of the Columbus Federation of Labor, was in the chair. James H. Henderson, president of the Federation, made an address in which he endorsed industrial unionism and denounced in scathing terms the brutality of the militia at Lawrence and also in Columbus. He introduced the speaker of the evening with a manly commendation of her work.

Comrade Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, who spoke is an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World and one of the strike committee in charge of the fight at Lawrence.

She blamed the military for the disorder at Lawrence. "We had order there before the militia came, but we haven't had since and won't have until the soldiers leave," Comrade Flynn declared.

She spoke in unsparing condemnation of certain "labor leaders" in Massachusetts. While they were responsible for the 54-hour-a-week law, she said, they also promised the governor and powers-that-be in government that if the 54-hour-a-week law was passed there would be no further demands from the textile workers. They did this without the consent of the textile workers, she said, and when the shorter workday went into effect and the pay of the workers was cut accordingly there was a rebellion. The textile workers walked out, demanding a 15 per cent wage increase, abolition of the bonus system and the shorter workday. The Industrial Workers of the World stepped in and organized the strikers.

In terse language she told of the unspeakable outrages committed by the police and soldiers at Lawrence. Her hearers had read something about them but to hear her, a slight woman, girlish in figure but with tones as relentless as fate, telling what she had seen and suffered herself, made the blood boil.

When Comrade Flynn stated that from 80 to 90 per cent of the Lawrence strikers are Catholics and that the Socialist Party had done more to care for the famishing children by taking them into their homes and sending money to feed those at home, it will surely put to shame all churches and church members and especially those of the Catholic faith for their indifference to the crying need of their OWN and for the abuse they have heretofore and are now heaping upon the Socialists.

The resolutions given below were passed unanimously and a collection of $54.75 taken. This is in addition to $20 raised last Sunday at Munich Hall and $11.50 contributed by the Jewish Workmen's Circle.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, The increased suffering and starvation at Lawrence, Mass., is being heightened to such a degree that children are in actual want, and,

Whereas, The civil and military authorities have taken upon themselves to refuse the strikers the right to send their children out of Lawrence upon the ground that the children should be cared for at home and that sending of the children from Lawrence was against public morals, therefore be it,

Resolved, By the citizens of Columbus, Ohio, That Congress should aid, and we demand that Congress shall aid said children and shall appropriate the sum of $75,000 per week to be paid the strikers of Lawrence for the support of said children at their homes until the strike is settled.

MARSH C. GREEN.
Chairman.
PETER KINNEAR,
Secretary.

Copies ordered sent to Congressman E. L. Taylor, Victor L. Berger, and Senators Theodore E. Burton and Atlee Pomerene. Also to all Columbus Newspapers.

Munich Hall Meeting.

The meeting held at Munich Hall last Sunday afternoon was under the auspices of the Tenth Ward Branch and was a rousing rally which drew a large crowd with but little previous advertising. Comrade Joseph Zimmerman, from Indianapolis, a Russian Jew, made a stirring appeal for a vigorous protest against conditions at Lawrence. His address was also a plea for the organization of the workers both on the industrial and political fields. Resolutions were passed concerning the Lawrence strike, and better than that $20 was realized for the benefit of the Textile Workers. The audience was also rightly indignant over the unwarranted editorial in the Sunday Dispatch and gave expression to the same as follows:

RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS, The working class in Lawrence, Mass., are being viciously beaten, starved and denied all the rights of freedom and justice, and

WHEREAS, Their cause is a just and honest one and wer are opposed to the Russianizing of America, and

WHEREAS, An injury to one worker is an injury to all workers, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, That we, the working class of Columbus, assembled in mass meeting most heartily condemn the action of the slave-drivers in such brutal and uncalled for treatment of these helpless men, women and children, and farther

BE IT RESOLVED, That we give them our unlimited support both financially and otherwise and encourage them in every possible manner to continue this fight until the working class emancipate themselves.

WHEREAS, The parents of children in Lawrence, Mass., are unable by reason of low wages while employed and no means of support while on strike to properly care for their children, and

WHEREAS, The workers and Socialists of other cities are able and willing to clothe, feed and care for the famishing children of Lawrence, Mass., and

WHEREAS, Said children are not being sent from their homes as exhibits but in the interests of humanity, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this meeting that the editorial in the Columbus Sunday Dispatch is not only unwarranted but premeditated, malicious and false and should be condemned by every liberty loving citizen of Columbus and that said condemnation should be especially shown by all workers and Socialists in any lawful manner possible.

The above resolution was adopted by a unanimous standing vote with instructions to send a copy to all the newspapers of the city. "The Week" was mentioned but was voted down because it was not considered a newspaper.

THE GREATEST WORKINGMEN'S STORE IN OHIO

The Capitol Clothing Co., located at Rüssel and High are making their last days at the old stand one of the greatest money-saving sales for the working people in this city.

Saturday will be absolutely their last day at the old stand, as they move into their new home next Monday. Mr. J. A. Metcalf, the President is a man who started in life with a pick and shovel, and he has now realized the ambition of his life, and given Columbus The Greatest Workingmen's Store in Ohio.

"UNDER THE LASH."

The Socialist Dramatic Club will next Thursday present at the Hartman Theater a dramatic production entitled "Under the Lash," which typifies labor conditions in a Colorado mining town. The play will be interesting to all who have studied social problems as the members of the caste are all qualified to "act" the real life that labor leads. The advance sale of tickets is very satisfactory and it would be well to secure your seats at the earliest opportunity.

CAN A CATHOLIC BE A SOCIALIST

A large-sized deluge of opposition is being hurled against Socialism just now by Catholic teachers and the Catholic press, and the essence of it is the charge of materialism.

The Socialist has endeavored to make plain the fact that Socialism does not interfere with religion. It has no quarrel with the Catholic church, or any other. It has to do with conditions that have not yet been taken up by any church or any other agency in existence, except the Socialist Party.

James Russell Lowell once gave a bit of advice on the preservation of health that may be applied to many other concerns of life. He said, "There is no good in arguing with the inevitable; the only argument with an east wind is to put on your overcoat."

The wind blows. It makes the body cold. The body shivers. Increased clothing will protect the body. It will stop the shivering. Put on your overcoat.

This applies to both Catholics and non-Catholics, to every human being.

It may be very materialistic, but it is also very important.

Even Catholic colleges have their scientific and materialistic departments.

They teach astronomy, geology, botany, chemistry, anatomy, political economy, etc., etc.—all very scientific and very materialistic.

All these subjects are taught in material buildings and the professors and students are to a large degree materialistic creatures.

In fact this a very materalistic universe. And no amount of argument can make it otherwise.

This article has just been interrupted by a visit from a fellow worker, who came in to ask the assistance of the editor in securing a job. He is a very materialistic being, with an equally materialistic family. He has been many months out of work, though he has sought deligently for a job.

He told me that his wife is taking in washing to make it possible for them to keep the wolf from their door.

He believes in religion. So does his wife, and his children share in their religious belief. But they are worried and beaten by materialistic conditions.

What the man needs, the Catholic church is not very actively concerned with.

He needs a job. He needs the money a job will bring. He needs the food and other necessities of life the money will buy.

He needs the results of the intelligent and practical application of a materialistic coception of conditions by human society.

The fact of materialisim will always be present in this world as long as it possesses its physical qualities. But Socialism will some day remove the terrible pressure of materialism from the lives of mankind.

God made this material world big enough for all material beings. He equipped it with the means of providing plenty, so that none need feel the pressure of material conditions.

Yet so severe is the pressure that only a select few are not everlastingly suffering from it.

In the great cities of the East thousands have died already this winter from the cold. In the very vicinty of great cathedrals men, women and children are at this moment dying of cold. What is the Catholic church doing to furnish even ordinary clothing for scant protection against the cold? An overcoat is as impossible to them as a corner lot on Mars.

In the same vicinity men, women and children are dying of hunger. Nearby are the mansions of the rich. All around are banks—storehouses of the wealth produced by the hands of the people who are suffering—plenty to supply all their needs.

The men who own the wealth are in no danger of hunger. They do not need the surplus wealth.

What is the Catholic church doing to place the world's wealth where it will sustain the world's people? What is it doing to stop the gnawings of hunger that are doing more to stifle the religious idea of mankind than all the anti-religious teachers of the ages?

Does the Catholic church demand that no Catholic shall be a doctor because the doctor uses material remedies?

Does the Catholic church demand that no Catholic shall be a fireman because he believes in engines, hook-and-ladder trucks, and the other material accessories of a modern fire department?

If the Catholic church has some spiritual formula by which the materialistic pressure of economic conditions may be removed, it will confer a great favor on the Socialists and is inestimable blessing on mankind by at once applying it.

But something it needed. Something must be provided to accomplish this result. And that something must be identical in its economic and political propaganda and program with Socialism.

Nothing can be done to remove this pressure as long as the present privileged system of society exists—that is nothing worth while.

This system is what the Catholic church must attack if it would overthrow the materialism that is threatening the souls of men and the foundations of society.

The men who own the resources upon which the people depend for life and prosperity are not going to give up their monopoly voluntarily. The heart devoted to Mammon knows no impulse but that of greed.

It has been amply demonstrated that the whole tendency of modern society is to increase their monopoly and to make them richer and the many poorer.

Socialism is the only agency that assails the damnable materialism of private ownership—of the exploitation of the producing people.

Unless a Catholic wishes to close his mind and antagonize his best feelings to the dominant demands of citizenship and Christianity he must devote himself to the task Socialism has undertaken by means of the same process the Socialist employs.

CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL ON SOCIALISM.

A Few Excerpts from his Article in the January Number of Hampton's Magazine.

Some of the most striking points which Charles Edward Russell makes in the January number of Hampton's Magazine are the following:

How to Become a Real Socialist.

You do not become a Socialist by voting the Socialist ticket. You can join the Republican party by voting the Republican ticket or enrolling for a Republican primary. By voting the Democratic primary you can join the Democratic party. But to join the Socialist party you must secure an application blank whereon you must write answers to certain questions, including one as to your unqualified acceptance of the principles of Socialism.

You must get some party member to indorse your application. Then it goes before a committee for examination and consideration, and finally you are voted upon as if you were entering a club. If you are held not to be of the right material for party membership you may be rejected. One of the valid grounds for rejection is a certain type of previous political activity. The Socialist party tries to steer clear of all men of the old ward-heeler type. A man noted as a political manipulator of the old party type could not break into the Socialist party with an ax.

In a hundred corners of the country today old political hacks are looking at the figures that show the Socialist party's growth and considering how they can launch themselves upon the rising tide. Let me advise them not to waste their time.

The rules about candidacy, whether for a political office of for any place in the party, are very strict. Membership from a year to three years is required before any one can aspire to a nomination for office, political or party. For these reasons it will be utterly impossible to annex the Socialist Party to the political fortunes of any person or any

Change in Attitude Toward Socialists

Ten years ago Socialism in the United States was represented by a handful of scattered enthusiasts whose efforts to spread their creed seemed never to result in aught but ridicule or riots. In some parts of the country men were in peril if they admitted even an inclination toward Socialism. The popular conception of Socialists, so far as any may be said to have existed, was of a little band of frowsy foreigners meeting by stealth in a beer cellar to make bombs and plot universal destruction. Now we are not only willing to admit Socialists to equal rights with Democrats and Republicans, but an icreasing number of us seem to desire Socialists to conduct our municipal affairs, and the least observant concede that in the coming national election the Socialist party will be a factor not to be overlooked.

No wonder the oldtime Socialist exults at it. One of them spoke last year in a New York town, and, speaking, stood upon the exact spot whence only six years before he had been flung into the Erie canal for saying the same things. This time he was not flung into the canal, he was loudly applauded. Down in Patchogue, Long Island, at one time, the favorite amusement of a part of the population was to pursue Otto Grausalke, the lone Solcialist, and with sods and vegetable antiques to manifest a considerable disapproval of him. In these days they follow him still, not to assault him, but to get his Socialist literature.

Some change, indeed. A few years ago if a man said he was a Socialist part of his audience wanted to lock up the spoons and the other part wanted him searched for bombs. Now they want him to run for mayor.

Socialistic Enthusiasm.

Imagine, if you can, a man or a woman deliberately surrendering everything in life that is usually held to be worth while—success, happiness, comfort, competence, agreeable surroundings, friendship, leisure, amusements, opportunities for culture—and accepting instead years of poverty, failure, hardship, hatred, ridicule, frequent arrest, perhaps, and countless annoyances, merely to further the Republican party of the Democratic party, a Liberal party or a Conservative party! Yet thousands of men and women have done that and are doing it now for the Socialist party.

Imagine a man ready to die for the sake of the Union League club or the Manhattan club. Thousands of men and women are ready to die for Socialism. I mean it literally. More than that, many of them have already given their lives for it, obscure heroes that had no chance of fame. The late Benjamin Hanford, twice Socialist candidate for vice-president, killed by exhaustion from his long and ardous campaigning, is only one of a list of the like fervent champions.

What is this strange thing, then, that impels men and women to such labors and such self-immolation? Evidently here is a polictial party upon an entirely new basis.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

FROM NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS, SOCIALIST PARTY.

The National Office has assigned an organizer to each of the two remaining unorganized States; O. F. Branstetter to South Carolina and E. J. Squier to Delaware.

John C. Chase is also being sent to the unorganized territory, Alaska.

National Committeeman Grimshaw, of Rhode Island, supports the motion of National Committeeman Owen, of Oklahoma, first published in the Weekly Bulletin of February 17th, relating to withdrawing National Referendum "A", 1912.

PROPOSED NATIONAL PARTY REFERENDUM.

Local Benzonia, Michigan.

"Whereas, revolutionary Socialism, without catering to or affiliating with other parties or associations, is the only thing to bring about an equitable condition of society, be it

"Resolved, That the words between the word "It" and "shall" in the last clause of paragraph one of the program of the National Socialist Party, viz., "Shall contribute to the funds of labor organizations for the purpose of assisting their unemployed members, and," shall be stricken from said clause of said paragraph, and shall not again be incorporated in the platform, Declaration of Principles or Program of any National, State or other Socialist organization.

"Arguments: The clause in question seems to be class legislation as it is the only place in platform, declaration of principles, or program where mention is made of using public funds directly for the alleviation of laborers or their families and then only for the benefit of labor organizations. As needy laborers we want no charity. Give us a job with equitable adjustment of the earnings as the first part of this clause indicates, "by building schools, by re-foresting of cut-over waste lands, by reclaimation of arid tracts, and the building of canals, and by extending all other useful public works," under an eight hour day at prevailing union wages, and there will be no need for charity. Further, the last clause of paragraph one of the program, with, what we think, the objectionable part cut out, will read as follows: "It shall take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class." This will give a new Socialist administration power to make conditions so much better that there will be no need of "contributing to the funds of labor organizations," where such funds will be used by the officers of such organizations who usually have a capitalist head and a pauper pocket book, making the incentive to embezzlement, perhaps, greater than they can bear.

"Members in good standing, 10."

PROPOSED NATIONAL PARTY REFERENDUM.

Local Meridian, Washington.

"Proposed amendment to the National Constitution, to be added to and become a part of Article 11, Section 6:

"Any member of the Party who advocates illegal methods of violence as a means of working-class emancipation, except when such may be justified in defense of our acquired rights of suffrage and our other constitutional guarantees, shall be expelled from membership in the Party.

"Comment: The tactics of the Socialist Party proceed from the theory that our present rights of suffrage, free speech and free assemblage afford the basis of working-class emancipation through peaceful means. The present laws represent the will of the majority which has returned their makers to power repeatedly. By doing violence to these laws, capitalistic though they may be, we would do violence to the will of the majority.

"As Debs, in substance, says, the American workingman is law-respecting, and no amount of sneering will change the fact. And it is our great hope that, in case the capitalists attempt to cheat us out of our elections, this very respect for the law will rally to our aid those who were otherwise indifferent to us. Let the capitalists be the first to break the laws and our task of overthrowing them will be the easier.

"Finally, if we allow to continue the present propaganda for "sabotage" and violence as working class weapons, the capitalist class will logically conclude that the Party is too saturated with such ideas to permit their denunciation. The Party will then become the stamping ground for police spies and provoking agents who will work untold damage therein.

"Our true task at the present time lies in the education and organization of the masses. Our work at present must be, not destructive, but constructive.

"Members in good standing 8."

A "Union Labor Forward Movement," patterned after the Men and Religion Forward Movement, but having no connection with the latter, has been originated by the Minneapolis Trades Assembly and is backed up by all the other central bodies and local unions in the city. A revival and organization campaign will begin on Sunday, April 21, to be continued for two weeks, during which time representatives from all the international unions are to flock into the city and deliver speeches and do organizing work. It is expected that 25,000 emblematical buttons will be sold at 10 cents each to defray the greater part of the expense.

Reports from Los Angeles state that the jury disagreed in the trial of Bert H. Connors, who was charged with complicity in dynamiting the Hall of Records. Prosecutors say that the case will be tried again.

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

The interest of Indiana Socialists in organizatoin continues unabated. State Secretary Oneal spoke at the Bunsen Mines near Clinton last Sunday and concluded his work by organizing a Local with 17 charter members. The comrades of Vermillion County are also at work on a County organization which will soon be formed.

Another new Local to report this week was organized at Auburn in DeKalb County by Comrade Condo. The local there as starts with 17 charter members and Comrade Ashleman, the local secretary, writes that they are "sure that more will follow."

Still another local has been organized at Versailles in Ripley County which startes with 11 members. This is the first result of the effort of Local Osgood to organize the County. A few more towns in the County offer good prospects for locals.

Local Warsaw in Kosciusko County expired early last year but the approaching campaign has stimulated the Socialists there to revive the local and it now starts with 16 members. Secretary Stoner writes: "I have sat still as long as I could stand it, waiting for things to come to a head. Now watch us grow."

The Socialists of the Twelfth Congressional District will meet in convention at Ft. Wayne, Sunday, February 25th at 2:30 p. m., in the Tenth Ward Socialist hall at 1903 Hanna street.

Local Kokomo has ordered branch charters and will take up the work of ward organization. Two branches are already in process of organization and more will follow. Comrade Farmer of Anderson, spoke there recently notwithstanding that a number of religious gatherings were held at the same hour and many new faces were present.

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

Father Doyle of Washington, D. C., writing in the Columbian, organ of the Knights or Columbus, advises those who would know Socialism intelligently to study the movement. "Socialism is forging to the front," says Father Doyle, "as one of the vital topics of the day," and, after referring to the well-known charges that there are many varieties of Socialists, he adds: "But Socialism is not all beer-mug philosophy by any means. If it were, we might relegate it to the hades of vagaries to be handled by the strong arm of the law, or to be ignored by the strong common sense of the American people. But it is largely an economic issue inspired by the highest ambitions to benefit the people, and from this point of view it captivates the highest patriots of the land. It holds out glittering hopes—and they are not all fatuous—that it may dissipate much of the poverty of the masses, and ameliorate not a little of the suffering that the people are undergoing. Because of these hopes, it is attracting some of the brilliant minds of the country as well as enlisting their sympathies." That's the line of talk that contains plain, everyday, common sense. Let the opponents of Socialism study it from stern to stern, and if they can show that the movement is wrong it will naturally go to pieces.

Here is still another preacher who has sickened of dead sea fruit and has decided to line up with a strong, vital force that is ever growing more powerful in the great social revolution of regenerating mankind. Rev. Dr. Alfred W. Arundel, retiring rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Pittsburg's most fashionable congregation of that faith and one of the richest congregations in the State, has delivered his farewell sermon. "I shall not enter into the reasons for my leaving you," said Dr. Arundel. "I shall merely say farewell, my decision being unchanged. I have been a Christian Socialist for some time, and tonight I feel more than ever that I have been right. It is time that the minister of the gospel came out and declared himself for the workingman. How can a minister of the gospel reconcile his conscience to preach with a handsome Bible lying in front of him which has been bound by poor girls who are hardly able to make ends meet from the meager wages they are paid for doing the binding?" Dr. Arundel criticised the selection of rich men as pillars of the church, as well as endowments made by rich men for colleges and missions. He said that the money is wrung from the blood of workingmen by the manufacturers and financiers. Then Rev. Arundel stepped down and went out into the highways and byways to preach the gospel of social and economic justice—the kind that is objectionable to the pharisees and hypocrites who make long prayers and are addicted to lip service.

Just in passing it might be mentioned that the Manufacturers' Association of Milwaukee is preparing to pour a barrel of money into the municipal campaign to defeat the Socialist administration. Also that Peter Collins, David Goldstein and other "labor leaders" are to be imported to allow labor how to vote. Watch for further developments.

Socialist party headquarters in Chicago has received reports from various parts of the country showing that there are 1,039 members who have been elected to official positions, among which are 56 Mayors, 18 State Representatives, 145 Aldermen, 160 Councilmen, 155 School Officials, 55 Justices of the Peace, 39 Treasurers, 10 Auditors and the balance in minor places. The list is necessarily incomplete and will be revised from time to time.

Lady Warwick, the "Red Countess" of England, is coming to America next month to deliver a number of addresses at $1600 per speech under the auspices of some non-Socialist lecture bureau. Her first appearance will be in Carnegie Hall, New York, March 12. Lady Warwick will tell her plute audiences "Why I Am a Socialist," and a number of other things that may jar them. She is no amateur and isn't afraid to give them Hail Columbia.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENT'N

The past week and the first half of this week has been taken up with a discussion of the liquor problem by the Convention. There are two proposals before the Convention which deal with this question in a very specific manner. The first of these is the King proposal No. 4, which proposes for submission to the voters of the State the question of "license" or "no license" with regard to the liquor traffic. The second is the minority counterpart on No. 4, which carries a license provision too, but provides for a limitation of the number of saloons which can be operated in any municipality, the number to be one to every one thousand of population. It also secures to the State all of the present regulartory laws on the statute books, and vests in the General Assembly full authority to enact still further measure, for the control of the evils arising from the traffic in intoxicating liquors, if it so desires.

Those favoring license, are lined up for the King proposal. They do not want the minority report tacked on their proposition as an amendment. They claim their measures cover practically all of the ground, so far as the regulartory features are concerned, that the minority report contains, and does not prevent dry counties that vote wet from voting dry again. All they ask is that the people of the State be allowed to say whether they want or do not want "license."

If the question of "license" or "no license" is submitted to the voters, and "license" carries, then a provision to this effect will be written into the constitution, and the right to traffic in intoxicating liquors will be legalized. Should the license proposition fail to carry, no change, of course, will occur in the present system.

The proposition to issue $50,000,000 in bonds to build a system of good roads in the State, carried by a vote of 67 to 43. Its final ratification will be put up to the voters, and it will be for them to say whether or not they approve of the plan. This $50,000,000 in bonds will be floated at three and one-half per cent interest, the bonds to be redeemable in thirty-five years. The labor delegates for the most part favored good roads but preferred that the State save itself the heavy interest expense by dealing with this problem through the medium of a direct levy against the grand list duplicate, as proposed by the Stillwell amendment, which was voted down by the convention. Had the Stillwell plan been adopted, the State would have saved in interest something like thirty-eight million dollars, which is not to be winked at in these days of high cost of living.

Including the good roads proposal there are now two amendments ready for submission to vote of the people. The first of these has to do with the changing of the jury system, permitting three-fourths of the jurors to return a verdict of guilty in civil cases; the second is the good roads proposition.

Copies of these two proposals will be furnished to Central Labor bodies, or members of organized labor who desire to thoroughly familiarize themselves with their purport, by application to any of the labor delegates. Central bodies and unions should feel it a duty to themselves to become acquainted with these questions. There is no better way to do this than by studying them. "Do it now."

The Labor Committee will submit a partial report recommending the workmen's compensation proposal, dealing with the question of industrial accidents and adequate compensation, some time this week. This proposal adds the additional feature of "occupational" diseases, and includes besides the industrial worker, all employes of the State and its political subdivisions, who may be killed or injured in the course of such employment.

A sub-committee consisting of Thomas, Dunn and Fitzsimmons, at the last meeting of the Labor Committee, reported in favor of the adoption of an old-age pension amendment. The report took the following form: "This State may insure all workers against sickness and invalidism and old age, and may also provide public industries or insurance for the unemployed." This, and the section relating to working hours, will me submitted in report form to the Convention one day next week.

New proposals introduced on the floor of the Convention the past few days of interest to labor, follow:

By Thomas of Cuyahoga, "Relating to income tax."

By Dunn of Clermont, "Relating to old age and poor pension."

By Fitzsimmons of Cuyahoga, "Providing home rule for cities."

By Hoffman of Hamilton, "Fixing a limitation upon the power of the Courts to declare acts of the General Assembly unconstitutional."

President John Voll of the Ohio State Federation of Labor was in Columbus for several days, advising with the various labor members of the Convention relative to proposals that are now pending before the Convention.

The labor group will meet regularly hereafter on Monday afternoon.

THE I. & R.

The following has been agreed upon by the I. & R. delegates as to percentage on Legislative acts and amendments to the constitution.

Section 1.-AA. When at any time, not less than ten days prior to the commencement of any session of the General Assembly, there shall have been presented to the Secretary of State a petition signed by four per cent. of the voters and verified as herein provided and proposing a law or amendment to the constitution, the full text of which shal have been set forth in said petition, the Secretary of State shall transmit same to the General Assembly as soon as it convenes. The proposed law or amendment to the constitution shall be either approved or rejected without change or amendment by the General Assembly, within forty days from the time it is received by the General Assembly. If any proposed law shall be approved by the General Assembly, it shall be subject to the referendum as herein provided.

Direct Initiative on Legislative act, is to be 8 per cent. Amendments to to the constitution 12 per cent; Referendum 8 per cent. Write your delegates urging them to support this agreement.

The editorial department of The Socialist has no apology to offer for this issue of this paper. It shows that some of the best advertisers in the city recognize this paper as a paying medium through which to reach the real people of Columbus. Every advertiser in our columns has tested the merits of our paper as to results. The plain fact is that the Socialists of this city are using their purchasing power with merchants in order to boost the cause of the toilers. Seventy-five thousand men, women and children are behind this movement. Yet the moon-faced City Solicitor Bolin has held that The Columbus Socialist is not a newspaper within the meaning of the law regulating city printing. The Weakly Week, controlled by the Rail-Light, is endorsed by Bolin, although The Week has no mailing privilege and no list of subscribers such as a reputable paper is supposed to have. The Times is no better off. It, last week, published a photographic reproduction of the papers "qualified to print the city advertising. Only the Journal, Der Westbote and the Times were shown. The Democratic party in Columbus is in a bad way when its only publications are limited to the two abortions fathered by See-See Philbrick and Pat McAllister. Neither the Times nor the Week are newspapers. Both are jokes.

Mayor Karb pretends to favor the electric light extender, but his entire influence and that of his staff, from Solicitor Bolin to Eichorn, the incompetent now in charge of the city light plant, is being used in the interest of the Rail-Light. These worthies are backed by the scab Chamber of Commerce.

ROOSEVELT.

"And great was the joy of the French upon Napoleon's return from Elba," wrote Carlye. History shows that his return and the resumption of power was the inauguration of a government more despotic than that of the Roman Caesars.

Roosevelt's return to the political arena, gulping down all the progressive measures, even the recall of judges, in other words making himself solid with the radical middle class element, is about on a par with William J. Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech that captivated the Populist movement and disconcerted the radicals for 16 years.

The Populist party, assimilated by the Democratis, became disrupted by the conservative element within the Democratic party, and so the leadership of Roosevelt in the progressive movement as a Republican, whether he is sincere or not, will again mean that progressivism (once Populism) will this time be disrupted by the conservative element within the Republican party.

Big capital, whose voice has always been close to Roosevelt, is demanding a stronger centralized government. The needs of the hour, unsatisfactory industrial conditions, demand this change.

The reentrance of Roosevelt into the political arena, and his capture of the progressive movement, is but a deep laid plot on the part of the Big Capitalists to sidetrack progressivism and replace it with a strong central government.

His speech before the Ohio constitutional convention was nothing but empty platitudes, whose meaning can be read both ways.

LaFollette did strike from the shoulder, but Roosevelt sidesteps progressivism with glittering generalities. If this appeases the mind of the average progressive we have no complaint to make. If it is a matter of vote catching, we wish to state that that day is about over with.

A poet once remarked "That language was invented to hide thought." Roosevelt has certainly demonstrated that he is a past master in this art. Reading between the lines of his speech, full of platitudes, we discover the demand for a strong central government, to deal with the trust problem. This is what the trusts want. Therefore Roosevelt's return to power will mean the inauguration of the most despotic government we have yet had. History, as in the return of Napoleon, wil again repeat itself. Great will be the joy of the American at this event. However, Napoleon had his Wellington at Waterloo.

Roosevelt will have his Waterloo in 1916 in the form of Socialism.

History will repeat itself. Then greater will be the joy of the American people.

IS THERE NO PITY?

Whale hunters have an unwritten law among them not to kill a baby whale or molest its mother, for experience has taught them that swift and terrible is the mother whale's revenge if her young are interfered with, consequently they give her a wid berth.

Therefore, the action of the police and military authorities at Lawrence, refusing the strikers the right to send their children away from this cauldron of "hell," regardless of all civil rights and law to the contrary, is commencing to stir the citizenship of this country as never before.

We are commencing to realize that the law of the jungle, "the claw and the fang," reigns supreme at Lawrence. Terrorizing the textile workers with police and military methods to again drive them back into industrial slavery and starvation wages, compares equally well with the Russian Czar's methods and Bloody Sunday.

The wool trust with its insatiable greed for "profit," backed by the powers of state, clubbing defenseless women and children in the streets of Lawrence, proves conclusively that capitalism will use any means within its power to again force the workers back into the mills at their terms.

Regardless of the starving children whose pitiful hunger cry is celestial music to the ears of those protected tyrants; regardless of the peaceful attitude of the strikers, whom experience has long ago taught that nothing is to be gained by labor through violence, a thing courted by these Shylocks of Greed, so that they could throw the armed forces of state against these workers, causing the streets of Lawrence to run red with blood; regardless of all laws protecting human rights, violated every minute of the day by the hirelings of capitalism, the strikers at Lawrence, through their exemplary discipline, have won the admiration of the nation.

Thousands of honest men and women from now on are watching this class struggle at Lawrence. A demand for "fair play" for these honest working men and women will be heard, such as will rock the very foundations of the nation. Chattel slavery had its John Brown and Harpers Ferry. Capitalism may have its Lawrence.

The hanging of John Brown by the military authorities was chattel slavery driven to the extreme. The clubbing of defenseless women and children at Lawrence by the military authorities at the behest of the wool trust is but the expression of a "hellish brute," capitalism driven to desperation.

The wailing of the starving, crying children in the streets of Lawrence, set upon by human brutes, are re-echoing throughout the nation. "Save the children," is the first anxious thought of a mother. "Protect the children," the first anxious thought of a nation. Let this slogan ring throughout the land.

Human rights, the right to live in decency and respect, are not a matter of compromise. These rights are inalienable. Starvation, especially among children, is not a matter of arbitration. Misery driven to despair wants justice quickly. Starving men and women do not reason from man-made laws as to the wrong in stealing. Hunger, nature's higher laws insists that man satisfy his inner needs, therefore he will steal. If he steals he is not considered a decent, law-abiding citizen.

The striking workers at Lawrence are now insisting for a wage so that they can live in decency and respect, and not be compelled to drive their children at a tender age into the textile mills of the wool trust, to work so they all may live out a meager exitsence.

Soon the mother whale, the great citizenship of this nation, will be lashed to vengeance and precipitate her fury upon those who have interfered with her young, for the marineers at the head of the ship of state are not wise sailors.

ANOTHER STRAW SHOWING WAY THE WIND BLOWS.

The failure of the Columbus Savings and Trust company is the second warning to gloating capitalists to attend to their own affairs and not be too active against the producers of Columbus. It took longer for the workers to find out who furnished E. K. Stewart the money to fight them in the late street car strike than it did to devise way and means to see to it that no more of their money be loaned to such as Stewart to buy clubs and bullets to use on them.

Ther are banks in Columbus who do a banking business and all the workers are able to find them.

RIGHT TO CLUB WOMEN.

In Larence, Mass., the real underlying ideas of law and order were shown in all their glory, all their gentleness and sweetness.

Some Lawrence mothers were sending their children out of the hungry city. The police did not like the idea. So they clubbed the mothers.

If a woman assaults a strikebreaking soldier, it is a crime.

If police club defenseless women, it is done in defense of hearth and home, flag and country.

Read This and Then Act

We are starting on the biggest subscription campaign in the history of Ohio. We are going to make "The Socialist" a State paper in every sense of the word. We are going to have a daily, but before we can accomplish this, before we can make the daily a fact, we must put this paper on its feet and run up our subscription list to a large figure.

Here's the plan: We want every Ward Branch and Local in Ohio to pledge themselves to sell a certain amount of sub cards to this paper for the balance of this year. We want every individual Socialist in the State to pledge himself to buy and sell a certain amount of sub cards for the balance of this year.

This will cost the Locals and individual Comrades nothing. All you will have to do is invest the first dollar or five dollars or whatever you wish, then sell the cards and get your money back, and use it again in the same manner.

If you haven't got the first dollars, to start with, a certain Comrade will advance it, and then turn it over to the paper the last week in this year. How many will you pledge yourself to sell?

We want at least one hundred who will pledge themselves to buy and sell $50.00 each the balance of this year. We will publish each week the names of those Comrades, Ward Branches and Locals and the amount pledged. Fill out this Coupon and mail in at once.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

We are in the fight. If the Ohio Manufacturer's Association think that they can check the growth of Socialism, just to show them what they are up against, we would like to have one of their representatives in this office about a week and we believe that after he had seen the way the subs are rolling in, that he would go back to his gang of pirates with a great big bug in his ear.

Well, boys and girls, greetings! You have done nobly, nobly. In the face of this terrible hard winter and the enormous number of expirations, you have actually made a gain of about 600 new subscribers. That's a record to be proud of. But none of us must let up for a single moment.

Every one of us must stick to our post, and we'll have those 5000 new ones yet. The paper is making good.

While going home on the car the other night, I met a man who recently picked up a stray copy of this paper. He later subscribed and he states that he now intends to vote the straight Socialist ticket. He further stated that another member of the family has become a Socialist voter through reading "The Socialist." When we know that the paper is doing that kind of work, we not only should, but we MUST endeavor to get it into the hands of EVERY VOTER before election.

Many threats are being passed out around town, by certain organizations, but with you Boosters back of us, we are going to go calmly on our way, telling the truth at all times.

Now, Comrades, we will never be satisfied until we have those 5000 new subscribers tucked snugly away in our files, in this office. We are not going to start over, we are just going to advance the date, when we shall have the balance of them until July 1st. This is not a herculean task by any means, as we can get them and get them easy by a little extra effort. Let's start the first week of the new dispensation right. Don't only work yourself, but get others to work. Get them enthused with the paper. Impress upon every one the necessity of a large circultion in order that we may carry the County this fall. The very first week that you Boosters roll in 500 subs for any one week, you are every one going to get a Souvenir of which you will be proud. Everybody, up and at 'em. Make next week a hummer.

The off and on report will show next week.

ON TO WASHINGTON!

Sending in a new one, Comrade E. Hartman, writes as follows: "Enclosed find $1.00 for which please send your valuable thunder paper to the enclosed address." We did so and there will be a thunder storm once a week for the next 52 weeks, at our new subscriber's home.

Comrade F. L. Gardner of the 6th Ward has been laid up all winter, with the rheumatism, yet the very first day he was able, he went out and got four new ones and one renewal. This is the kind of work that moves mountains. You Comrades, who are in god health that as yet have done nothing, for the paper, should take Comrade Gardner as an example of what can be done by grit and determination.

Comrade Clarence Margraff and wife are Boosters from Boosterville. They disturbed the peaceful slumber of the Old Man long enough to persuade him to put 5 yearlys, 3 six month and one 2 month on the list. "Oh, you 2nd Ward!"

Comrade T. C. Southard picks 'em off the trees. His donation this week is 4 yearlys and 1 six month.

Comrade Rice is also educating the heathen. He sends four of them mental dynamite, for a year each.

Don't forget to use the Red Ticket.

With the remark "that it's a cinch to get them," Comrade W. C. Atkinson, brings in three. He promises more soon. Good work, Comrade.

For the benefit of our new readers, we want to state that the "Boosters" have hired a "grave-digger" to dig a grave in which to bury Capitalism. Whenever the subs come in fast, he works hard, but when the Boosters ease up, he gets sort of lazy. To keep him busy, this week the following Comrades each land two, Emmit Binns, G. H. Fries, Geo. Smith, Samuel Dutrow, Hill Top Booster, W. J. Rout, and L. L. Fisher.

To show that the Jewish branch is very much alive, Comrade H. Friedland gets two new ones.

Comrade W. C. Cochran of the 16th Ward, contributes three as his share this week.

Comrade Henry Weissenbach, is a new Booster and pays for his initiation with three.

The following Comrades each come under the wire with one or more to their credit: C. A. Bubb, G. W. Calvert, R. L. Kazee, E. L. Fries, J. D. Sidwell, E. A. Grob, J. R. Girard, W. F. Davidson, Chas. Bunt, W. G. Rison, J. J. Anderson, E. Benson, G. A. Seelig, W. A. Silbey, E. G. Slahee, J. H. McCoy, T. J. Wiley, Thos. Weyble, J. P. Comerford, J. L. Peters, North End Boosters, Clark Moore, E. Marquette, Fred Diebert, jr., D. Bucy, H. A. Wengert, J. L. Bachman, D. L. Kaufman, J. Moniger, F. P. Zimpfer, D. A. Davis, Comrade Allis, H. W. Margraff, W. D. Mitten, H. A. Searfoss.

When you go out to make your purchases, look over the advertising and purchase from our advertisers. Use the Red Ticket at every opportunity. If you haven't got Red Tickets, tell them you saw the advertisement in "The Socialist."

THE MAGAZINE FOR WORKERS

"Absolutely the finest Socialist publication I have ever come across," is what a man in England wrote in renewing his subscription to THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW, the magazine that fights for the working class.

The REVIEW is the only publication of its kind in the world. It is the only monthly illustrated magazine which is devoted exclusively to the interests of working men and working women. It is the only magazine which actually gets right down into the ranks of the toilers and tells what they are doing and thinking and feeling. It stands for aggressive and uncompromising. The REVIEW is not only a magazine for Socialists; it is with the workers everywhere in their every struggle, not only in America but in other countries as well. Wherever there is a conflict between men and masters, there the Review has its correspondents and its photographers. Every month it is filled with pictures right from the scene of action. Its articles and stories come not only from trained writers but from the workers themselves. Its circulation has tripled in the last four years. It is growing bigger and better from month to month.

COLUMBUS FEDERATION OF LABOR.

The Columbus Federation of Labor last Monday night denounced the conduct of the police and military authorities, who have outraged the Textile Workers at Lawrence, Mass., and unanimously voted to amend the constitution, barring any member of the State militia from sitting as a delegate in the Federation.

Resolutions were also adopted, protesting against the proposed sale of the navy yards to private individuals and calling upon federal authorities to enforce the civil service law relative to the employment of enlisted men in the naval yards.

The committee of the Federation which is watching the constitutional convention commended the action of the labor group in the convention and decided to send out letters to constituents of any delegates who are found to be wavering on their pledges for the initiative and referendum.

THEIR PAY IS CUT AND GIRLS STRIKE

Mansfield, O., Feb. 29.—More than half of the girls employed at the North American Watch Case company's plant here are locked out because they struck recently when their wages were reduced 10 per cent on account of the Green 54-hour-week-for-women law.

These girls had been getting from $4.50 to $6.50 a week. Their wages were based on the number of hours put in, ranging from 7½ cents an hour upward. When the Green law went into effect the company continued paying the girls for a 10-hour day, they put in one hour less.

The girls were working with the understanding that they should get a raise every six months, and when this raise did not materialize and they began to murmur, the company cut off pay for one hour each day.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW FOR MARCH.

The leading articles in the March number of the International Socialist Review, just out, are "The Battle for Bread at Lawrence," by Mary E. Marcy, and "Rational Political Action," by Charles Edward Russell. The Lawrence story is profusely illustrated with numerous pictures. In his striking article Russell declares: "We can have a vote-making machine and go to perdition with it? or we can have the Co-operative Commonwealth and working class government. But we cannot have both." Chicago stockyards as seen by the workers are described in "The Beef Trust on Trial" by Anton Pannekoek. He declares that the German workers are beginning to lose their confidence in the use of the ballot alone. "The Capitalist Quarrel in Persia" is described by Phillips Russell. An Italian writer, Arthur M. Giovannitti, contributes an interesting article on "The Brigandage of Tripoli" and the Japanese Socialist, S. Katayama, describes the great street car strike which recently upset Tokyo. Robert Rives LaMonte, Peter Kinnear and Henry L. Slobodin are contributors of articles which deal with tactics and propaganda.

Perhaps the most striking part of the March Review is the cover which depicts a squad of soldiers removing the United States flag, which is held by a crowd of strikers.

The Leader has just received a full line of shirts, for dressing purpose, white and striped, full line of neckware, full line collars, the Arrow brand.

OFFICIAL CALL
Of the Annual State Convention of The Socialist Party of Ohio

At Columbus, Ohio, April 26th, 27th, 28th, 1912.

In compliance with Section 1 of Article 6 of the State Constitution, the State Executive Committee, in session January 6th, 1912, set the time for holding the convention on above date, pending an opinion from Secretary of State of Ohio, (said opinion as given to be found in January issue of Bulletin,) you are hereby officially notified of same by order of State Executive Committee.

Sec. 3 of Art. 6.—The basis of representation in any state convention shall be by locals, each local being entitled to at least one delegate. Locals embracing more than fifty members in good standing shall be entitled to one additional delegate for every fifty members or major portion over the first fifty members, provided that where sub-divisions exist the local may allow such sub-division to elect its delegate according to its quota of membership, the total not to exceed the total number allowed the local.

Sec. 5 of Art. 6.—Representation shall be based upon the average number of due stamps purchased from the State Office by each local during the year up to within two months of the time selected for holding the convention.

Note.—Due stamps bought by locals up to and including February 29 will be added in the basis for representation.

Sec. 6 of Art. 6. One cent from sale of every due stamp sold each month shal be placed in a mileage fund and from such fund shall be paid the railroad fare of all delegates to and from the State Conventions; if this fund is not sufficient for the purpose then the delegates shall be paid pro rata.

Note.—To assist the State Secretary in complying with this section we request that local secretaries forward to the State Office as soon as the allotment of delegates is made the amount of mileage from the locality of local to the State Office. We would suggest that you obtain this information from the railway ticket agent of your locality.

Sec. 10 of Art. 17.—No amendment, except an amendment to the original amendment to this Constitution, shall be presented or considered in State Convention unless it has been published in the Bulletin at least one month before the State Convention, except by unanimous consent of the convention.

Fraternally, JOS. C. SCHAWE,
State Secretary.

MORE OHIO PENITENTIARY BRUTALITY.

Recently the readers of the Columbus newspapers were informed that one of the unfortunates behind the "Ohio State Black Hole" had broken his hand in a scuffle with one of the other prisoners.

There is another side to this story in which the brutal, ignorant Mike Flesher, the Ross County prison Herod, played the leading part.

The true story is as follows:

Two prisoners while working in the yard began to wrangle. This finally ended in a fight. One of the guards nearby rushed in and separated them. Next on the scene came the Prison Demon Mike Flesher with his loaded mace and commenced to beat the helpless prisoners over the head. After he had completed his brutal villainy on the colored prisoner, he rushed on the fear-stricken white prisoner. The man threw up his hand to protect his head, down came Mike Flesher's weapon breaking the bones in the poor victim's hand. Let the prison physician deny this if he dare. Mike Flesher is the brute who compelled his runner, a one-armed cripple, to wash his feet every night. He was recently suspended for thirty days for gross brutality towards the prisoners. Why does this State allow this cowardly brute to misuse the State's unfortunates. Someone is responsible. Is it you, Governor Harmon?

COLUMBUS SAVINGS & TRUST COMPANY GOES UNDER

Depositors Must Wait Ninety Days For Their Money.

Following a steady withdrawal of deposits since the first part of December, F. E. Baxter, State Superintendent of Banks, and Banking, last Monday took charge of the Columbus Savings and Trust Company at Long and High Streets and its affairs will be liquidated by the State department of banks and banking.

The high rate of interest paid on deposits, which it was found impossible to change, is held largely responsible for the suspension.

It is stated by the State superintendent and by officials of the closed institution that, while a good proportion of the stock may be absorbed in the process of liquidation, depositors and other creditors of the institution will be paid in full, however, under the State banking law, no dividend can be paid to depositors until 90 days have elapsed from the date of closing.

NOTES FROM THE FIELD.

For advertising methods Local Xenia takes the palm. Comrade Harry Arnold, and his six-foot son literally flooded the town with posters and cards announcing our Socialist "revival." We handed them out at the doors of the shoe factory, the "Rope-Walk" and the tobacco shops. Every shop window in town, with a very few exceptions, had posters displayed and the local also "controlled" two blackboards on prominent street corners and placarded them with the Socialist news.

Xenia presents a peculiar problem for Socialist organization.

Provincial as it is, and remote from the pressing industrial conditions of a city—it still has wage slavery in its most degraded forms—and the labor of its little children is spoken of even by the capitalist press. Yet the working class there is only just beginning to realize that they are slaves.

We succeeded finally in rousing the town and gained numbers of new members for the local.

Xenia is one of the places in our State where the Socialist vote has been increasing faster than the organization and it is most important that its efforts to build up a strong local organization of the party should be encouraged and strengthened in every possible way.

Many copies of "The Columbus Socialist" were distributed at each meeting.

On Sunday afternoon I addressed a large mass meeting for Woman's Day at Akron. The chairman, Comrade Childs, made a stirring protest on behalf of Local Akron against the outrages perpetrated upon the strikers of Lawrence, Mass., and upon their wives and their little children. The audience responded with great force to the vigorous protest.

Hundreds of copies of the "White Slave" number of "The Progressive Woman" were sold.

Local Akron is just about the liveliest local visited for many a day. Large numbers of young men members all seem to be working together harmoniously DOING things instead of just saying things, fighting capitalism instead of fighting each other.

Local Wadsworth was represented at the meeting. This little town has 60 party members, has elected Socialist officials and on Sunday evening sent $40 to the strikers at Lawrence—and they told me they thought they would have $20 more by Tuesday.

For the next week or so the organizer will visit the following places: Springfield, Feb. 28th and 29th; Urbana, March 1st; Troy, March 2nd; Sidney, March 3rd; Dayton and Preble County, March 4th to 10th. From the 11th to 15th probably in Miami County, and in Cincinnati March 17th.

WHAT DO WE LIVE FOR?

"Civilization is producing thousands upon thousands of human wrecks, physically and mentally unfit. Let's improve things by sterilizing them and preventing them from becoming parents."—Modern Wise-

What do we live for?

Is the end and aim of our existence the production of so many tons of iron or steel? De we exist merely to weave so many thousand yards of cloth, to grow bushels of grain, to build and work railrways and to construct ships?

Is manufacture and trade the main function and purpose of our presence upon the planet?

These questions are forced upon the thoughtful man by the conditions prevailing today and they insistently press for an answer.

To all these questions the reply of the Socialist is that if there is any purpose in our existence at all our object is to live.

We are not now making more or less profound philosophical speculations as to "the whence, the why and the whither."

But we to say, and say most earnestly, that industry and commerce, digging and building, and making, and all those things about which we so greatly excite ourselves, are so much folly, so much waste of time if they do not mean, or lead to, the employment of existence.

The object of all manufacture and trade, science, art and literature, should be the creation of healthy, happy, human beings. If we forget this, if we make these things an end in themselves, we have missed our mission and our society stands condemned.

It is because we as a nation have blinded ourselves to this fact that there is so much mess, muddle and misery in the midst of our civilization today.

The only reason for our existence as a nation which appeals to us is that we shall produce human beings as nearly perfect as all the agencies over which we have cotnrol will allow.

We are not justifying our existence in this way. We have made these means to the enjoyment of existence an end in themselves. As a result, we have destroyed all pleasure in life for many millions of people for whom this world is veritably a valley of tears.

The energies of the nation are devoted not to the making of men but to the making of money.

Everything is subordinated to this one end. Conditions are not designed and maintained so as to produce as many as possible physically healthy, intellectually strong and in all ways beautiful men, women and childres. They are designed and maintained for the sole purpose of producing all sorts of commodities for sale at a profit in the markets of the world. These things are today considered of infintely more importance than life itself.

Pecuniary profit dominates everything. In obedience to its divine dictates we herd people in filthy slums in crowded cities—cities of Dreadful Night and Shameful Day.

In rural districts things are little better. The rural population—often amidst magnificent scenery, "where every prospect pleases and only man is vile"—is huddled together in poky and insanitary cottages, "wherein decency is abolished and the most ordinary conditions of healthful existence are impossible of attainment."

Owing to our industrial infernos and our fetid offices and warehouses; owing to the long hours which so many of us are forced to work at killing pressure; owing to the adulterated and ill-nourishing food—in many cases not even enough of that—which so many of us are compelled to eat; owing to the shoddy and insufficient clothing we wear, we have all become so unhealthy, so ugly and so distorted that beautiful women and shapely men, who ought to be normal, are comparatively rare.

Weeding Out the Unfit

So much are we occupied with the struggle for our daily bread, so much is our vitality sapped in procuring a scant pittance, that there is no beauty or health in us, and seldom do our eyes see a beautiful human being with the perfect modeling and sweet symmetry, outward signs of inward grace, which donate real health and happiness.

Most men and women do not know what it is to meet a perfectly healthy human being, or the sheer delight which the manifestations of perfect health give both to the possessor and to the beholder.

Ceaselessly working in order to live and living only in order to work, with "the emptiness of ages in our face," we travel downward to the dust of the grave:

"Landless, joyless, restless, hopeless,
Gasping still for bread and breath,
To their graves by trouble haunted,
England's helots toil till death."

No knowing what the joy of real health is, most of us cannot realize what the vile system under which we drudge and sweat and suffer has denied us.

We are teaching people to be everything except human beings. We are making good mechanics and good railway workers, good clerks, good slaves and drudges of all kinds, everything in short except that which really matters— the making of human souls of good quality and condition.

We send children to school ill nourished and ill clad at a period when growing childhood needs good food and warm clothing most urgently.

We keep them ignorant of the most elementary laws of physical health, so that bodies get poisoned and deteriorate and minds decay.

We overlook our manhood and womanhood in return for a scant pittance.

We deny to many thousands of workers even the right to drudge. We calmly rob them of the scant pittance which such drudgery would afford and leave them to drift and struggle on as best they can.

And when these vile conditions have done their work and we have produced thousands of physically and mentally unfit human beings, some superior persons come forward and learnedly discuss whether these wrecks which society has made should be allowed to become parents. They talk of improving the physique and the mentality of the nation by weeding out the unfit and sterilizing them.

Was there ever a more preposterous suggestion for remedying the evils which have their sole source in the poverty of the people?

The Leader, No. 1000 Mt. Vernon Ave., receives this week, new spring goods.

RESPONSIVE BIBLE READING.

Chas. Linquist.

Bible: The rich man is wise in his own conceit, but the poor that hath understanding will search him out.

Responce: And the Socialist Party is holding the search-light.

B.; Mark 12-41; Many that were rich cast in much.

R.; That they may toll the bell and get big headlines in capitalist papers.

B.: Job 20-15: He has swallowed down riches and shall vomit them up again. God shall cast them out of his belly.

R.: That Socialism is making the masters sick at the stomach would indicate that God has choosen the right emetic.

B.: Jer. 17-11: As a partridge sitteth on eggs and hatcheth them not, so he that GATHERED riches and not by right.

R.: The laborer, like the partridge, does all the labor but others gather the product.

B.: Psalms 70-12: Behold these are the ungodly who prosper in the world.

R.: Someone must have blundered, for Rockefeller is THE deacon of a church. He is heralded as a very Godly, Christian gentleman. And J. P. Morgan is behind the Religion and Forward movement.

B.: James 5-1-2-3: Go to now ye rich man, weep and howl, for your miseries shall come upon you.

R.: Well they're howling all right—against Socialism. Yet some workers are short-sighted enough not to understand that Socialism is the voice of the people—and the "voice of the people is the voice of God."

In olden days the highwaymen relieved the people of their wealth with the air of a gun. But the game has become respectable, and the corporations now loot your pocketbook under the name of business. The people kick, but make no effort to prevent the continuation of the robbery.

The corporations today voice the opinions that are uttered by many flunkies and weak-brained apologists.

Respect for the court is like having a kindly feeling for the dog that has sank his molars in your hide. Recent events show most conclusively that the poor can get no justice before that tribunal. Those who command wealth have no fear of the court, while the downtrodden are soon in the clutches of this power if they attempt to force respect for their rights. The recall of the judiciary was first proposed by the Socialists, and with the political party of the working class in power, there would be a lot of corporation lawyers looking for jobs. The movement for the recall of the judiciary is gaining ground.

SOCIALIST "FUSION" IN GERMANY.

By Paul Burgess, Marburg, a. L.

Marburg, a. L., Germany,
January 12, 1912.

Dear Fellow Christian Socialists:

Comrade Carr has forwarded to me a letter from Comrade Lichty, of Spokane, in which reference is made to the statement in my letter of Nov. 8, 1911, regarding the fusion of the German Socialists with other parties in order to force through specific measures. Comrade Lichty suggests that if German Socialists follow such methods American Socialists would like instances, giving reasons and results. He then very rightly says that such tactics would be considered "Party Treason" in America.

At Comrade Carr's suggestion I am, therefore, writing you concerning the election system of Germany. You can then decide for yourselves whether German Socialists are guilty of Party Treason.

It should first of all be understood that there are a great many political parties here in Germany. In the late Reichstag (Congress) there were representatives of nineteen different parties. Scarcely an election is held in which there are less than five contending candidates. Hence it is very easy for one candidate to get more votes than any one of his opponents and still be the choice of only a small fraction of the voters. To prevent this most of the German States provide that if in a regular election (Haupt wahl) none of the candidates has received a majority of all the votes cast a second election (Stich wahl) must be held at which only the two highest run. For instance, a given section of the country (our Congressional District) is to elect its representative to the Reichstag. The regular election is held and the candidates of the principal parties have received votes as follows: Zentrum (Catholic Party), 8,000; Socialist, 7,000; National Liberal, 6,000; Conservative, 5,000; People's Party, 3,000; Anti-Semites, 2,500. Now the Zentrum candidate cannot be declared elected for only about one-quarter of the voters have voted for him. A second election must be held in which only the Zentrum candidate and the Socialist run. All the members of the Zentrum and Socialist Parties will, of course, support their own candidates in this second election. The other parties can refrain from voting or espouse the cause of one of the two candidates. They will nearly always do the latter. The Conservatives and Anti-Semites (having, of course, no candidate of their own in the second election) will vote for the Zentrum (making the so-called "blue-black alliance"). Usually the People's Party will vote for the Socialist. This leaves the election hanging in the hands of the National Liberals. If they think the Socialist is a dangerous revolutionist they will refrain from voting for him at least and the Zentrum will win with 15,500 to 19,000 votes.

If, however, the National Liberals and the Socialists can "get together" the 6,000 votes of the former will give the Socialist the victory in the second election and consequently the seat in the Reichstag. This example shows how Fusion may work for the benefit of the Socialist Party. But if the National Liberals give the Socialists 6,000 votes in one district they expect the Socialist Party to pay them back when a National Liberal gets into the second election somewhere else. And the Socialist Party, of course, does so, obtaining as many pledges for Socialistic measures as possible. This is the simplest form of Fusion as seen here in Germany.

There is another form, however, which goes even further in making alliances with other parties. This has the name Grossblock (Great Coalition). This is largely practiced in those States where the double election system is not found, though it is occasional in the States described above also. For example, in Bavaria there is only one election and the candidate who receives the most votes is declared elected, irrespective of whether he has a majority or not. This has enabled the Zentrum to remain in power and they have made themselves odious to all lovers of justice and right. But the other parties would not unite with the Socialists to overthrow them. The Socialists, therefore, going on the principle that something is better than nothing, have united with the National Liberals and the Bauernbund to form a Great Coalition on a given platform, in order to break the power of the Zentrum. Much the same situation in Elsas-Lorene is explained by the following clipping from the Berliner Tageblatt of October 24, 1911. The Great Coalition was agreed upon in Elsas-Lorene this evening upon the following platform:

1. The repeal of the town residence clause and a limitation of the state residence clause (by way of election reform P. R.).

2. Introduction of a progressive income and inheritance tax and repeal of indirect taxes on necessities.

3. Extension of industrial inspection, especially laws providing for the protection of men employed in buildings, mines and smelters.

4. Assurance of the right of all workers and employes, whether in the employ of private companies, of the State, or of the city, to organize.

5. Opposition to every effort to clericalize the State and its institutions, especially the public schools. (Point 5 subject to alteration.)

On this platform the Socialists withdrew their candidates in seventeen districts, in two of which they had polled a greater number of votes at the last election than the National Liberals. The Liberals and Democrats withdrew their candidates in eight districts. In two districts the Socialists declare they will not compromise. In all the rest they will support the Liberals. This fusion ticket elected a number of men, though the Zentrum still retains the majority in the Landtag (Legislature). Other cases show, however, that the Great Coalition has been able to fulfill its election pledges to a limited extent. American Socialists who have not seen the Catholic Church as a political sovereign can little appreciate the absolute necessity of breaking her power in politics before anything else can be accomplished. It is to this end that the Great Coalition is formed throughout Germany. An election system which gives a poor man one vote and a rich man twenty and a school system which allows the Roman Hierarchy, with all its deadly hatred of Socialism, to teach the youth that Democracy is both heresy and treason and pays them from the public funds for their trouble, these things must be done away with before Socialism has a fighting chance. The German Socialists know that with the present school system, and especially the present election system, their cause is hopeless. Rather than allow things to stand as they are or perhaps end in another French Revolution, our Comrades here in Germany will at least make an honest attempt to work with other parties for a season, never forgetting their ultimate end and never denying a single tenet of their faith.

SWEATSHOP GOODS EXHIBITED.

WASHINGTON.—As a part of its campaign to better the working conditions of women and children in Washington, as well as women and children employed in factories, in stores and in their homes throughout the country, the Consumers' League of the District of Columbia has just held an exhibit in the parish hall of Epiphany church. The desire of the Consumers' League is to do away with sweatshop and tenement labor, not only to aid the workers by compelling manufacturers to have their work done in sanitary factories at living wages, but also to safeguard the consumers from the danger of disease. Babies which are clothed in the finely made caps and dresses, made in sweatshops, are in danger of being affected with consumption and other diseases. The Consumers' League has adopted a label to be placed on goods manufactured under sanitary conditions at fair wages, and sixty-five factories have adopted this label, after satisfying the league that the conditions under which the employes are employed were proper. The establishment of minimum wage boards and the enactment of laws curtailing the hours of labor for women and children are on the program. Especial interest in this city is being taken in the welfare of women and girls employed in retail stores and soon a "white list" of stores will be published which will designate the Washington stores that pay their employes fair wages and concede fair working hours.

THEY ARE JUST HUMAN.

TOPEKA, KAN.—A movement is on in this state that promises to throw several hundred preachers out of a job. From numerous localities come reports of concerted efforts in religious revivals of a getting together of adherents of all denominations, and appeals are being made to bring the members of all the churches into one religious movement. The preachers of these various denominations are vigorously opposing the movement. It is said that there about 500 towns and communities in this state where people are keeping up three or four church organizations, and if there should be an amalgamation many ministers, of course, would be looking for jobs.

For your HEALTH AND CAUSE ask for OLOGY UNION MADE 5c cigar.

WANTS MOUNT VERNON.

WASHINGTON.—The agitation of the abolition of the fee system at Mt. Verno and the maintenance by the federal government as a national institution the home of George Washington, has taken concerte form in the introduction of a resolution by Representative Carry of Wisconsin. Mr. Carry provides in his resolution the creation of a commission to investigate the subject, and provides for a commission of three senators and five representatives to procure the necessary information upon which to base an appropriation to place the control of Mount Vernon in the hands of the government.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

SERIOUS SHIP DISPUTE.

London.—Serious trouble has broken out at the Glasgow docks where 5,000 men have stopped work, owing to 123 firms posting notices insisting upon new working terms. The shipowners have notified their regular customers that they intend to suspend all sailings from the port until the dispute has been settled.

The Leader, 1000 Mt. Vernon Ave., has the new Ties for Ladies, the newest out. Call and see them.

NEW WAITERS' UNION.

London.—There has been formed in London a new union which will cater for all classes of waiters and bears the title of the National Union of Waiters. The new union will demand better wages and conditions of work in clubs and hotels and the campaign is to be at once inaugurated to bring this about. Some of the clubs and hotels have already advanced wages. The organization starts out with nearly 1,000 members.

RAILWAY TROUBLE.

London.—The railway men are not satisfied with the working of the terms of settlement reached after the recent strike. Complaints are made that certain railway companies have not adhered to the terms and have introduced methods which have displaced a great many men. Four of the railroad unions, the A. S. R. S., the General Railway Workers' Union, the United Pointsmen and Signalmen's Society and the Associated Society of Locomotivemen, have practically decided to amalgamate, thus preparing for any difficulty which may occur in the future.

IMMIGRATION STATISTICS.

Washington.—The bureau of immigration and naturalization has just issued its report covering the month of October, 1911. During that month there was admitted to this country 69,418 immigrants. The largest number from any one country came from Germany, being 7,488, with the following large numbers from other countries: Southern Italy, 7,176; English, 5,186; Polish, 5,808; Irish, 5,237; Hebrew, 4,776; Scandanavian, 4,044. The balance of the immigrants came from some 25 or 30 other countries.

Local Party News

Under this head will be published the news concerning the activities of the Ward Branches of the Socialist Party in Columbus and from Locals in Franklin County. All news and announcements should be sent in not later than Wednesday morning.

THE CITY CENTRAL COMMITTEE

CITY HEADQUARTERS AT 3 35½ SOUTH HIGH STREET.

SOCIALISTS ARE AHEAD, AS THEY USUALLY ARE.

Our Legal Aid Department is Giving Help on Right Basis.

Otto Davis of the Associated Charities addressed the Franklin County Bar Association's annual meeting Saturday at the Court House on the need of a Legal Aid society in Columbus for the benefit of the indigent who are unable to secure attorneys to defend them in legal actions.

Mr. Davis stated that many such cases came to his notice and that in other cities such societies existed which did infinite good.

The Columbus Socialist has maintained for nearly two months a legal aid department at 108½ South High Street, Room 9, with W. C. Bates, an experienced attorney in charge. This department is open all day and until 8:30 each evening.

It has been made use of by many who need its services. It is run on a basis which forces none in need to lose their self-respect. The professed friends of the poor are late in waking up.

Miss Stella Weinstine, of the Leader, 1000 Mt. Vernon Ave., wishes to see you and is only to glad to show the new line just received at the Leader.

NEW HEADQUARTERS FOR SOCIALIST DRAMATIC CLUB

The Socialist Dramatic Club held a meeting in their new hall last Sunday evening, 40½ E. Chestnut Street. These young rebels are organized to have a good time among themselves, and to use the drama as a medium in spreading the knowledge of the class-struggle.

The play, "Under the Lash," which is billed for the Hartman on March 7th, is a hummer.

If you belong to the working class come up and enjoy yourself on Sunday evenings. They have provided a fine program for next Sunday at 7:30 P. M. Don't forget the place, 40½ E. Chestnut Street.

The Socialist is now located at 108½ South High street, Third floor. The business and editorial departments are in Room 6, front. The Socialist Reading Room is in Room 9 to the right of stairway. In Room 9 is also located the Socialist-Legal Department where legal advice and assistance can be obtained. Good Socialist literature is for sale or for reading free.

A LITTLE STORY.

It has always been the policy of the Friedenberg Liquor Store, 216 E. Main St., to handle the very best brands of cigars and tobaccos.

They have recently secured the jobbing contract for "The Ology" cigar, a good clean Union Made cigar, made in a clean, sanitary factory. They ask the readers of "The Socialist" to give it a trial and be assured that they will ever after be enthusiastic Boosters for "The Ology."

Miss Stella Weinstein wants to see you at The Leader, to show the new line for Ladies.

What's the use taking chances? When you know "The Ology" is a UNION MADE cigar, and there is none better for a nickel.

A dispatch states that the Penna. Constabulary is practicing drills which will fit them to cope with the mine workers in the event of a strike next April. You men of this valley should put on your thinking caps. Before election you have been treated to the compliment of being honest sons of toil by whose labor the wealth and development of the coal industry is made possible, but when you strike against the system you support with your votes you are considered a mob of unruly ruffians whose heads must be cracked to instill respect for law and order. Take the hint and think.—Coal Dale Toiler.

1000 Mt. Vernon Ave. Remember. The Leader, The Leader, The Leader, yest it's The Leader, and I am going there to buy.

"Under the Lash," at the Hartman, Thursday evening, March 7. A drama of modern life in a Colorado mining town.

Have you ever smoked the Ology? UNION MADE 5c cigar. By insisting on this brand, you are helping your cause.

In many cities of the United States the municipalities are taking control of water and light plants, while in towns controlled by Socialists, the people enjoy the best of service from these public utilities which are operated for use and not for profit. Why can't the same thing be done in this valley?—Toilers' Defense.

At The Leader, newest stripes for spring Ladies' soft shirts.

Ten per cent of all tickets for "Under the Lash" goes into the Ward Branches, so get your tickets from the Branches.

SOCIALISTS TO PLAY "UNDER THE LASH"

"Under the Lash," a five-act melodrama depicting the contrast between capital and labor, will be presented at the Hartman theater, Thursday evening, March 7, by members of the Socialist Dramatic Club. The locale is a Western mining town and the theme embraces Socialistic principles. The cast contains 18 characters, all of which will be played by local amateurs.

LOCAL COLUMBUS IN MASS MEETING TAKES DECIDED ACTION FOR "THE SOCIALIST"

Biggest Subscription Campaign in the History of Columbus, will be Carried on Next Sunday, March 10th.

All Party Members Will Meet Early Sunday Morning in their Respective Ward Branches, Route Themselves and then Cover their Ward, Soliciting Subscriptions for this Paper.

Local Columbus in mass meeting last Sunday, decided that the circulation of this paper must be boosted to a much higher figure. Accordingly, a plan was mapped out, whereby we can boost the circulation, at least 1000 immediately. The plan, as adopted by Local Columbus, is for each ward branch to meet early this coming Sunday morning, in their respective meeting places, rout the different members, so that the same territory will not be covered twice, and cover their ward, soliciting subscriptions for The Socialist.

It was pointed out that concerted action, by every party member, with all efforts concentrated upon this one object, for one entire day, was bound to result in great good for our local paper.

Local Columbus also decided to employ a paid organizer and a committee of three were elected to devise ways and means of raising the finances for same.

It was further decided to change the meeting of the City Local Committee, to Monday evenings, as heretofore. The branches were also requested to arrange their meeting nights so that all branches in the city would meet Tuesday night in place of being scattered throughout the week. By adopting this method, the ward branches will have a better opportunity to do the necessary work of organization, throughout their ward.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned, to meet the first Sunday in April.

THOUSANDS IN ENGLAND FACE STARVATION

Complete Paralysis of All Industry Certain in Few Days If Strike Goes on.

London, March 7.—Despite the obstinate stand on both sides, Premier Asquith has made a final appeal to the committee of miners and operators asking them to make mutual concession and end the strike. He pointed out the seriousness of the situation, that the national business, already crippled, would be completely paralyzed by the end of the week, and that millions of men, women and children, victims of the enforced idleness of the various industries, were today facing starvation.

The situation is critical. The price of food is leaping upward daily. The abandonment of freight trains by the various railroads has curtailed the milk supply of the cities. Fresh meats are at a premium, while the store of salt and smoked foodstuffs is rapidly being diminished. Canned goods are being exhausted, although the dealers have doubled their prices. Flour for bread is running low. Unless something is done to relieve the situation within forty-eight hours thousands will be face to face with actual starvation.

Three-Cornered Conference.

All this and more was made plain by the premier today when the three-cornered conference between the miners, operators and government was resumed. He made this appeal on the ground of humanity and asked the miners to go back to work and trust to parliament to enforce their chief demand, the establishment of a minimum wage scale.

The men said that they were working under the instructions of the rank and file. The entire situation had been canvassed, the premier was told, before the referendum vote was taken and it was agreed that starvation would be preferable to a continuation of existing conditions, where the majority of the miners and their assistants, now on strike, were unable to earn more than enough to pay for the coarsest kind of food.

CITY DADS DELIBERATE ON WEIGHTY MATTERS

Socialists are an Everlasting and Continual Nuisance—to Some.

Councilman T. M. Sherman of the Sixteenth Ward certainly has a grievance. For weeks he has been trying to get the city to buy a parcel of ground in the North End, somewhere, for a little park. At first it was proposed to pay $7,500 for the land but that was defeated. Last Monday evening Mr. Sherman came back with a resolution to condemn the ground needed. Right there the other members started in and kicked that park 'round worse than any Missouri houn' was ever treated. Sherman wants that park because some of his constituents won't let him rest. It's too bad because Sherman, despite the facts that he is a Republican and a lawyer, is a pretty decent fellow.

The thing that impresses most any unbiased spectator at the city council meetings is that the Socialist members are a thorn in the flesh to the "regulars." Our men ask all sorts of unpleasant questions, raise all sorts of points and are really causing President Dave Logan to become wrinkled and careworn.

For instance, last Monday night there was a concerted effort from some unknown source to keep William Mornane, a faithful and efficient fireman from receiving $300 for time lost during illness which resulted from injuries received while on duty. There was some technical point about the case but Socialist Councilman Bohnert made a few bland remarks, Director Bargar gracefully came down from his official perch and every member voted to give a brave, tried and true fire laddie what was due him.

On the ordinance amending the peddler's license fee system, Socialists Bohnert, Wilson, Warren and Zimpfer with Barry and Reinhard voted nay. The Socialists are opposed to charging anybody anything for selling the necessities or comforts of life on the streets of Columbus.

Councilman Bohnert introduced a resolution calling for detailed reports from the market masters of the city. This is simply to find out whether the market houses are public utilities or private snaps.

Council meets next Monday night. It's better than a show. Come up.

OFFICE OPEN SUNDAY.

The office of The Columbus Socialist at 186½ South High street will be open tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon to receive reports from the ward workers on subscriptions secured for this paper.

SUGAR GROVE SOCIALISTS STAND PAT

Democrats Defeated When They Try to Use Strong Arm Methods—Bates Makes Good.

Some two years since the Democrats of Sugar Grove, Ohio, elected one Mr. Snyder as their Mayor and at the same time elected a Democratic council. The Mayor served as such officer for about a year. In the meantime the Socialists organized a Local Society there which had a good beginning and was prosperous. The Mayor decided to join the Socialist Local and was admitted and afterwards tendered his resignation as such Mayor. The resignation was not acted upon by council and he continued to serve. The resignation was never withdrawn and therefore was left subject to acceptance by either the old or the new council as council is a continuous body. Before the last November election the Mayor was nominated with five other Socialists as councilmen. Another Socialist was nominated for Mayor and another as Marshall. At the election all Socialists nominated were elected.

Unfortunately or otherwise Providence came in and took away by death the father of the Socialist who was elected as Mayor and the Mayor-elect, moved out of the village on the farm left him by the father and thus left the office of Mayor vacant except that the old Mayor held over and he had been elected as councilman and was in duty bound under his obligation to qualify and serve as councilman. He refused to serve as councilman and announced he would hold over as Mayor and proceeded to appoint a Democrat as councilman to fill the vacancy of councilman for which he had been elected. This he had no right to do until after the expiration of thirty days from the time the vacancy occurred and then only with the consent of council. But the instant that the Mayor decided not to serve as councilman he appointed the Democrat to fill the vacancy. Under the old law the Mayor was president of council by virtue of his office but under the new law council elected a president of council to sit in the chair. The old Mayor insisted in usurping the chair in which the president of council was entitled to sit. Now the law provides that an officer holding over shall give a new bond and take the oath of office the same as if re-elected and if he failed to do so his office may be declared vacant. On the other hand the old Mayor had the right to give a new bond and take the oath of office at any time before his office was declared vacant. But when once declared vacant his rights ceased that instant and all appointees under him cease.

On February 19th, 1912, the council passed a resolution accepting the resignation of the old Mayor and declared the office of Mayor vacant.

Under this resolution council employed W. C. Bates, attorney, to come to Sugar Grove on Monday night, March 4th, 1912, to meet with them and advise as to the legal proceedure. Comrade Bates went to Sugar Grove at the time appointed and when council was ready to convene proceeded to advise as to the proper action. The elected clerk of council offered his bond for approval of council and proceeded to read the same when the old Mayor ordered him to stop and declared that he and not the president of council was entitled to call council to order. Bates advised to pay no attention to him but proceed. He then snatched the bond out of the hands of the elected clerk and ordered the appointed Marshal (illegally appointed) to arrest him but was prevented by the Socialist councilmen who also forced the old Mayor to surrender the bond when the elected clerk proceeded to read the bond after which the bond was approved by council and the clerk was sworn in. Bates then directed the election of a new mayor and at this point the old Mayor demanded that Bates show his credentials, but Bates paid no attention to him and the work proceeded but soon was interrupted by the old Mayor ordering the so-called Marshal to arrest Bates and lock him up. The so-called Marshal proceeded to do so and soon he, the Mayor, and a Democrat who was defeated for Mayor last November had seized Bates by the arms and coat collar and was making off with him to the lock-up but slowly as there were so many citizens in the room it was hard to move and more were trying to get in at the door and windows and the new clerk was pulling the other way on Bates while Bates clung to the table. The railing back of council floor was broken and a general rough house was on. As the so-called Marshal drew his mace to club Bates an old grey haired Socialist Councilman drew a chair on the so-called Marshal and the two stood there eyeing each other like wild beasts. All the while Bates looked up at the mace over his head smiling and all making a splendid scene for a picture film. Shortly the old Mayor loosened his hold on Bates, then the so-called Marshal but the defeated Democrat held on as though he really had the office he coveted. Bates took off loosened hand, and stroked the head of the Democrat and smiling in his face created a laugh at his expense and he too let loose. The old Mayor then announced that council was adjourned and walked out leaving the President of council in the chair, the clerk of council at his desk and four councilmen in their seats to proceed with business.

The vote for these candidates from the wards and locals should be filed with D. M. Kuhns, chairman, 184½ South High street, on or before March 17. The committee will be in session during the afternoon of that day and reports may be filed at any time before said committee adjourns.

LATEST NEWS FROM LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Mass., March 6.—The offer of an increase of 5 per cent had no other effect on the mass of the strikers than to make them stand together more firmly than ever. All the mills but one had agreed to this, and there were some of the officials who professed to believe the result would be a flocking back of the workers. But they did not even dribble back.

Today's gain was in skilled workmen, and those of them who are affiliated with the Central Labor Union resumed work, but the Industrial Workers of the World, which has been conducting the strike, hold firm. The rank and file of the Industrial Workers continue with their leaders to demand a 15 per cent wage increase and other concessions.

Pickets were out in full force, parading up and down the street in almost solid columns, that might have a deterrent effect upon those who wanted to go to work. So solid was this column in some places that the operatives on their way to work might well have hesitated to try to break through it, but they ran no risk this morning. The pickets molested nobody. They merely walked back and forth, as a rule being silent, and they did not bunch up into large crowds. Not a single arrest was made during the hours for the demonstrations. Two men were detained and searched but soon allowed to go.

CRY OF THE CHILDREN HEARD BY MIGHTY ONES

Revolting Revelations Startle Committee of Congress. Horrors of Lawrence Condition Confront National Lawmakers. Strikers Stand Firmly.

(By National Socialist Press.)

Washington, March 2.—Never in the annals of the United States Congress was there a day of so many revolting revelations, of so many startling sensations, as today. The gripping and tragic facts of the industrial conflict as exemplified in the Lawrence strike were laid bare before the House Committee on Rules by Victor L. Berger, the only Socialist in Congress.

In the largest and most luxurious committee room in the House Office Building a story of starvation and wretchedness was simply yet dramatically told. Amidst scenes that beggar description a workingman in ungrammatical English vividly described the cruelty and oppression to which he and his Comrades have been subjected. Congressmen who never hesitated to legislate against those who labor drooped their heads as the witness, Samuel Lipson, told of women about to become mothers having been clubbed by the Lawrence authorities. Wives of the wealthy who amuse themselves by attending Congressional hearings could not keep their guilty eyes away from the pallid, thin-faced and stunted child slaves who came to the National Capitol to bear witness against an unjust and cruel industrial system.

Seated at a long table were practically the entire membership of the Rules Committee. In front of them sat the man who forced Congress to take note of the barbarities of the Massachusetts city. Near him sat George R. Roewer, the attorney for the strikers. And sitting on the other side of the table, sitting with his face to the committee, was Samuel Lipson, a worker who supported a family of six on a wage averaging less than nine dollars a week. Back of him sat the thirteen little mill hands, three adult strikers, and a committee of Philadelphia Socialists who were manhandled in the outrage at Lawrence last Monday.

Lipson gave a graphic description of that outrage and the brutalities of the Lawrence police and militia generally. But more sensational than anything else were the reactionary remarks made by John Golden, the president of the Textile Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

At first confining himself with faint praise of the efforts of the mill owners to better their conditions, Golden soon showed his colors. While telling about the clubbing last Monday, Golden revealed the fact that he was opposed to the sending of the children out of Lawrence. Pressed by Representative Stanley, Golden practically condoned the brutal acts of the authorities on the ground that the I. W. W. was an organization which "aims at the destruction of my organization."

"The Ettors and Haywoods are anarchists," declared Golden. "They are responsible for the occurrences at Lawrence."

Many of the striking children loudly protested against at this characterization of their loyal leaders. But Henry rapped for order, threatening to clear the room in case of further interruptions.

Later, Stanley, who exhibited a great deal of sympathy for the strikers, asked this pointed question:

"You are afraid that the I. W. W. will in time absorb your organization? And is this not the reason why you object to the sending of the children outside of the city?"

Golden hemmed and hawed, but did not make a direct answer. Stanley continued:

"Supposing these strikers were pure and simple anarchists and they wanted to send their children outside of the city so that they would not be massacred, would you object to their right of so doing?"

"I would," replied the so-called labor leader, while on every face in the room including those of the committee, there was visible the expression of an opposite belief to that of the hardened reactionary.

Following a short speech by Representative Wilson, of Pennsylvania, in which he favored an investigation of the Lawrence strike by the Labor Committee, Representative Berger opened the hearing with a few introductory remarks.

"The American Woolen Company," he said in part, "has for years been the recipient of a government subsidy in the form of a high tariff. It has been claimed that this high tariff is levied in order to protect labor. Yet in spite of this claim it is generally conceded that these operatives are among the lowest paid of those of any industry in America. It is also conceded that they are imported from sections of Europe where the standard of living is lowest.

"An investigation of the American Woolen Company is properly within the jurisdiction of this House. It is surely justified at least as much as the investigation of the Steel Trust, the Sugar Trust or the Money Trust. The average wage which the Wool Trust has established is even below those of the Steel and the Sugar Trust and certainly very much below the wages paid by the Money Trust."

Pointing out that the strike in Lawrence is the result of unbearable conditions, Berger then began to question his witness.

"Why did you go on strike, Mr. Lipson?" asked Berger.

"I was unable to make a living for my family," he replied. "I am a skilled worker, but I never average more than nine dollars a week. I have a wife and four children to support. This would not be so bad if we had steady work, but there are many weeks when I earn only $5 or $6 a week. We then live on bread and water. We never eat butter, but use a kind of oleomargarine. We eat meat twice and three times a week and on holidays.

"But I am a skilled weaver and live better than the rest of the workers. Now then, when the cost of living is increasing, the mill-owners without notice decrease our wages; do you blame us for striking?"

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HAS INTERNAL TROUBLES

Scab Promoters Get Together and Patch Up Differences.

The Columbus Chamber of Commerce has been having a merry old Hades of a time the past two weeks. There has been a revolt of the younger members against the tactics of the old liners who have run things to suit themselves. There was danger of serious disruption but the matter has been smoothed over and the Chamber of Commerce will continue to promote scab concerns that seek to get a foothold in Columbus. There is an old adage to the effect that, "When rogues fall out then honest folks do profit." In this case the rogues got together too quickly.

BACHMAN AT CINCINNATI.

Comrade J. L. Bachman gave an address last Sunday at Music Hall in Cincinnati on "Socialism and Industrialism" to an audience which indicated that Local Cincinnati is alive, working and doing something.

Comrade A. C. Eby spoke at the same place one week previously.

THE STORY OF LAWRENCE.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn returns to Columbus next Tuesday evening and will speak at Federation Hall, 121½ East Town street, at 8 p. m. Comrade Flynn is one of few speakers before the people at present who speaks directly to the working class. She is a thorough Industrial Unionist, and the fact she has been on the battle ground at Lawrence, Mass., will have an interesting story to tell to all.

This meeting will be held to assist the Lawrence strikers and also to organize the workers of Columbus into an Industrial Union. Now is the golden opportunity, workers, don't allow it to pass by without grasping it. Come and bring another worker with you.

THE CASE OF ETTOR

Editor of the Columbus Socialist:

The case of J. J. Ettor, the leader of the striking mill workers, who is now under arrest at Lawrence, strikes me as the gravest invasion of personal rights that this generation has seen, and I do not understand how any person in this county that believes in fundamental human liberty can remain silent in the face of it.

Mr. Ettor is in prison without bail charged with being accessory before the fact in the killing of a woman of whose existence he had never heard.

The charge is capital, that is, if convicted of it Ettor may be put to death.

What, then, is the basis of this serious accusation? Did this man desire the death of this woman, or have anything to gain from it, or have any cause to seek it?

He certainly did not. It is only alleged against him that he uttered some incendiary words, and that as a result of these words some person killed the woman. What person? The prosecution does not know. What were the motives of the slayer? The prosecution does not know. She might have been killed for jealousy, robbery, revenge, or any one of a thousand other motives that had not the slightest reference to the man now imprisoned; she might have been killed accidentally. About all this the prosecution has presented not one word of evidence. It is alleged that this man made an incendiary address; this woman was killed; therefore, throw him into prison and keep him there without bail. Also try in every way to have him convicted for her murder.

Now, the most obvious and simple principle of natural justice would demand who committed it. In no other case would we require that if a person is to be deemed guilty of inciting a murder we should know that there was a murder committed. Admitting the whole theory of instigation, the only way you possibly carry out the theory, human speech is capable of widely differing interpretations. No human being could assume to say that any words had instigated any deed unless he knew who committed the deed and that such a person had heard the words inciting to such a deed. It might have been committed by some one that had never heard the words and had an entirely different motive.

Every fair-minded man will admit all this at once and without question.

But in the case of Ettor all these elemental truths are discarded and the man is thrown into prison and kept there without bail on the bald assumption that since some one was killed he must have incited the killing.

Against this monstrous doctrine every citizen should protest without ceasing, for it is of the utmost importance to him that no such perilous precedent should be tolerated.

This is perfectly true, no matter what may be the citizen's politics or his views upon any other subject whatsoever. The strongest conservative has as much interest as the strongest radical in seeing that the outrage in the Ettor case should be so stamped and denounced that it shall never again be attempted. If we allow one man to lose his fundamental rights, all of us suffer the loss of our own rights.

For instance, if the principle of the Ettor case is allowed to stand, observe in what danger the most conscientious of reformers may be.

Suppose, for instance, that at the next municipal election in this city a determined effort is made to unseat Charles F. Murphy. Suppose we have one of those periodical spasms of revolt against Tammany Hall. Suppose an eminent reformer attacking Tammany Hall should show the Murphy rule as it really is. Then suppose that some maniac or imbecile should shoot Mr. Murphy. If Tammany were in complete control of the local government it could prosecute that reformer for murder. It could, and if the Ettor case is right that is exactly what is ought to do. It ought to prosecute him and convict him and have him put to death.

In other words, if the prosecution of this man at Lawrence be allowed to go on without emphatic rebuke from the country, there must be an end of the right of free speech. Anything that any man may say on any subject or any occasion may be construed to have instigated some crime for which he can be held responsible. No man with any degree of safety can attack or criticise any existing wrong. If he advocate the slightest change in any condition his words may be held to have incited somebody to do something awful, and no tyranny of old Venice or old Rome would be more complete and brutal than the condition that would result.

I submit therefore that it is the urgent duty of every citizen to protest against the Ettor prosecution. Socialists or non-Socialists, we have a common cause here. For we are all equally interested that there shall not be established in this country irresponsible oligarchy with absolute power over the lives and liberties of the rest of us. And exactly this and no less is the significance of this abominable case. A bold and intolerable oppression is undertaken at Lawrence to please the woolen trust. If one trust can thus oppress one man that it does not happen to like, another trust can trample similarly upon the rights of others, and there is at once an end to all government, all rights, all protection, all organized society. Nothing is left but a frank revival of the jungle and wild chaos.

Within the space of a few days in this country we discover that a rich man can send to prison for 30 years a poor man that he happens to dislike; that an investigation of this strange matter can be choked off, and that a strike leader, at the pleasure of a trust, can be thrown into jail and kept there on a charge that denies every right and every principle of justice.

If these are not matters for the most serious reflection of every citizen, I should be pleased to hear of something more important to us.

CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL,
New York, N. Y.

THE CRY FOR JUSTICE

By F. L. Gardner.

Fair play is justice. The law does not always give fair play. Therefore the law is sometimes unjust. . . .

How many of our industrial corporations are now being hounded though they never intended to violate the law and may be found guiltless? The U. S. Steel Corporation has been accused of violating the Sherman Act. Its answer is clear, exact and we believe truthful.—Leslie's Weekly.

I have been a subscriber for that paper for some times. It takes great pleasure in defending Carnegie, Morgan and Taft. I think it is one of the best magazines published for the cause of Socialism as its talk is on the line of Goldstein's. Its plea for capitalism is disgusting to a man with reason and is very seldom guilty of telling the facts in the article, it seems to be doubtful whether they will be found innocent.

They need have no fear (and I am sure they have none) because if they are convicted, the Supreme Court will declare the punishment unconstitutional and it will be repealed.

Their hypocritical cry for justice is an insult to all working-men.

What is justice? Justinian defines it as "The constant and unswerving desire to render to every man his own." Whewell defines it at greater length, "Justice excludes cupidity or eagerness in the desire for wealth or wish to possess what is another's." Has the U. S. Steel Corporation in its 10 years of existance been putting the meaning of those statements into effect? No. Since they incorporated for $1,000,000,000 some 10 years ago they have controlled 90 to 95 per cent of the output of steel and practically destroyed all competition. They have also, from their entrenched positions of power, taken the sweat and blood of thousands of workingmen, while the men have been getting a bare existence, which means hunger, cold and death for helpless men, women and children.

There was a time when a steel worker received from $3 to $6 per day, while now in most cases they receive from $3 to $3.75 per day. The average wage scale at Gary, Ind., their largest plant, is $1 per day. Since their existence they have destroyed all organized labor that they come in contact with, by the power of their money, the judges, the troops, the Supreme Court and importing the scum element of Europe over here to force you to submission. And now they tell you your working conditions are better and wages paid better than heretofore.

Judge Gary, the president of this corporation, the other day had the nerve to try to mislead us by saying in the future they must consider labor more seriously as there was a general unrest among working-men that would sooner or later lead to a revolution. I am in favor it at the ballot box. And now these thieves who are robing us of the product of our labor, are crying for justice. When you think of how they have shot us in the back, how their judges have sent us to the jail and penitentiary for trying to get a better wage, so that we can more than merely exist, then how can you but fail to say that I am going to come over to my class and stand shoulder to shoulder and work and vote for the system that will emancipate the working-class and also set up a system that will deal out justice to the whole nation?

The Cost of Children is discussed in the February 10th Outlook by Martha Bensley Bruére. The doctor's bill plays an important part in the cost, and under certain circumstances, the unrse's, "A priori," it does not seem right that a government should permit the birth of a citizen to tax the parents. Again we find ourselves becoming convinced that physicians should be paid as the police—or the army, if the comparison is liked better—are paid. The services, growing more and more prophylactic as intelligence and education increased, of an efficient medical or surgical specialist should be rendered to rich and poor alike, whenever required and at the general expense. As disease refuses to respect State lines, this must with us become a Federal concern.

GETS INCREASE AND AGREEMENT

Roanoke.—It is reported that a conference between the federated crafts and the officials of the Virginian railroad resulted in a satisfactory agreement, and an increase in wages was secured for nearly all the crafts.

Apropos of Dickens, we picked up "Hard Times" the other day and reread it with enjoyment. It is surprising that none of his admirers, while celebrating the centenary, has pointed out the extreme appositeness of this work to affairs at Lawrence. Dickens had an idea that mill hands should be treated like human beings, and suggested that removal of the causes giving rise to agitators might be the best means of getting rid of them. He was therefore "accused" of Socialism.

A FEW SMILES.

By Old Grumpy.

Should "BRYAN" smile,
The night would turn to day, and darkness be no more.
The earth would blossom as the rose, and joy would take the place of woes,
In peace as well as war.
Should "BRYAN" smile
Should "HARMON" smile,
The stars would cease to shine,
The sun and moon would both stand still, and wait the pleasure of his will
Until the end of time.
Should "HARMON" smile.

And "LA FOLLETTE,"
That terror from the west, if he should stop to smile,
The moneyed interests of Wall street
would bind us closer to their feet, and with hot air would us beguile,
If "BOB" should stop to smile.

And "TAFT" (POOR BILL),
If he should smile, this waring world
would stop;
The faithful few and lame dukes too would swear allegiance anew and then show up on top.
Should "WILLIAM" smile.

Should "WILSON" smile,
That mighty man of learning from the East
His foes would take him by the hand and peace would dwell throughout the land,
While millionaries increased,
Should "WILSON" smile.

Ilm

Should "ROOSEVELT" smile,
Obscured the light of day, the heavens, the earth, and sea would fade away.
And naught remain except those gleaming props, which serve to stay his wide distanced chops,
Should "ROOSEVELT" smile.

611 West Broad,

COMING BACK

"Here, sonny, where are you going?" asked a traveler, who saw a little darkey pass without offering to carry his grip.

"I ain't a-goin. I'se coming back." It is about time for some of the old political bosses to realize that the people are asking of their servants in Congress, "Where are you going?"

And wise is the one who, having strayed afar, replies that he's coming back—to the people.

Are your representatives at Washington going, or coming back? It is your business to know. It is well to have some of them come clear back home (to Oyster Bay)—and stay there.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

GENERAL SOCIALIST NOTES

Still another Socialist Mayor is elected. The trick was turned in the town of Bemidji, Minn., last week. Socialists also elected one Alderman out of four.

Socialist administration of Schenectady, N. Y., has opened a free employment bureau in the City Hall and is endeavoring to drive out the private agencies by centralizing all demands for labor in the city institution.

The national office of the Socialist party can furnish copies of the bill introduced in Congress by Victor Berger providing for the collective ownership of the trusts, at the following rates: Single copy, 5 cents, 25 cents per dozen, $1 per hundred.

In the primary election in Seattle, Wash., last week, the Socialist candidate for Mayor polled over 10,000 votes in a total of 60,000. That is a remarkable showing in a city in which the Socialist party was badly demoralized two years ago by a factional fight.

Frithjof Warenskojold, formerly an active organizer and speaker in Norway, has located in this country and is about to be sent on an agitation tour throughout the Eastern States by the Scandinavian Section S. P. Write Juel Christensen, 2517 Ems Street, Chicago, for dates.

Another important victory. In the election for member of Parliament in Basel Switzerland, the Socialist candidate defeated his Clerical opponent by a vote of 7,872 to 3,659. In Zurich, at another special election, the Socialist candidate for District Judge was elected by 2,000 majority over his old-party opponent.

Harvard College now has a Socialist paper. True it is not an official organ, but financed by Samuel A. Eliot and other members of the Harvard Social Club. Young Eliot is a grandson of President Eliot, and has no use for scab "heroes," but does want to see labor united on the political as well as the industrial field.

Encouraged over the good that has come to organized labor in Los Angeles through political activity at a body, the unions of San Diego have decided to form a Union Labor Political Club along the lines patterned after the Los Angeles club, where the union workers joined in with the Socialist party to secure political power.

In the Legislature of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt, one of the smallest states in the German Empire, the Socialists elected the President and Vice-President of the body, having a majority of the representatives in the assembly. This is the first State that has been won by the Socialists, but under the laws of the confederation, the power is quite limited.

The Hazlewood Methodist Episcopal Church, in Pittsburg, adopted resolutions approving of the action of Rev. W. A. Prosser, its pastor, in challenging Raymond Robins, a revivalist employed by the Men and Religion Forward Movement to run around the country to denounce Socialism. Robins was denounced as unfair and as doing unmeasured harm to the religious bodies.

INDIANA STATE NEWS

James Oneal, State Secretary, 209½ Ohio Street, Terre Haute.

The Local at Washington is branching out in its organizing work and a branch of ten members has been formed in a suburb of the city. This is a mining section and the comrades predict a large increase in the membership soon.

Comrade Jos. Balshaw, of Clinton, spoke in the mining town of Tecumseh, in Vigo County, last Sunday and organized a Local of seven members. Secretary Schaefer writes that they expect to double the membership at the first meeting and to have a membership of one hundred within three or four months.

The new Local at Garrett reports that the membership has increased to 45 and that more are coming. The northeastern section of the State is becoming very much alive although it has been a barren country for many years.

Local Elwood has had a good deal of dissension for several months but the latest report from that city is that the members are enthusiastic large crowds attend the Sunday lectures and the membership is increasing.

State Secreary Oneal spoke to a large audience at Newberry in Green County last week and the comrades there are anxious for more meetings. There were but two Socialist votes there in the last election but the vote cast next November will suprise many.

The Socialists of Vermillion County are now voting by referendum for County officers and a County convention will soon be held to nominate a complete County ticket. A big May day celebration is also being planned.

The Clay County Socialists have elected their County officers for the coming year, the referendum resulting in the election of the following comrades: County Chairman, Ed. Harper, Brazil; Secretary-Treasurer, L. Jones, Coalmont; Organizer, C. N. Gregory, Staunton.

Comrade O. G. Overcash, Socialist Trustee of Normal City, suggests that where towns have Socialist officials that they adopt resolutions endorsing Congressman Berger's Old Age Pension Bill. If the National Convention is held in Indianapolis it would also be well for these Socialist officials to plan for a general conference there where they could profit by a review of the questions that each town has to meet. Those interested should write to O. G. Overcash, 511 Dill Street, Muncie, Ind.

The State office now has a supply of the Registration and Corrupt Practices Acts and copies are being sent to all Locals in the State. The comrades should familiarize themselves with the laws and be able to help inquirers who are uninformed regarding the provisions of these acts. Party officers should give special attention to the Corrupt Practices Act as nominations of the party may be invalidated for failure to comply with its provisions.

CAN NOT REFORM EVILS, SAYS PREACHER; MUST ABOLISH IT

Troy, Ohio.—"Why do not those who denounce Socialism as a foreign importatiin denounce Christianity in the same manner?" said Rev. S. S. Condo, speaking here at the Cavalry Baptist church. "Christianity is as much a foreign product as Socialism, yet nothing is ever said against it on those grounds.

"The country is full of reformers today who are going about crying reform, reform. Every one should know that evil can not be reformed; it must be removed. You can not reform smallpox. If you permit the forces of organized greed to exist you are perpetuating the evil. If you vote for the system you sanction the product."

SOCIALIST NEWS FROM BARNESVILLE

Barnesville Local is thoroughly alive and doing god work. We average a weekly special collection of about $1.25, which we spend for literature and circulate in the country districts—sending bundles to farmer comrades, who in turn distribute the reading matter where it will do the most good. We have a public reading room and lecture hall, where the workers gather to plan their political battles. Last evening we held a public meeting, and listened to the reading of Comrade Russell's article in January Hampton's magazine, "Socialism; Just Where it Stands Today." The following article was also read:

I once knew a mechanic who made a contract with a man to furnish the material and make a certain article for one dollar, and the mechanic further contracted to make more of these same articles on the same terms. Just as the man needed them, but he was not to make even one of these articles for himself nor for any other man. The mechanic went to work and made several hundred, and when the man came in, after inspecting and paying for them, said to the mechanic: "Do you know what I'm going to do; I'm going to add nine dollars to the cost of each one of these articles, and ten dollars is the price the purchaser will pay to get it." The mechanic laughed as he thought what a god joke it would be on the public.

But this article became popular, and one day the mechanic's wife said: "John, I must have one of these articles." Then the mechanic did some figuring and at last he saw the joke was on himself as well as on the public—because he must make ten of these articles before he could claim one for his very own.

Parellel.—Twenty-five million toilers in teh United States, representing over ninety per cent of our population, are doing the same thing for the Captains of Industry and are wondering where the Morgans and Rockefellers got all their wealth, while the wealth producers are growing poorer and poorer each succeeding year.

Moral.—Vote for Socialism, with its collective ownership of the industries of our nation, and make the people owners of the things that labor produces, and not the Captains of Industry.

F. D. CRAIN,
Secretary.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENT'N

Another week has passed without the Convention being able to dispose of the troublesome license question. By license question, of course, is meant the liquor question. It must not be charged that the delegates have not made a consistent effort to reach a satisfactory agreement upon this question, because this would be manifestly unfair. The fact of the matter is that they have worked hard and very hard to reach a solution, but without making much headway. The King proposal, and the minority report, which in substance is the Winn proposal, were considered exceedingly carefully, the first embodying the wishes of the wets, and the latter the wishes of the drys, but neither was acceptable to the Convention. It is understood the plan now is to draw up an entirely new proposal in such a form as to unite the opposing sides, and secure for its the Convention's approval.

The initiative and referendum committee has reported for printing, the Crosser proposal No. 2, as amended and agreed upon by the I. & R. delegates. Copies of this proposal are being mailed to all of the labor unions and central bodies of the State today, from the Columbus headquarters of the Ohio Federation of Labor, for their inspection. The labor press, so far as possible, should make an abstract of the essential features of the peposal, and publish the same for the benefit of their readers, in order that they may become acquainted with its provisions and urge its adoption.

Proposal No. 100, abolishing County Justices from practicing in cities, has been passed on its second reading, with prospects favorable for its final adoption by the convention.

Proposal No. 100, abolishing County Justices from practicing in cities, has been passed on its second reading, with prospects favorable for its final adoption by the convention.

Conferring upon woman the right of The Equal Suffrage proposal confranchise, has passed the first reading and ordered engrossed. This proposition too, has an exceedingly favorable outlook for the right sort of treatment at the hands of the Convetion. There is not a doubt lurking in the minds of any of the delegates but that it will be one of the amendments submitted to the people for ratification.

The short ballot method of selecting State officials also has a very fair chance for adoption. The States that have adopted the short ballot plan are its biggest boosters. It is distinctly a progressive measure, and the Convention being progressive in principle, is would seem that it cannot do other than adopt it.

The Labor Committee is working hard to reach a report on the labor amendments that will be reported to the Convention. It expects to be in shape to do this in a few days now, probably the middle of this week.

Governor Hiram Johnson's speech to the delegates last week was the best the Convention has yet heard. His strong advocacy of the initiative and referendum and the recall, made a deep impression all around, several of the delegates who have been rather lukewarm in their enthusiasm for these principles, being numbered now among their stauncbest friends.

The Committee on Judiciary is dealing with Brother Stephen Stillwell's proposed amendment which provides for the enactment of a mechanic's lien law, and will be ready, it is said, to make its report during the coming week.

(Biographical—Brother Stillwell is a painter by trade, his home is in Cleveland.)

The Legislative and Executive Department Committee has favorably reported delegate Johnson's proposal, modifying the governor's veto power. Brothers Thomas of Cuyahoga, and Hursh of Hardin Counties, will submit a minority report urging the Convention to abolish the veto power.

Brother Thomas brought a proposal out of hiding this week, providing for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people. The virtue of this proposal is self-evident. A patient long-suffering electorate has been waiting for many years to give the hearty approval to just such an amendment of this kind. That it will be adopted by the Convention goes without saying.

Brother Thomas had another proposal which is new. It provides for the abolishment of capital punishment. The sentiment on this question seeks to be as diversified as the number of delegates themselves, so that one can only conjecture at this time as to what disposal the Convention may make of the matter. Provision is made in this proposal for a public defender in criminal cases; also that no person shall be extradited without consent of a jury; and also that no person shall be imprisoned for debt, household furniture, homesteads, and tools or implements of any sort, shall be exempt from attachment or execution.

LEGISLATIVE SECRETARY.

LABOR UNREST IN JAPAN

The last years was a very eventful one for the workers of Japan. There were many strikes throughout Japan, although mostly small ones. Especially printers and typesetters struck in several places. There was a strike in Yokohama in the Advertiser, an English daily, and on the Japan Times at Tokyo, also being in English; the Methodist Printing House of Tokyo had a strike involving 600 workers, and one other printing house had a strike involving some eight hundred workers. In all but the last strike the men won what they demanded and they are better treated.—S. Katayama in the March International Socialist Review.

UPPER AND LOWER CLASSES

The upper and lower classes were always and are now such, not merely because the upper class had more good things than the lower. The true key to the situation was the fact that the upper class had in its possession and control the things by which the lower class made their livelihood and that the lower class was therefore dependent upon the upper class. In order to have economic classes, the means of life for the whole people, the instruments of production, must be owned by one class, and used by another. A state of society in which all the instruments of production are owned and operated in common by the whole people can have no classes.—Henry L. Slobodin in the March International Socialist Review.

PACKING HOUSE WORKERS

Cincinnati was the first pork-packing center, but the growth of Chicago as the largest railroad and lake shipping city of the world has made it the logical center of the international packing industry. With the increase in the size of packing plants there came a subdivision of the labor process on an ever larger scale. New and ever larger labor-saving machines were installed. The moving benches, lately introduced, displaced almost the last skilled worker from the yards. Where formerly a butcher workman had to be a skilled and proficient mechanic and know every detal of his trade, he is now reduced to a mere link in the long chain of laborers required in the never interrupted process of preparing meat for market.—Anton Rudowsky in the March International Socialist Review.

CRAFT DIVISIONS

To say that craft divisions are responsible for the lack of unity on the industrial field is to indulge in a trite truism today. But there are still many who do not realize that so long as the craft union was based on the possession of some peculiar skill by the craftsmen, the separate craft union had its economic justification. This is still largely true of such crafts as carpentry and cigarmaking. But in craft after craft the skill is passing from the man to the machine; and when this takes place the craft union loses its economic justification.—Robert Rives La Monte in the March International Socialist Review.

George Bope and Ed Wakefield are very busy these days organizing a "working-men's association" which can be used by George and Ed during the coming National, State and County campaign. They are experts at this form of "labor fakerism," but the rank and file are slowly but surely getting on to their curves. It is rather late to spring such schemes, but some politicians will fall for most anything.

ROOSEVELT WAS PRESIDENT

One fact will stand out strong in spite of the attempt to make Roosevelt's campaign an idol-worshiping stampede. That fact is that Theodore Roosevelt WAS president of the United States for more than seven years and that during those seven years there came to pass none of the great things which are now inferentially promised the American people if he is put into office again.

During Roosevelt's seven years' administration at Washington American workingmen suffered the same low wages, long hours of work, insanitary conditions of residence, unemployment and other evils incident to capitalism.

There were strikes and lockouts and workingmen were beaten with clubs, shot down by the militia and enjoined by the courts, just as they are now being treated at Lawrence, Massachusetts, and other places.

Roosevelt did nothing to prevent it. He neither attempted to redress the particular wrongs of this kind that occurred during his administration nor to lay the foundation for the prevention of similar wrongs in the future.

A law preventing the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes could have been passed during Roosevelt's administration if he had insisted upon it, but he did not.

He did not do that, nor did he do any of those things which are of vital importance to the working class, for the simple reason that he could not. He was not elected as a representative of the working class, but as a representative of a political party owned by the big business interests.

Roosevelt is a candidate for the nomination at the hands of the same party. While that party may permit Roosevelt to indulge in spectacular "stunts" again, it will permit him to go no further than before in legislation for the working class, except to the extent of those small concessions which the growing organization of the workers politically has compelled the capitalists to concede.

The man is of comparatively little importance. It is the party that counts, and the Republican party of 1914 will still be the Republican party that ruled the nation when Roosevelt was president.

Big business men who before objected to Roosevelt's antics and denunciations of malefactors of great wealth are today quite willing to accept him, because they believe that he can satisfy the people with his noise and at the same time preserve the interests of big business.

BREAKING UP THE HOME

The capitalists, through their mouthpiece, the terrible Teddy, tell the working class that they are against Socialism because it will break up the home.

Terrible indictment, Mr. Capitalist, but did you ever hear that old adage that people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones? YOU haven't a home.

Oh, of course you get married, not once but many times, at least Colonel Astor called it that when he paid $1,000,00 for pretty 18-year-old Miss Force, and she permitted herself to be bought by the bald-headed, 40-year-old colonel in order to be able to enter the ranks of the elite. You don't always publish the purchase price, but it is there just the same in the majority of cases.

Socialists believe in free love? Certainly not, and neither do they believe in legalized prostitution, and that is all your money marriages with the privilege of divorce at any time really are.

But of course a home doesn't consist wholly of a wife. One must have a house. All the way along the line you are over supplied, Mr. Capitalist, first with wives, one at a time of course, and then with houses. You have a winter house and summer place, a town house and a country house, a mountain house and a seashore cottage, until it is no wonder that our tax assessors miss most of your holdings and have to over-assess Mr. Worker to make up for the deficiency. You worry over which house to live in, and Mr. Worker worries over getting enough with which to pay the rent of three little rooms.

You meet your wife in the drawing room and relegate your children to a spacious nursery with a retinue of nurse maids, but thousands of Messrs. Workers are born, eat, sleep and die in the same room. You have all the modern convenience to make a home pleasant while Mr. Worker lives in quarters infinitely worse than those in which you stable your horses. You live on the fat of the land and Mr. Worker, who produces the fat, is denied the luxury of those things which you consider necessaries.

Your "home" is the scene of such revelry as would put public dance halls to shame, for in it are danced such dances as the police forbid, as being against public decency in those same dance halls. In it wines and liquors flow as freely as in a common saloon, swelling that great sum to which our prohibition friends point to with horror.

No, you haven't a home, Mr. Capitalist, nor will you let Mr. Worker have a home. You pay him so little that he can only afford "rooms," and then, when you have raised the cost of living so high that he can't buy back what he produced, you take away his job. And then what happens? Ask 35,00 Workers belonging to the army of unemployed in Chicago; the tens of thousands in other cities; ask the men in the workhouse, in the prisons, in the insane asylums, the suicides' and paupers' graves; ask the submerged tenth which is the result, the same as the others are, of a system whwich permits you to say where, when, how and under what conditions man shall work and what he shall receive for his work.

Homes—of course they haven't any homes and neither have you. You have too much and they have too little with which to make homes. You say, Socialism, which will assure to man a job and pay him what he earns, will destroy the home. We have capitalism now, Mr. Worker and what kind of a home have you? What kind would you have if you had a cinch on your job and were paid what you earn?

A Chicago branch of a nation-wide organization to fight Socialism has been launched by big Chicago capitalists at the Hotel La Salle. Thirty of Chicago's most prominent men were present. No reporters were allowed and a strong attempt was made to keep the meeting from public notice.

James A. Patten, George W. Dixon, Henry C. Morris, Max Pam, O. G. Williams, William Farson, and Paul W. Reize were of the committee calling the meeting. Among those who participated were a United States Senator and the Japanese consul.

The organization is known as the International Peace Forum, of which the notorious Dr. J. Wesley Hill is president, who was present and the most active in effecting the organization. This Hill has been accused of a great many dishonorable financial practices in the past and in his tours of lecturing against Socialism has had these matters brought to his notice, so that he has practically stopped work along that line. Many times dodgers would be prepared and circulated by Socialists in the towns where he was billed to speak asking him embarrassing questions about his past life. Usually he would be taken suddenly ill on such occasions and thus be unable to give his lecture.

In the Chicago meeting Dr. Hill announced that there would be five great centers, probably New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Portland and Minnepaolis. He said further that he had made a report to the Civic Federation (Mark Hanna's pet organization) but that Gompers and Mitchell were alarmed at the present attitude of labor so feared to have the report made public through the federation. Hill in attacking Socialism used his accustomed methods of vilification, accusing the Socialists of the old threadbare rot about breaking up of the homes, free love, dividing up, etc., what no respectable opponent of Socialism would be guilty of doing in this way.

More evidence is given in a statement against Socialism and a circular letter from the Executive Board of the Catholic Extension Society of the United States, asking financial and other support from men of wealth. None but the richest have been approached and these have been cautioned to the greatest secrecy. Whether this movement is affiliated with the anti-Socialist element of the Knights of Columbus which is in control of a considerable number of papers is impossible of present verification. The names given on the letterhead of the society are: The Archbishop of Chicago, Rev. Francis Kelly, Rev. E. B. Ledvina, M. A. Fanning, George C. Hennessey,

In this appeal none of the stock arguments are used against W. A. Cartier, R. J. Cuddihy, Ambrose Petry and Richard Dean. Socialism, it probably being assumed that these men appreciate the only real argument against Socialism, the danger to privilege and large fortunes, and so no argument is brought except the safeguarding of property.

Read This and Then Act

We are starting on the biggest subscription campaign in the history of Ohio. We are going to make "The Socialist" a State paper in every sense of the word. We are going to have a daily, but before we can accomplish this, before we can make the daily a fact, we must put this paper on its feet and run up our subscription list to a large figure.

Here's the plan: We want every Ward Branch and Local in Ohio to pledge themselves to sell a certain amount of sub cards to this paper for the balance of this year. We want every individual Socialist in the State to pledge himself to buy and sell a certain amount of sub cards for the balance of this year.

This will cost the Locals and individual Comrades nothing. All you will have to do is invest the first dollar or five dollars or whatever you wish, then sell the cards and get your money back, and use it again in the same manner.

If you haven't got the first dollars, to start with, a certain Comrade will advance it, and then turn it over to the paper the last week in this year. How many will you pledge yourself to sell?

We want at least one hundred who will pledge themselves to buy and sell $50.00 each the balance of this year. We will publish each week the names of those Comrades, Ward Branches and Locals and the amount pledged. Fill out this Coupon and mail in at once.

PLEDGE

Dear Comrades:—I or we, Pledge ourselves to buy and dispose of Sub. Cards to "The Socialist" to the following amount $_____ Same to be disposed of the balance of this year.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

BOOSTERS, ATTENTION!

We have struck an awful slump the past week. You had just struck your gait, when bang! the sub list dropped all of a sudden.

Close up your ranks! Form yourselves into a flying wedge! Regain the ground you have lost, and then some. For the love of this great cause don't stop a single instant. PRESS FORWARD, the goal is in sight. That goal is the co-operative commonwealth.

Educate your brothers and sisters. Send them this paper. Get them to pay for their own education. Why can't every member of the party or every reader of this paper do something to get new subscribers?

DON'T MAKE A FEW COMRADES DO IT ALL. We have all got to sacrifice. The Socialism movement is made up of sacrifices, and all that any of us have to do is sacrifice a little time each week, and we can put between 600 and 1000 new subs on this list. Don't forget Local Columbus decided in mass convention to request all the branches to meet this coming Sunday and route the different members and canvass their respective wards for subscriptions. Let every one of us determine that we will get a bunch of new ones Sunday, and then stay right on the job, getting more. We want 1000 new ones at once. Can we get them?

The report for three weeks follows:

The mark set, 5000.

Balance to get last report	4546
Names put on	456
Expirations	831
Gain for three weeks	125
Balance to get July 1st	4411

Comrade J. G. Montrose, of Utica, Ohio, has joined the Boosters. His contribution is two for six months each.

Comrade Geo. Smith, of the 14th Ward, busts Capitalism a wallop on the coco by bringing in two yearlys and one three months. THAT'S THE STUFF.

Comrade L. L. Fisher has no respect for the capitalist system; he says so, and to prove it gets two more subscribers to "The Socialist."

That 14th Ward is alive and doing things, Comrade Sam Hull brings in three and we put them on for six months each.

Comrade R. F. Peterfish lands two yearlies, as his donation to keep the "grave digger" busy.

Comrade Earl Fries is also on the job. He floats in with two new ones.

List of Boosters with one or more to their credit: F. L. Gardner, T. B. Fisher, F. Diebert, Jr., O. G. Van Schoyck, H. W. Neimeister, G. H. Fries, F. P. Zimpher, J. A. Schum, J. D. Hartzell, P. EAST END MERCHANTS ARE ON THE WARPATH

A Sunday morning paper had a terrible tale of woe to tell. It seems that the families of various employes of the Pan Handle and B. & O. railways, have been going to Pataskala to buy merchandise. East End dealers have gone so far as to appeal to the companies to stop this practice. The company officials have no power to control the purchasing power of their employes. They can and do fire men who avow themselves to be Socialists. There has been no complaint from merchants who advertise in The Columbus Socialist, and give a square deal. The working class is using its purchasing power to some effect.

THE MAGAZINE FOR WORKERS

"Absolutely the finest Socialist publication I have ever come across," is what a man in England wrote in renewing his subscription to THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW, the magazine that fights for the working class.

The REVIEW is the only publication of its kind in the world. It is the only monthly illustrated magazine which is devoted exclusively to the interests of working men and working women. It is the only magazine which actually gets right down into the ranks of the toilers and tells what they are doing and thinking and feeling. It stands for aggressive and uncompromising. The REVIEW is not only a magazine for Socialists; it is with the workers everywhere in their every struggle, not only in America but in other countries as well. Wherever there is a conflict between men and masters, there the Review has its correspondents and its photographers. Every month it is filled with pictures right from the scene of action. Its articles and stories come not only from trained writers but from the workers themselves. Its circulation has tripled in the last four years. It is growing bigger and better from month to month.

THE LIMA CASE
AT SHORT RANGE.

On December 8th, 1913, news was published that Mayor-elect Corbin N. Shook, of Lima, had violated the laws of the Socialist Party by making appointments contrary to the wishes and approval of Local Lima. The one appointment in particular being especially obnoxious was that of F. E. Harman, whom he appointed to the Board of Public Service.

Upon receipt of the news the State Office forwarded the information to the State Executive Committee for instructions. Realizing the necessity for immediate action, the following instructions were sent to Local Lima: That there was nothing in the State Constitution to prohibit the appointment of Democrats or Republicans to office, provided such appointments were approved by the Local. Attention was also called to that portion of the circular letter outlining the position of the State Executive Committee dealing with appointments, to the effect that all appointments should be considered by the Legislative Committee and submitted to the membership of the Local for final approval, and that no elected Socialist had the right to make appointments without securing the approval of the organized Socialist movement of his city; the policy of the party being to appoint Socialists when men of ability to fill the position could be found within the party, rather than non-Socialists without the party.

Acting upon these instructions, a committee of twelve was duly elected by Local Lima to confer with Comrade Shook and report the result of their conference at the next meeting of the Local. Comrade Shook refused to accede to the wishes of the party as outlined to him by the committee in submitting his appointments for approval.

Realizing the critical conditions of affairs at Lima, and the far reaching effect such conditions would have upon this and other cities in future campaigns, State Representative C. E. Ruthenberg was sent to assist in adjusting matters. In order to bring the issue before the Local and give Comrade Shook another opportunity to reconsider his action, Comrade Ruthenberg recommended the election of a committee of three to wait upon Comrade Shook and demand that he appear before the Local and submit his appointments for approval, and that in case his appointments were not approved, his resignation be presented to the city council. The committee waited upon Comrade Shook who after an hour's conference still refused to recede from his former position. This report was then carried to the Local with the recommendation that Comrade Shook's resignation be filled out and presented at first meeting of city council, with instructions to Socialist councilmen-elect to move and second acceptance of same, and also instruct members of the Local to decline all appointments tendered them by Comrade Shook, in case council refused to accept the resignation.

At the city council meeting of January 2nd, Mayor Shook advised the council not to recognize any letter or resignation unless presented by Mr. Shook himself. Later the resignation was presented and the councilmen moved its acceptance, but the Republicans and Democrats acting upon the advice of the City Solicitor ruled it out of order, thereby retaining Mr. Shook as Mayor of Lima.

At a meeting of Local Lima on January 7th, Corbin N. Shook was expelled from the party.

Local Lima, Socialist Party, met Sunday afternoon, March 25th, and by a vote of 59 to 5 expelled from membership in the Socialist Party the following persons:—Edwin Blank, Show Johnson, D. G. Goodnow, F. Statler, Frank Stevenson.

The chairman of this meeting was E. B. Lewis, of Columbus, who was so elected because as a member of the Socialist Party, he had a right to participate in any party meeting in the United States. Local Lima is stronger than ever before not only in numbers but in the respect which the citizens, regardless of party, have for the Socialists who so nobly stod by their principles even when offered political jobs. Local Lima stands clean before the world.

WIFE FAINTS.

Five Children Doomed to Starvation Husband and Father Sent to Works.

Joe Myers sent to Works by Judge Black. Myers pleaded that he was sick and unable to work and Judge Black caustically remarked: "That's just the kind they give the most to do over there." The wife fainted and the judge whose remarks were so cutting ordered a carriage to take the wife home. This sick and helpless mother with five children face starvation with no hope in this life while the ministers of Christ continue to tell her and the little ones that there is a palace in heaven for them, and go out on election day and vote for the two old parties who have not in sixty years accumulated brains enough to see that they are robbing this mother and their future citizens (the children) of all incentive to patriotism but still expect them to grow up to reverence the flag and the church. If Joe Myers is strong and able to do a full day's work then his services are worth anywhere from $2.00 to $3.00 per day and the private corporation (The Bromwell Wire Goods and Brush Co.) who work Joe make the profit of the difference between the price of 30 cents they pay the city for his services and what his services are worth. The city feeds, bing them of the instincts which make for citizenship and patriotism. clothes and shelters Joe for nothing and the tax payers foot the bill and add 10 cents to the 30 cents and pays the 40 cents to Joe's wife on which she is expected to pay rent, feed, clothe and educate herself and the five children. If Joe is really sick as he said he was he should have been sent to a hospital instead of the Workhouse. Why was there no effort made to find out if Joe was really sick and if shamming he deserved additional punishment unless he was unable to secure work. A competent physician could have been called and made an examination of his health in a short time, why was it not done?

If Joe was guilty as charged no Socialist would say he should not be punished but why punish the invalid mother and helpless children? Why have not the Democratic and Republican parties in sixty years found out that the family were entitled to the reasonable value of the services of Joe for their support while he was being punished for their neglect instead of giving the value of his services to that parasitic corporation who are taking the very bread and butter out of the children's mouths and rob-

The workers of Franklin County have more than enough votes to elect a Socialist Probate Judge this fall and if they don't have sense enough to use that vote they may expect their children sent to convents, their husbands to the works and their wives to prostitution. Workers, it is up to you. What do you say?

COTTON MILLS' REPORT.

Washington.—Pursuant to an act approved January 30, 1907, the Secretary of Commerce and Labor was authorized to report upon the industrial, social, moral, educational and physical condition of women and child workers in the United States. A little over three years later a partial report was submitted and ordered to be printed, together with any additions which might be made. During 1911 the first volume of this report was gotten out and the remaining volumes are appearing at stated intervals, volume 16 just having been delivered by the public printer. The last volume mentioned contains a comparison of the price of the diet of twenty cotton mill families as against the price of the diet in the Atlanta, Ga., prison. Only nine of these tests show that the food expenditures reach the standard, or excede that of the prison dietary, while eleven were lower. As this report is a stinging indictment against conditions prevailing in the southern cotton mills, Senator Overman of North Carolina became exercised and severly criticized the Bureau of Labor's report. He took emphatic issue in the matter of comparison of the bills of fare of the mill men of North Carolina and Georgia with the menus of the prisoners in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. It can be said, however, that the Bureau of Labor, in making this investigation has fortified itself with abundant facts to substantiate its public report. An effort was to be attempted to have a Senate committee make an investigation with the probable end in view of discrediting the Bureau of Labor's report. However, the officials of the Bureau of Labor state that they are ready to substantiate every statement made in the report and welcome a thorough and honest investigation of the report and stoutly maintain that every statement given publicity will be backed by positive proof. This report will be of inestimable value in bringing to the attention of the public the terrible conditions which exist in the cotton mills, not only in the south, but in the New England States. Aside from the low wages paid by these mills, it is shown that abnormally long hours are worked even by children of tender ages.

ANTHRACITE COAL MINERS

Washington.—A committee, headed by President John P. White of the United Mine Workers, has just met representatives of the hard coal operators in New York. No definite information is available as to what transpired in the conference, aside from the presenting of coal miners' demands. It is learned, however, that the conference has been postponed until the week of March 4-9. From expressions of opinion given out there is some confidence displayed that the controversy will be amicably settled, although other reports are to the effect that the anthracite coal operators will not recede from the position which they have taken thus far to have the present conditions continued in the future.

TO PROTECT LABELS

Washington.—Congressman Maher, one of the labor group, has introduced a bill, H. R. 20429, to protect the labels and other emblems of labor organizations in the District of Columbia and the territories. It provides for the filing of two counterparts of fac-similies with the librarian of Congress, and any certificate of such record shall in all suits and prosecutions be sufficient proof of the adoption of such label. The penalties provided for violation is a fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment not exceeding twelve months, or bothe. It is further provided that the defendant, if found guilty, shall be required to pay to the complaining association or union all profits derived from wrongful manufacture, use, display or sale of labels not duly authorized.

RAILROAD WRECKS

Washington.—Recently six men were killed and seven injured when a locomotive, hauling an ore train at Bingham, Utah, left the track and rolled down hill. Three passengers were injured when a passenger train on the Cortland branch of the Lehigh Valley leaped over a thirty-foot embankment at Chittenango Falls, N. Y. In a head-on collision between an east bound freight and a west bound passenger train on the Baltimore & Ohio, near Rockwood, Pa., twenty-four people were injured, three seriously. Three people were killed and sixty-seven injured recently when the Pennsylvania limited No. 8, east bound, jumped the track at Warrior's Ridge, Pa., and nine of the eleven cars rolled down an embankment to the edge of the Juniata river. Three trainmen were recently injured in a wreck of the rigger train on the Western Maryland Railway at Seymour, Ind.

THE "ROUGH NECK."

(Written by Carl Sanberg in The Coming Nation, in answer to a statement that "The rough-necks and the plug-uglies must be purged from the unions if the unions are to endure.)

Now to the Casual Observer having a slight clutch on What Everybody Knows it is regarded as a Cinch that when the unions have purged from their membership all the Rough-necks, the strength of the unions will represent just about the comparative Power of a Whisper in a boiler shop.

Suppose, however, we take a typical Instance of the Rough-neck. Suppose we take the Ironworker, just as a Sample if you will be so good.

Everybody is interested in the Ironworker now because two men of the name of McNamara were ironworkers.

Looking at him through the Lens of Hard Fact, we find that he climbs High Buildings and stands where he Gazes down into Dizzy Space. Sometimes his feet give him the Slip. And the result is that his Rough neck is broken on the Ground Below.

Women and children then sometimes stand over the Black Box in which the Rough-neck is buried and hold handkerchiefs over their eyes and say, "God, he was good to us!" None of the comforters, professional or Semi-pro can satisfy them that it is just as well the Rough-neck is Dead.

The Ironworker goes out in all the assorted Kinds of Weather kept by the Government Bureau. He has to crawl around and squeeze and twist so much at his Job that he can't carry an umbrella to Keep the Sun off his neck in July. And in January, he is also Up Against it because the Winds of Winter, sometimes cutting like a knife, blow on his neck. Thus, it is seen that his Neck is Rough both in summer and winter and from Varying Causes.

This is the Rational Explanation of why the necks of some workingmen are Rough. They Make Connection with the Pay Envelope and Keep the Wife and Kiddies going only by getting out where the sun and wind play on their Necks and make them Rough.

Of course, the proprietors of Beauty Shops on the Avenue have long exploited the theory that Cold Cream and Cosmetics reduce Roughness of the skin. Yet the sheer, glittering fact stands forth that the Ironworker has ever repulsed the Theory.

Coming down to Exhibit X, the question is handled, "What is the Rough-neck good for?" And the answer is: Railroads, bridges, ships, houses and shops—the Rough-neck with his hands has made them. He can stand on the Rim of a Skyscraper and say, "Without the work of my hands, Civilization would be only a howling wilderness, By God."

Therefore, it is repeated that he who uses the term of Rough-neck as an epithet of derision is In Wrong. He must be Put in a Class with the Bonehead and the Ignorant Stiff.

Somewhere in the Schedule of History is a year when there will be statutes in the Public Square and Poems in the Public Library paying Tributes to the Rough-neck as a Game Sport who Did the Work but didn't know How to Collect for it.

They tell us there are fifty-seven kinds of Socialism. Well, there is only one kind of Capitalist—the kind that skins the working class.

On election day they will carry you to the polls in an automobile; the day after, they will run over you with the same machine.

Socialist Party Platform

Adopted by National Convention, May, 1908, by Membership Referendum, August 8th, 1908, Amended by Referendum, September 7th, 1909.

PRINCIPLES.

Human life depends upon food, clothing and shelter. Only with these assured are freedom, culture and higher human development possible. To produce food, clothing or shelter, land and machinery are needed. Land alone does not satisfy human needs. Human labor creates machinery and applies it to the land for the production of raw materials and food. Whoever has control of land and machinery controls human labor, and with it human life and liberty.

Today the machinery and the land used for industrial purposes are owned by a rapidly decreasing minority. So long as machinery is simple and easily handled by one man, its owner cannot dominate the sources of life of others. But when machinery becomes more complex and expensive, and requires for its effective operation the organized effort of many workers, its influence over wide circles of life. The owners of such machinery become the dominant class.

In proportion as the number of such machine owners compared to all other classes decreases, their power in the nation and in the world increases. They bring ever larger masses of working people under their control, reducing them to the point where muscle and brain are their only productive property. Millions of formerly self-employing workers thus become the helpless wage slaves of the industrial masters.

As the economic power of the ruling class grows it becomes less useful in the life of the nation. All the useful work of the nation falls upon the shoulders of the class whose only property is its manual and mental labor power—the wage worker—or of the class who have but little land and little effective machinery outside of their labor power—the small traders and small farmers. The ruling minority is steadily becoming useless and parasitic.

A bitter struggle over the division of the products of labor is waged between the exploiting propertied classes on the one hand and the exploited propertyless class on the other. In this struggle the wage working class cannot expect adequate relife from any reform of the present order at the hands of the dominant class.

The wage workers are therefore the most determined and irreconcilable antagonists of the ruling class. They suffer most from the curse of class rule. The fact that a few capitalists are permitted to control all the country's industrial resources and social tools for their individual profi, and to make the production of the necessaries of life the object of competitive, private enterprise and speculation is at the bottom of all the social evils of our time.

In spite of the organization of trusts, pools and combinations, the capitalists are powerless to regulate production for social ends. Industries are largely conducted in a planless manner. Through periods of feverish activity the strength and health of the workers are mercilessly used up, and during periods of enforced idleness the workers are frequently reduced to starvation.

The climaxes of this system of production are the regularly recurring industrial depressions and crises which paralyse the nation every fifteen or twenty years.

The capitalist class, in its mad race for profits, is bound to exploit the workers to the very limit of their endurance and to sacrifice their physical, moral and mental welfare to its own insatiable greed. Capitalism keeps the masses of workingmen in poverty, destitution, physical exhaustion and ignorance.

It drags their wives from their homes to the mill and factory. It snatches their children from the playgrounds and schools and grinds their slender bodies and unformed minds into cold dollars. It disfigures, maims and kills hundreds of thousands of workingmen annually in mines, on railroads and in factories. It drives millions of workers into the ranks of the unemployed and forces large numbers of them into beggary, vagrancy and all forms of crime and vice.

To maintain their rule over their fellow men, the capitalists must keep in their pay all organs of the public powers, public mind and public conscience. They control the dominant parties and, through them, the elected public officials. They select the executives, bribe the Legislatures and corrupt the courts of justice. They own and censor the press. They dominate the educational institutions. They own the nation politically and intellectually as they own it industrially.

The struggle between wage workers and capitalists grows ever fiercer, and has now become the only vital issue before the American people. The wage working class, therefore, has the most direct interest in abolishing the capitalist system. But in abolishing the present system, the workingmen will free not only their own class, but also all other classes of modern society. The small farmer, who is today exploited by large capital more indirectly but not less effectively than is the wage laborer; the small manufacturer and trader, who is engaged in a desperate and losing struggle for economic independence in the face of the all-conquering power of concentrated capital; and even the capitalist himself, who is the slave of his wealth raher than its master. The struggle of the working class against the capitalist class, while it is a class struggle, is thus at the same time a struggle for the abolition of all classes and class privileges.

The private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation, is the rock upon which class rule is built; political government is its indispensible instrument. The wage-workers cannot be freed from exploitation without conquering the political power and substituting collective for private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation.

The basis for such transformation is rapidly developing with present capitalist society. The factory system, with its complex machinery and minute division of labor, is rapidly destroying all vestiges of individual production in manufacture. Modern production is already very largely a collective and social process. The great trusts and monopolies which have sprung up in recent years have organized the work and management of the principal industries on a national scale, and have fitted them for collective use and operation.

There can be no absolute private title to land. All private titles, whether called fee simple or otherwise, are and must be subordinate to the public title. The Socialist Party strives to prevent land from being used for the purpose of exploitation and speculation. It demands the collective possession, control or management of land by those using it in a useful and bona fide manner without exploitation.

The Socialist Party is primarily an economic and political movement. It is not concerned with matters of religious belief.

In the struggle for freedom the interests of all modern workers are identical. The struggle is not only national but international. It embraces the world and will be carried to ultimate victory by the united workers of the world.

To unite the workers of the nation and their allies and sympathisers of all other classes to this end, is the mission of the Socialist Party. In this battle for freedom the Socialist Party does not strive to substitute working class rule for capitalist class rule, but by working class victory, to free all humanity from class rule and to realise the international brotherhood of man.

PROGRAM.

As measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

General Demands.

1. The immediate government relief for the unemployed workers by building schools, by reforesting of cut-over and waste lands, by reclamation of arid tracts, and the building of canals, and by extending all other useful public work. All persons employed on such works shall be employed directly by the government under an eight-hour work day and at the prevailing union wages. The government shall loan money to States and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works. It shall contribute to the funds of labor organizations for the purpose of assisting their unemployed members, and shall take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

2. The collective ownership of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, steamboat lines and all other means of social transportation and communication.

3. The collective ownership of all industries which are organized on a national scale and in which competition has virtually ceased to exist.

4. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

5. The scientific reforestation of timber lands, and the reclamation of swamp lands. The land so reforested or reclaimed to be permanently retained as a part of the public domain.

6. The absolute freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

Industrial Demands.

7. The improvement of the industrial condition of the workers.

(a) By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

(b) By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

(c) By securing a more effective inspection of workshops and factories.

(d) By forbidding the employment of children under sixteen years of age.

(e) By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor, of convict labor and of all uninspected factories.

(f) By abolishing official charity and substituting in its place compulsory insurance against unemployment, illness, accidents, invalidism, old age and death.

Political Demands.

8. The extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the amount of the bequests and to the nearness of kin.

9. A graduated income tax.

10. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women, and we pledge ourselves to engage in an active campaign in that direction.

11. The initiative and referendum, proportional representation and the right of recall.

12. The abolition of the Senate.

13. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United tSates to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by gress or by a referendum of the whole people.

14. That the Constitution be made amendable by majority vote.

15. The enactment of further measures for general education and for the conservation of health. The bureau of education to be made a department. The creation of a department of public health.

16. The separation of the present bureau of labor from the department of commerce and labor, and the establishment of a department of labor.

17. That all judges be elected by the people for short terms, and that the power to issue injunctions shall be curbed by immediate legislation.

18. The free administration of justice.

Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole power of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry and thus come to their rightful inheritance.

OUR WONDERFUL GOVERNMENT.

When I was a Washington correspondent some years ago, there fell under my observation of the shifting show, two facts about government by a political machine that seemed to me fairly illuminating. The first was that while it was one of the dullest of all human devices it was endowed with extraordinary power to bedevil and frustrate good intentions. The second fact was that judged merely on the basis of efficiency and nothing higher, the machine style of government was a failure. It never got anywhere; it never did anything. As a system of government it was a piece of old punk.—Charles Edward Russell in the March International Socialist Review.

UNITING THE WORLD'S WORKERS.

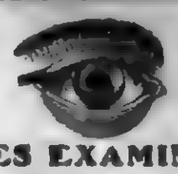
The Lawrence strike is one of the most inspiring struggles the American workers have ever known. Separated by many different languages, customs and religions, the men and women, the boys and girls of Lawrence have joined hands as one man against the common enemy—the woolen companies. There are more languages spoken in the confines of Lawrence than in any other district of its size in the world. But in spite of these barriers, the strike was an almost spontaneous one and 17 races, differing widely in speech and custom, rose in concerted protest.—International Socialist Review for March.

USE THE RED TICKET.

The Socialist has distributed thousands of red tickets to our readers and has more to be given out. When you buy anything from a dealer who advertises in this paper, hand him the red ticket. He will understand it. The time has come when the purchasing power of the working class must be used to boost its own paper. Get busy with the red tickets.

The government is anxious to convict as many leaders of labor as possible before the presidential campaign gets in full swing. But the political charlatans are not wise to the fact that the rank and file are no longer lead by leaders, and should some of them go to jail, the organizations will grow more radical and become more progressive, arriving at the understanding that all power is obtained through political action, to which action they will be forced by the merciless persecution of the capitalists.

The New York Sun has branded Theodore Roosevelt as a "drunkard, lunatic and criminal." The New York Sun should know what it is talking about.—Miner's Magazine.



GROWING SOLIDARITY OF SOCIALIST PARTY

Perhaps the most significant move in the direction toward Socialism is the pensioning of the unemployed, a radical Socialist measure, gradually making its way throughout Europe and already in full working force notably in certain cities of Belgium and France. Half of the fund is supplied by the workmen, half by the municipality. In France even the national chamber has voted subventions to the fund.

With their rapid growth all over the world the Socialist parties have manifested a marked tendency to heal the breaches between the various factions in their ranks, which differ on certain points of theory. Even where they still cling to their particular theoretical tenets, they find it easy to unite in practice. The American and German parties have been comparatively free from dissensions. The French parties, with the exception of the Independent Socialists, united in 1903; but the combined forces still have to contend against the Syndicalists, who believe in direct action rather than political action. In England there has been a wide gap between the Social Democratic Federation, the extreme Marxian wing, and the Independent Labor party, which so far has supplied the chief Socialist strength and is closely affiliated with the trades union bodies. An attempt at reorganization, however, is being made. The federation, part of the Independent Labor party and several independent groups, such as that under the leadership of Grayson and the Clarion Scouts, have united under the name of the British Socialist party. Since the Independent Labor party, spurred on by the growing unrest among the British laborers, is tending more and more toward the left, and since the federation has signified its desire to surrender its impossible policy by merging in the British Socialist party, the day when England will have one united Socialist party does not seem remote. As for the Fabians, they will probably continue to do valiant service for Socialism by attracting attention with their brilliant sallies, but they will never stoop to so prosaic a procedure, which utterly lacks originality and has become vulgarly common, as to join a regular Socialist party. In Canada, also, where the Socialist party showed increased strength in the last election, its two wings, the Eastern and the Western, have just united into one solid body.

Turning to Southern Europe we see in the new little republic of Portugal, and in Spain, with its revolutionary and industrial struggles, the Socialist parties stirred to new activity. In Switzerland, Socialism has a national representation of nine with a vote entitling it to about three times the number. The Italian party is at present torn by various factions. It is confronted, moreover, by a Syndicalist movement as strong as that of France and mared by the same distrust of parliamentary methods, the same strong leanings toward the general strike and direct action. In the extreme East we see the Socialist of Greece, the Balkan States and Turkey preparing to hold a united congress in Constantinople for the purpose of presenting a solid front against any attempt upon the integrity of Turkey.

Even in the Far East, on the continent of Asia, in India, China and Japan, Socialism os raising its head threateningly. The Japanese party, strictly Marxian in its tenets, has had a severe tussle with the authorities since its organization in 1901. Recently the Mikado's Government crowned it with martyrdom by executing some of its leaders.—From "The Growth of Socialism," by Thomas Seltser, in the American Review of Reviews for March.

to secure subs for the paper. A resolution was passed instructing Comrade Wilson to introduce into Council an ordinance to have the City Council go on record as endorsing and to sanction unionism among all city employes. Comrade Wilson made a report of business transacted in Council last meeting. The meeting of Comrade Elizabeth Gurley Flynn to be held next Tuesday evening, March 12, at Federation Hall was indorsed and Comrade Kinnear of the Third Ward was elected as chairman. The literature agent was instructed to have on hand 100 copies of the March Review and 500 copies of Industrial Socialism. The 10th Ward endorsed the Municipal Hospital as a much needed and long neglected necessity, especially for the working class. Some time after the Haywood lecture the 10th Ward has a movement on foot to secure the Franklin Theater and present if possible some interesting films showing the class struggle.

Comrade Eby will speak at the Tenth Ward Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Comrades, don't forget the Flynn meeting as all who have heard Comrade Flynn can testify as to her ability. All together, on to victory.

STOP IN AND SEE VAN.

Comrade O. G. Van Schoyck has purchased the news and cigar stand at the southwest corner of High and Rich streets. If you desire newspapers, magazines or tobacco in any form, drop in and see Van. He will have a full line of radical literature all the time.

The Ology 5c "cigar," UNION MADE, is made by UNION MEN, in a perfectly sanitary factory. We earnestly ask you, on your next smoke to try it.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT.

Whereas, The Supreme Ruler of the Universe has in His infinite wisdom saw fit to remove suddenly from our midst Comrade Samuel Knapp and the First Ward Branch of the Socialist Party lost a true and faithful member, the community lost an honorable and upright citizen and the family lost a kind husband and father, therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved family of our departed Comrade our heartfelt sympathy, pledging them our assistance in every way possible. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the pages of our record, a copy be presented to the bereaved family, a copy be published in The Columbus Socialist and our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days.

COUNCIL IS DOMINATED BY BUSINESS INTERESTS

Big Real Estate Owners who Own Bawdy House Escape Publicity. Karb's Bad Boy Eichorn Called Despite Dave Logan's Grouch.

Dave Logan, President of the City Council, doesn't like the newspapers. By that he means some newspapers. When Socialist Councilman Wilson's resolution to investigate the reasons why Eichorn was named by Mayor Karb as superintendent of the electric light plant, was under discussion Councilman Zimpfer stated that the people were complaining about the light plant, President Logan blurted out:

"Do you think they all know what they are talking about? If the newspapers would keep out of this, things would go along all right."

The resolution was adopted.

Another resolution was also passed requiring Eichorn to take an examination before a commission of electrical engineers. The votes on the propositions were as follows:

The vote on the examination resolution was: Yes—Alcott, Baldridge, Bohnert, Connolley, Ellis, Griffin, Hayden, Nailor, Reinhard, Sherman, Stribling, Warren, Wilson, Zimpfer—14. No—Barry, Biederman, Lucks, Wegman—4.

Councilman Bohnert's ordinance providing that all buildings used for immoral purposes must be placarded with the names of the owners thereof provoked a discussion in which some members tried to be funny. They were only flippant and coarse. It was evident that property owners were much concerned about their rental and had enough support in council to defeat the measure by the following vote: Yeas—Alcott, Bohnert, Nailor, Reinhard, Sherman, Stribling, Warren, Wilson, Zimpfer—9. Nays—Baldridge, Barry, Biederman, Connolley, Ellis, Griffin, Hayden, Lucks, McGuire, Wegman—10.

Every Socialist voted for the ordinance.

The bond issue of $10,000 to provide for more efficient meat inspection passed with only one dissenting vote, that of Biederman.

Councilman Wilson's ordinance to prohibit discrimination against city employes who belong to labor unions, passed second reading and went to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Councilman Zimpfer's ordinance to prevent automobiles and motorcycles from endangering the lives of people getting on and off street cars passed second reading.

Councilman Bohnert's ordinance to compel the labelling of "homegenized" cream which is made from old butter whipped back into skim milk and used for making ice cream and such products passed second reading.

Councilman Warren introduced a resolution to take up the proposition to build a municipal slaughter house so as to insure the proper inspection of meats.

DO IT AGAIN

The Comrades did well in their round up of subscribers for The Socialist last Sunday under all circumstances. Another call is hereby issued for a similar raid tomorrow (Sunday) Morning. If every loyal Socialist will get on firing line thfre will be no question as to the results. DO IT AGAIN.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENT'N

Women's Suffrage, another of the important questions before the Convention, has been disposed of by a vote of 76 to 34, the Convention having decided upon a separate submission of it to a vote of the electors in the same manner as the question of Liquor License.

The Short Ballot, the next on the calendar will probably pass by even a larger majority.

The Labor Committee has finally agreed upon, a compensation amendment, and Proposal No. 24 was reported to the Convention Monday evening amended to read as follows:

"Section 35. For the purpose of providing compensation from a state fund, to workmen and their dependents, for death, injuries or occupational diseases, occasioned in the course of such workmen's employment, laws may be passed establishing a fund to be created and administered by the state and by compulsory contribution thereto by employers; determining the terms and conditions upon which payment shall be made therefrom and taking away any or all rights of action or defences from employes and employers, but no right of action shall be taken away from any employe when the injury, disease or death arises from failure of the employer to comply with any lawful requirement for the protection of the lives, health and safety of employes. Laws may be passed establishing a board which may be empowered to classify all occupations, according to their degree of hazard; fix rates of contribution to such funds according to the general rule of classification and to collect, administer and distribute such funds and to determine all rights of claimants thereto."

An interesting discussion on the question of abolishing the Governor's veto took place during the week on the report of the Legislative Committee on the adoption of Proposal No. 213, modifying the veto so that the Legislature will have the right to pass legislation over the Governor's veto by a three-fifths instead of a two-thirds vote. Delegates Thomas, of Cuyahoga, and Hursh, of Hardin counties submitted a minority report to abolish the veto power altogether. The matter will come up for passage about the latter part of this week. There is a big sentiment in favor of the minority report.

As stated last week, the I. and R. Proposal No. 2, by Mr. Crosser, a copy of which has been mailed to every union in the state, has been agreed to by a majority of the I. and R. Committee and was reported to the Convention Monday evening along with the minority report. It is the biggest subject before the Convention, and will probably occupy two weeks or more in debate before being voted upon. The I. and R. advocates are predicting that the proposal as agreed to by the majority of the committee will get at least sixty-five votes. Every union and every union member in the state should write letters or send telegrams to their delegates urging them to vote for the majority report on Proposal No. 2.

Other proposals that have been reported out by committees and that are on the calendar for passage are:

Proposal No. 51—Relating to permitting public property being insured in mutual associations and companies.

Proposal No. 184—Changing the Circuit Court to a Court of Appeals and conferring powers of final jurisdiction on it in the majority of cases to come before it.

Proposal No. 93—Relating to the protection of banks and other deposits.

Among the proposals submitted during the week, the following are of interest to labor:

No. 289—Relating to establishing Courts of Arbitration.

No. 291—On the recall of public officers.

No. 297—Relating to text-books in the public and denominational schools.

No. 298—To prohibit the contracting of convict labor.

No. 99—Relating to exempting homesteads from taxation.

The Liquor License and Woman Suffrage Proposals, as agreed to by the Convention, have been published in full in most of the daily papers in the state, and our unions and central bodies should immediately take up a discussion of these important subjects, find out the sentiment of our membership on these matters that we may be ready to vote on same when the time comes. There is some talk of making some slight changes in the Liquor License Proposal when it comes up for third reading, but the general sentiment of the Convention seems to be to "Let well enough alone."

The Ohio Manufacturers have finally mustered up courage enough to appeal the Womans' 9-hour-law to the United States Supreme Court, claiming that the law is an abridgement of the free right of contract guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment. Louis D. Brandeis, representing the Consumers' League and the Ohio State Federation of Labor, will aid the Attorney General in defending the law.

The Convention has finally reached the conclusion that four days' work shall constitute a week. Sessions will commense as usual Mondays at 7:00 p. m. The hours of meeting Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays will be from 1 to 5:30 p. m., Fridays 10:30 a. m. until adjournment. This change in the hours of meeting will greatly aid the committees in completing their work. President Bigelow sugested in discussing these changes, that we ought to get through within thirty days, but it does not lok to me as if we shall adjourn before May 1.

LEGISLATIVE SECRETARY.

Comrade A. C. Eby will speak at Chillicothe tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon under the auspices of Local Chillicothe Socialist Party.

WORKING CLASS PEOPLE PRODUCE LAAOR PLAY

Delight Crowded House at the Hartman Theatre but Ignored by Local Daily Papers.

An audience that filled the Hartman Theatre on Thursday evening of last week was delighted with the presentation of "Under the Lash," by the Socialist Dramatic Club. The assembly, of course, was in sympathy with the lesson of the play and applauded the players whenever a point was made against capitalism. There were a number of people present who could hardly believe that the play, which was presented without a hitch or a balk, and with ability that brought out humor and pathos, was enacted entirely by working men and women, bakers, barbers, carpenters, wood workers, shoe factory employes and the like. We have no desire to single out any particular members of the caste for praise or criticism. It can be said, however, that the presentation of "Under the Lash" was a splendid illustration of working class talent and showed that toilers are not lacking in capacity for culture of the highest sort. The play was a magnificent success financially and otherwise, the audience that heard was composed of well dressed people who seemed to be unabashed by the brilliant theatre, but not a daily paper in Columbus said a word about it. If the affair had been a charity ball attended by the idle rich, columns would have been devoted. The cast of the play follows:

ENGLISH MINERS STAND UNSHAKEN.

Political Influence Impotent to Bring Them Back Without Concessions.

London, March 13.—The London County Council has made a move to economize in the use of coal during the present strike. It has decided to curtail the municipal street car service, beginning tomorow, in the hope of arousing antagonism to the strikers. In order to reduce the inconvenience caused by this order would-be passengers will be allowed to stand on corners while waiting for a car. Ordinarily this is not allowed—an exceedingly great concession.

Notwithstanding the general opinion that Ramsey MacDonald, the leader of the Labor Party in the House of Commons, was co-operating with Premier Asquith in an effort to bring about a settlement of the strike, the former roundly scored the Prime Minister in a speech at Radcliffe, in Lancashire, today. He asserted that the present deadlock was due to what he characterized as the foolish bungling of Mr. Asquith.

At present the whole million of mine strikers are standing firm. Their idleness has caused a cessation in various establishments, and it is estimated that 750,000 other workers are now participants in the struggle.

The Postmaster General announces that there will be delay in forwarding domestic mails owing to the suspension of services by many railroads.

SUGAR GROVE IN TURMOIL.

The Officers Elected by the People Now Face an Injunction.

On Tuesday, March 4th, 1912, the day following the vaudeville performance at Sugar Grove, Ohio, with the ex-Mayor and ex-Marshal of the village playing the part of the villains and others as the persecuted there was filed in the Common Pleas Court of Fairfield County a suit praying for an injunction against the newly elected Mayor, William K. Miller, enjoining him from assuming the office of Mayor of said village and drawing the munificent salary of $30 per year.

Village Solicitor W. C. Bates, in behalf of the village, has filed a motion in that case praying the court to require sufficient sureties on the bond for injunction. This motion will be up for hearing on Monday, March 18th. Suit was also filed by Attorney Bates against the ex-Mayor (Snyder) for $5,000 damages for the assault upon him on Monday night, March 4th, while in the lawful and peaceable performance of his duties as Solicitor for said village. Comrade Bates will speak in the Socialists' Hall at Sugar Grove on Monday night, March 18th, after the regular Council meeting, which will adjourn early to attend the meeting. Subject, "Government of Monstrosity Village."

KARB'S KISSING STUNT.

The Mayor Makes New Record For Local Administration.

Mayor Karb made a spectacle of himself at the automobile show last week by kissing five women who were seated at a table. At the same time he has caused several Socialists to receive positive declarations from their respective wives. Here is a sample: "Just listen, old boy. It's all right for you to be a Socialist but you had better not ever be Mayor for this kissing business doesn't go. See."

The good women should know that is no part of the Mayor's duties to kiss anybody.

GUARD FLESHER FIRED.

Warden Jones at Last Disposes of The Prison Terror.

Penitentiary Guard Mike Flesher, whose brutal actions towards helpless convicts has been noted from time to time in The Columbus Socialist, has been fired from his job by Warden Jones. How such a fiend as Mike held on so long is a wonder. There seems to be a limit even at the pen, however, and with the exposures made by The Socialist the administration could not stand it any longer.

HAYWOOD COMMITTEE.

The Haywood Committee will meet next Monday night at Red Lion Hall.

BOOSTER COMMITTEE.

The Columbus Socialist Booster Committee will meet tomorow (Sunday) at 9:30 a. m. in Room 9, 106½ South High street. Every member should be present.

POLITICIANS PARALYZED BY STRIKE CHILDREN

Congressmen Worried by Disclosures Made in Lawrence Probe. Gompers and Golden use their Usual Tactics

TEXTILE STRIKE MAY BE WON BY TODAY

Lawrence, Mass., March 13.—Further steps designed to bring about an immediate ending of the textile strike were taken tonight. For the first time since the riotous demonstrations of the early stages of the strike a permit was granted for an open-air mass meeting tomorrow of the strikers. It seemed likely tonight that the meeting would result in a vote to return to work.

The proposition of the American Woolen Company, which provides for an increase ranging from 5 to 25 per cent, time and a quarter pay for overtime work and a readjustment of the premium scale, was approved by the strike committee today.

(By National Socialist Press.)

Washington, D. C.—Big, bold politics was—and is still being—played by the bi-partisan machine in the matter of the Lawrence strike and the proposed investigation of the American Woolen Company by the House of Representatives. Democrats and Republicans alike, smothered under a mass of evidence introduced by Victor L. Berger, the Socialist Congressman, are now trying to turn the investigation over to the Labor Committee, which is made up mostly of Gompers' Democrats.

On Monday, Chairman Henry, of the Rules Committee, brought in a special rule to gag Berger. This rule provided that only members of the committee should question the witnesses. But despite all this trickery and plottings the country knows that a Socialist forced the hand of Congress. No matter what Congress may now do in the Lawrence situation Berger has succeeded in exposing the conditions under which men, women and little children toil—exposed them probably better than a Congressional investigation would succeed in doing.

The second day's hearing showed that the Rules Committee was sorry it ever took up the Lawrence matter. But it was too late. It was in it and couldn't back out.

Gompers spoke at length defending the conduct of Golden and the Federation in standing by the craft form of organization. He also made a bitter attack on the Industrial Workers of the World. He urged an investigation, but by the Labor Committee, of which Wilson, Gompers' lieutenant, is chairman. Berger took the stand to reply to Gompers and said:

"This is not a convention of the American Federation of Labor. This is no place for us to argue over differences in the labor movement. But I believe Golden's attempt to justify here the brutal acts of the Lawrence police is contemptible."

Some of the committee objected to Berger's characterization of Golden, but he insisted that it go in the record.

Berger declared that he is opposed to an investigation of the strike by a committee dominated by Gompers and his friends.

"These children," declared the Socialist Congressman, pointing to the little mill workers, "have been robbed of their youth and have been mercilessly exploited. I shall stand by them to the last drop of my blood."

Gompers tried to get the committee to take some action in regard to Berger's charge that he controlled the Labor Committee but the committee was afraid to handle this matter further.

Every one of the thirteen little child slaves took the stand and in their simple way told a story that will last forever as one of the strongest indictments of capitalism. They told of their miserable wages, long hours, uncomfortable homes and their uninteresting life. Their little bodies huddled up in the witness chair with their pinched faces appealing to the committee for aid presented a scene never equalled in Congress.

Samuel Goldberg, a sixteen-year-old boy, was the first witness. He told the committee that he went to work at 6:35 a. m. and quit work at 6:30 p. m. When he has work, which is not regular, he gets $6.10 a week. The company, he said, deducts 5 cents a week from every worker for drinking water.

"They say it's spring water, but it ain't," said little Sammy.

"Are you one of the strikers?" asked Henry.

"I am," proudly answered Sammy.

Asked by the committee whether he saw any police brutality, Sammy said that he saw women leaving the depot after the clubbing with their faces bleeding.

The third witness was Auguste Wante, a French boy. He said that he worked without his shoes on as it was very hot in the mill where he worked. "They don't open the windows," he said. "The machines are worked up to a great speed and I got to keep working quicker and quicker. My toes are all hurt running up against the tracks. If you don't run fast enough, the foreman scolds."

William Hildebrandt, a German boy, told the committee that his father works as a janitor in a Lawrence school. Immediately Louis Cox, the representative of the mill owners, got Campbell to ask the boy the name of the school. Little Hildebrandt gave the name. Cox no doubt intends to use the influence of the senior Hildebrandt's superiors to drive the boy back to work.

A Lithuanian boy was the next witness. John Boldelar was his name. He said that he was 14 years old, and that he worked alongside of his father in the mill and that he made more money than his father. The boy made $5.40 and his father $5.10 a week.

"When did your father come to this country?" asked Hardwick.

"The same time I did," replied the fourteen-year-old proletarian.

Asked by Campbell whether he likes America better than he does Lithuania, little Boldelar sighed: "I wish I was back in Lithuania." Boldelar described to the committee the humble home at Lawrence. "We have three rooms, one stove, no carpets, horses live better than we do."

"What have you to eat?" asked Wilson, of Illinois.

"We eat black bread, coffee, molasses and sometimes beans and meat once a week—on Sunday."

The little child slave's eyes filled with tears as he left the stand.

William Murphy followed on the stand. He is 14 years of age. He told the same sad story—toil and sorrow. Peter Studies, another 14 year old boy, said that he supported his mother and a little sister on his $5.10 a week.

Following their testimony came Victoria Wennaryzk, a 14 year old Polish girl.

"I work hard, run around all day, and sweat all the time, and when I come home I am so tired I go right to bed," she said in a low, pitiful voice. The committee members dared not meet the eyes of the little victim of the economic system they defend.

Camella Teola, another 14 year old girl, testified that two years ago a man induced her father to send her to the mill. This man got a certificate that she was 14 years of age for the sum of $4.

"One day the machine caught in my hair and tore off my scalp," said the little child. "I was in the hospital seven months. I still go to doctors. But the company only paid my hospital expenses—did not even pay the wages I lost."

Rev. Clark Carter was probably the most pitiful apologist of capitalism who ever took the stand for his master's defense. Admitting that his salary was paid by the millowners, Carter blandly asserted that children of fourteen years ought to be employed in factories. "Idleness is a curse," he declared. "The children enjoy their work in the mills. They are treated right."

After stating that the Lawrence working people were accustomed to their poverty and that they really did not want butter and better things in the way of food, Foster, of Illinois, made this tart comment:

"From the evidence here I would think that there are two luxuries among the mill workers in Lawrence—one, molasses and on bread and another cold water."

THAT HORRIBLE HALO

And on March 5th, 1912, in the City of Washington, before the meeting of the twelfth annual congress of the National Civic Federation, behold, it came to pass that the great high priest, Cardinal Gibbons, lifted up his voice and spake unto them, saying:

"Men and brethren, verily I say unto you that capital and labor are the invincible arms of industry and should work together for the common good. And, moreover, brethren, know ye not that a halo has been shed around the head of the workman ever since Christ handled the tools of an artisan in the carpenter's shop at Nazareth? Surely, the calling of a mechanic hath been dignified, ennobled and sanctified by the example of Christ."

And as he spake these words unto them, the scribes and Pharisees heard him gladly, being unashamed, for they knew not that they were naked, and that their righteousness was even as filthy rags.

For on the same day, March 5, in the same City of Washington, not far off from where the high priest had cast the halo over head of the workman, at the investigation of the strike in Lawrence, one Simon Knebel arose and testified.

"They (the police) tore the children from their parents. There was screaming—the most unearthly shrieking that any human being ever heard. I saw one policeman draw his club and strike a pregnant woman across the abdomen. Children at the breast were locked up in cells. A woman who had a baby two weeks before was locked up. The children were given no food. It was the same jail in which thieves and cutthroats were confined. The women and children were clubbed at the station. Just as we entered the door the police began their bloody work. I could not see women and children brutally handled that way, and I didn't care whether I was murdered or not. I was arrested and fined $10 for obstructing the sidewalk."

And one Margaret Sanger, a trained nurse, testified:

That the children taken from the city were emaciated and suffering from malnutrition and from enlarged tonsils and adenoids. That of the 119 children brought to New York from Lawrence, but four had any underwear, though the weather was bitter cold. That about twenty had overcoats. That she had seen the children of workers in other industries and in the slums of New York, but had never found children who were so uniformly ill-nourished, ill-fed, and ill-clothed. That there was not a stitch of wool on their bodies. (Lawrence is the greatest wool manufacturing center on earth.) That when they were given supper in New York they grabbed the meat from the table with a voracity that drew tears from the eyes of the spectators.

And Josephine Liss, a woman of small stature, who had been hauled before the judge for assaulting one of the soldiers with a deadly weapon, to-wit, a muff, testified:

"I saw one woman clubbed right down in the mud and many men with their heads broken and bloody."

And Jane Bock, on oath, declared that she was sent to take charge of children and saw policemen deliberately use their clubs on the children in the station.

And other witnesses added their testimony thereto, one and all declaring with one voice the things that had been afore spoken of, and many other matters of the same kind too long to be herein set forth.

But while the great high priest, Cardinal Gibbons, was discoursing eloquently of the halo which encircled the head of the workman, his hearers knew not or cared not that but a short way off a great cloud of witnesses were testifying to the manner and fashion of the halo with which the workmen of Lawrence had been crowned, and of which the high priest had spoken.

That the words of the Scripture might be fulfilled, which were spoken of old time by one Matthew, some nineteen hundred years before.

"And when the soldiers had platted a crown of thorns, they put it upon His head, and a reed in His right hand, and they bowed the knee before Him and mocked Him, saying, Hail to the King.

"And they spit upon Him and took the reed and smote Him upon the head.

They gave Him vinegar to drink, mingled with gall; and when He tasted thereof, He would not drink. And they crucified Him, and parted His garments, casting lots."

For the crucifixion ever reneweth itself afresh ,and behold to this day the laborer still weareth the halo that was platted nineteen hundred years before to encircle the brow of the Workman of Nazareth, and in the judgment of the high priests still, the legacy thus bequeathed, dignifies, ennobles and sanctifies him.

As it was in the beginning, IS NOW, but NEVERMORE SHALL BE, when THE COMING OF SOCIALISM brings the tragedy of the CRUCIFIXION OF LABOR to an end.

IS SOCIALISM OPPOSED TO RELIGION.

By Will R. Shirer.

It is said that Socialism is opposed to religion.

But in what way is Socialism opposed to religion?

"Is there anything in the Socialist Party platform inimical to religion?

Has the International Socialist Congress, or any of its affiliated bodies, ever adopted a resolution aiming to destroy belief in a supreme being, in a future life, in the divinity of Jesus—or in any other religious doctrine?

Has any Socialist in any legislature at any time introduced a bill that sought to demolish the churches or to interfere with any one's religious ideas?

All these questions must be answered unreservedly in the negative.

Then has the Socialist platform nothing whatever to say about religion? No, it has nothing to say about religion, except to say that the Socialist Party is not concerned with it.

It is true that many Socialists are avowed atheists. But it is also true that many Socialists are avowed Christians. Scores of clergymen belong to the Socialist Party.

It is easy to quote attacks upon religion from the speeches and writings of certain eminent Socialists. And our unscrupulous opponents make liberal use of such quotations to discredit the Socialist movement in the eyes of religious people.

But is that a fair method of attack? Is it fair to censure any organization because of the personal opinions of some of its members? And is it fair to dwell on the bitter things they have said while not giving them credit for the many sweet things they have said?

Would it be fair to say that the Democratic Party advocated vegetarianism because many Democrats are vegetarians? Or would it be fair to charge the Republican Party with agnosticism because Robert Ingersoll, an ardent Republican, went up and down the land declaring that he did not know whether there was any God or not?

Certainly not. Well, a Socialist's religious belief, like a Republican's or Democrat's religious belief, has no more to do with his politics than the way he parts his hair.

That this is so may be quickly determined by asking yourself whether religion will not be just as safe under a working-class government as under a government controlled by corporation magnates, whether there is anything in the nature of public ownership to make people irreligious or immoral, and whether labor legislation is likely to upset anyone's religious ideas.

WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

Dedicated to the People in General and M. Phelan, S. J., in Particular.

By W. Edgar Wood, Socialist.

I shall confine myself to the three main pillars on which Socialism rests. So long as the props are firm and substantial, time is wasted on details.

The First Pillar.

The main article of Carl Marx's creed, viz: "All wealth comes from labor is the bedrock, as the Hon. Mr. Phelan has said, of the system. With all due respect to that gentleman, who is there so dense and narrow minded as would say the meaning of the foregoing quotation applies to unskilled labor alone? Labor denotes power. The greatest power is mental, even to the most common of labor, no matter how strong the arm, it must have the directing mental power. Not as individuals must we possess this mental power, but as an entire people.

The Honorable gentleman states that there are three independent forces combining in the production of Arkwright's invention. With all due regard for that gentleman's abundance of gray matter, I would have the temerity to disagree on seven of the number involved. As to its moral qualities as applied:

"The inventive genius of Arkwight—an intellectual force." In the Honorable gentleman's own words, we have it that it is labor. There can be no force without labor.

"The muscle exertion of ten laborers—a physical force." He has used this word laborer in the above quotation so we take it that there are two forces used in the production of Arkwright's invention, and that they are not independent forces, but that they are and always have been, and always will be, combined in every effort of the human body.

As to the courageous enterprise of the capitalist, who floated the Arkwright invention, we question the moral force, when it is applied by a few as it is today.

We agree that capital was necessary to bring this invention into use but the capitalist was not. The postal system is an immense thing, but has no capitalist at the head of it.

Capital is surplus extracted from labor and since labor produces capital it should be considered as a tool of labor. As to the increase in the productive power of the weaving industry, a weaver less than a century ago used a hand loom, with which he was able to weave five or six yards a day. Today, one person handles thirty-two modern weaving machines, that produce over twelve thousand yards per day. In the first half hour he works, he produces more than his day's wages. During the second half hour, he produces enough to pay for his share of the expense of management, wear and tear of the machinery, and building and all other necessary operating expense. Still it is necessary for him to go on producing wealth for another seven or eight hours before, in the opinion of capitalism, he is entitled to his daily bread. Socialist believe that if they are able to make machinery and operate it and at the same time produce enough wealth to maintain the capitalists, and their system, that they are also able to own it in common, as the Postal system, the Navy, and as many other industries are owned. The question to whom does the wealth produced by Arkwight's invention belong, is very easy. It belongs to the men who produced it. The men who produced it was Arkwright and the ten laborers. The question as to who got it is on record. The census reports show that sixty-five per cent of our inventors die paupers. The striking textile workers of Lawrence, Mass., are living examples as to the benefits derived by the workers. The speech of W. H. Taft, before the Boston Merchant's Association, explains what the capitalist got, when he said:

"If the abuses of monopoly and discrimination cannot be restrained, if the concentration of power made possible by such abuses continues and increases, and it is made manifest that under the system of individualism and private property, the tyranny and oppression of an oligarchy of wealth cannot be avoided, then Socialism will triumph and the institution of private property will perish." We ask for no better proof than to have the chief executive of the system admit of these abuses and discriminations. So much for the first example as furnished us by our friend Phelan.

In the second example, as presented by Mr. Phelan, it is only necessary to correct him in his views of labor. It is true that "all wealth comes from labor," and it is also true that this statement does not pertain to a certain kind of labor. When he mentions, "muscle labor of course," he merely side-steps the issue in order to create a false impression. There is no labor without mental direction and who is so pitifully ignorant as to imagine that mental action is not labor.

In Mr. Phelan's "Actions Versus Theories," I have no argument with him. Any one who does not understand what labor is, regardless as to whether it is sweeping the street, carrying the hod, laying brick, drawing the plans of a building, inventing a new machine or anything else, that requires mental and physical action, has not devoted enough time to the subject to give an honest, intelligent definition as to what the theories of Socialism really are.

There is not in any of the three examples, he has furnished us, under the heading of the first pillar, any true argument against Socialism. In the second line, he gives you his opinion of what kind of labor is to be considered. Socialism does not treat of manual or unskilled labor alone. Labor is the combination of mental and physical force.

In the second example, he again barricades himself behind a false statement: "Muscle labor of course." Why cannot he give us an example without also giving us his own particular definition of labor. There is no one on earth today who knows better what labor is than a worker.

As to his "Actions Versus Theories," will say that Socialism does not attack any one who has apparently been able to support himself, with less effort than another. It denotes brains and brains and Socialism are synonomous.

In reference to what Socialism really is, I would advise all those who are interested, to consult the Encyclopedia Britannica, that gives the following definition: "The ethics of Socialism are identical with the ethics of Christianity." This from a recognized authority, the world over. Think it over.

PRISON HATH ITS CHARMS

Arrested some time ago, given a sentence in the city prison and made a trusty at the patrol barn, Thomas Henry, aged 52, became infatuated with the warm place to work and the good meals. The world outside seemed cold and cheerless to him and penniless he came back to the patrol barn and asked Wagonman Remmert if he could get his old work back.

"Not unless you are arrested," said Remmert. The man then asked for arrest and may get his old job back.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS

The National Office is reprinting the article by Allen L. Benson, entitled "The Growing Grocery Bill," which appeared in a recent number of Pearson's Magazine. It is very timely and is a remarkably clear statement of the cause and cure of the high cost of living. It is a Socialist maker. An effort will be made to put a million copies of it into circulation before the November election. Price: For ten thousand copies $30.000; for one thousand copies $4.00; for one hundred copies 50c; for single copy 5c. The National Office prepays the transportation charges.

By a recent referendum in Pennsylvania, the following have been elected members of the National Committee; Con F. Foley, 217 W. Market Street, Pottsville; Gertrude Breslau Hunt, care of "Justice," 419 Brushton Avenue, Pittsburg; Charles A. Maurer, 248 North 11th Street, Reading; John R. McKeown, South Sharon, and William Parker, 19 North Jared Street, DuBois. Thomas F. Kennedy, 725 Frederick Street, McKees Rocks, was re-elected to the same position.

GENERAL.

Membership of the Socialist Party, based on the dues received at national headquarters in Chicago, was 121,361 in January and rose to 123,034 in February. Going up!

In the election at Muscatine, Iowa, Monday, the Socialists were unable to defeat the combined old parties, whose candidate for Mayor received 2,339 votes to 1,6155 for the Socialist nominee, a gain of 516 votes in face of the fact that hundreds of striking button workers who had joined the S. P. had been driven out of town. The Socialists elected another Alderman, making two seats they now control.

In the Seattle city election the Socialist candidate for Corporation Counsel polled 24,000 votes and was narrowly defeated. In the first ballot last week the S. P. candidate for Mayor received 10,000 votes, but was third in the race and dropped out on the second ballot. George F. Cotterill, a single taxer, was chosen Mayor, but all single tax amendments were overwhelmingly defeated, and a dispatch says that not even Cotterill himself made his campaign on that issue.

Illinois miners' convention last week adopted resolutions condemning the two old parties and in so many words endorsed Socialism.

Nearly every man nominated on the municipal ticket by Chicago Socialists carries a union card. Building trades men and printers predominate.

Up to close of last week national office of Socialist Party had sent $9,112 to the Lawrence strikers. This does not include hundreds of dollars sent direct by locals.

Y. M. C. A. at Gary, Ind., was reported as being interested in forming a company of militia, whereupon the Socialist local adopted resolutions denouncing the unholy scheme.

The Christian Standard, the most widely circulated religious paper in America, recently opened its columns to a symposium on Socialism by Socialist readers, and a very liberal editorial comment thereon. The Standard sees the drift of things.

SOCIALISTS IN ST. LOUIS UNITE.

St. Louis, Mo., March 12.—The two factions of the Socialist movement in St. Louis no longer exist, the St. Louis local of the Socialist Party and the St. Louis Socialist Party having united in one local, under a new charter.

The union of the two factions took place at a meeting at which the new State Secretary of Missouri, William A. Ward, presided.

All the members of the St. Louis Socialist Party, which was the ousted faction, will now come into the regular party organization on the same footing as the members of the regular local.

SOCIALIST SENTIMENT IN COLLEGES.

Nothing of recent date has shown more conclusively the growing interest in Socialism among college students than has the remarkable result of the straw vote for Presidential candidates just concluded at the University of Michigan. On this balloting Eugene V. Debs secured a larger number of votes from students than did either President Taft or Senator La Follette. The vote stood as follows:

Wilson, 499; Roosevelt, 392; Debs, 198; Taft, 140; La Follette, 71.

At a similar balloting at Cornell University, February 28, eight of the members of the faculty voted for Debs as their first choice.

This increasing interest in Socialism in the higher educational institutions is also shown by the fact that there are at the present time some forty undergraduates and four alumni chapters of the Intercollegiate Socialist Society formed for the purpose of studying Socialism thoroughly and impartially.

Students at the Ohio Northern University and C. C. N. Y. (evening division) have been the latest to come into the fold of I. S. S. Chapters. Promises of organization have also been secured from a large number of other colleges, including Syracuse, Johns Hopkins, Union, Williams, Wellesley, Rutgers, New York University and Bellevue Medical College, Nebraska, Minnesota, Colorado, Oregon, Purdue, Ohio Wesleyan, Central Wesleyan and Tri-State Colleges.

Marked activity has been seen of late in the well established chapters. The strong Harvard Socialist Club, of which S. A. Eliot, Jr., grandson of the Ex-President of Harvard, is Secretary, has just issued its first pamphlet on "Socialism and Private Property," in reply to the objections of Ex-President Eliot. H. K. Moderwell, 1913, the author, has done an admirable piec of work. The New York Dental College Chapter has published its second copy of "The Progressive Dentist," which deals with the relation of the problems of dentistry to the larger social and economic questions. The groups at Princeton, of which John Temple Graves, Jr., is Secretary, and University of Michigan are among the others planning to issue monthly periodicals dealing with Socialism as well as college problems from the larger social outlook. The Philadelphia Alumni Chapter has been the latest of graduate organizations to be formed, and promises a vigorous career.

In New York City attention is being directed to the coming debate which will probably be held April 27 in Carnegie Hall, between Morris Hillquit and Samuel Untermeyer. The subject of the debate will be: "Resolved, That the Only Solution of the Trust Problem Lies in Their National Ownership and Control."

Another important event in this city is the next and final dinner of the society on March 23 at the Broadway Central. Prof. Charles A. Beard, of Columbia, will preside, and prominent Socialists and non-Socialists will have their respective views on the "Solution of the Trust Problem." At the last dinner over 500 people, including representatives from eighty colleges, were in attendance.

The Intercollegiate Socialist Society, with headquarters at 105 West Fortieth street, New York City, is desirous of securing the names and addresses of all college men and women and others who may be intersted in its work. Literature will be sent on request. Address communications to Harry H. Laidler, Organizer.

WISCONSIN NOTES.

"The paramount political issue in this community is Anti-Socialism vs. Socialism," says the platform of the so-called Non-partisans of Milwaukee.

This indeed is the issue of the present Milwaukee campaign. The Non-partisans frankly admit that their one aim is to turn out the Social-Democrats. This is therefore not really a Non-partisan movement, but a new party—the Anti-Socialist Party.

Of course, the Socialists of Milwaukee always knew that sooner or later the Republicans and Democrats would have to come together and fight Socialism. So far from being dismayed by this coalition, the Milwaukee Socialists agree that this fusion might as well come now as later. It is only a fulfillment of the prophecies of the Socialists, and shows how clearly they can read future events. The time wil come—the sooner the better—when we shall see a national Anti-Socialist Party organized all over the United States. When that time comes, we shall have a clear-cut issue throughout the country, just as we now have it in Milwaukee.

The so-called Non-partisan ticket of Milwaukee consists of a combination of Republican and Democratic candidates. It was nominated by a committee composed of nine Republicans, nine Democrats, and nine members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. A most significant combination! It is indeed the party of the Interests.

The Milwaukee Comrades, on their part, are making the best and biggest campaign they have ever yet waged. They are aware that this year they must have a majority of all the votes cast in order to carry the city, and not merely a plurality, as in 1910, when Milwaukee first went Social-Democratic. In order to get this majority, they are leaving no stone unturned. Eighty thousand pieces of literature will be distributed from house to house next Sunday. Every day immense numbers of platforms and other literature are circulated in the factories. The campaign committee has also issued a campaign booklet, containing a detailed account of what has been done by the Milwaukee Socialist administration. Moreover, in many wards the Comrades are making house to house canvasses for the Milwaukee Leader. The circulation of this paper is growing at a tremendously rapid rate, and it is doing a magnificent work.

Our meetings are packed to the roof, and furnished overflow meetings, which, however, fail to accommodate all comers, so that many are turned away. Never before was such enthusiasm shown so early in the campaign. Never before was the quiet and self-restrained membership of the Milwaukee Social-Democracy so stirred to its depths as today. The spirit of the Comrades is plendid. The work they are doing has never been equaled. In the face of the united enemy, we expect to carry Milwaukee and nail it down for Socialism forever.

E. H. THOMAS,
State Secretary.
Milwaukee, Wis., March 8, 1912.

THE SECRET OF MILWAUKEE'S SUCCESS—THE CAUCUS

By Carl D. Thompson.

We are often asked to explain the secret of the success of the Milwaukee organization of the Socialist Party.

It would, of course, be wrong to assume that the success of any great undertaking depended upon any one single element. It would probably be fatal if any organization should base its hopes of success on any single line of effort. But if there is one thing more than another that has been responsible for the degree of success that the Socialist Party organization of Milwaukee has achieved, I should say it is the caucus.

By the caucus I mean the practice and the policy which the party inaugurated early in its experience, of requiring all of its elected officials to meet regularly, to study the problems that confronted them, and to act as a unity.

As soon as the party won a few places in the city council these men began at once meeting regularly, for a whole evening or afternoon, once each week, for this purpose. And when the members of the State Legislature were elected, they adopted the same policy and have always kept it up. As a general thing at Madison, the Socialist members of the State Legislature roomed together in the same building. This enabled them to be together in caucus all the time. At any rate, morning, noon and evening they held a caucus, and not infrequently they held a caucus in the morning before they went out to get their coffee and rolls. And they were sure to have a caucus at night when the last man came in to go to bed.

More recently when the city was carried this same policy was elaborated and carried out even more faithfully and effectively. The heads of the departments were now made members of this caucus, and the sessions were appointed for Saturday mornings at 9 o'clock and last regularly until noon, and not infrequently until far into the evening, the men often postponing their noon meal until almost late enough for supper. They stuck to the matters under discussion until settled and settled right as they believed.

And when in the fall of 1910 the party followed its victory in the spring by carrying the county, the same form of organization and work of the caucus was carried on in that department of the government. It was found impracticable to have the members of both bodies meet together in a single caucus, for the simple reason that there was too much to do for them to work together. The labor had to be divided. The necessary co-operation between the various legislative bodies is secured by having in each caucus a representative of the other legislative bodies. For example the caucus of the elected officials of the city government has in its make-up a representative from the caucus of the county officials, another from the school board and another from the county central committee of the party organization. In this way the various departments controlled by the administration are kept in touch with each other and are kept together.

No measure is permitted to be introduced, or action initiated that has not first gone through the mill of thorough discussion, and been approved by the caucus. Exceptions, of course, are made for emergency measures by providing that in such cases a call may be made for a special meeting of such aldermen and members of the group as can be gotten together on short notice. In that case every possible member of the group is to be notified of the action decided upon.

The advantages of this system are very great. In the first place, it insures the general will of the party being more fully carried out. It is democratic.

But in the second place, and what is equally important, it prevents hasty, independent and poorly considered action. It helps to avoid mistakes. It many times happens that the ideas that at first seem good, turn out upon careful consideration, to be unwise. And such measures are avoided by means of the action of the caucus.

An again it prevents boss rule. Where there is any tendency on the part of any individual or set of individuals to dominate the policies of the party and to act independently, the policy of the well organized and efficient caucus will prevent it.

But what is most important of all, then it seems to me that this feature perhaps, is the fact that this policy tends to thoroughly inform every representative, not only of what is being done, the measures to be advanced, or the reasons and arguments in favor of them, but it enables the group to work together. Every member knows just what the next move is to be, and is prepared for it. This prevents a division of the forces, when the group is on the battle field. So strength so far as methods are concerned in the organization in Milwaukee. If there has been any weakness—and of course there has been at times, for mistakes have been made—it has been the weakness of not having at all times, and in all ways, carried out fully these policies. But as a mater of fact, nothing has been more faithfully or more thoroughly done, no more earnest effort made by the Milwaukee Comrades in office, than has been made in these matters. Many a time the sessions of this group have been long and wearysome. They always call for sacrifice and constant service.

But nothing happens. It has to be forged out. That means time, patience and persistence.

And the Milwaukee Comrades have wrought most faithfully and most effectively in these caucus meetings. Here their best and their most thorough work is done, and if there is one thing that has made them strong in the work they are doing, I believe it has been the caucus.

A MILWAUKEE CAMPAIGN BOOK.

By Carl D. Thompson.

The Milwaukee comrades are putting up the fight of their lives. The old parties have combined against them and are doing their utmost to wrest the city from the Social-Democratic control.

It is quite likely that there never has been such a municipal campaign in America as there will be in Milwaukee this spring. It is the Socialists against the field. Every inch and every point will be contested, stubbornly and fiercely.

Among other big things the Social-Democrats are preparing a municipal Campaign Book. This book is to contain the records of the administration. It will also have the platform, which is probably the best of its kind that has ever been put forth; it will also be generously illustrated, having the pictures of the canidates, Mayor Seidel, City Comptroller Dietz, and City Treasurer Whitnall, who are candidates for re-election, and the eight aldermen-at-large. It will have articles on International Socialism, municipal ownership—labor measures of the administration—pictures, cartoons,—in short, everything that can be put into a tremenduos volley to be fired at the capitalistic enemy.

This book will be off the press about the first of March, and will be a veritable arsenal of facts that might be used in any municipal campaign.

It has occurred to the comrades in Milwaukee that the workers in other cities might care to take advantage of this book.

It may be secured by addressing advance orders to the Social-Democratic Publishing Co., Brisbane Hall, Milwaukee. The price will be 25 cents per copy. Special prices in quantities.

Milwaukee Socialists distribute 80,000 pieces of literature every Sunday morning in their city. That is the way they have won what they have. Columbus Socialists should make a note of this and do likewise. There is no more effective method of propaganda than to put this paper into every wage earner's home in this city. Nothing else will win.

The cloven foot of Rail-Light influence is already being shown in the manifest efforts of the Karb administration to put the municipal electric light plant "on the bum." Since the advent of Eichorn as superintendent of the plant there has ben a steady decrease in the efficiency of the service. This is a part of the plan to defeat the elctric light extender. Eichorn seems to regard his position as a snap or joke and his masters have a hard time trying to make him even act decently toward committees and citizens.

Bryan, the "Peerless One," instructed the Ohio Constitutional convention last Tuesday as to its duties. Bryan said some radical things. Bryan is sound—that's all he is—sound. His silvesy voice tickles the ear, but he stands for the rotten old capitalistic system with all its enormities and absurdities. Mr. Bryan is loud in his attack upon the corporations, but it should be noted that his chief agent in Ohio is Harvey C. Garber, who is now and, for years, has been doing the dirty work of the Bell Telephone trust in "influencing" legislation. Garber is, without doubt, the most disreputable lobbyist doing business today, and yet he is close to the sacred, holy Bryan, who froths and rages at monopoly. This is only one indication of his hypocritical fostering and posing as the champion of the people.

PIGS AND CHILDREN

The following item from the Daily Columbus Citizen is herewith submitted, under the following heading:

"YOUNG PIGS MUST HAVE UNBOUNDED FREEDOM IN SUN."

"Young pigs must have unbounded freedom in direct sunlight, and pure air for healthy, normal growth, says Swine Breeders' Journal. They must be able and induced to run and play at large range, for upon a strong physical constitution depends the future health and growing and fattening power of the older hog.

"Pigs confined in a small pen or house, where they are compelled to lie in bed all day, or simply walk about a little, cannot exercise enough to develop bones, muscles and all vital organs. All young animals must play during the early growing period, and the man who does not know this natural necessity and permit them wide room for play will soon be disappointed in growing them."

Great! Truly Great! This civilization of ours. "PIGS must have unbounded freedom in the sun," while you, Mr. Worker, are doomed to eternal slavery in CAPITALISTIC HOG PENS. In other words you have changed places with the hogs. Pigs must be well taken care of in order to insure a future strong, physical constitution, in order that the owner may reap a larger per cent of PROFIT. You, Mr. Worker, are not as valuable as swine, because hogs are bringing a good price on the market, while your labor power, THE ONLY COMMODITY YOU HAVE TO SELL, is absolutely controlled by a few men who own the machines that you must use in order to produce wealth for society, thereby placing them in a position where they can absolutely dictate the price they will pay for your labor power. Why not stop being classed lower than hogs. Why not take over the mines, mills and factories and make them the property of ALL the people, managed democratically and in the interest of all. If hogs need plenty of sunshine and fresh air to develop properly, how about the children of our cities who are crowded together in tenements and sweatshops? What kind of a race of human beings do you expect we will have in the next generation if this damnable capitalistic system of exploitation is allowed to continue in existence? Go to the ballot box and vote for Socialism, which is simply a new form of government that will guarantee to every worker the full product of what that worker produces. The Declaration of Independence states "that when any government becomes destructive of the principles for which it was created, namely, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, it is not only the right, BUT THE DUTY, of the people to abolish such government and establish a new government, taking for its foundation such principles as seem most likely to insure their future welfare and security.

Let's quit being hogs, let's be men, and women. But just so long as this capitalist system of government is maintained just that long will the producers of all the good things of life be compelled to work for a mere pittance in order to keep body and soul together. Yes, and your children, the future men and women, will be stunted in growth, both mental and physical. Let's get together on the political field and vote in a sane system of government that will at least give the boys and girls a chance to develop themselves.

Down with the capitalist system. And we are not concerned in the manner in which it happens to be overthrown. Because overthrown it will be, and the sooner the better.

A JOB FOR THE ROUGH RIDER.

A short time ago we ventured an opinion that sooner or later Roosevelt would be publicly branded as a "Socialist," and the expected has happened already.

One Dies, a hitherto obscure member of Congress from Texas, has rounded up the rough rider and branded him as above, together with another small bunch, comprising Bryan, Berger and the McNamara brothers.

In doing so, he was not, as he declared, "appealing to any party or district, but to my colleagues here to recognize the peril of Socialism."

It is needless perhaps to add that Representative Dies is a "Democrat."

Whether his "colleagues" expressed any alarm over the exhibit is not stated, nor is it on record that they greeted his remarks with derisive applause.

But it is obviously up to Roosevelt, in particular, to either explain that he is not a Socialist or relegate his traducer to the Ananias Club. The others don't matter.

Berger would probably admit the soft impeachment.

The McNamara brothers are "out of politics" permanently and, anyhow, nobody cares about a protest from a jail.

And poor Bryan never talks back on this subject. He's afraid almost to mention the word Socialism.

So it's clearly up to Theodore to deny the foul aspersion cast upon him by this Dies person. A libel of this kind openly declared on the floor of the National Assembly and by a member thereof, is too serious a matter to be passed in silence, nor should the fact that the libeller is a "Democrat," entitle him to a fool's pardon. True, he might naturally be expected to know no better, but this does not mean that he should not be taught better. Besides, Roosevelt might as well begin on him, for if he lets it pass it will only mean that the charge will be repeated again and again by people quite as ignorant as Dies, who are not members of Congress, and finally by vast numbers of voters of the kind that sent Dies to Congress, and this may seriously interfere with Roosevelt's chances of the Presidency. The time for Theodore to stop this kind of thing is right now, before it spreads further.

As for us Socialists, we don't have to prove that Roosevelt isn't a Socialist. Probably we couldn't convince Dies that he was mistaken, if we tried. But Roosevelt undoubtedly can. It doesn't require a rough rider of any special ability to bestride a Democratic donkey and wallop him into submission and silence with the aid of a reasonably big stick.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

Hurrah! You Boosters have begun to strike your gait once more. Last Sunday while results did not come up to expectation, yet, the results achieved only prove what can be done through systematic and concerted action. Many new subscribers were added to our lists in those wards where the Comrades each took a precinct and worked it systematically. One Comrade got 14 in his territory and another got 18. Had this ratio been carried out throughout the city we would have put on about 2500 new subscribers. The Comrades report that many were only too glad to get an opportunity to subscribe. Some stated that they were out of work at present, but would subscribe in a short time. Some wards also collected dues while soliciting subs, thereby putting money in their Ward Branch treasury, to carry on the work of propaganda and organization. If you COMRADES WOULD ONLY REALIZE THE FACT THAT THIS PAPER IS IN DEMAND IN THIS CITY AND COUNTY, and that it is not hard work to get new subscribers, you would one and all be on the job day and night, getting subs, because therein lies the key that will unlock the prison doors, behind which the working class are now held in mental enslavement. Read this week what the Comrades are doing in Milwaukee. Next Sunday 80,000 pieces of literature will be distributed in that city. Moreover, IN THE WARDS THE COMRADES ARE MAKING A HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS SOLICITING SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE LEADER. The report states that the subscription list is GROWING AT A TREMENDOUS RAPID RATE.

There you have it! Those Comrades in Milwaukee realize the kind of work that makes Socialists and we can do in Columbus just what they are doing in Milwaukee. Pardon me, Comrades, if I speak plainly, but I know that I became a Socialist through reading, and I say it to you in all candor, that you will NEVER MAKE SOCIALISTS ANY OTHER WAY. And further: "The Socialist" is the best Socialist newspaper printed, handling local news and general propaganda. If you want to send a working class representative to Congress and send class conscious Comrades to the various offices in this county, now is the time to begin your campaign of education. Let every Comrade start out in his or her own precinct next Sunday and cover that precinct and we can do just twice as much as last Sunday. Don't worry! This office force will be right out on the firing line at 8:30 next Sunday and do their share. Let us all work together as one, forgetting everything else except the GREAT CAUSE in which we have all enlisted. Just one subscriber from each Comrade next Sunday means 2000 new ones, and it is not an impossibility by any means, if you, dear Comrade, who are just now reading this, will do your share. Let's Milwaukeize Franklin County. The start has been already made. ON TO VICTORY, ON TO WASHINGTON.

Comrade L. L. Fisher started out in his precinct and secured fourteen new subs in a few hours last Sunday. This shows what can be done in every precinct in this city.

They all want it is the way Comrade E. Hartman puts it. By systematic work last Sunday he landed twelve in one precinct. With that kind of work throughout the city, we will soon have those 5,000 new ones.

Comrades L. B. Taylor and E. Woods landed ten each, and the grave digger loudly cries for more help.

Comrades W. C Bates and J. A. Ebright are both right on the job. They each got nine new ones. Nice work, Comrades.

That First Ward has sure got a bunch of Boosters. Comrade Fred Diebert landed seven as his donation.

Space will not allow us to give individual mention of all the Comrades that went out last Sunday as requested and boosted "The Socialist," however, Comrade N. C. Gallentine got 7, W. S. and W. C. Jones 6, Roy Torr 5, C. Margraff 5, C. S. Crawford 4, G. W. Colwert 4, A. Meiers 4, W. R. Evans 3, E. L. Fries 3, F. M. Ruten 3, C. G. Crills 3, M. Novacki 3, W. P. Theierry 2, Dom Bucy 2, Earl Roof 3, Chas. Skinner 3.

Don't fail to use the Red Ticket, or tell our advertisers you saw their adv. in "The Socialist."

The following loyal Comrades each landed one: Geo. Conrad, O. B. Otten, Com. Friedland, O. M. Davie, W. H. Cornwell, G. H. Fries, T. C. Southard, J. A. Schinn, F. W. Seamen, J. Stoetzel, A. Wright, H. D. Neimeister, P. Hyland, Otto Glick, J. D. Frank, C. A. Williams, Sam Hull, C. H. Correll, R. H. Binns, N. Dennis, L. A. Wartz, E. S. Marquette, Clark Moore, J. G. Montrose, C. O. Heinlein, O. R. Young, A. L. Saunders, W. T. Crossley, S. D. Simkins, A. L. McAdoo, Fred Hale, Thos. R. Jenkins, Wm. Pugh, M. Zang, Wm. Baesman, F. Brown, C. E. Henry, G. M. Fultz, Frank Holand, E. L. Albright, W. A. Allis, Fred James, S. D. Ashton, E. Wilson, H. A. Miller, F. Benzinger, M. B. Earnhart, E. E. Stowell, W. S. Rutherford.

Any Comrade out of work can secure a god permanent position by applying either at this office, or room 14 Clinton Building. Position will be good the year round.

THE MAGAZINE FOR WORKERS

"Absolutely the finest Socialist publication I have ever come across," is what a man in England wrote in renewing his subscription to THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW, the magazine that fights for the working class.

The REVIEW is the only publication of its kind in the world. It is the only monthly illustrated magazine which is devoted exclusively to the interests of working men and working women. It is the only magazine which actually gets right down into the ranks of the toilers and tells what they are doing and thinking and feeling. It stands for aggressive and uncompromising. The REVIEW is not only a magazine for Socialists; it is with the workers everywhere in their every struggle, not only in America but in other countries as well. Wherever there is a conflict between men and masters, there the Review has its correspondents and its photographers. Every month it is filled with pictures right from the scene of action. Its articles and stories come not only from trained writers but from the workers themselves. Its circulation has tripled in the last four years. It is growing bigger and better from month to month.

WOMAN'S DIRECTORY

The Woman's Local Committee meets every Monday evening at 15½ East Gay Street. Every woman invited to come.

CITY CENTRAL COMMITTEE SOCIALIST PARTY.

At the regular meeting of the City Central Committee Socialist Party last Monday evening at Red Lion Hall, Comrade Martz, of the Sixteenth Ward, was elected reading clerk and Comrade L. B. Taylor commenced his duties as financial secretary, vice Comrade Alois Nick who had served Local Columbus long and faithfully. A large number of applications for membership were received and approved.

The committee in charge of the Haywood meetings for Sunday, April 7, reported that it was necessary for the Ward Branches to get busy and sell tickets. It was also directed that all applications for employment as organizer should be in by next Monday night.

Comrade Bogarten, of Philadelphia, gave a graphic description of the attack made by the police at Lawrence, Mass., upon the parents of the children who were being sent out of town that they might be fed and protected. Comrade Bogarten is now located in Columbus. He was also present at the Congressional hearing in Washington on Saturday, March 2.

COLUMBUS FEDERATION OF LABOR MEETING.

The Columbus Federation of Labor last Monday evening, in regular session turned down an appeal for funds sent out by John Golden, of the United Textile Workers, to aid the Lawrence strikers. The reason for this seemed to be that the delegates did not regard Golden as authorized to represent the real Lawrence strikers.

The Federation also refused to endorse the Civic Center proposition, notwithstanding the fact that it was understood that a committee of the body had pledged the Federation to the plan. Indianola Park was taken off the unfair list as an amusement resort.

Objection to renting Federation Hall for an I. W. W. meeting went no further than to ask the janitor why he rented the hall for the purpose?

MRS. FREEMAN IS DEAD.

Mrs. Emma Freeman, aged 56, wife of Raymond Freeman, died last Friday at her home, 493 Elsmere street, of a complication of diseases. Mother Freeman is survived by her husband and four children; Mrs. Jane Bateson, Zanesville; Mrs. Jacob Corder, Columbus; Jesse and J. W. Freeman, of Columbus. The funeral was held last Monday. The last named son has many friends among the Socialists of this city who sympathize with him in the loss of an honored mother.

I. W. W. IS ORGANIZED.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, addressed an audience of interested people at Federation of Labor Hall last Tuesday evening. She dwelt largely upon the development of industry from the handcraft period to the present highly socialized system. She contrasted the two forms of labor organizations known as craft unions and industrial unions. She explained briefly the principles of the I. W. W. and reviewed the Lawrence strike. At the close of the address a local of the Industrial Workers of the World was organized with temporary officers.

QUESTION BOX.

Meeting at the Eighth Ward Branch, 121½ East Town street, next Tuesday evening. Ward members please take notice and be on hand. You are helping to pay for the meeting; why not attend?

HOCH DER DEUTCH!

The Concordia Singing Society, a German organization, last Sunday donated $6.20 to the Lawrence strikers, the members thus showing their class consciousness.

WAGE DEADLOCK.

London — Serious friction exists between the Shipping Federation and the Joint Committee of Engineering Societies. The men demand that their application for an increase of from $7.50 to $15.00 per month, with a minimum of $40.00 per month for sea-going engineers, shall be dealt with on a national basis. The Shipping Federation has refused to proceed with the question as desired, contending that the Shipowners' Associations at various ports should deal with the subject. The societies involved are the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, the Steam Engine Makers' Society and the Marine Engineers' Association. This latter association, after considering the attitude of the shipowners, has replied that it is not prepared to go to the various associations with its demands in view of the fact that the National Federation quite recently dealt with the wages of seamen and firemen on a national basis. The outlook is not very encouraging.

The game of fooling the workers is again being played. The big interests are playing Roosevelt against Taft, but the workers will be not better off in the event of the election of either, for both are committed to Big Business.

AFRAID OF ONE BIG UNION.

Cruel persons, who enjoy seeing a trembling plute, should have attended a meeting of railway owners last month. "What is this system federation thing?" asked one of the Vanderbilt boys of the Harriman-heir. "Deuced if I know," was the reply. Vice President Park, of the Illinois Central, told them, and later his answer was published as an advertisement. We publish part of it free, and here it is. (It's true.)

"Should the System Federations gain a foothold, they would overshade and have greater power than the International unions whose members comprise them. If it were possible to organize a System Federation on every railroad in the United States to be followed by the formation of a National System Federation, it would simply be the American Railway Union as the latter's organizers hoped to see it. It would have ten thousand times more power than the American Federation of Labor, although with one-sixth membership. The roads would be at their mercy, and any manufacturer who might be objectionable to them could be boycotted out of business."

When a capitalist spends his money to advertise the fact that industrial unions mean supremacy for the workers, he must be badly frightened and ready for a padded cell. A real federation is the crying need. Mr. Park says the industrial union "with one-sixth the membership has ten thousand times more power" than the craft unions. Go to it, men. Wet together in system federation, and make the system big. Strike together, boycott together, vote together, and if need be, fight together for your rights, your homes, your family, for the supremacy of the working class, for your country and hoist "Old Glory" over a country that really is free.

CHICAGO CAR STRIKE AVOIDED.

Chicago.—The recent suspension of a number of men by the new superintendent of the Chicago Railways Company nearly precipitated a strike. The entire matter, however, was taken to the higher officials of the railroad and a satisfactory adjustment has been reached. The new superintendent, apparently of an extremely arbitrary disposition, was overruled by the higher officials of the company. It is indeed unfortunate that men of this character are placed in official positions, but the street car men of Chicago are also fortunate in having been able to carry their case to officials of the company who recognized that injustice had been done to the men in most instances.

NO COAL RESERVE.

Washington.—It is reported by the United Mine Workers' officials in the Pennsylvania anthracite region that the total stock of coal on hand is only about one and a half million tons. It is asserted that with the average demand this would be consumed in seven days. This state of affairs argues in the interest of the miners should a strike be necessary in these fields.

RAILROAD WRECKS.

Washington.—Five passengers and two trainmen were seriously injured on the Southern Railway near Milstead, Ala., recently, in a wreck, the cause of which has not yet been ascertained. Fourteen passengers were injured on the Illinois traction system at Benld, Ill., when three cars were derailed. Three persons were killed and nineteen injured on the Southern Railway at Oxford, Ala., the wreck being caused by the train splitting a switch and then side-swipping a switch engine on a siding. Four men were killed at Muncey, Pa., when the boiler of a locomotive attached to a freight train blew up.

PRINTING BILL REPORTED TO SENATE.

Washington.—The Smoot printing bill, over which there has been a heated controversy in reference to the displacement of hand presses for power presses, has been reported to the Senate, with the power press provision eliminated, agreeable to a compromise which has been reached. It is stated, however, that the sundry civil bill will carry a provision whereby the power presses will be gradually installed in the Bureau of Engraving, in consonance with the compromise reached.

TO MAKE DEMONSTRATION.

London—The London Trades Council is organizing a great demonstration, with a view of a revival in London and the country of an agitation for a local eight-hour day, or forty-eight-hour week. The first Sunday in May will probably be selected for the first demonstration, a series of demonstrations being under consideration.

STAY AWAY FROM GARY.

Word comes from the local of the Socialist Party at Gary that the local Union, No. 280, I. B. E. W. (Electrical Workers), are on strike against the Gary Heat, Light and Water Company. All workers belonging to this craft will please STAY AWAY FROM GARY.

NOW IT'S GIRL SCOUTS.

Washington.—A movement is on foot in this city, designed to organize a troop of girl scouts. As is already known, there is throughout the country a large organization of boy scouts. This latest movement appears to be a sort of companion piece.

ANTHRACITE COAL MINERS.

Washington—The anthracite coal miners' demand for increased pay and other changes have been rejected by the operators. This action was not anticipated, although no positive assurance had been held out to the miners that an acceptance by the operators would result from their conference. In other words, it was thought that a compromise would be suggested. However, it is not yet thought that negotiations will be discontinued. A committee of the operators has been empowered to formulate a reply to the miners to be presented to them on March 13. In the meantime efforts will be put forth by both sides to reach a basis upon which an amicable adjustment can be reached. As a result of the present situation anthracite coal has advanced from 80 cents to $1.00 per ton. In the soft coal territory practically the same condition of affairs prevails, the miners asking for an increase and the operators refusing. It is not probable that a settlement will be arrived at by the miners and operators in either the hard or soft coal fields before the end of this month, with a strong probability of cessation of work. As a result of the English strike American coal at all Atlantic seaboard points has risen in price.

OPEN AIR SCHOOLS.

Washington—A move is being made in this city to segregate tubercular school children in the public schools and inaugurate an open air school system. It is proposed not only to segregate the affected children, but to provide nourishing food in order that the disease may be not only held in check, but with a view to complete eradication.

BITTER STRIKE ENDED.

Washington—Reports from Denver, Colo., are to the effect that the strike in the northern lignite coal efilds has been brought to a close. This strike has been in progress over two years and one of the disagreeable incidents was the incarceration in the Denver county jail of sixteen union coal miners who, it was claimed, violated the terms of an injunction. The settlement, it is stated, was reached by a very slight compromise on the part of the coal miners, and that the miners really gained substantially what they were contending for.

AGITATING WRAPPED BREAD.

Washington.—A crusade is being inaugurated in this city to have bread wrapped at the bakeries before distribution. It is asserted that unwrapped bread is a potential danger to health where it is not wrapped at the bakeries. This important food product is handled many times from the ovens to the ultimate consumer—from oven to tray, tray to wagon, wagon to the retailer, retailer to the bread case, from the bread case to the customer or wagon to be delivered from wagon to customer, etc. It is stated by the health authorities that bread is a convenient germ carrier and no doubt many diseases are contracted by the careless handling of bread.

POST-OFFICE BILL REPORTED.

Washington.—The post-office appropriation bill, carrying a large sum, and also abolishing the "gag" rule of postal service employes, formerly established by Ex-President Roosevelt in an executive order and latterly strengthened and made more arbitrary by President Taft, has been reported to the House of Representatives. The bill also provides for a general and experimental parcels post system on city and rural routes, re-establishing an eight-hour day for letter-carriers in the city delivery service and clerks in first and second class offices, and prohibiting the use of any but steel cars in the railway mail service. The provision dealing with the "gag" rule will permit postal service employes to form labor organizations and affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, and will also give these employes the privilege, either individually or collectively, of petitioning Congress for a redress of grievances. It is expected that the Committee on Civil Service Reform will shortly report the Lloyd bill, which is also an anti-"gag" bill.

Socialist Party Platform

Adopted by National Convention, May, 1908, by Membership Referendum, August 8th, 1908, Amended by Referendum, September 7th, 1909.

PRINCIPLES.

Human life depends upon food, clothing and shelter. Only with these assured are freedom, culture and higher human development possible. To produce food, clothing or shelter, land and machinery are needed. Land alone does not satisfy human needs. Human labor creates machinery and applies it to the land for the production of raw materials and food. Whoever has control of land and machinery controls human labor, and with it human life and liberty.

Today the machinery and the land used for industrial purposes are owned by a rapidly decreasing minority. So long as machinery is simple and easily handled by one man, its owner cannot dominate the sources of life of others. But when machinery becomes more complex and expensive, and requires for its effective operation the organized effort of many workers, its influence over wide circles of life. The owners of such machinery become the dominant class.

In proportion as the number of such machine owners compared to all other classes decreases, their power in the nation and in the world increases. They bring ever larger masses of working people under their control, reducing them to the point where muscle and brain are their only productive property. Millions of formerly self-employing workers thus become the helpless wage slaves of the industrial masters.

As the economic power of the ruling class grows it becomes less useful in the life of the nation. All the useful work of the nation falls upon the shoulders of the class whose only property is its manual and mental labor power—the wage worker—or of the class who have but little land and little effective machinery outside of their labor power—the small traders and small farmers. The ruling minority is steadily becoming useless and parasitic.

A bitter struggle over the division of the products of labor is waged between the exploiting propertied classes on the one hand and the exploited propertyless class on the other. In this struggle the wage working class cannot expect adequate relief from any reform of the present order at the hands of the dominant class.

The wage workers are therefore the most determined and irreconcilable antagonists of the ruling class. They suffer most from the curse of class rule. The fact that a few capitalists are permitted to control all the country's industrial resources and social tools for their individual profit, and to make the production of the necessaries of life the object of competitive private enterprise and speculation is at the bottom of all the social evils of our time.

In spite of the organization of trusts, pools and combinations, the capitalists are powerless to regulate production for social ends. Industries are largely conducted in a planless manner. Through periods of feverish activity the strength and health of the workers are mercilessly used up, and during periods of enforced idleness the workers are frequently reduced to starvation.

The climaxes of this system of production are the regularly recurring industrial depressions and crises which paralyze the nation every fifteen or twenty years.

The capitalist class, in its mad race for profits, is bound to exploit the workers to the very limit of their endurance and to sacrifice their physical, moral and mental welfare to its own insatiable greed. Capitalism keeps the masses of workingmen in poverty, destitution, physical exhaustion and ignorance.

It drags their wives from their homes to the mill and factory. It snatches their children from the playgrounds and schools and grinds their slender bodies and unformed minds into cold dollars. It disfigures, maims and kills hundreds of thousands of workingmen annually in mines, on railroads and in factories. It drives millions of workers into the ranks of the unemployed and forces large numbers of them into beggary, vagrancy and all forms of crime and vice.

To maintain their rule over their fellow men, the capitalists must keep in their pay all organs of the public powers, public mind and public conscience. They control the dominant parties and, through them, the elected public officials. They select the executives, bribe the Legislatures and corrupt the courts of justice. They own and censor the press. They dominate the educational institutions. They own the nation politically and intellectually as they own it industrially.

The struggle between wage workers and capitalists grows ever fiercer, and has now become the only vital issue before the American people. The wage working class, therefore, has the most direct interest in abolishing the capitalist system. But in abolishing the present system, the workingmen will free not only their own class, but also all other classes of modern society. The small farmer, who is today exploited by large capital more indirectly but not less effectively than is the wage laborer; the small manufacturer and trader, who is engaged in a desperate and losing struggle for economic independence in the face of the all-conquering power of concentrated capital; and even the capitalist himself, who is the slave of his wealth rather than its master. The struggle of the working class against the capitalist class, while it is a class struggle, is thus at the same time a struggle for the abolition of all classes and class privileges.

The private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation, is the rock upon which class rule is built; political government is its indispensible instrument. The wage-workers cannot be freed from exploitation without conquering the political power and substituting collective for private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation.

The basis for such transformation is rapidly developing with present capitalist society. The factory system, with its complex machinery and minute division of labor, is rapidly destroying all vestiges of individual production in manufacture. Modern production is already very largely a collective and social process. The great trusts and monopolies which have sprung up in recent years have organized the work and management of the principal industries on a national scale, and have fitted them for collective use and operation.

There can be no absolute private title to land. All private titles, whether called fee simple or otherwise, are and must be subordinate to the public title. The Socialist Party strives to prevent land from being used for the purpose of exploitation and speculation. It demands the collective possession, control or management of land by those using it in a useful and bona fide manner without exploitation.

The Socialist Party is primarily an economic and political movement. It is not concerned with matters of religious belief.

In the struggle for freedom the interests of all modern wokers are identical. The struggle is not only national but international. It embraces the world and will be carried to ultimate victory by the united workers of the world.

To unite the workers of the nation and their allies and sympathizers of all other classes to this end, is the mission of the Socialist Party. In this battle for freedom the Socialist Party does not strive to substitute working class rule for capitalist class rule, but by working class victory, to free all humanity from class rule and to realize the international brotherhood of man.

PROGRAM.

As measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

Immediate Demands.

1. The immediate government relief for the unemployed workers by building schools, by reforesting of cut-over and waste lands, by reclamation of arid tracts, and the building of canals, and by extending all other useful public work. All persons employed on such works shall be employed directly by the government under an eight-hour work day and at the prevailing union wages. The government shall loan money to States and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works. It shall contribute to the funds of labor organizations for the purpose of assisting their unemployed members, and shall take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

2. The collective ownership of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, steamboat lines and all other means of social transportation and communication.

3. The collective ownership of all industries which are organized on a national scale and in which competition has virtually ceased to exist.

4. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

5. The scientific reforestation of timber lands, and the reclamation of swamp lands. The land so reforested or reclaimed to be permanently retained as a part of the public domain.

6. The absolute freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

Industrial Demands.

7. The improvement of the industrial condition of the workers.

(a) By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

(b) By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

(c) By securing a more effective inspection of workshops and factories.

(d) By forbidding the employment of children under sixteen years of age.

(e) By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor, of convict labor and of all uninspected factories.

(f) By abolishing official charity and substituting in its place compulsory insurance against unemployment, illness, accidents, invalidism, old age and death.

Political Demands.

8. The extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the amount of the bequests and to the nearness of kin.

9. A graduated income tax.

10. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women, and we pledge ourselves to engage in an active campaign in that direction.

11. The initiative and referendum, proportional representation and the right of recall.

12. The abolition of the Senate.

13. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by congress or by a referendum of the whole people.

14. That the Constitution be made amendable by majority vote.

15. The enactment of further measures for general education and for the conservation of health. The bureau of education to be made a department. The creation of a department of public health.

16. The separation of the present bureau of labor from the department of commerce and labor, and the establishment of a department of labor.

17. That all judges be elected by the people for short terms, and that the power to issue injunctions shall be curbed by immediate legislation.

18. The free administration of justice.

Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole power of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry and thus come to their rightful inheritance.

THE WOMAN'S MOVEMENT.

By Grace D. Brewer, Associate Editor of Appeal to Reason.

I have been asked by the General Correspondent of the Woman's National Committee of the Socialist Party of the United State to write on the "Woman's Movement" as I have an opportunity to view the situation from my place in the Appeal to Reason office.

To me the "Woman Question" embraces all problems to woman-kind, those which affect or are affected by her, and the "Woman's Movement" is the growing public interest and activity manifested by women the world over.

The fact, that women have been ruthelessly pushed out of the world's industries and forced by economic necessity to leave their homes, while a bit severe on the individuals, has proved a boon to womankind and will likewise be a great help to Socialism.

Necessity, the lash of the capitalist system, is performing a great service for the future state of civilization, in educating the women to be real doers and to feel the responsibilities of human beings.

Many mothers in the homes are keenly alive to the fact that their children are being cut off from all the advantages that by rights are theirs and are therefore beginning to enquire into the causes of such unjust conditions.

Women are no longer content to remain inactive and leave the solution of certain problems to the men. They are, today, crying for labor and the training that fits for labor. They are, thoroughly aroused and realize the responsibility which they have shirked so long. It is as though they had awakened from an age-long slumber and hearing the upbraiding voice of neglected duty are anxious to make amends.

Woman has had a hard struggle to gain recognition, but the evolution of society has been in her favor. Her claims could not be done away with simply by being ignored.

This feeling of social responsibility and desire to understand the causes of certain effects have caused woman to share with her brother the spirit of unrest that is abroad in all lands today. Thus we find women workers striking for better conditions, home keepers allying themselves with the suffrage movement, and various other woman organizations, or banded together in clubs studying history and economics and trying in their several ways to arrive at a solution for the many ills of the people.

At first one might conclude that these discontented women have greatly bungled things in dividing their forces, that they will never accomplish any of their aims.

But when, as Socialists, we take a second look, we are forced to see that it is all bound to work out to our satisfaction. Everything must have a beginning. The best indication that we are to have a change in the present system is that women, the sheltered and protected creatures, are becoming dissatisfied. That they are waking up to the fact that they must do soething. Woman's activity is having its effect on national affairs. "The most dangerous person in America is the woman who thinks," says Elizabeth Marbury.

As Socialists, we should take advantage of the situation as it is today and present the Socialist philosophy to all women in such a way that it will appeal to them.

We know that many women believe they will be relieved from present galling conditions by trade union organizations. Others think that if women had the ballot they would remedy many existing evils.

But sooner or later these same women are forced against a stone wall that neither trade unionism nor woman's suffrage nor any other phase of the woman movement outside of the Socialist philosophy, can help them over.

Women must receive social education and this they are getting in the organizations with which they are identified.

As a Socialist, I am not afraid of woman's activity. I believe they naturally love justice and fair play. I remember always that the majority of women come from the rangs of the working class, just as do the majority of men, and I believe that these working-class women will work for the interests of themselves and their class. It seems rather a tedious process sometimes, when we think how hard it is to get some of them to see that their interests are with the Socialist Party now. But we must remember that men, who have been conducting the world's affairs and doing the work for centuries, can't always be brought to see that their interest is not identical with their masters.

It is the desire of Socialists to show women that the "woman question" will have to be solved in the same way as the "man question" or any question affecting the human race. All we need is perseverance. We know that in the end we are bound to win these women, not necessarily by the force of our argument but from the fact that they will some time be called upon to confront certain conditions, which will prove conclusively that Socialism offers them, as women, the only solution for their prolems.

Taking a glance over the entire field of woman's activity as revealed to me, there is not one discouraging feature.

The horizon is clear and the way open to Socialists for the introduction of their convincing literature.

The Socialist women are a part of the "Woman's Movement." We have a firm foudation for our philosophy and backed by a political organization of one hundred thousand, to say nothing of the thousands of sympathizers, we should make great inrods in tthe ranks of awakened women.

That this may be done we have in our organization what is known as the Woman's National Committee elected for the purpose of conducting the propaganda among women. What success has been theirs can only be determined in a general way by those in touch with the Soicalist movement, organized or unorganized.

I am thoroughly convinced that no effort has been wasted, that results will be more noticeable in the future than in the past and that, as Socialist women, ours is the mission of awakening our sleeping sisters and pointing out the only way to them and the ones already aroused.

SURELY, THEY ARE READING UP.

The other day, having occasion to consult Karl Barx's book on "Capital," we visited the Carnegie Library and asked for it. The librarian looked for it, but finally said: "It is out—some O. S. U. student has it." So he kindly phoned the tSate Library for us, and pretty soon we wer informed their copy has been taken out by some O. S. U. student. Then he phoned the School Library and was promptly informed some O. S. U. student had their copy.

So the study these days is along economic and social lines. It is kindly phoned the State Library for future, if the situation elsewhere is the same as here, that Socialism is going to be a foremost discussible subject. And it is also probable that the young student's mind is "nuts and raisins" for the glacial argument of Karl Marx. Some may say this is all right or all wrong, but who can stop a conflict of ideas? Who wants to? —Ohio State Journal.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES.

London.—The Board of Trade report, dealing with co-operative societies, shows that the membership of these organizations reached in 1909 a total of 2,597,236, an increase of 55 per cent over the returns of a decade ago. Trading operations amounted to nearly $650,000,000, as against $380,000,000 in 1899.

PLANS OPERATION BY GOVERNMENT.

Washington.—A bill has been introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Gardner, of Maine, authorizing the government to take over the properties of the express companies and operate them in conjunction with the post-office department. The estimated cost of acquiring the express companies is a trifle over $39,000,000. The statement has been made that the parcels post would not bring the relief desired, as the express companies are paying the railways only about one-half as much for carrying packages as the government would have to pay them for carrying its packages under the present postal law, and in order to get the benefit of this relatively law railway rate the express contracts with the railways should be taken advantage of. It was also brought out that the average express rate in ten foreign countries amounts to $4.25 a ton, while in the United States the average is $31.20 a ton.

SENTENCED TO CHURCH FOR SIX MONTHS.

Editor Socialist:

The Plain City Dealer, of Plain City, Ohio, under date of the 6th instant, records that two citizens of that city, while under the influence of liquor, raised such a disturbance that the neighbors were called in to restore order. The item concludes:

"On Monday the belligerents appeared before Mayor Bradley and were fined $5.00 and cost, each were sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse, which was suspended, through good behavior and as a condition of the suspension each is required to attend church each Sunday for six months."

Now what do you think of that? The Wall Street Men and Religion Forward Movement has been very active at this place for some months past, and it would appear if the "Movement" continues to meet with increasing success, we may expect to hear of the burning of witches in the main street in the near future. This is the second instance of the kind that the writer has noted in the State of Ohio, but it is hoped that this kind of "progressiveness" will not become general. It is not stated whether the culprits selected the workhouse or the church.

Roosevelt, who a few years ago denounced the claims of labor to demand certain conditions from elected officials now shouts loudly for the initiative and referendum, and is even willing to apply the recall feature to the judiciary. Teddy wants to represent the Steel Trust, and will pander to any public clamor to once again direct the affairs of the nation. It is the last trick of the card sharp.

Local South Bend also reports the organization of another branch in the Seventh ward. The Comrades also hope to have the county organization in good shape by April 1.

LAWRENCE STRIKE IS WON BY TEXTILE WORKERS

Settlement Not Complete as Long as Toilers Remain in Jail. Haywood Addresses Strikers on Commons.

Lawrence, Mar. 14.—A tremendous mass meeting of 20,000 Lawrence textile strikers assembled on the Common this afternoon to ratify the decision of the General Strike Committee, and by a show of hands it was decided to call off the strike against the American Woolen Company and against the Atlantic and Kunhardt mills.

Six mills have settled and some 18,000 workers, all members of the Industrial Workers of the World, have voted to return to work, having won the greatest victory in American labor history by means of solidarity hitherto without its parallel.

Only seven mills are still at war with their workers, the Arlington, Lawrence Duck, Everett, Uswoco, Upper Pacific and Lower Pacific and the International Paper Company mill and three mills are as yet to be heard from.

There are still on strike in the City of Lawrence some 8,000 workers, and they will remain on strike until their demands are granted. These demands are that the struck mills accept the schedule of the American Woolen Company.

In addition, it is the intention of the textile workers of Lawrence in the event of Joseph J. Ettor and Auturo Giovannitti not being released from jail to come out on strike again in a fortnight and to remain out until the authorities release their victims. The strikers are also determined to secure the release of all the other strikers who are now in jail.

Settlement Not Complete.

The Lawrence strike is not yet settled, and will remain unsettled until these demands are granted. The workers of Lawrence declare their belief that the workers of America will continue to support them in their fight to win better conditions and to free the victims of the class war.

The meeting on the Common today was the first time its use has been allowed to the strikers since six weeks ago, when Colonel Sweetser abrogated the constitutional rights of free assemblage and free speech. Many of the most horrible barbarities committed during the strike have taken place on the Common or on the streets surrounding it, and these desperate deeds were committed against peaceable strikers by police and soldiers on the pretext that the law and order had to be maintained.

The meeting today, which passed off without a single untoward incident gives the lie direct to all the slanders and falsehoods that have been scattered broadcast by the press and the authorities and John Golden, of the A. F. of A., as to the methods of the Industrial Workers of the World and the spirit and tactics of the textile strikers.

The huge meeting was called for 3 o'clock, but long before that hour the Common was black with thousands of people. When a little before 3, William D. Haywood came up, a dense mass of frantically cheering people made way for him to reach the bandstand, from which the speeches were made.

Haywood Presides.

Haywood presided, and called upon the delegates of the various nationalities represented on the Strike Committee to report what had been done. Each delegate spoke in his own language and as report after report was made, enthusiasm grew and deafening cheers rent the air. Among the speakers was Guido Mazerell, whose appearance raised a tremendous storm of cheering.

When the delegates had reported, Haywood held aloft three beautiful bouquets of roses and carnations, presented by the Portuguese fellow workers to Ettor, Giovannitti and Haywood, respectively. Haywood then made the following brief speech:

"While we are assembled here today to celebrate what is perhaps the greatest victory ever achieved by the working class in America we are not in bright and cheerful spirits. For many of us are heavy in heart today and feel that to have had a fitting close to this great strike we should have had with us here our fellow workers, Ettor and Giovannitti, and all the others of our fellow workers who have been sent to jail as a result of this strike.

"But we have been promised that, in the event of a settlement being effected, the Conciliation Committee would use their fullest efforts to secure the release of Ettor and Giovannitti on reasonable bail. If Ettor and Giovannitti were treated justly, the authorities of this State would not only release them, but they would apologize to them and compensate them for the humiliation that they have placed upon them.

"Had it not been for Ettor and Giovannitti there is no telling but what there might have been some outbreak on the part of their friends. But even while they have been in jail, they have sent you word to be self-possessed.

"Now, we have sent a committee from your Strike Committee to Boston to ask of Governor Foss the release of all those who have been jailed and we are asking him to use his influence to secure the quashing of the charges against Ettor and Giovannitti.

"If all of the friends of Ettor and Giovannitti were to be represented here today in a floral tribute to them, we would have in a beautiful bouquet the snow flowers of Alaska. We would have the blossom from the century plants of the desert. We would have the cactus flower, and from above the timber line we would have sprigs of evergreen to keep their memory ever with us.

"Today we have two beautiful bouquets given by the Portuguese fellow workers for our fellow wokers who are in jail. This is for Ettor; this for Giovannitti, and they have seen fit to present me with one. Now, I want to give this bouquet to the families and the children of those other fellow workers who are also in jail. To each one I give a blossom or a sprig as a memento of their services to the working class."

Vote Taken Amid Cheers.

Haywood then summarized the reports of the various delegates and continued:

"Those who are in favor of the mo- return to work in the Wood mills, the Atlantic and Kunhardt, will signify by raising their right hands."

Thereupon a forest of hands shot into the air, hats were raised and tremendous cheers given. The question was put for returning tomorrow, and only some half dozen hands were raised. For return on Monday a practically unanimous vote was recorded. Haywood then said:

"Since you have decided not to return to work tomorrow, go out on the picket line and help those who are still on strike. Tomorrow all out on the picket line." (Cheers.)

There had been some talk of forming a parade and Haywood finished by saying:

"Do not parade today. When you leave here go to your meeting places. Wait till Ettor and Giovannitti are out of jail. Then we will have a parade."

The massed strikers then broke out into the "International," and cheers for the I. W. W. and singing and cheering, dispersed in all directions. A turning point had been reached and passed in this great labor war.

DECISION NOT TO LIKING OF UNION

Decision May Result in Brewery Workers Leaving A. F. of L.

CRAFTS DISRUPT OVER JURISDICTION

The decision of Frank Duffy in the conference between the representatives of the Teamsters' Union and the Brewery Workers, if upheld by the executive board of the A. F. of L., will result in the Brewery Workers giving up their charter rather than submit to such ruling, according to Joe Obergbell, business agent of the local Union of Brewery Workers.

The decision given by Duffy is in line with his idea of supremacy of crafts jurisdiction as against industrial organization. The Brewery Workers are organized thoroughout the industry under one controlling head, and as such, have claimed jurisdiction over the drivers. The Teamsters' Union claims jurisdiction over them as a craft. To settle the trouble, an arbitration committee composed of representatives from each organization met last week, at which meeting Sam Gompers, president of the A. F. of L. was to have presided. He, as a member of the Civic Federation, felt that the pressing obligations of that odoriferous body required his atttendance at the love feast then being held, and that little matters of labor differences could be settled by a substitute. So President Huber, of the Carpenters, was delegated to attend to it while he helped polish the halo around the head of labor which Cardinal Gibbons so feelingly told about.

But Huber happened to be out of the city, so Duffy modestly assumed the power of arbitrator. And his decision may result in the loss to the A. F. of L. of one of the strongest organizations of which that body is composed.

But Socialists have the temerity to say that Gompers should not belong to the Civic Federation.—Indianapolis Register.

DOC. KINSELL CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

Comrade D. R. Kinsell was fifty years old Thursday of last week (at least he says so) and the event was celebrated that evening at City Headquarters, Red Lion Hall. The fellows who assembled expected something and they got it. Comrade Kinsell made a speech and took up a collection for the bookcase fund.

The Leader has a full line of House Dresses, Dusting Caps, Aprons. A full line Notions. Call and see us.

Mr. Victor Berger is also becoming respectable. The conservative old Nashville Banner remarks: "In his wife Representative Berger has an able comrade, and it is whispered in Washington that her arguments have converted a number of wives of Congressmen to Socialism. When she arrived in the capital the leaders in society at first held aloof from Mrs. Berger. Her pleasing personality speedily resulted in a thaw and now the ice is thoroughly broken, and the better half of the Socialist solon, is 'quite the thing.' Like her husband, Mrs. Berger believes that women are entitled to full political rights, and on this platform she finds many willing co-workers in Washington."

THEY WANT TROUBLE.

The coal operators have flatly turned down the demands of the miners, and are preparing for trouble. The coal operators know that owing to the tremendous increased cost of living the miners, even when steadily employed, have always been verging on starvation. But these considerations do not count. The Pennsylvania State Constabulary is at its highest point of efficiency. All elected officials, excepting a few, are perfectly in accord with the demands of the operators. Business conditions are such that an appeal may be made to "public sympathy." And the operators figure that they can keep the men at the old hours, the old wages and under the old conditions. In fact, they are ready to fight to keep them there, for larger returns on invested capital are needed, and who can supply them if not the miners?

It is a brutal, brazen repulse. Yet nothing else could be expected. That combination of coal baron and railroad king that dominates the mining industry is the most sordidly merciless thing in the world today. The poverty and slaughter in the mines and on the coal carrying roads means nothing but fat profits to them. The wretched city dwellers, forced to buy coal by the pail and pay triple prices for it, only help increase income.

So to keep income to the desired high point, the coal barons are willing to risk a great labor war. Behind the local police are the State Constabulary. Behind the constabulary the militia, and behind the militia the regular army. Behind all are the railroads, the mine owners, the banks, the great financial institutions and the majority of the elected officials.

But the workers have still greater power. All they need to do is use them, for when they will they can overturn the whole system that breeds such men as Baer and Truesdale and Markle.

The Leader, 1000 Mt. Vernon Ave., has just received a Spring line of Kimonos and Kimono Dressing Jackets.

CANDIDATES ATTENTION!

All candidates nominated on the [illegible] to meet tomorrow (Sunday), 2 p. m., at 2334 South High street, with the County Executive Committee.

SOCIALIST PARTY SLATE.

The County Executive Committee has tabulated the recent party referendum vote on district and county nominations and the result is given below. This is the party "slate," but instead of being dictated by Mal Karshner or Jim Ross it represents the will of 2,000 dues-paying members of the Socialist Party organization.

Here is the list, beat it if you can:

Congressman—J. L. Bachman.

State Senators—T. J. Johnson, J. M. Suddick.

State Legislators—A. C. Eby, D. J. Farrell, M. C. Green, Peter Kinnear, R. M. Woody.

Recorder—H. W. Weichers.

Prosecuting Attorney—W. C. Bates.

Treasurer—E. A. Palmer.

Clerk of Courts—F. E. Johnston.

Sheriff—O. G. Van Schoyck.

Surveyor—A. E. Smith.

Auditor—T. C. Southard.

Probate Judge—E. B. Eubanks.

Coroner—Dr. C. W. Albright.

Commissioners—D. M. Kuhns, A. C. Fries, Jacob Stoeszel.

Common Pleas Judges—Charles E. Belcher, Adolf E. G. Haak.

The petitions are now out for these candidates and should be promptly signed. The names then will go on the primary ballot and be voted for on May 21.

DOG GIVEN LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Vanderbilt "Entertains" Her French Bull Terrier at Palm Beach, Florida.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 14.—A luncheon given by Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt to her French bull terrier at a fashionable restaurant, has caused a sensation here.

The dog sat in a cushioned chair and ate strawberries and cream and drank tea.

The above press report is reproduced from the Columbus Dispatch. At the same time hundreds of thousands of human beings in this glorious land were actually in dire need of food, shelter and clothing. Is the American worker ever going to wake up?

WOMEN ARE HEARD BY CONGRESS COMMITTEE

Suffragists Admit That Their Cause Depends Upon the Socialist Party for Success

(By National Socialist Press.)

Washington, D. C.—Socialism enlivened the forty-third annual hearing on woman suffrage before Congress. Since 1869 progressive women have traveled miles to Washington to take part in the annual plea for the right of suffrage for half of the race. Invariably the members of the committees in charge of the suffrage bills pay polite but not serious attention to the arguments of the speakers. But the 1912 hearing was different. Socialism was in the air.

"What percentage of suffragists are Socialists?" asked Martin Littleton, member of the House Judiciary Committee, apparently impressed with the Socialistic argument for suffrage made by Mrs. Elsie Cole Phillips, of Milwaukee.

"I cannot give you the exact percentage. It is small," replied Mrs. Cole. "But I can give you the percentage of the Socialists who are suffragists."

Littleton smiled. He knew the Socialists were a unit for equal political right for the sexes. Said Littleton:

"For the first time I pause seriously on the question of woman suffrage. I am amazed at the identity of the arguments made for Socialism and suffrage."

Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, of New York, then tried to explain the situation so that a Democrat like Littleton would not take offence at the "Socialistic" suffrage propaganda. "The reason Socialism is so much identified with suffrage is because the Socialist Party is the only political party in this country that has openly endorsed our movement," she said. "If the old parties would also come out for suffrage they would also get credit."

The House hearing was before the Judiciary Committee and was under the direction of Jane Addams, of Chicago. Socialist Congressman Berger was unable to attend the hearing, as the National Executive Committee of the Socialist Party, of which he is a member, was at that time meeting in Chicago. Mrs. Phillips read a statement from Berger before the committee. Caroline A. Lowe, National Woman's Correspondent of the Socialist Party, also addressed the committees of both Houses.

"Woman suffrage is a necessity, both from a political and an economic standpoint," Berger declared in his statement. "Women are a part of the demos—of the people. They are the other half. We can never have democratic rule until we let women vote. We can never have real freedom until the women are free. To quote the immortal Lincoln on slavery, we cannot endure as a nation, half free and half unfree."

Declaring that she spoke in behalf of 7,000,000 wage-earning women in the United States, Miss Lowe made an eloquent plea for equal suffrage. "The need of the ballot for the wage-earning woman is a vital one. No plea can be made that we have the protection of the home or are represented by our fathers or brothers."

Telling of a young girl fainting in a Chicago department store as a result of the rush and strain of Saturday shopping and long hours, she asked of the committee:

"Does the young woman in Marshal-Fields' need any voice in making the law that sets the hours and conditions of labor?

"Has the young girl whose scalp was torn from her head at the Lawrence mill any need of a law demanding that safety appliances be placed upon all dangerous machinery?"

"Have the five thousand working girls who are forced into lives of shame in Chicago alone each month no need of a voice in a Government that should protect them from this life worse than death?"

She concluded with this frank statement:

"We do not come before you to beg of you the granting of any favor. We present to you a glorious opportunity to place yourself abreast of the current of this great evolutionary movement. You can refuse to accept this opportunity, and you may for a moment delay the movement. But you will be as the old woman with her tiny broom who endeavored to sweep back the incoming tide from the sea."

Mrs. Phillips ridiculed the theory that men are the political representatives of women. "How can a woman delegate her political power to man when she hasn't any political power to delegate?" she asked.

She made a strong plea for the granting of political rights to the working woman who is "economically handicapped." She declared that the ballot is most needed by the weak, by the oppressed. "The oppressed of society are the workers," she said. "But whenever a workingman is oppressed, his wife is even oppressed more than he. She needs the ballot to protect herself. The ballot should not be a weapon to strengthen the strong."

At the House hearing a representative of the American Association to Oppose Woman Suffrage appeared to make the "other side" known. She spoke for five minutes, and what could be gathered from her faint and trembling voice it seemed that she contended against the suffrage because women would not know how to use the suffrage. Presumably she meant the "lower classes."

When she finished Mrs. Phillips was given an opportunity to answer her "argument." Mrs. Phillips just told a story of a suffragist agitator approaching a department store girl as to her views on woman suffrage.

"Oh, I am not much interested in suffrage," said the girl.

"But you know what the ballot will do for the working girls?" persisted the agitator.

"Yes," she replied. "I know and so do all the girls here, and we all favor the suffrage. But it just appalls me to think of putting the ballot in the hand of the ignorant Fifth avenue women."

Everybody in the committee room roared with laughter. The anti-suffragist also joined in with a sickly smile.

At the conclusion of the hearing Chairman Clayton graciously announced that 10,000 copies of the hearing would be printed. But not a word did he utter regarding the vital question itself.

A STEADY JOB.

We "see be the papers" that an official with the promising cognomen of Doolittle has been appointed to the place made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert. If the new incumbent can manage to live up to his name, he is likely to hold the job down as long as he pleases.

SOCIALISM and INDUSTRIALISM

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, MARCH 24th

RED LION HALL. 335 1-2 SOUTH HIGH ST.

You and your friends are cordially invited to attend. Don't fail to hear this subject discussed.

ADMISSION FREE. 2 O'CLOCK P. M.

BY THEIR FRUITS YOU SHALL KNOW THEM.

Dear reader, did you ever see the drive wheels of an engine rapidly and noiselessly rotating from their axis without making any revolutionary progress? Of course you have, and no doubt you also saw the engineer let sand down on the slippery rails that progress might be made. It is the purpose of this article to sand the rails of Socialist progress in this locality.

To the class concious Socialist that which does not contribute to the making of Socialist in proportion to the amount of effort and wealth expended is so much effort lost. In this country the Socialist movement has contributed some very interesting and instructive data on this head.

Taken from the "Appeal's Arsenal of Facts":

Converted to Socialism by periodicals (papers), 50 per cent.

Converted to Socialism by books, 20 per cent.

Converted to Socialism by discussion, 11 per cent:

Converted to Socialism by study, 10 per cent.

Converted to Socialism by street meetings, 8 per cent.

Converted to Socialism by ectures, 7 per cent.

Converted to Socialism by leaflets, 4 per cent.

If by their fruits you shall know them, you have every reason to expend 50 per cent. of your efforts and wealth in the propagation of Socialism on the local party papers.

This paper is as nearly owned and controlled by the Socialist party of Local Columbus as the existing laws will permit.

Now a paper in the final analysis is supported by its subscribers. Business men advertise in papers having subscribers, and they continue to advertise in papers bringing results. For by their fruits they know them.

Moral: Subscribe to the Columbus Socialist, get your friends, neighbors and acquaintances to subscribe. Patronize those who advertise in the paper and let them know why you patronize them.

In the propagation of Socialism I know of no means in which there is so much Direct Action and so little lost motion as per above.

CAN MORGAN HELP IT?

By Guy Williams.

Those who hope for an early settlement of the trust question will do well to remember that J. P. Morgan is practically in control of the Federal government.

Morgan and his associates organized many of the trusts that are to be "busted." And who is to "bust" them? Why, the government. That is to say: Morgan's trusts are to be "busted" by Morgan's government. Don't anyone laugh. They expect us to take it very seriously. We must swallow it all and be as serious as owls. The laugh has been on us common plugs up till now. Each of the three hundred trusts get a profit out of us. That means that we must pay several hundred a year for the privilege of living in "our" country.

Morgan has sold the stocks of these corporations to capitalists in the brief intervals they could spare from their monkey dinners and dog suppers. All these capitalists were told what big dividends the stocks would bring, and if the dividends don't materialize are capitalists will throw Morgan out and put others in control.

So poor J. P. is between the Devil and the Deluge. If he cuts down prices the discontent of the STOCKHOLDERS will swamp him; and if he does not cut down prices the discontent of the PEOPLE threatens destruction. He knows he has few friends among the common people and that his only chance is to keep in the good graces of the monkey dinner crowd.

Morgan stands a chance of being swamped whatever way he turns. But for the present delay is golden. All he needs to do is to get his fat office boy to keep up the "trust busting" as long as it amuses and satisfies the people. When this farce-comedy ceases to entertain them and they stop the show, what course will Morgan pursue?

I predict that he will agree to have the government take over the trusts, to be operated, not for profit, but to give good service at cost. He cannot help himself. If he goes ahead the people will become "unmanageable," and if he turns back he will be swept into obscurity by the enraged stockholders. J. P. Morgan is too great a man to let his opportunity pass and will probably recommend some practical solution himself. Probably it will be in the form of paying an annual allowance to stockholders, and turning the trust properties over to the people.

The past belongs to the incompetent reformers who have proven to the people the futility of "Regulation" and "Busting the Trusts."

The future belongs to the people who will never be satisfied with anything less than public ownership, so that all may enjoy the benefits of scientific management and modern labor saving machines.

SUPPORT CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGNS.

By J. E. Snyder.

All our energy should be devoted this, the presidential year, to congressional and legislative campaigns.

The presidential candidate will be able to make his own way better than those who stand for legislative offices. Enough dates can be secured to use up all his energy and be paid for by admission by the places having the dates thus making the presidential candidacy an asset instead of a liability.

"The Red Special" was a good thing, but it cost too much, and it looks to me that it robbed Peter to pay Paul.

All the state campaign committees suffered from having the money that might otherwise have come to them go into the National Office to finance "The Red Special."

I was state secretary of Kansas at the time of the Red Special and I learned that money already raised for my salary and for the state campaign was sent to "The Red Special" fund. We were conducting a big campaign in the Third district of Kansas, and this suffered for the same reason.

We want congressmen. We want state legislators. We need them more than we do a president, and what's more, we can get them.

Congress and state legislatures are the first and logical places to invade, so let us concentrate our energy there. We must have them to make laws before we select executives to execute them.

The National Office should help to raise this fund for the various state committees where there is a chance to win. The chances to win should not be decided by the zealots of a community, but should be based on past records of voting strength, number of party members and the amount of results from the Lyceum and Debs Lecture Course, etc.

Estimates should be made at once of the possible chances to win and file with the National Office.

Let us continue our battle cry, "On to Washington," and add to it "And the State Capitols."

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

As reported last week, the I. & R., the biggest of all questions that the convention has to determine, has been the subject of debate during the past week, the opponents of the measure putting on their heavy weights, Lampson of Ashtabula and Halfhill of Lima, with a few lesser lights, in an effort to prevent the passage of the Crosser proposal. In addition to these, Firealarm Foraker, of Fifty-year Franchise and Standard Oil fame, the special drawing card of the week, devoted practically his whole speech to an attack on the proposal as drafted by the I. & R. committee. The Ohio State Board of Commerce saw to it that the friends of special privilege packed the convention hall and so far as lay in their power gave him an ovation. It was noticeable that but very few of the delegates displayed any enthusiasm over his remarks. It was also particularly noticeable that Foraker made no plea for labor provisions in the constitution, as every other speaker has done with the exception of Taft. The amendments to the Crosser proposal, one by Halfhill increasing the percentages, the other by Lampson, injecting the single tax into the discussion in an effort to scare the farmer from voting for it, were defeated.

Special privilege is making its first fight in the constitutional convention and professional lobbyists are here fighting this measure. Among them are Harry Wilson, representing Sam Scovill of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Cleveland; William Kirby, representing the Toledo Traction interests, and F. L. Derthick and Mary E. Lee, the farmer lobbyists of the Ohio State Board of Commerce. They are skillfully preparing other amendments intended to kill the usefullness of the I. & R. Those delegates who represent their views on the floor of the convention are appealing to the prejudices and passions of the farmer delegates in their effort to defeat government by the people. The friends of the I. & R. may agree to some slight amendments to the Crosser proposal which may aid in its final adoption, and it is now predicted that it will pass by from 70 to 80 votes.

The labor committee have agreed to report the following amendments on the subject of fixing and regulating the hours of work and other conditions of employment, and these proposals, along with the one reported last week, will probably be the next taken up.

"Laws may be passed fixing and regulating the hours of labor, establishing a minimum wage and providing for the comfort, health, safety and general welfare of all employees; and no other provisions of the constitution shall impair or limit this power."

"Not to exceed eight hours shall constitute a day's work, and not to exceed forty-eight hours a week's work, on the construction, replacement, alteration, repair, maintenance and operation of all public works, buildings, plants, machinery at which laborers, workmen and mechanics are employed, carried on or aided by the state or any political subdivision thereof, whether done by contract or otherwise, except in cases of extraordinary emergency."

The judiciary committee has favorably reported a proposal No. 250, of Delegate Tetlow, as follows:

"The General Assembly shall have full power to provide for the conservation of the mineral resources of the state, both as to the methods of mining and operation, and the General Assembly shall provide for the regulation of the weighing and measuring of coal."

This committee has also reported favorably on proposal No. 62, by Delegate Pierce of Hamilton county, to abolish capital punishment. The proposal covers essentially the same ground as Thomas' proposal No. 237 on this subject, mention of which was made in last week's correspondence. Thomas' proposal also includes the abolishment of the money fine, but the committee refused to agree to same. Five states in the Union have already abolished capital punishment, and murder instead of showing an increase in these states has shown a marked decrease. The labor movement has almost from its inception urged the adoption of laws to this effect, and the labor delegates, of course, will do their best to secure its adoption.

The judiciary committee has also recommended the proposal of Judge Dwyer of Montgomery, that judges of all courts inferior to the Supreme court may be made to answer to impeachment before the Supreme court on proceedings started either by five attorneys or ten private citizens.

Other proposals favorably reported to the convention for passage are:

Proposal No. 93, by Mr. Earnhart, guaranteeing bank deposits.

Proposal No. 174, by Mr. Mauck, authorizing the General Assembly to enact laws regulating the sale of bonds and stocks.

Proposal No. 163, by Mr. Miller, permitting the appointment of women as factory inspectors, notaries, members of library boards and boards of charity, and as superintendents of state or ounty institutions where the care of women and children is involved.

It is possible that a vote may be reached on the I. & R. by the end of this week. It is therefore important that the central bodies, local unions and members write to their delegates now hrging them to vote for these proposals.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALST HEADQUARTERS

W. G. Ghent, secretary of Congressman Berger, reports that the office in Washington is literally swamped with an avalanche of mail, and that it is quite impossible to fill the orders from the national office on time. Comrades who have ordered bundles of the tariff speech, the old age pension speech, or the collective ownership bill, will kindly bear this in mind.

"The Growing Grocery Bill," has just been off the press a few days, and already several thousand copies have been put into circulation. Local Laporte, Indiana, got the first bunch—two thousand copies. A non-Socialist daily paper published in that place says that the Socialists flooded the city with them. Evidently the plutes were compelled to sit up and take notice.

Every local in the country should secure enough copies of this pamphlet to distribute it to all the houses in their localities. The price is low enough so that this can be done: ten thousand copies $3.00; one thousand copies $4.00; one hundred copies 40 cents; single copy 5 cents; transportation prepaid. Order from the national office.

By a recent referendum Orville J. Guptill, Ellsworth Fall, Maine, was re-elected a member of the National committee for that State.

National Committeemen Earnshaw, of Tennessee, supports the motion of National Committeeman Mallet, of Utah, first published in the Weekly Bulletin of March 2nd, relating to eligibility of members of organizations of exploiters of labor to membership in the Socialist Party.

National Committeeman McMaster, of Michigan, supports the motion of National Committeeeman Owen, of Oklahoma, first published in the Weekly Bulletin of March 9th, relating to change of date for the national convention.

The woman's national committee has voted to hold the annual meeting of the committee at the time and place of the national conventin.

A pamphlet is now being printed cohtaining Congressman Berger's taks in Congress on the eight-hour day, a citizen soldiery, Democratic economy, and living wages and the Democratic party. It will be known as "Berger's Brief Speeches," and it will bear Berger's frank, the same as the tariff speech and the old age pension speech. Price fifty cents per hundred. Send orders to the national headquarters, 205 West Washington Street, Chicago.

Lawrence, Mass., March 15, 1912.

"Eight mills have refused to deal with demands of strikers and the fight is not over. Perfect unity prevails among workers still out and the battle will be fought to a victorious finish.

"After the long struggle workers returning to mills will not draw any pay for nearly two weeks and will not be able to render much aid to those still struggling. In addition to the need of funds for relief of the six thousand still on strike, money is needed for the defense of our fellow workers. Ettor and Giovannitti and four score others, many of whom are in prison or held under heavy bail. Response to calls for aid has been hearty from the beginning of the struggle, enabling sixty thousand people, twenty-five thousand strikers and their families, to live and fight, and we hope now that part of the toilers have won that the response from workers all over the country will not diminish.

"Fellow workers, comrades, with ranks united we appeal to you to contribute aiding us to the limit of your ability. We are out to win the fight for all, and with your help we will win."

WISCONSIN NOTES.

The Milwaukee Comrades are by no means inclined to give up their house-to-house distribution of Socialist literature now that they have a Socialist daily paper of their own. It is true that this paper is reaching a large per cent of the homes of Milwaukee. But the Comrades are determined that our literature shall reach every home.

Therefore last Sunday they accomplished a monster distribution of their campaign leaflet, the Voice of the People. All Milwaukee was thoroughly covered, 80,000 copies were left at the homes of Milwaukee's voters. Next Sunday's distribution will exceed even this; 85,000 copies will then be put into the hands of the people.

Nor is this all. In addition to this, 40,000 pieces of Socialist literature were distributed at the factory gates last week. This week the number of pieces will reach 50,000. This number will be equalled in each subsequent week of the campaign. As soon as the weather permits, the factory gate speaking will begin.

Even this is not exhausting the energy of the Milwaukee Comrades. Besides all this work of the Bundle Brigade, in many wards the Social-Democrats are making a house-to-house canvass for new subscriber to The Milwaukee Leader. They are meeting with the most tremendous success. In many districts fully one half of the English-reading families, in some blocks almost all the English-reading families, are subscribing to The Leader, as the result of this earnest and energetic canvass, which has been repeated two or even three times in some of the wards.

The Social-Democratic meetings continue their enthusiasm; 4,500 Social-Democratic books have already been sold at these meetings and on the streets. While our meetings are crowded to the roof, the "non-partisan" meetings are poor affairs. The non-partisan orators wave the red flag, just as they did two years, and drag in every conceivable issue, even to the snub which Mayor Seidel administered to the Invincible Teddy. All this fails to arouse any public interest. In fact, the non-partisans did strike the keynote of the campaign when in their platform they truthfuly declared that the issue was "Anti-Socialism vs. Socialism." The Milwaukee Socialist gladly accept this issue and are rejoiced that on this field the big battle will be waged.

The Milwaukee Federated Trades Council is doing its usual good work in sending a committee to twenty trades unionists to visit the unions and advise them to "strike at the ballot box" on April 2. To head off the work of the Socialist unionists, the "non-partisan" politicians thought to bring a "pure-and-simpler" of national reputation to Milwaukee, and for this purpose secured Brother John Mitchell. They hired the big arena of the Auditorium—the largest hall in Milwaukee, seating 7,000 people. They advertised the meeting magnificiently, in the papers, on the street cars, and in every possible way, only unfortunately they forgot to use the union label! Result—just 382 persons by actual count, attended this "monster" meeting. Many of these were "non-partisan" politicians. The days of "pure and simple trade unionism have passed for Milwaukee.

Next Tuesday, March 19th, Milwaukee holds her primary election. After that, the "non-partisans", who are now fighting among themselves for the offices, will present a solid front for the capitalist interests. But the Milwaukee Comrades are not in the least disturbed by the fusion of the Republicans and Democrats. We are making a bigger and better campaign than our campaign of two years ago, which at that time was a record-breaker. The line is sharply drawn—Socialism or Capitalism! On that issue we will stand or—no, Socialists never fall!

E. H. THOMAS,
State Secretary.

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

James O'Neal, State Secretary, 318½ Ohio street, Terre Haute.

The increasing volume of business at the state office has made it necessary to secure larger headquarters. Secretaries of locals should note the above address.

Waterloo, in DeKalb county, comes forward with a new local of ten members. This makes three locals within a few miles of each other that have been organized within the past few months.

The French local at Linton reports the organizaton of another French local at Dugger, which starts with 19 members. These are nearly all miners.

Socialists at Grammer, in Bartholomew county, are anxious to get into the organized Socialist movement and instructions have been sent them.

Word comes from Albany, in Delaware county, that a speaker there would do a lot of good and an organization will follow later on. They will get the speaker in the person of Comrade Farmer of Anderson.

Local Gary has dragged along for a long time but the latest reports show that the local is now on the boom and a good order for due stamps is evidence of it. Ten members were taken in at one propaganda meeting.

Local Elkhart is growing very rapidly, having admitted 28 members in February. More applications are being received, and a recent box social netted the local $28. Woman's day was celebrated and 11 women were accepted as members. The Lyceum lectures are a success and the financial income of the local is excellent.

Local La Porte frequently floods the state office with newspaper clippings and advertisements of their activity. It would be impossible to report all their activities. They are flooding the city with advertising for the lyceum lectures, including posters, hand bills and newspaper ads. Two thousand copies of a sixteen-page pamphlet on the high cost of living, with a red advertisement of Arthur Brooks Baker's lecture were distributed. The hall will seat 1000 people and they expect to fill it. With the same activity in each city we would capture most of them in a short time.

The state referendum for the election of party officers and delegates to the national convention brought forth the largest vote ever cast in the state by the party. The total vote was 1414. For state secretary James O'Neal received 1154 and Clara Kennedy 260. S. W. Reynolds was re-elected national committeeman; S. S. Condo and William Jackman were elected to the executive committee and James O'Neal was elected delegate to the national convention. A second ballot has been sent to the locals for the election of another national committeeman, two members of the executive committee and eight delegates to the national convention. It required the larger part of one day and two nights to tabulate the vote. The table is too large to print, but the vote for state secretary and the totals received by all candidates will be reported in the Bulletin.

NATIONAL SOCIALIST TEACHERS' BUREAU.

The National Socialist Teachers' Bureau is prepared to supply the names and addresses of Socialist teachers to those who are desirous of securing the services of men and women, prepared to teach the truth to the children of the working class.

The applicants for these positions are to a large extent young men with a college training, who are capable of filling a High School position, the principalship of a graded school or the superintendency of the schools in a small town.

The Teachers' Bureau is a new and growing department in the National Office of the Socialist Party. It makes no charge for its services. It assumes no responsibility as to the capability of its applicants.

All applications are placed on file, and all information considered confidential—only those applicants who have proved their party membership being entitled to it.

A Socialist teacher applying for a position will receive a list of positions open, together with the available information regarding salary and grade. A Socialist school director applying for a teacher will receive a list of teachers, stating the positions they are prepared to fill. Then correspondence may be opened between the director and the teacher, and the work of the national office along this line has been fulfilled.

The national office does not guarantee positions, nor does it guarantee good faith upon the part of either applicant. It simply helps to bring the teacher and the position together, rendering service free of charge. It does this because of the ever growing demand of school directors for Socialist teachers, and of Socialist teachers for positions in which they may teach unhampered by the prejudice of capitalist-minded school boards.

The bureau has a long list of such teachers. Within the next two or three months they will sign up for the coming year's school. Members of school boards should send in requests immediately if they wish to make sure of securing a Socialist teacher for their school. Address all communications to National Office, Socialist Party, 205 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The attention of Mr. City Solicitor Bolin is called to this and recent issues of The Socialist, particularly to the advertising we are running for many of the best merchants in town. These business men get results because our circulation is not secured by forcing city employes to subscribe or sending the paper free to Rail-Light employes as, we are told, The Weakly Week is doing.

Solicitor Bolin said a few weeks ago, that The Socialist was not a newspaper within the meaning and intent of some law makers years ago. The Socialist IS a newspaper in the opinion of an increasing number of people in this city and State. Bolin ought to poultice his feet or he is liable to have a rush of brains to the head.

It is stated that one reason why wages were so low in Lawrence was that the textile workers could buy goods at co-operative stores at 20 to 25 per cent cheaper than regular prices. The bosses therefore cut the wages.

Because she spoke in protest against the lawlessness at Lawrence, Vida D. Scudder, a member of the Socialist Party, and a teacher at Wellesley College, has been bitterly criticized by the capitalist press of Massachusetts. The Boston Transcript, for instance, while refusing to publish her speech, attacked her for being a Socialist, and suggested that she ought to be dismissed from her position.

The Ohio Manufacturers' Association, the Rail-Light and the scab Chamber of Commerce will please take notice that threats to "expose" employes of The Socialist have no effect whatever upon the policy of this paper. The Socialist has evidently put a crimp into the plans of the unholy trinity just named, if we may judge by the activity of some of their paid pimps.

Leader just received a fine line of Ladies' Hand Bags, al the latest and a fine line of Mesh Bags, Combs of all kinds.

EMBROIDERIES AT THE LEADER.

LABOR, UNITED, CAN ACHIEVE THE "IMPOSSIBLE."

Some idea of the rapidity with which events are moving throughout the world of labor may be obtained by a glance backward at the status of the general strike as it appeared but a short time ago to Socialist congresses and party theorists. But a year or so ago the German Socialist convention, in discussing the question, came to the general conclusion that it was a most uncertain weapon, doubtful as to practicability, and only seemingly possible of use under peculiar circumstances, which could not very well be defined. And but a very few months ago J. Ramsay McDonald, looked upon by many as the most practical British Socialist, in a lengthy essay, reached much more unfavorable conclusions regarding it, leaving the distinct impression that it was on the whole both impossible and impractical.

But today, in Mr. MacDonald's own country, we not only see a general strike in the mining industry, but one so entirely possible and practical that those taking part in it look upon their victory as practically secured already. In addition, it is now stated that there is every likelihood that the existing general strike may very shortly become still more "general" by the transport workers and practically all the other unions in the country laying down their tools. And there is none today in England, whether capitalist or Socialist, to deny the possibility of this occurrence.

One of the minor effects of the strike already proceeding is that it almost certainly means the overthrow of the present administration in Great Britain.

And as a determining cause of this sudden apparition of the general strike, the opinions, theories and discussions of either Socialists or capitalists have seemingly had no place whatever

Labor, as one of its spokesmen in Great Britain says, is merely beginning to recognize its own strength, and this simple explanation is perhaps all sufficient. And as it finds its strength, it finds also that all things are possible and practicable, even those things that were pronounced impossible and impractical by the theorists.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

From plainland, on mainland, from ocean to sea,
The clear ringing message so sweet unto me,
Hangs trembling upon the long breezes, I hear
The voice of the workers in re-echoing cheer.
As a tide from the ocean, unstayed in its might,
Away from the darkness, away from the night.
It folds its soft wing as a bird in its nest,
To shelter the toilers and bring to them rest.
With shoulders and hands and a heart that is true,
They leap in the fray with a courage anew—
Set to fire with loyalty staunch unto man—
The rage of the primitive when first there began
The sense of rebellion, a master to rule.
A hand for the whip, a heart cold and cruel.
No being could cherish, for life here is meet;
Sp they rose and they fought for a liberty sweet,
And rolling thus onward the flame strikes anew
The echo of turmult from out the deep blue,
And countless the voices I hear on the blast,
The cry of the workers, and high on the mast
The soft-threaded folds of the flag I can see;
An emblem of mercy, of justice to thee.
An army is marching for freedom to claim
With ranks quickly filling to uphold the name.
On On! Hear the cry from plainland to sea,
'Twere the voice of humanity a-calling to thee!—R. Page Lincoln.

Ay, it is "the voice of humanity calling to thee." 'Tis the voice of little children doomed to unending days in tenements and capitalistic hellholes, that are crying aloud to us for help. Down in the black hole of capitalistic dispair these little children, the future men and women, are reaching out their hands to us, appealingly. Little children, forced by conditions out upon the street to sell capitalistic newspapers which mold public opinion, and perpetuate the capitalistic system, which in turn means slavery, not only for the children, but every member of the working class, is a condition that calls aloud, to Heaven, for vengeance.

As Socialists, we know that the capitalistic system has become so rotten that one must hold his nose while merely thinking about it, and further that it is going to end and end quickly, and we are going to make the start in Franklin county this fall. We are going to roll in such an avalanche of subs to this paper that the "grave digger" system will quickly take to the poor old system some midnight, in the dark of the moon, and perform the last sad rites.

You, Boosters, can do it. Think, dream and talk subs, and we will soon have this subscription list going up at a tremendous rate. The weather is getting better. Spring is here. Let us start the fight that will sweep us on to victory this fall. Let every reader pledge themselves to at least one subscriber next week.

On to Washington!

We are getting many encouraging letters from all over the country. Comrade Eitniear of Traverse City, Mich., sends in $1.00 for one year's subscription to this paper.

Comrade Bank- of Glacier, Wash., sends us $1.00 for the best newspaper in Ohio.

We want to ask the comrades throughout the state and county to get behind this paper and aid us in any way possible through getting subs or otherwise, as every surplus dollar received will be used to help send a working class representative to Congress. We have never asked for outside help before, but if you want the working class represented in Congress by at least one more, now is the time to prepare by furnishing us with the sinews of war. Get behind us, comrades, throughout the state and county.

Comrade A. C. Eby while at Chillicothe last Sunday brought in 20 as his donation. The comrades down there are awake, and so is Comrade Eby.

Comrade A. L. Saunders smashes capitalism a blow by landing eight. Nice work, comrade.

Space will not permit us to give individual mention of all the comrades, but the following were all on the firing line: W. A. Ellis, four; C. A. Bubb, three; L. O. Forshaw, 2; W. E. Harris, 2; W. C. Cochran, 2; O. G. Hammond, 2.

The following are ones: E. L. Fries, G. H. Fries, G. A. McCleary, T. C. Hayes, Mrs. Bowers, Earl Roof, O. E. Reed, W. J. Rout, T. C. Southard, Geo. Smith, J. A. Ebright, C. W. Albright, O. M. WHAT YOU SHOULD EXPECT OF A STORE

First—That at all times it shall serve well and faithfully—true to the interests of its patrons.

That It Shall Give Value Received

One hundred cents worth of actual value for every dollar you invest—That its merchandise shall be dependable quality—trustworthy.

That It Will Make No Misrepresentations

That when it says a fabric is all wool it shall contain no cunningly concealed threads of cotton—That when it says a sheet is 81 x 90 inches, it will measure just that by a tape line.

That Your Satisfaction

is the final test of every transaction. That a sale is not complete until both parties have realized a fair exchange of value.

Such a Store is this—Filled with willingness and enthusiasm to serve each day, better than its predecessor.

THE MAGAZINE FOR WORKERS

"Absolutely the finest Socialist publication I have ever come across," is what a man in England wrote in renewing his subscription to THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW, the magazine that fights for the working class.

The REVIEW is the only publication of its kind in the world. It is the only monthly illustrated magazine which is devoted exclusively to the interests of working men and working women. It is the only magazine which actually gets right down into the ranks of the toilers and tells what they are doing and thinking and feeling. It stands for aggressive and uncompromising. The REVIEW is not only a magazine for Socialists; it is with the workers everywhere in their every struggle, not only in America but in other countries as well. Wherever there is a conflict between men and masters, there the Review has its correspondents and its photographers. Every month it is filled with pictures right from the scene of action. Its articles and stories come not only from trained writers but from the workers themselves. Its circulation has tripled in the last four years. It is growing bigger and better from month to month.

THE CITY CENTRAL COMMITTEE

CITY HEADQUARTERS AT 335½ SOUTH HIGH STREET.

PROMPTNESS.

The boys must get together in the organization, especially must the members who have assumed the responsibility as delegates to the various committees.

There is nothing more discouraging to the worker in the party than to go to a meeting at a given time, having in many cases made sacrifice of his personal pleasure, only to find that some of the other members who are supposed to be on hand are not present.

It is the duty of every red card member to be prompt. Remember we are soldiers in the army for freedom of the wage slave.

Nothing succeeds like success and in order to have success we must have a system of working together and we must let our watchword be promptness in the performance of all our duties.

Don't at any time leave it for the other fellow to do. What said yesterday is equally true today, "If you would have a thing well done, do it yourself."

We are in the fight for the cause of humanity and the eyes of the world are upon us. The victory is sure to come and let us all so conduct ourselves in the performance of our duties that we can all partake of the blessings that will be showered upon us without a single remembrance of a duty neglected.

I. W. W. VERY MUCH ALIVE IN COLUMBUS.

Members Full of Fire and Life.

The I. W. W. held a very enthusiastic meeting Sunday afternoon at 40½ East Chestnut St., which was well attended and enthusiasm was so great for the big union that the meeting did not adjourn until late in the evening. The discussion of industrial unionism was great and beneficial from an educational stand point, as it showed the great knowledge of labor history and the concentration of wealth that the wage workers understand. It showed to a point that the workers have something else stored up in their dome besides baseballs and boxing gloves. The results were certainly most pleasing in the extreme, everything working smoothly like a well oiled machine. The fellow workers know their duty and it is well to say that every mother's son of them are fighters, ready to scrap for their class anywhere and at all times. These boys have as much use for the old worn out and obsolete methods and tactics of organized workers as the capitalist have for that old worn out murdering machine that they so religiously sunk in the muddy water the other day (the Maine), about as much use as our masters have for the bleached bones of the workers that were caught like rats in a trap and murdered by being drowned in that dirty hell hole of the battleship Maine. These rebels know their duty by having it ground into them by the machine of the shop, and believe the writer that duty will be well done and in a way that will make all capitalists, fakers, etc., sit up and scratch their pea-nut heads in astonishment. So we ask all workers to keep their eyes upon the real show, on the industrial field where all compromises and bourgeois policies and tactics are thrown to the winds, where resolutions are sent to hell and solid, direct, moral and financial support is given to the workers. That is the I. W. W. Get in and send a shiver up the spinal column of your master. Get in and fight with us for the solidity of the workers.

Will meet next Sunday at 2 P. M., 40½ E. Chestnut.

M. PHELAN.

CHILLICOTHE DEPARTMENT

Comrade Eby of Columbus, gave a lecture on Socialism here to an audience of over 200, on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and he handled the subject in a masterly manner.

He took for his subjet, "How It Did Not Happen to Happen." It was in regard to the last city campaign, in Columbus, when the Socialists were defeated in the last few hours by corrupt politics. But he said one thing was demonstrated, and is a known fact, that Columbus is inhabited by over 10,000 (class conscious) Socialists, those who cannot be turned from their belief by the oily tongue of slick and lying politicians. These are the men, he said, who will never stop until we have world-wide Socialism, when labor will take its own and forever wipe out misery, poverty, the White Slave traffic and all existing evils that are bound to be the result of an insane, uncivilized and unjust system. The profit system as we have today.

He attacked nobody, but how he did flay the system. He held his audience spell-bound at times, only to release them from it by his wit and humor.

"But how he loves to tell the story," of Socialism, and how he can, was shown by the audience he spoke to, who asked him to give another lecture here on April 21, which he gladly accepted, and every one was requested to be present at the next meeting, April 21, at 2:30 p. m., at the Workman's Hall, on the corner of Paint and Second Streets.

The Socialist Local of Chillicothe meets every first and third Sundays of each month, at 2:30 p. m. The first Sunday is devoted entirely to lectures and entertainment meetings.

RAILROAD MEN PLAN NEW UNION.

Organization Will Be Gigantic Federation, Including Employes on Western Roads.

Chicago.—New plans have been completed for the organization of a gigantic federation of all shop employes on every western railroad under the system federation. The main organization will be a federation of federations.

A meeting at which this organization will be perfected will be held in Kansas City April 15.

A secret conference just concluded here determined that representatives of all shop organizations shall be present at Kansas City and final determination will then be made as to the classes of employes to be included in the big federation. Those international officers participating in this conference were:

M. F. Ryan, president of Brotherhood of Railway Car men; J. A. Franklin and George Smith, president and vice president of the Brotherhood of Boiler-makers; Michael O'Sullivan, president of the Sheet Metal Workers; J. D. Buckalew and J. J. Keppler, machinists; James W. Kline, president, C. W. Glover and Roy Horn, vice presidents of the blacksmiths, and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, representing the American Federation of Labor.

The Red Flag News Agency of Indianapolis, Ind., writes as follows: "Please place us on your bundle list for 10 copies of The Columbus Socialist, weekly, until further notice." We wish to state that the Red Flag Agency has been handling four copies per week for the past six weeks. Those folks over in Indianapolis know a good thing when they see it.

UNION DIRECTORY.

Columbus Federation of Labor.—Meets at 121½ East Town St. on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Telephone Citizens 6168.

Communications for this department must be received by Tuesday of each week.

[This paper receives the Weekly News Letter from the American Federation of Labor.]

CHAINMAKERS AND BLACKSMITHS

Washington.—Two local unions of chainmakers at Columbus, Ohio, have affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers. There are a number of chainmakers' locals throughout the country that are not yet in affiliation with the blacksmiths. It is expected that these chainmakers' locals will in a very short time all be listed with the blacksmiths.

AGAINST EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Washington.—A number of firms and corporations which furnish the government with various kinds of supplies, which would eventually come under the operation of the eight-hour law, have appeared before the Senate Labor Committee, protesting against the passage of the eight-hour law. The bill now before the senate committee passed the house some weeks ago. The gist of the argument presented byp these firms was that it would be exeremely difficult for the government to get bids if the eight-hour day was inaugurated. This view has already proven to be fallacious.

FIGHTING SWEATSHOP GOODS

Washington. — The Consumers' League recently held its second exhibition of sweatshop goods in order that the people of Washington may become familar with the conditions under which these articles are manufactured. One of the conspicuous articles on exhibition was a willow plume of immense proportions. The regulation charge of a milliner being about $25. The knots in this plume numbered 3078 and the tenement tot who tied the knots was paid 78c for its labor. Many other similar pieces of work were shown.

AMALGAMATION TO TAKE PLACE

Washington.—The general secretary of the Amagamated Wood Workers 'International Union, John G. Meiler, has remitted to the office of the American Federation of Labor the final per capita tax for that organization. In transmitting the tax Mr. Meiler informs Secretary Morrison that the terms of amalgamation agreed to between the Amalgamated Wood Workers and the Brotherhood of Carpenters have been overwhelmingly accepted by the Amalgamated Wood Workers, the vote being 1318 for and 330 against. Thus the amalgamation between these organizations will shortly become an accomplished fact.

I. T. U. NOMINATIONS.

Washington.—Secretary Treasurer Hays has sent out a list of nominees and nominators for the various positions to be filled at the next referendum election of the International Typographical Union. The following contains a list of the candidates for the principal offices and the number of nominations received: For president, James M. Lynch, 301; Fred Baker, 143. Vice president, George A. Tracy,, 245; James M. Duncan, 169. Secretary-treasurer, J. W. Hays, 231; Clifford M. Cobb, 98; James B. Ross, 93. Delegates to the American Federation of Labor, Frank Morrison, 271; Max S. Hayes, 246; T. W. McCullough, 233; Hugh Stevenson, 231; Charles Hertenstein, 179; Frank J. Bonnington, 90; Daniel Delahoyde, 81; A. B. Rodriguez, 71; Franklin W. Hynes, 30; John H. Ferguson, 15.

COAL MINERS OF THE WORLD.

Washington—From England comes the news that the British coal strike is effective and that with each succeeding hour matters are becoming more serious. Efforts are being put forth by the government to bring the operators and miners to the point where an adjustment can be reached, and apparently progress is being made, for each side has modified its original position. The estimated number of workmen affected by the British strike is approximately 2,500,000. The most perfect order is attending the strike, not a single instance being reported of any conflicts anywhere in the strike zone. In Germany there are over 240,000 men out, with the situation becoming serious, owing to the rigid measures of the authorities. Germany is a typical military government and on the least provication the military arm of the government is called into action, and is no doubt in this instance provoking disturbances. The anthracite operators and the United Mine Workers of America, while not having broken off negotiations entirely, yet the demands of the miners have been formerly rejected. The agreements extending over a large portion of the bituminous coal fields and the anthracite fields expire on the same date. The Iowa miners are now in session and it is predicted that they will ask for an increase in wages. The outlook is not encouraging for a satisfactory agreement before the expiration of these contracts, and it appears at this time as if a cessation of work would take place on April 1, involving approximately 600,000 miners.

LOOPHOLE IN LIMITATION BILL.

Washington.—Senate bill No. 3175, entitled "to regulate the immigration of aliens and the residence of aliens in the United States," provides a loophole whereby Chinese can enter this country without let or hindrance. The American Federation of Labor submitted the bill to its attorneys for an opinion as to its meaning and in reply the attorenys in substance state "that if the pending bill becomes operative in its present form the right of Chinese to come to this country will be absolutely unrestricted." Upon receiving this opinion objection was filed with the immigration committee of the senate, protesting against the provisions contained in the bill which would permit the indiscriminate immigration of Chinese.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE.

Now we have before our sight
The horror of the Lawrence strike.
Mayor Sullivan with his heart of stone,
The king of himself and followers alone,
Sends men, women and children to their doom.
The children earn from two to four per week,
And the men earn from five to eight.
They don't know what amusement is,
And they never taste pie or cake.
And yet our Republican president stands for this,
Living in the White House as in heavenly bliss.
The capitalists employ the police, so heathenlike and bold,
Striking down both young and old,
Who are dying from hunger and cold.

At ½ Price If You Act Now!

Socialists are and should be students of history. We offer them herewith an opportunity to own that well known work, THE STANDARD HISTORY OF THE WORLD, at actually less than half price. Heretofore histories of the world have been sold at prices that only the well-to-do could afford. We now place THE STANDARD HISTORY OF THE WORLD within the reach of all the people and make the terms of payment so easy that they amount to only a few cents per day for a short time. After selling the work by agents we have on hand a few sets that are slightly damaged—in most cases so slightly that only an expert could see the defects. We guarantee that there are no torn, soiled or defective pages.

Standard History of the World

10 Handsome Volumes—7,000 Pages
Splendid Illustrations Historical Maps
Double-Page Historical Charts
Historic Documents and State Papers
Complete General Index. Sumptuous Bindings.
Large, Clear Type.

Prepared By a Board of Distinguished Editors and Contributors, Including

EDMUND B. CLARK, Author of "Ethnology," etc.
JAMES BRYCE, British Historian and Ambassador to the United States.
CHARLES A. CONANT, American Economist.
JACOB A. PATTON, American Historian.
OTIS T. MASON, Curator Department of Ethnology, National Museum, Washington, D. C.
GARDINER G. HUBBARD, Late President of the National Geographic Society.
JUSTIN McCARTHY, Statesman, Author of "A History of Our Own Times," etc.

BEAR IN MIND

That THE STANDARD HISTORY OF THE WORLD (1) is not a one-man history. No one man ever can or ever could write an authoritative history of the world. (2) It is for all the family—old and young. (3) It is the most beautiful set of the kind now offered to the public, being richly illustrated with full-page illustrations, many of them in full colors, and the rest in beautiful half-tone and duotone. (4) It has two great features (a) A History of Civilization—what man has wrought and attained along economic and intellectual lines. (b) Races of Mankind—a survey of all peoples, savage and civilized, with clear statement of their characteristics and condition.

It Contains a Complete History of Socialism

Bear in mind that this is the only history of the world on the market that gives a complete history of Socialism and labor, written in an absolutely fair and square manner and entirely free from bias. It tells all about the origin and development of modern industry; the rise and progress of Socialism; what it has accomplished in various countries; its leaders; and various other matters of deep interest to all.

THE STANDARD HISTORY OF THE WORLD has been prepared by an editorial board of experts—men who know all about the subjects on which they write. It is for all the family—old and young. It is the most beautiful set of the kind ever offered to the public—richly illustrated with scores of full-page illustrations, many of them in brilliant full colors. It is written in a clear, interesting and vivid style, combining pleasure with instruction. What legends born in the minds of great novelists can match the actual deeds of heroic men? What ancient or modern poet has related such marvelous dramas as those that appear in the story of how nations have risen, flourished and decayed? There is no end to the romances of history, and they are all here between the covers of these volumes.

THIS IS OUR OFFER

We will send this great set—10 handsome volumes, only slightly damaged on the covers—7,000 pages—scores of beautiful illustrations (many of them in color)—maps, charts, etc.—right to your home for an absolutely free examination. We pay all charges. Examine the books; compare them with any other history of the world that you know of; take a week to decide, and if at the end of that time you do not wish to retain them, notify us and we will arrange for their return without any expense to you.

THE UNIVERSITY SOCIETY
44-60 EAST 23d STREET, NEW YORK

Fill out the coupon carefully, tear off, and mail to us. Do not send any money at this time. The coupon will bring the history prepaid for free examination. If you decide to keep the books, send us only $1.00 down and notify us of your acceptance. The purchase price for the entire 10 volumes, including the HISTORY OF SOCIALISM AND LABOR, is only $22.50, and after you have made your first payment of $1.00, the balance may be paid at the rate of only $2.00 per month.

We have only a few of these sets on hand and you should send in the coupon NOW, while you are thinking about the matter. Remember the coupon is not an order—merely a request for FREE inspection. You need not write a letter—just sign the coupon with pencil or pen and mail to us.

Socialist Party Platform

Adopted by National Convention, May, 1908, by Membership Referendum, August 8th, 1908, Amended by Referendum, September 7th, 1909.

Principles.

Human life depends upon food, clothing and shelter. Only with these assured are freedom, culture and higher human development possible. To produe food, clothing or shelter, land and machinery are needed. Land alone does not satisfy human needs. Human labor creates machinery and applies it to the land for the production of raw materials and food. Whoever has control of land and machinery controls human labor, and with it human life and liberty.

Today the machinery and the land used for industrial purposes are owned by a rapidly decreasing minority. So long as machinery is simple and easily htandled by one man, its owner cannot dominate the sources of life of others. But when machinery becomes more complex and expensive, and requires for its effective operation the organized effort of many workers, its influence over wide circles of life. The owners of such machinery become the dominant class.

In proportion as the number of such machine owners compared to all other classes decreases, their power in the nation and in the world increases. They bring ever larger masses of working people under their control, reducing them to the point where muscle and brain are their only productive property. Millions of formerly self-employing workers thus become the helpless wage slaves of the industrial masters.

As the economic power of the ruling class grows it becomes less useful in the life of the nation. All the useful work of the nation falls upon the shoulders of the class whose only property is its manual and mental labor power—the wage worker—or of the class who have but little land and little effective machinery outside of their labor power—the small traders and small farmers. The ruling minority is steadily becoming useless and parasitic.

A bitter struggle over the division of the products of labor is waged between the exploiting propertied classes on the one hand and the exploited propertyless class on the other. In this struggle the wage working class cannot expect adequate relife from any reform of the present order at the hands of the dominant class.

The wage workers are therefore the most determined and irreconcilable antagonists of the ruling class. They suffer most from the curse of class rule. The fact that a few capitalists are permitted to control all the country's industrial resources and social tools for their individual profi, and to make the production of the necessaries of life the object of competitive private enterprise and speculation is at the bottom of all the social evils of our time.

In spite of the organization of trusts, pools and combinations, the capitalists are powerless to regulate production for social ends. Industries are largely conducted in a planless manner. Through periods of feverish activity the strength and health of the workers are mercilessly used up, and during periods of enforced idleness the workers are frequently reduced to starvation.

The climaxes of this system of production are the regularly recurring industrial depressions and crises which paralyse the nation every fifteen or twenty years.

The capitalist class, in its mad race for profits, is bound to exploit the workers to the very limit of their endurance and to sacrifice their physical, moral and mental welfare to its own insatiable greed. Capitalism keeps the masses of workingmen in poverty, destitution, physical exhaustion and ignorance.

It drags their wives from their homes to the mill and factory. It snatches their children from the playgrounds and schools and grinds their slender bodies and unformed minds into cold dollars. It disfigures, maims and kills hundreds of thousands of workingmen annually in mines, on railroads and in factories. It drives millions of workers into the ranks of the unemployed and forces large numbers of them into beggary, vagrancy and all forms of crime and vice.

To maintain their rule over their fellow men, the capitalists must keep in their pay all organs of the public powers, public mind and public conscience. They control the dominant parties and, through them, the elected public officials. They select the executives, bribe the Legislatures and corrupt the courts of justice. They own and censor the press. They dominate the educational institutions. They own the nation politically and intellectually as they own it industrially.

The struggle between wage workers and capitalists grows ever fiercer, and has now become the only vital issue before the American people. The wage working class, therefore, has the most direct interest in abolishing the capitalist system. But in abolishing the present system, the workingmen will free not only their own class, but also all other classes of modern society. The small farmer, who is today exploited by large capital more indirectly but not less effectively than is the wage laborer; the small manufacturer and trader, who is engaged in a desperate and losing struggle for economic independence in the face of the all-conquering power of concentrated capital; and even the capitalist himself, who is the slave of his wealth raher than its master. The struggle of the working class against the capitalist class, while it is a class struggle, is thus at the same time a struggle for the abolition of all classes and class privileges.

The private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation, is the rock upon which class rule is built; political government is its indispensible instrument. The wage-workers cannot be freed from exploitation without conquering the political power and substituting collective for private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation.

The basis for such transformation is rapidly developing with present capitalist society. The factory system, with its complex machinery and minute division of labor, is rapidly destroying all vestiges of individual production in manufacture. Modern production is already very largely a collective and social process. The great trusts and monopolies which have sprung up in recent years have organized the work and management of the principal industries on a national scale, and have fitted them for collective use and operation.

There can be no absolute private title to land. All private titles, whether called fee simple or otherwise, are and must be subordinate to the public title. The Socialist Party strives to prevent land from being used for the purpose of exploitation and speculation. It demands the collective possession, control or management of land by those using it in a useful and bona fide manner without exploitation.

The Socialist Party is primarily an economic and political movement. It is not concerned with matters of religious belief.

In the struggle for freedom the interests of all modern wokers are identical. The struggle is not only national but international. It embraces the world and will be carried to ultimate victory by the united workers of the world.

To unite the workers of the nation and their allies and sympathizers of all other classes to this end, is the mission of the Socialist Party. In this battle for freedom the Socialist Party does not strive to substitute working class rule for capitalist class rule, but by working class victory, to free all humanity from class rule and to realise the international brotherhood of man.

Immediate Demands.

As measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

General Demands.

1. The immediate government relief for the unemployed workers by building schools, by reforesting of cut-over and waste lands, by reclamation of arid tracts, and the building of canals, and by extending all other useful public work. All persons employed on such works shall be employed directly by the government under an eight-hour work day and at the prevailing union wages. The government shall loan money to States and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works. It shall contribute to the funds of labor organizations for the purpose of assisting their unemployed members, and shall take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

2. The collective ownership of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, steamboat lines and all other means of social transportation and communication.

3. The collective ownership of all industries which are organized on a national scale and in which competition has virtually ceased to exist.

4. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

5. The scientific reforestation of timber lands, and the reclamation of swamp lands. The land so reforested or reclaimed to be permanently retained as a part of the public domain.

6. The absolute freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

Industrial Demands.

7. The improvement of the industrial condition of the workers.

(a) By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

(b) By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

(c) By securing a more effective inspection of workshops and factories.

(d) By forbidding the employment of children under sixteen years of age.

(e) By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor, of convict labor and of all uninspected factories.

(f) By abolishing official charity and substituting in its place compulsory insurance against unemployment, illness, accidents, invalidism, old age and death.

Political Demands.

8. The extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the amount of the bequests and to the nearness of kin.

9. A graduated income tax.

10. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women, and we pledge ourselves to engage in an active campaign in that direction.

11. The initiative and referendum, proportional representation and the right of recall.

12. The abolition of the Senate.

13. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United tSates to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by cress or by a referendum of the whole people.

14. That the Constitution be made amendable by majority vote.

15. The enactment of further measures for general education and for the conservation of health. The bureau of education to be made a department. The creation of a department of public health.

16. The separation of the present bureau of labor from the department of commerce and labor, and the establishment of a department of labor.

17. That all judges be elected by the people for short terms, and that the power to issue injunctions shall be curbed by immediate legislation.

18. The free administration of justice.

Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole power of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry and thus come to their rightful inheritance.

COUNCILMAN F. P. ZIMPFER STRONG FOR ARBOR DAY

Says Occasion Important Enough to Come Twice a Year.

That the teachings and results of Arbor Day are so necessary and important that we should have one in April and one in October, is the opinion of City Councilman Fred P. Zimpfer.

In commenting upon the Lazarus gift of 50,000 trees to the school children, Mr. Zimpfer said:

"I have travelled quite a bit and have seen sections where there are few or no trees. I wouldn't live in such a place if it were given to me for nothing.

"I think the Lazarus Co. should have a vote of thanks from the citizens of Columbus for their efforts.

"I will support an ordinance creating or extending the office in Columbus of City Forester and Tree Surgeon to preserve the many beautiful trees we now have, as well as to teach the public how to care for them and to plant more.

"There is no doubt that taking care of trees and teaching children how necessary and beautiful they are, leads to higher ideals and makes better citizens.

"I hope the efforts of the Lazarus Co. will help make Arbor Day 1912, the most successful and fruitful we have ever had."

OHIO NOTES.

The Ohio Northen University now boasts of having a local of the Intercollegiate Socialist Society, organized lately, and the Ohio Wesleyan is also forming a branch of this influential body of college men and women.

Frank Midney and R. H. Williamson have been suspended by the Socialist local of Dayton for taking part in a debate with Emma Goldman after being instructed not to do so by the local. Emma is bound to creat trouble for the Socialist organization one way or another.

Several new locals have been formed in Medina County during the winter. Now they are discussing the matter of holding a joint picnic at Chippewa Lake early in the summer to perfect plans to solidly organize the County. The Medina Reds are even talking of carrying that old rock- ribbed Republican stronghold—Cleveland Citizen.

HOMES FOR FALLEN WOMEN FAIL TO CURE SOCIAL EVIL

Capitalistic System Creates Victims Faster Than So-Called Charity Can Provide For Them.

The following is a portion of a circular that has been sent out to many people in this city:

"Dear Friend—Will you kindly consent to patronize our 1912 Benefit for the Florence Crittenton Home to be given at Memorial Hall, Friday evening, March 29th? We would consider it a favor to have your name on our list for this affair, which is gotten up to help pay off a mortgage of $4,000 on the Home.

"We are to have a beautifully illustrated Travel talk on 'The Picturesque Philippines,' by 'Lieut. O'Flaherty, of Washington, D. C., the children's soldier-lecturer,' and noted traveler, who comes to us very highly recommended and whose up-to-date finely colored pictures are said to be unexcelled.

There are many questions being raised as to whether many of these institutions are practical benefits in view of the sad fact that they do not lessen one, but the growth of the social evil. They have a Florence Crittenton Home in Minneapolis as in all big cities, an institution to which girls are committed and to which women may go and get rid of their troubles(?).

By a clipping sent to this office we learn that March 8, a young girl, Bernice Mead, 18 years old, was to go into immolation for a year. "Memphis, as is the custom," says the Daily News of that city, "she was to wear a uniform and wash for a living on the dining car lines of the Great Northern railroad is washed at this peculiar institution."

Bernice would not see it that way. She had done nothing, she said, to deserve such servitude and slavery, and the train away at the first opportunity.

Are these Crittenton homes an unmixed blessing. Who gets the money these unhappy victims earn by washing?

They are convenient places to thrust a betrayed woman, covered with shame by the wiles of some brutal man. These poor creatures can often be successfully lead into convents and nunneries, making a virtue of their necessities. But as though it was not enough for a woman to have her confidence and faith betrayed? She must go into servitude to the Great Northern railroad for a year, through this so-called benevolent institution.

The capitalistic system furnishes the inmates for these so-called homes in increasing numbers every year by the low wages paid girls and women in shops, stores and offices. Then the smug, smoothing, canting hypocrites salve their consciences by giving money to keep up concerns that cannot take care of one-tenth of the victims of social conditions.

Shame on such charity.

GAME OF MASTERS EXPOSED BY SOCIALISTS

Workers Induced to Flock to Akron Under False Pretenses.

Some, if not all, the rubber manufacturing concerns in that thriving town of Akron, O., have for some time past been guilty of sending out the word to all the world, including England, Russia and other foreign countries by glaring advertisements asking for laborers in the rubber goods plants of that place. Men have come to Akron from all parts of the United States, and from foreign countries, imagining of securing employment at Akron, only to be conducted through the plants by a courteous page, and dismissed with the "kiss of Judas" as it were, when they were told to call again the next day, and the next day they were told the same thing.

After patience and money was all gone they would be thrown on the tender mercies of the town charity, unless they were willing to go to work for cut rate wages and keep their lips closed as to that fact.

This outrage continued until the Central Labor Union passed a resolution calling upon the Mayor, F. M. Rockwell (who was beaten by the Socialist candidate for Mayor, but who was seated), to investigate the sale conditions, advertisements, etc., but who did not do so when another resolution was introduced into Council by the Socialist Councilman, John Meewis and seconded by the Socialist Councilman, M. C. Lesh, which resolution was substantially as follows:

"Resolved, That the City Council of Akron, Ohio, protest against the large rubber manufacturers widely advertising for men wanted, when there is already more men in the city than there is work for, thereby causing a large surplus of labor, which has a marked tendency to lower the wages of those already employed and leaving those answering such advertisements only to disappointment and loss to themselves and be thrown upon the city charities for aid.

"It is understood that there are eleven Councilmen in Akron and the Socialists have only two of the members, but like the four Councilmen in Columbus, they compell the capitalistic Councilmen to sit up and take notice of a few things. Those who think the interests of the employer and employes are identical will please read this article again. Think for five minutes before you say a word and then kick yourself till you have satisfaction.

The only houses that the workers can occupy without paying graft are poorhouses and jails.

KARB PROTECTS EICHORN AGAINST EXAMINATION

The Bad Boy Incompetent Has Full Swing to Put the Electric Light Plant out of Commission.

Mayor Karb stands upon the dignity of his high office and has refused to allow Superintendent Eichorn of the Electric Light plant, to tackle an examination in electrical matters as directed by council. The incompetency of Eichorn has been manifest ever since he took charge of the plant and his actions and words before council committees have been such as to disgust all sensible people. The electric light service since Eichorn's advent has been wretched in the extreme and the entire policy of the administration as manifested has only confirmed The Socialist's declaration that Mayor Karb's purpose was to make junk out of the city's electric light system. Eichorn has been called down even by his masters, for Friday night of last week when the finance committee considered the $85,000 bond issue to provide for connecting the cluster light system with the city plant, Director Kinnear presented the estimates for the proposed work, instead of Superintendent of the Light Plant Harry E. Eichorn and he displayed a familiarity and understanding of them never shown by the Superintendent. He explained to the committee that $17,500 of the $70,000 asked was for hauling the conduit from the light plant to the central part of the city, to connect with the cluster lighting system.

It also is the cause of some anxiety on the part of the people to know whether Mayor Karb will expend the proposed $265,000 bond intended and laden Gamper's estimate on its own, which puts the $265,000 down as a drop in the bucket.

THE SUPREME EFFORT

Now Is Your Opportunity to Double or Treble the Subscription List of "The Socialist"—Use the Enclosed Subscription Blank, and We Will Do the Rest.

The congressional and economic fight of the working class of this county is now on in earnest. We are going to win.

In order to do so we must get our party news, platform and principles before the people.

Never before in the history of Franklin county has there been such a demand for a Socialist newspaper as there is for this paper at this time. The circulation must be boosted. There is just one way it can be done, and that is through systematic and concerted action.

In your copy of this edition you will find a subscription blank. This blank will hold ten names. Use it. Fill it up if possible. If you find it impossible to fill it up yourself you can. Every reader can get at least one. If they don't want to subscribe for one year or six months most any one will give you a trial subscription for three months at 25 cents, and after that it's easy.

We have started on our march to victory. Education will win the day. Now is the time to strike. Strike capitalism a blow that will stagger it. Use the subscription blank in your paper now, at once.

Remember, it means every reader get just one subscription, and you can at least do that. Who will be the one to report with the blank filled out? It is the fight for humanity, comrades. Let's carry the message to homes that have never before heard it.

You comrades outside this county can aid just as much as those here. Get into the fight. Every loyal comrade, it matters not where you are, let us hear from you and that will nerve us to do bigger things than ever before.

WHY ALL HUMANITY SHOULD BE SOCIALISTS

By D. J. FARRELL

Socialism is not all materialism. While most all Socialists see things from a materialistic aspect, yet there is an altruistic and sentimental side to the great philosophy, from the stand-point of humanity. We see all around us the growing tendency toward greed and individualism, the widening of the gap of co-operation and mutualism. Let us just glance at our daily paper, which mirrors the world, and we see suicides, murders, robberies, want, misery, children dying, by thousands, women wanting to sell themselves for one square meal. Is it true? Is it fact, or is it the relentless system of capitalism. If it is to be ever thus, if men must kill one another like the beasts of the jungle to pile up a few hundred thousand dollars to protect themselves and their offspring from the evils that exist, then why should we go on.

But it is not to be ever thus. It has not always been what it is, it has been worse, we are now in the animal stage and we are slowly, but surely leaving our animal tendencies behind to be lost in the mystic labyrinth of the past, and we hope to be forgotten.

Woman suffrage for instance if maintained 10 years ago would be laughed at by almost any one. But today we believe in the solidarity of humankind. That we are children of one mother and the woman should have even more rights, privileges and immunities than men and the children. Black often, should have more than both, is this not a step forward? We are beginning to acknowledge that the community is of greater value to serve the race than self. Is not altruism the highest virtue and the selfishness the basic crime?

We the Socialists, believe in the freedom of mind of body; freedom of speech; freedom to work; freedom to play; freedom to do anything and all things that do not interfere with the freedom of our fellow brothers. We believe in the SCHOOL and PLAY-GROUND in place of the PRISON, the MINE and the MILL. The BOOK in place of the LASH. REFORM in place of PUNISHMENT and HELP in place of REPRESSION.

We believe in the sacredness of the family and the home, the legitimacy of EVERY child and the inalienable right of every woman to ABSOLUTE POSSESSION OF HERSELF.

We believe that every citizen should be a holder in the FARM OF THE COMMON GOOD. We believe in privilege and protection and equal opportunities for all. The curse for poverty is given to the producer all he produces instead of to the owning class. It is

We believe in substituting health for disease, peace for war, plenty for indigence, international friendship for mistrust, usefulness for crime, happiness for unhappiness, safety for danger, knowledge for ignorance and Socialism for plutocracy, and high treason.

Socialism is progress—it is the elevating of humanity above of people above property, of humanity above humbug and hypocrisy, it is progress from darkness to light, it is the denial of the gospel of getting and the assertion of the gospel of giving. It is progress from night to day, from cloud to sunshine, from ignorance to knowledge, from hatred to love, from fear to hope. From the Hell of the rule of gold to the Heaven of the Golden rule, or in words, while we battle for these things can you sink your selfishness to help bring about the better and grander day, do you want to better days, if you do, join the army of Socialists that are making the fight against this system of wrong and labor and fight with them for the great love of humanity and Socialism.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE

Some Hot Stuff to be Dished Up to Readers of This Paper.

The paper has come into possession of facts connected with insurrections in this County, that will implicate men high in political and social circles in this city. These affidavits and other facts are now locked up in a safety deposit vault. We are collecting all the data and connecting up the facts, and we are ready to state, that when these exposures are published, they will shake this State and County as never before. If you want to know what kind of men you have been voting for, when you vote the old party tickets, subscribe for this paper. We have the goods on them, and they will be exposed in spite of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association.

Charles W. Morse, the once New York banker, who recently was released from the federal prison at Atlanta on commutation of sentence, concerning whose physical condition alarming reports have been published, is said to be in comparatively good health in Florence, Italy. Had he been a common thief he would still be in prison and when released would be hounded by the "vigilant" police from place to place. It pays to be a banker.

WANTED: LAWYERS.

Bright, young lawyers who are Socialists are desired in Akron, Lancaster, Circleville and Xenia. Address Legal Department, The Socialist, 1084 South High Street, Columbus, Ohio, for particulars.

TWIN GANGS STAND PAT

It is becoming clearer every day that the unholy alliance entered into last year between the Mad Kaufmann Republican gang and the Jim Ross Democratic gang is still in force. Kaufmann and the Republican organization last Fall supported Karb with the agreement that this year the Democratic ring would do likewise for Congress against E. L. Taylor. The time for filing primary petitions is drawing nigh but not a single Democratic aspirant for congressional honors has, as yet, even been mentioned. It seems that the combine of bosses and boodle still has a death grip on both the Republican and Democratic organizations. The question is, will it still hold.

RUSSIAN CZAR'S MEASURE NOW BEFORE CONGRESS

(By National Socialist Press.)

The long hand of the Russian Czar has reached into the United States Senate, over the shoulder of Root (Elihu) and written a bill which probably will become the law of the land.

If the bill is put through Congress by Congress the Russian and other despotic governments will receive the aid of the republic of the United States, when they try to stamp out the revolutionary movement. The bill is in the form of an amendment to the pending immigration measure and provides for the deportation of "any alien who shall take advantage of his residence in the United States to conspire with others for the violent overthrow of any foreign government."

At present there are no laws in the United States against political refugees coming here. Considering also the fact that Root is a mighty power in the United States Senate and also that he is an ex-Secretary of the State, it is not unlikely that his bill will become law. The amendment was introduced without the slightest publicity and unless a storm of protest is immediately raised Root's reactionary measure will be written in the statute books.

It will be recalled that Root was strongly in favor of deporting Jan Pouren, who was saved from clutches of the Russian Czar by the military. Root's scheme is to abolish by Congressional enactment the traditional political asylum.

Should Root's bill become law all would be forbidden from participating in any movement having for its aim the overthrow of any foreign government.

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY SOCIALIST CLUB WILL HEAR W. C. BATES ON SUBJECT, "WHY WE ARE HOMELESS."

Upon invitation from the President of the Socialist Club of the Ohio State University, W. C. Bates, Socialist candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Franklin County, will address that club on Sunday afternoon, March 31, 1912, in the Ohio Union Building, at 3 o'clock. Comrade Bates will show how the homes of the mass of the people have slipped from them into the hands of the designing few. Everybody invited.

Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel, said Dr. Johnson, in his book of memoirs. It would seem that the whole pack of politicians have taken cover under the banner of patriotism in the hope that the American workingmen will not discover that they are the greatest gang of scoundrels that ever infested

"War, What Price?" the startling book written by George R. Kirkpatrick, has reached a sale of seven million (40,000). Some new matter has been added and the book is selling at $1.20. Lock box 428, Madison Square Station, New York City.

Printers' ink and paper can't be bought on hot air and Uncle Sam

THE TAILOR would of course be barred from our shops should the Socialists gain Congress. Columbus, Ohio

Again let it be stated that this movement has good chance of becoming large if for no other reason than the fact that Elihu Root is its author and sponsor. This bill will bear watching, and it should receive the attention of the Socialist Congressmen, so that you may rest assured.

W. D. Haywood will speak at Red Lion Hall 335 1-2 South High St.

SOCIALIST REPLY

To Rev. Father L. F. Kearney's Lecture on "The Catholic and the Socialist," at Lancaster, Ohio, March 14, 1912.

We claim that as the twig is bent the tree is inclined. So, therefore Father Kearney takes his present position against Socialism, or as we come to know the powers of economic determinism which seems to hold many such as Father Kearney in defense of the present capitalist system.—It is for the money that they receive from the capitalist that they defend the capitalist system. And also many of them are exploiters of labor themselves, owning great shares in the industries and the mills of the world. So you see why they defend the present capitalist system.

But you, Mr. Catholic working man and our brothers, we want you to understand that we have nothing against you what ever as it is your individual right to believe in any faith or religious faith that appeals to you and all the other men have the same privelege. Some of us may belong to another church, such as Mormons, Baptists, Unitarians, Lutherans, Methodists, Episcopalians, Buddhist, Mohammedans, and some of us maybe Aetheists also. This is purely a matter of our individual liberties and has absolutely nothing to do with our political ideas, etc.

We Socialists want to change this capitalistic system of private ownership of the industries, to the great co-operative ownership, which means that we will all be partners and owners of them, in other words, it will be industrial democracy. In this new system of ownership we will give ourselves the product of our toil and we will be at liberty to use it for any purpose that we desire; except that you will not be able to use it to make profits upon—that is—you will not be able to build an industry and operate it by paying any of the workers therein less than the full product of their toil, but you can use it to construct your homes, to educate yourselves, to purchase all the necessities of life or to pay the teacher, preacher, priest or whoever you or society sees fit to have as such advisors.

According to the U. S. government statistics of the industries of this nation we workers are producing more than ten dollars worth of wealth per day to each and every worker on an average employed therein, but the same statistics, show us that we only get, on an average of about two dollars per day; now who gets the other eight dollars? Can't you see that it is the capitalist that gets it? And in the words of our own Abraham Lincoln—who said that "labor is the producer of all wealth, therefore all wealth rightfully belongs to the producer."—And the producer is you, Mr. Catholic working man, as well as all the rest of us. This cannot interfere with your Catholic faith—but if the church, be it Catholic, Mormon or whatsoever, are the capitalists and the exploiters of labor and it's products then it may object to us workers asking for what belongs to us.

This earth has a plenty for us all, and it is God's will that we shall have it, but the capitalists are standing in the way. So it is up to us working men to abolish them and place ourselves as owners and operators of the means of production and distribution of the products of our toil, which will give all an equal opportunity to labor as much as he or she pleases and to receive the full product of his or her toil.

We want it made plain to you that we have nothing whatever against your faith. We are fighting the battle of the working class and trying to get justice for them, therefore you saw us, regardless of the McNamara brothers being Catholics, and also Democrats, which the Rev. Father Kearney admitted in his lecture, fighting with all our press and advocating that they might have a fair trial. And we still hold that they were kidnaped and denied the protection of the laws the same as any other citizen. We did not know of their guilt, but we did know that they were kidnaped and therefore we fought for them to have justice regardless of their being Catholics. We are opposed to all violence and deeds of lawlessness by the working class as well as by the capitalist class. As we know that it would only be a detriment to our cause. We feel sorry for the McNamaras, but we do not sanction their crime. If they had been Socialists their intellect would have shown to them that they could not help themselves in resorting to violence.

It is our aim to educate all of the working class so that they will realize the strength that they possess and to use the ballot as the only weapon whereby they, being in the largest mapority, they can take over this government by peaceful means and establish Socialism—the great Co-Operative Commonwealth.

In the words of Lincoln again: "Revolutionize the ballot"—"let the people know the truth and the country is safe." Lincoln said on equal rights: "Most governments have been based, practically, on a denial of the equal right of men. Ours began by affirming these rights. They said, some men are too ignorant or vicious to share in government." "Possibly so," said we, "and by your system you would always keep them ignorant and vicious. We propose to give all a chance; and we expect the weak to grow stronger and the ignorant wiser and happier and better together."

Lincoln also said, to the working men: "The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relation, should be one uniting all working people of all nations, tongues and kindreds."

This is our effort and the Socialist Party and the Industrial Workers of the World will yet accomplish it.

We do not want to divide up the property as Father Kearney told you. We are not a danger to society; we are not an enemy to religion, the family or the home and—as for children—we of the working class have always produced them and, if given a better opportunity to provide and care for them, we will produce more and more of them; as under the Socialist system they will be a blessing and not a curse as they are today, under this capitalistic system—making us greater slaves and also, taking the little children and their mothers and grind them into profits in the industries. Also, at the same time, compelling man to work for the woman's or children's wages such as you have just seen in the Lawrence, Mass., mill worker's strike investigation. Or we must go unemployed and starve.

Socialism will give us all a chance to work and live by getting the full product of our toil. Socialism declares for absolute equality of the sexes in all things. This is freedom for womanhood. She is degraded now because she is not a citizen and is depended upon man for a living, this makes her in effect a slave, and it is the basis of prostitution. When she is made economicaly and politically free she will be independent and therefore can develop to the fullest extent of her womanly qualities.

Socialism will foster home-making by making it possible for every family to own a home in it's own right.

Socialism is an economic, political movement; while there may be individual Socialists who are unbelievers, Socialists stand for toleration in all matters of belief. They would not prohibit anyone from being religious if they could, and they could not if they would, for majorities will rule under Socialism, and even a majority could not make a man disbelieve any thing he did believe. Socialism will make it possible to live a deeper religious life than can be lived while poverty and oppression are so prevalent. And, when the robbery of the worker ceases, the people who wish to do so, will be better able to support the church by voluntary contributions than they are now. The cry that Socialism will destroy religion is no new cry. It was said of abolition, of the public schools, of labor unions and even of the Christian gospel itself.

The Rev. Father Kearney made many misrepresentations, his chief attacks made upon men's belief in science and evolution and not upon Socialism. We have all the books referred to by Father Kearney and know of their contents. We were insulted by many of Father Kearney's remarks; but we consider it a misrepresentation for a purpose. His attack upon individuals and also his remarks upon free-love and immorality were poor arguments against Socialism. We could cite many such instances against individuals in the Catholic church and their institutions throughout this country, but we do not accuse the church or the faith for the evils of such individuals. All we ask is a fair consideration. Come to our meetings every Sunday at 8:30 p. m. corner Wheeling St. and Washington Ave., where we will treat all visitors with the utmost respect and be glad to answer any or all questions. Ask any Socialist for our platform and investigate for yourself.

We also extend an invitation to any Catholic or Priest, upon the question of Socialism being any of the evil things that Father Kearney accused it of, to debate. We will meet you at any date you choose and stand one-half of the expenses of hall rent, etc.

We remain, your fellow brothers of the working class,
Local Lancaster,
Socialist Party of Ohio.
Adopted at regular meeting third month, seventeenth day nineteen hundred and twelve.

WM. N. FETHEROLF,
Secretary.

CHILLICOTHE DEPARTMENT

ED. JONES, 781 E. Main St.

The foundation stone has been laid, and within a short time, a beautiful monument will stand completed in Central Park, New York City, in remembrance to the sailors who were slain in Havana harbor on Feb. 15, 1898. Slain for what, did you ever consider? If it was a mine placed there for that purpose, then we as civilized nations, are blood thirsty barbarians, cowardly assassins; to use our mental and physical powers to invent and build a device that will destroy life in such vast numbers.

Just take the United States for example, we as a nation, spend millions and millions of dollars every year to equip and maintain our army and navy with the most modern rifles and mechanical devices for nothing else than to destroy (murder) human life.

Remember Gen. Sherman's words (war is hell.) Then if Sherman was right, we have created hell. We with so much intellect which we boast of. Just remember this on Decoration Day, when you are in the cemetery placing a few flowers on your loved ones' graves, who have been laid to rest.

And when you pass a grave where the Stars and Stripes are unfurled to the sweet and fragrant breezes of the flowers that you have placed there in remembrance to some one, which you have loved and still love. Then look at your hands and see in your mind the spots of blood of brave and honest men and boys who have died on the battle fields for generations past. And resolve that in the future you as an individual will be one of millions of individuals who will try and succeed in the end to eliminate all wars. We, the workers and creators of the implements of war are the ones who use them to murder our brothers of other nations, brothers whom we have never seen until we face them on the battle field and see their lifeless forms lying in vast numbers, staining the earth with their blood.

Shame on a civilization that will color this beautiful earth and waters with a tint that can only be gotten by the sacrifice of life. And then we erect monuments all over our lands to keep in remembrance our dastardly and dispicable crimes. I have nothing but contempt for our civilization which we call Christian, which has allowed this to continue.

But I have a hope they will awaken from their slumber and forever wipe out all the sad, and diplorable results which are bound to follow in the foot steps of all wars. When we awaken to this fact and use the energy and genius which we have and are using now for wars, and turn them completely around for the purpose of educating ourselves to a higher and better plane of life, then our coming to this earth which we all love or should love, (but circumstances sometimes turn us to hate it), will be fulfilled. Only a few days ago we picked up our daily papers and were horrified when we read the headlines which said, 85 more miners had lost their lives in a coal mine located at McCurtain, Okla. Just think of the suffering of these mothers and children, that will be the result of this explosion.

Possibly this was an accident and could not be helped, and possibly it was the negligence of some worker, or possibly it was negligence on the part of the owners of the mine. Regardless of either of these things, I mention, we know something was wrong, or it would not have happened. Now then, if we know something is wrong and are too cowardly to consult each other and lay the blame where it rightly belongs and try to eliminate such catastrophies in the future, we are deserving of being called uncivilized. If it was the worker himself, it was done ignorantly, for no man would wilfully paint such an awful mind's picture with human life. If it was the owners of the mine, through their negligence, in not living up to the laws of the state of Oklahoma, (if they have any to safeguard the lives of miners), then it was done for profit, ground out of the toil of those miners. And I damn such a system that will allow these circumstances to occur. Picture for yourself, in your mind, how nice we could have and will have this beautiful old earth, when we all see alike and will work to the betterment of the human race, when wars are abolished and profits eliminated and we shall receive the full product of our labor less the cost of distribution, then this picture in your mind will materialize and not before. All nations will then be at peace with each other and we will have what the churches are striving for today but can not get, under an insane and unjust profit system, the Brotherhood of Man.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS

A state convention of the Socialist Party of Mississippi will be held at Jackson on April 8.

The proceedings on the Lawrence strike, which took place before a committee of Congress, have been printed by the government. The volume is entitled "Hearings Before the Committee on Rules of the House of Representatives on House Resolutions 409 and 433." You can secure a copy by writing to the Congressman from your district.

State Secretary Joseph C. Schawe, of Ohio, reports that local at Lima, Ohio, has expelled the following from membership in the party: Edwin Blank, D. G. Goodenow, Finley Stalter, Frank Stevenson and Show Johnson.

By a recent referendum in Indiana, James Oneal, 309½ Ohio street, Terre Haute, was re-elected State Secretary.

The National Executive Committee has adopted a motion to donate the sum of $1,000 to local at Milwaukee for the purposes of the pending municipal campaign in that city.

PROPOSED NATIONAL PARTY REFERENDUM.

Local Minneapolis (Scandinavian), Minnesota.

"That wife and husband may belong to the party with full membership right upon payment of one person's dues.

"That when applying for admission to the party they shall both sign separate applications and they shall also hold separate membership cards.

"That the payment of dues for single women be reduced to 15 cents.

"Comment: This question is very important for the reason that many families would be desirous of belonging to the party if they could afford to pay the membership dues. Every Socialist local has had the experience that either the husband or the wife must stay away because they cannot both afford to pay the 33 cents a month. Some locals may give both the right to vote, but that is at the present time against the constitution of the party. Therefore, it is very important that the party as a whole could solve this question.

"We admit that our membership dues are set as low as possible. But at the same time we have to consider that a common wage-worker does not receive more in wages than barely enough to keep the family alive.

"Members in good standing 21."

SOMETHING DOING IN ATHENS TOWN.

Some dozen or more enthusiastic Socialists of the staid old town of Athens are working up a local in that town. Arrangements are being made for a speaker and organizer in the near future and all those who are interested will kindly communicate with Comrade A. L. Spedden, of The Home Furniture Company, who will give any desired information and who will also take your subscription for this paper.

"TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO THE SOCIALISTS"

Minister So Advised Members of His Flock.

Woman Is Horror Stricken Upon Reading News of Wilmington Whipping Post.

Canal Dover, O.—After reading an account of the barbaris manner in which two human beings were punished in Wilmington some time ago, a prominent lady of this city who desires that her name be withheld went to her minister, pleading with him for action on behalf of the unfortunates, who, according to a statement are to be again submitted to the tortures of the lash. While the consultation between the minister and the lady was in progress, tears frequently flowed from the eyes of both. The minister told the lady that the church was powerless to act in this affair.

"The only people who can do anything in a case like this are the Socialists," said the preacher, "and I would advise you to take the matter to them." The lady proceeded to look up a member of the Socialist party here and told her story, giving the clippings she had cut from the newspapers to him.

Truly, the Socialist party is the staunch friend of the unfortunate, no matter who, or where they are.

Every Socialist ought to submit a protest to the governor of the State of Delaware, demanding that such barbaric and feindish cruelty be stopped.

If a man receives such tortures as that inflicted by the wolves of Wilmington, is not already a hopeless criminal, he is sure to become one after being beaten.

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

Job Harriman, who is lecturing in the East, says that the chances are good to elect 20 Socialists to the California Legislature this fall and two Congressmen as well.

Rev. C. D. Record, of the Church of Christ, in Kemp, Tex., announces that he has become a Socialist and intends to express his views no matter what the plutes may say or do.

M. Deslinieres, a member of the French Parliament, has introduced a bill to create a Socialistic colony in Morocco at a cost of $20,000,000. The idea is geing discussed quite seriously, but the bill probably will be defeated.

John Walker, president of the Illinois miners, has been nominated by the Socialists for Congress in the Danville district to oppose Joe Cannon. There are thousands of miners and other organized workers in the district and a hard fight is going to be made to elect Walker.

A minimum wage of $2.25 and an eight-hour day was boosted in the City Council at New Castle, Pa., by the Socialist members. But the old-party "workingman's friends" combined and defeated the ordinance. Now they are being roundly denounced, but they won't care if they can get enough votes to be eletced again.

Socialism is getting to be a weekly topic in Congress. Oscar Underwood, Democratic leader of the House, declared in a speech Monday that the U. S. Supreme Court was responsible for the growth of Socialism because that body smashed the income tax law by a five to four vote eight years ago. Oscar is off his base, even if he is sassing the court.

Socialists of Lacrosse, Wis., are going to make a systematic effort to break down the high prices charged for food stuff. They are getting the consent of property owners to use vacant lots for planting purposes, and some of the merchants have joined hands with the Socialists in offering prizes to those who make the best showing in raising products.

James H. Maurer, the only Socialist member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, was elected president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor at the Pittsburg convention last week. Maurer, who is a plumber, defeated E. E. Greenwalt, a cigarmaker who has been president of the body for a number of years. Charles F. Queen, of Nanticoke, who is also a Socialist, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Philip Scheideman, the Socialist vice president of the German Parliament, has been unseated by a combination of Clericals, Conservatives and Liberals because he refused to trot over to the Kaiser's house and ask Bill what he desired in the shape of legislation. A National Liberal person was chosen to fill Scheideman's place. The Socialists don't care a tinker's dam about the fussing of the old crowds.

The irony of fate! T. Roosevelt was denounced in the aristocratic Union League Club of New York last week as an "Undesirable Citizen!" The New York Volkszeitung declares indignantly that it is up to Debs, Moyer and Haywood to protest against having Roosevelt placed upon the same level that they occupy. The original "undesirables" certainly have cause to complain and ought to run for an injunction without losing a moment's time.

The Socialists of Vancouver, B. C., have won their free speech fight. After about 60 arrests were made the people became aroused and fully 8,000 gathered in the streets one evening to participate in a demonstration. The cops and politicians got frightened and threw up their hands. Then for four hours the Reds bombarded the plutes with hotshots. There is an election to take place in British Columbia next month, and the Socialists made so much noise that the old gangs realized they were getting in bad with the patient public.

You slaves can't win freedom by sitting down and whining about it. You've got to hustle for it.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

A vote will probably be taken on the initiative and referendum proposal by the Convention this week. This was the understanding at least among the members when they left for their homes last Friday. But the form that the proposal will likely take when the roll call is finally reached, is hard to determine at this time for the reason that the I. & R. delegates have some differences of opinion as to percentages and the direct and indirect initiative.

The substitute and pending amendments for the Crosser proposal were all laid on the table and a new substitute by Mr. Fackler was introduced correcting the language of the former, which was alleged to be faulty, leaving the main features of the proposal as reported by the committee.

Two amendments have been offered to the substitute, one by Judge Peck of Cincinnati, striking out the direct initiative on legislative enactments, and leaving it for constitutional amendments. This would permit of the use of only the indirect initiative, that of petitioning the legislature, for the enactment of laws that could be used.

The other amendment by Mr. Lampson inhibits the use of the I. & R. for the purpose of applying the principles of the single tax in the State. This single tax bugaboo was injected into the fight at the instigation of the State Board of Commerce, for the purpose of arousing the antipathy of the farmer against the I. & R. and if possible defeating it at the polls.

The indirect initiative gives the people the right to propose measures by petition of four per cent, and makes it mandatory for the legislature to enact such measures into law, or submit them with alternative competing propositions to the people to be voted upon.

Judge Peck argued that this initiative is all the people need, for if the legislature fails to do the bidding of the people, the law petitioned for must be submitted to the voters anyhow.

The labor members with the exception of Hoffman and Cordes of Cincinnati, who were pledged when elected, to vote for the indirect initiative, will remain firm for the direct initiative, and will endeavor to get both the direct and indirect submitted to a vote of the people.

Proposals reported by the various committees for adoption during the week follow: By the Labor Committee—Proposal No. 24, relating to compensation for accidents, and Nos. 122 and 209, regulating the hours of labor and conditions of employment, as submitted last week. The committee is now considering amendments to abolish contract prison labor, and prevent the sale of prison made goods, except the same be distinctly marked as such; and the matter of providing a State insurance fund for sickness, old age, invalidity and unemployment.

By the Judiciay Committee, Mr. Tetlow's proposal No. 230, providing that the General Assembly shall have full power to provide for the conservation of all the natural resources of the State, and may provide for the mining, weighing, measuring and marketing of all minerals.

By the Banking Committee, Mr Earnhart's proposal No. 93, imposing double liability on stockholders of banks, in case they fail. It is the intention of some of the labor delegates, to introduce an amendment to this proposal, making it necessary for either the State or the banks themselves to guarantee bank deposits.

Mr. Bryan in his address to the Convention in very forcible language, expressed the need of some such requirement in every State Constitution in the country.

Following the settlement of the I. & R. question, will come the Short ballot. Our organizations should be expressing themselves on this subject to their delegates as soon as possible.

The intercollegiate Socialist Society now has local branches among undergraduates in 40 universities (besides four alumni chapters) and 7 more are being formed in as many institutions. Half a dozen of these college Socialist societies have entered the publishing field, while many others are active in the matter of distributing literature.

Butte, Mont., has a Socialist Police Judge. Before him was brought a workingman one day, charged with vagrancy. The judge stepped to the prisoner's side and said: "Brother, let me see your palms." The prisoner presented them, calloused, marred and scarred from hard work. "You a vagrant?" said the judge, "I think not. Your hands show that you have earned not only your own living, but the livings of several other fellows as well. I don't know who got it, but you earned it. You are dismissed." The capitalist papers of Butte, commenting on the case, complained that no justice could be had in Socialist courts.

SUFFRAGE PETITIONS FLOODING NATIONAL OFFICE.

Last week we issued a final call for the suffrage pettions. Since then extra help has been employed compiling the petitions and preparing them for presentation by Congressman Berger.

As this work progresses we realize what a wonderful work we have accomplished. Thousands of earnest men and women have concentrated their energy to make this the most magnificent petition ever presented in Washington. This work should be reinforced and emphasized in the following manner: Every Socialist local in the United States should send resolutions to the congressman from its district DEMANDING the enfranchisement of the women of the United States upon the same terms as men. DO NOT DELAY. DO IT NOW.

COUNCILMAN F. P. ZIMPFER STRONG FOR ARBOR DAY

Says Occasion Important Enough to Come Tiwe a Year.

That the teachings and results of Arbor Day are so necessary and important that we should have one in April and one in October, is the opinion of City Councilman Fred P. Zimpfer.

In commenting upon the Lazarus gift of 50,000 trees to the school children, Mr. Zimpfer said:

"I have travelled quite a bit and have seen sections where there are few or no trees. I wouldn't live in such a place if it were given to me for nothing.

"I think the Lazarus Co. should have a vote of thanks from the citizens of Columbus for their efforts.

"I will support an ordinance creating or extending the office in Columbus of City Forester and Tree Surgeon to preserve the many beautiful trees we now have, as well as to teach the public how to care for them and to plant more.

"There is no doubt that taking care of trees and teaching children how necessary and beautiful they are, leads to higher ideals and makes better citizens.

"I hope the efforts of the Lazarus Co. will help make Arbor Day 1912, the most successful and fruitful we have ever had."

OHIO NOTES.

The Ohio Northen University now boasts of having a local of the Intercollegiate Socialist Society, organized lately, and the Ohio Wesleyan is also forming a branch of this influential body of college men and women.

Frank Midney and R. H. Williamson have been suspended by the Socialist local of Dayton for taking part in a debate with Emma Goldman after being instructed not to do so by the local. Emma is bound to creat trouble for the Socialist organization one way or another.

Several new locals have been formed in Medina County during the winter. Now they are discussing the matter of holding a joint picnic at Chippewa Lake early in the summer to perfect plans to solidly organize the County. The Medina Reds are even talking of carrying that old rock- ribbed Republican stronghold—Cleveland Citizen.

HOMES FOR FALLEN WOMEN FAIL TO CURE SOCIAL EVIL

Capitalistic System Creates Victims Faster Than So-Called Charity Can Provide For Them.

The following is a portion of a circular that has been sent out to many people in this city:

"Dear Friend—Will you kindly consent to patronize our 1912 Benefit for the Florence Crittenton Home to be given at Memorial Hall, Friday evening, March 29th? We would consider it a favor to have your name on our list for this affair, which is gotten up to help pay off a mortgage of $4,000 on the Home.

"We are to have a beautifully illustrated Travel talk on 'The Picturesque Philippines,' by Lieut. O'Flaherty, of Washington, D. C., the children's soldier-lecturer, and noted traveler, who comes to us very highly recommended, and whose up-to-date, finely colored pictures are said to be unequaled."

There are many questions being raised as to whether many of these institutions are practical benefits in view of the sad fact that they do not lessen one bit the growth of the social evil. They have a Florence Crittenton Home in Minneapolis as in all big cities, an institution to which girls are committed and to which women may go and get rid of their troubles(?).

By a clipping sent to this office we learn that March 8, a young girl, Bernice Mead, 18 years old, was to go into immolation for a year. "Memphis-gan is the custom," says the Daily News of that city, "she will wear a uniform and work for a living all the dining car lines of the Great Northern railroad is washed at this peculiar institution."

Bernice would not see it that way. She had done nothing, she said, to deserve such servitude and slavery, and she ran away at the first opportunity.

Are these Crittenton homes an unmixed blessing. Who gets the money these unhappy victims earn by washing?

They are convenient places to thrust a betrayed woman, covered with shame by the wiles of some brutal man. These poor creatures can often be successfully lead into convents and nunneries, making a virtue of their necessities—just as though it was not enough for a woman to have her confidence and faith betrayed? She must go into servitude to the Great Northern railroad for a year, through this so-called benevolent institution.

The capitalistic system furnishes the impetus for these so-called homes in increasing numbers every year by the low wages paid girls and women in shops, stores and offices. Then the smug, smoothing, canting hypocrites salve their consciences by giving money to keep up concerns that cannot take care of one-tenth of the victims of inhuman social conditions.

Shame on such charity.

GAME OF MASTERS EXPOSED BY SOCIALISTS

Workers Induced to Flock to Akron Under False Pretenses.

Some, if not all, the rubber manufacturing concerns in the thriving town of Akron, O., have for some time past been guilty of sending out the word to all the world, including England, France and other foreign countries by glaring advertisements asking for laborers in the rubber goods plants of that place. Men have come to Akron from all parts of the United States and from foreign countries, sanguine of securing employment at Akron, only to be conducted through the plants by a courteous page, and dismissed with the "kiss of Judas" as it were, when they were told to call again the next day, and the next day they were told the same thing.

After patience and money was all gone they would be thrown on the tender mercies of the town charity, unless they were willing to go to work for cut rate wages and keep their lips closed as to that fact.

This outrage continued until the Central Labor Union passed a resolution calling upon the Mayor, E. M. Roskwell (who was beaten by the Socialist candidate for Mayor, but who was seated), to investigate the said conditions, advertisements, etc., but why did not do so until another resolution was introduced into Council by the Socialist Councilman, John Mowe, and seconded by the Socialist Councilman, A. C. Esch, which resolution was substantially as follows:

"Resolved, That the City Council of Akron, Ohio, protest against the large rubber manufacturers widely advertising for men wanted when there is already more men in the city than there is work for, thereby causing a large surplus of labor, which has a market tendency to lower the wages of those already employed and leaving those answering such advertisements only to disappointment and loss to themselves and be thrown upon the city charities for aid."

It is understood that there are eleven Councilmen in Akron and the Socialists have only two of the members, but like the four Councilmen in Columbus, they compell the capitalistic Councilmen to sit up and take notice of a few things. Those who think the interests of the employer and employes are identical will please read this article again. Think for five minutes before you say a word and then kick yourself if you have satisfaction.

The only houses that the workers can occupy without paying graft are poorhouses and jails.

THE SUPREME EFFORT

Now Is Your Opportunity to Double or Treble the Subscription List of "The Socialist"—Use the Enclosed Subscription Blank and We Will Do the Rest.

The commercial and economic fight of the working class of this county is now on in earnest. We are going to win. In order to do so we must get our party news, platform and principles before the people.

Never before in the history of Franklin county has there been such a demand for a Socialist newspaper as there is for this paper at this time. The circulation must be boosted. There is just one way it can be done and that is through systematic and concerted action.

In your copy of this edition you will find a subscription blank. This blank will hold ten names. Use it. Fill it up if possible. If you find it impossible to fill it up get all you can. Every reader can get at least (Oklahoma, if they have any to date) one subscription for one year, or six months six months or three months. If they don't want to subscribe for one year or six months six months or three months they will give you a trial subscription for three months at 25 cents and after that it's easy.

We have started on our march to victory. Education will win the day. Now is the time to strike. Strike capitalism a blow that will stagger it. Use the subscription blank and strike now, at once.

It means work for every reader of this publication, and you can at least do that. Who will be the first to report with the blank filled out? It is the fight for humanity, comrades. Let's carry the message to homes that have never before heard it.

You comrades outside the county can aid just as much as those here. Get into the fight. Every loyal comrade, it matters not where you are, let us hear from you and that will nerve us to go bigger things than ever before.

KARB PROTECTS EICHORN AGAINST EXAMINATION

The Bad Boy Incompetent Has Full Swing to Put the Electric Light Plant out of Commission.

Mayor Karb stands upon the dignity of his high office and has refused to allow Superintendent Eichorn, of the Electric Light plant, to tackle an examination in electrical matters as directed by council. The incompetency of Eichorn has been manifest ever since he took charge of the plant and his actions and words before council committee have been such as to disgust all sensible people. The electric light service since Eichorn's advent has been wretched in the extreme and the entire policy of the administration as manifested has only confirmed The Socialist's declaration that Mayor Karb's purpose was to make junk out of the city's electric light system. Eichorn has been called down even by his masters, for Friday night of last week when the Shande committee considered the $75,000 bond issue to provide for connecting the cluster light system with the city plant, Director Kinnear presented the estimates for the proposed work, instead of Superintendent of the Light Plant Harry E. Eichorn and he displayed a familiarity and understanding of them never shown by the Superintendent. He explained to the committee that $12,390 of the $75,000 asked was for building the conduit from the light plant to the central part of the city, to connect with the cluster lighting system.

It also is a cause of some anxiety on the part of the people to know whether Mayor Karb will expend the proposed $266,000 bond extender fund under Gamper's estimate or his own, which puts the $263,090 down as "a drop in the bucket."

WHY ALL HUMANITY SHOULD BE SOCIALISTS

By D. J. FARRELL

Socialism is not all materialism. While most all Socialists see things from a materialistic aspect, yet there is an altruistic and sentimental side to the great philosophy, from the stand-point of humanity. We see all around us the growing tendency toward greed and individualism, the widening of the gap of co-operation and mutualism. Let us just glance at our daily papers, with misery of the world, and we see suicides, murders, robberies, want, misery, children dying, by thousands, and men vieing to sell themselves for one square meal. Is it fate, is it luck, or is it the relentless system of capitalism. If it is to be ever thus, if men must for all time fight one another like the beasts of the jungle to pile up a few hundred thousand dollars to protect themselves and their offspring from the evils that exist, then why should we go on.

But it is not to be ever thus, it has not always been what it is, it has been worse, we are still in the animal stage and are slowly, but surely leaving our animal tendencies behind to be lost in the mystic labyrinth of the past, and we hope to be forgotten.

Woman suffrage for instance was maintained 15 years ago would be laughed at by almost any one. But today we believe in the solidarity of humankind. That we are children of one mother and the woman should have even more rights, privileges and immunities than men and the children. Bless them, should have more than both. Is this not a step forward?

We are beginning to acknowledge that the community is of greater value to serve the race than self; that altruism is the highest virtue and the selfishness is the same crime.

We the Socialists, believe in the freedom of mind or body; freedom of speech; freedom to work; freedom to play; freedom to do anything and all things that do not interfere with the freedom of our fellow brothers. We believe in the SCHOOL and PLAY-GROUND in place of the PRISON, the MINE and the MILL. The BOOK in place of the LASH. REFORM in place of PUNISHMENT, and HELP in place of REPRESSION.

We believe in the sacredness of the family and the home, the legitimacy of EVERY child and the inalienable right of every woman to ABSOLUTE POSSESSION OF HERSELF.

We believe that every citizen should be a soldier in the ARMY OF THE COMMON GOOD. We believe in privilege and protection and equal opportunities for all, the cure for poverty, giving to the producer all he produces instead of to the non-producer.

We believe in substituting health for disease, peace for war, plenty for indigence, international friendship for mistrust, usefulness for crime, happiness for unhappiness, safety for danger, knowledge for ignorance and Socialism for plutocracy, and high treason.

Socialism is progress. It is the elevating of humanity above property; of humanity above bumbug, and hypocrisy; it is progress from darkness to light, it is the denial of the gospel of getting and the assertion of the gospel of giving. It is progress from night to day, from cloud to sunshine, from ignorance to knowledge, from hatred to love, from fear to hope. From the Hell of the drub of gold to the Heaven of the Golden rule, it is worth while to battle for these things. Can you conceive any selfishness to help bring about the better and grander day, do you want a better class of men, if you do, join the army of Socialists that are making the fight against this system of turmoil and chaos and fight with them for the great love of humanity and Socialism.

According to the U. S. government

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE

Some Hot Stuff to be Dished Up to Readers of This Paper.

This paper has come into possession of facts connected with institutions in this County, that will implicate men high in political and local circles in this city. These facts and other facts are now locked up in a safety deposit vault. We are collecting all the data, and connecting up the facts, and we are frank to state, that when these exposures are published, they will shake this State and County, as never before. If you don't want to know what kind of men you have been voting for, when you vote the old party tickets, subscribe for this paper. We have the goods on them, and they will be exposed in spite of the Ohio Manufacturer's Association.

According to Charles W. Morse, the New York banker, who recently was released from the federal prison at Atlanta on commutation of sentence, concerning whose physical condition alarming reports have been published, is said to be in comparatively good health at Florence, Italy. Had he been a common thief, he would still be in prison and when released would be hounded by the vigilant police from place to place. It pays to be a banker.

WANTED—LAWYERS.

Bright, young lawyers who are Socialists are desired in Akron, Lancaster, Circleville and Xenia. Address Legal Department, The Socialist, 208½ South High Street, Columbus, Ohio, for particulars.

TWIN GANGS STAND PAT

It is becoming clearer every day that the unholy alliance entered into last year, between the Mad Kaufmer Republican gang and the Jim Ross Democratic gang is still in force. Kaufmer and the Republican organization last Fall supported Karb with the agreement that this year the Democratic ring would not oppose him for Congress against E. J. Taylor. The time for filing primary petitions is drawing nigh but not a single Democratic aspirant for congressional honors has, as yet, even been mentioned. It seems that the combine of bosses and boodle still has a death grip on both the Republican and Democratic organizations. The question is, will it still hold.

RUSSIAN CZAR'S MEASURE NOW BEFORE CONGRESS

(By National Socialist Press.)

Washington—The long hand of the Russian Czar has reached into the United States Senate over the shoulder of Root and written a bill which probably will become the law of the land.

Down by Congress the Russian and other despotic governments will receive the aid of the republic of the United States when they try across the ocean to escape the revolutionary fires of their own countries.

Root's bill is in the form of an amendment to the pending immigration measure and provides for the deportation of any alien who shall take advantage of the residence in the United States to conspire with others for the violent overthrow of a foreign government.

At a time when Congress is considering the fact that Russia is a mighty power on the side of the United States, Senator Root and also what he is an ex-Secretary of the State, it is not unlikely that his bill will become law. The amendment was introduced without the slightest publicity and unless its scope is immediately raised Root's reactionary measure may be written into the statute books.

It will be recalled that Root was strongly in favor of deporting Jan Pouren, who was saved from clutches of the Russian Czar through the efforts of the American people.

Root's scheme is to abolish by Congressional enactment the traditional political asylum that has existed in this country.

Should Root's amendment become law all political refugees would be forbidden from participating in any movement having for its object the overthrow of any foreign government, no matter how tyrannical and despotic the government may be.

Root's bill is the first step toward capping the political asylum question.

Printers' ink and paper can't be bought on hot air and Uncle Sam would of course be barred from our shops. Watch the Socialist Congressman. Columbus, Ohio.

Again let it be stated that this measure is not coming from Root for any other reason than the fact that Elihu Root is its author and sponsor. This bill will bear watching, and if it comes from the Socialist Congressman, you may rest assured.

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY SOCIALIST CLUB WILL HEAR W. S. BATES ON SUBJECT "WHY WE ARE HOMELESS."

Upon invitation from the President of the Socialist Club of the Ohio State University, W. S. Bates, Attorney for Labor and Member of the Executive Committee of the Ohio Union, will address that club on Sunday afternoon, March 31, 1912, at 3 o'clock. Comrade Bates will show how the homes of the mass of the people have slipped from them into the hands of the designing few. Everybody invited.

Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel, said Dr. Johnson, in his book of memoirs. It would seem that the whole pack of politicians have taken cover under the banner of patriotism in the hope that the American workingmen will not discover that they are the greatest gang of scoundrels that ever infested

"War What For?" the startling book written by George R. Kirkpatrick is now in its fifth edition (40,000). Some new matter has been added. Bells at $1.30. Lock box 166, Madison Square Station, New York City.

SOCIALIST REPLY

To Rev. Father L. F. Kearney's Lecture on "The Catholic and the Socialist," at Lancaster, Ohio, March 14, 1912.

We claim that as the twig is bent the tree is inclined. So, therefore Father Kearney takes his present position against Socialism, or as we come to know the powers of economic determinism which seems to hold many such as Father Kearney in defense of the present capitalist system.—It is for the money that they receive from the capitalist that they defend the capitalist system. And also many of them are exploiters of labor themselves, owning great shares in the industries and the mills of the world. So you see why they defend the present capitalist system.

But you, Mr. Catholic working man and our brothers, we want you to understand that we have nothing against you what ever as it is your individual right to believe in any faith or religious faith that appeals to you and all the other men have the same privelege. Some of us may belong to another church, such as Mormons, Baptists, Unitarians, Lutherans, Methodists, Episcopalians, Budhist, Mohammedans, and some of us maybe Aetheists also. This is purely a matter of our individual liberties and has absolutely nothing to do with our political ideas, etc.

We Socialists want to change this capitalistic system of private ownership of the industries, to the great co-operative ownership, which means that we will all be partners and owners of them, in other words, it will be industrial democracy. In this new system of ownership we will give ourselves the product of our toil and we will be at liberty to use it for any purpose that we desire; except that you will not be able to use it to make profits upon—that is—you will not be able to build an industry and operate it by paying any of the workers therein less than the full product of their toil, but you can use it to construct your homes, to educate yourselves, to purchase all the necessities of life or to pay the teacher, preacher, priest or whoever you or society sees fit to have as such advisors.

According to the U. S. government statistics of the industries of this nation we workers are producing more than ten dollars worth of wealth per day to each and every worker on an average employed therein, but the same statistics, show us that we only get, on an average of about two dollars per day; now who gets the other eight dollars? Can't you see that it is the capitalist that gets it? And in the words of our own Abraham Lincoln—who said that "labor is the producer of all wealth, therefore all wealth rightfully belongs to the producer."—And the producer is you, Mr. Catholic working man, as well as all the rest of us. This cannot interfere with your Catholic faith—but if the church, be it Catholic, Mormon or whatsoever, are the capitalists and the exploiters of labor and it's products then it may object to us workers asking for what belongs to us.

This earth has a plenty for us all, and it is God's will that we shall have it, but the capitalists are standing in the way. So it is up to us working men to abolish them and place ourselves as owners and operators of the means of production and distribution of the products of our toil, which will give all an equal opportunity to labor as much as he or she pleases and to receive the full product of his or her toil.

We want it made plain to you that we have nothing whatever against your faith. We are fighting the battle of the working class and trying to get justice for them, therefore you saw us, regardless of the McNamara brothers being Catholics, and also Democrats, which the Rev. Father Kearney admitted in his lecture, fighting with all our press and advocating that they might have a fair trial. And we still hold that they were kidnaped and denied the protection of the laws the same as any other citizen. We did not know of their guilt, but we did know that they were kidnaped and therefore we fought for them to have justice regardless of their being Catholics. We are opposed to all violence and deeds of lawlessness by the working class as well as by the capitalist class. As we know that it would only be a detriment to our cause. We feel sorry for the McNamaras, but we do not sanction their crime. If they had been Socialists their intellect would have shown to them that they could not help themselves in resorting to violence.

It is our aim to educate all of the working class so that they will realize the strength that they possess and to use the ballot as the only weapon whereby they, being in the largest maparity, they can take over this government by peaceful means and establish Socialism—the great Co-Operative Commonwealth.

In the words of Lincoln again: "Revolutionize the ballot"—"let the people know the truth and the country is safe." Lincoln said on equal rights: "Most governments have been based, practically, on a denial of the equal right of men. Ours began by affirming these rights. They said, some men are too ignorant or vicious to share in government." "Possibly so," said we, "and by your system you would always keep them ignorant and vicious. We propose to give all a chance; and we expect the weak to grow stronger and the ignorant wiser and happier and better together."

Lincoln also said, to the working men: "The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relation, should be one uniting all working people of all nations, tongues and kindreds."

This is our effort and the Socialist Party and the Industrial Workers of the World will yet accomplish it.

We do not want to divide up the property as Father Kearney told you. We are not a danger to society; we are not an enemy to religion, the family or the home and—as for children—we of the working class have always produced them and, if given a better opportunity to provide and care for them, we will produce more and more of them; as under the Socialist system they will be a blessing and not a curse as they are today, under this capitalistic system—making us greater slaves and also, taking the little children and their mothers and grind them into profits in the industries. Also, at the same time, compelling man to work for the woman's or children's wages such as you have just seen in the Lawrence, Mass., mill worker's strike investigation. Or we must go unemployed and starve.

Socialism will give us all a chance to work and live by getting the full product of our toil. Socialism declares for absolute equality of the sexes in all things. This is freedom for womanhood. She is degraded now because she is not a citizen and is depended upon man for a living, this makes her in effect a slave, and it is the basis of prostitution. When she is made economicaly and politically free she will be independent and therefore can develop to the fullest extent of her womanly qualities.

Socialism will foster home-making by making it possible for every family to own a home in it's own right.

Socialism is an economic, political movement; while there may be individual Socialists who are unbelievers, Socialists stand for toleration in all matters of belief. They would not prohibit anyone from being religious if they could, and they could not if they would, for majorities will rule under Socialism, and even a majority could not make a man disbelieve any thing he did believe. Socialism will make it possible to live a deeper religious life than can be lived while poverty and oppression are so prevalent. And, when the robbery of the worker ceases, the people who wish to do so, will be better able to support the church by voluntary contributions than they are now. The cry that Socialism will destroy religion is no new cry. It was said of abolition, of the public schools, of labor unions and even of the Christian gospel itself.

The Rev. Father Kearney made many misrepresentations, his chief attacks made upon men's belief in science and evolution and not upon Socialism. We have all the books referred to by Father Kearney and know of their contents. We were insulted by many of Father Kearney's remarks; but we consider it a misrepresentation for a purpose. His attack upon individuals and also his remarks upon free-love and immorality were poor arguments against Socialism. We could cite many such instances against individuals in the Catholic church and their instittuions throughout this country, but we do not accuse the church or the faith for the evils of such individuals. All we ask is a fair consideration. Come to our meetings every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. corner Wheeling St. and Washington Ave., where we will treat all visitors with the utmost respect and be glad to answer any or all questions. Ask any Socialist for our platform and investigate for yourself.

We also extend an invitation to any Catholic or Priest, upon the question of Socialism being any of the evil things that Father Kearney accused it of, to debate. We will meet you at any date you choose and stand one-half of the expenses of hall rent, etc.

We remain, your fellow brothers of the working class,

Local Lancaster,
Socialist Party of Ohio.

Adopted at regular meeting third month, seventeenth day nineteen hundred and twelve.

WM. N. FETHEROLF,
Secretary.

CHILLICOTHE DEPARTMENT

ED. JONES, 781 E. Main St.

The foundation stone has been laid, and within a short time, a beautiful monument will stand completed in Central Park, New York City, in remembrance to the sailors who were slain in Havana harbor on Feb. 15, 1898. Slain for what, did you ever consider? If it was a mine placed there for that purpose, then we as civilized nations, are blood thirsty barbarians, cowardly assassins; to use our mental and physical powers to invent and build a device that will destroy life in such vast numbers.

Just take the United States for example, we as a nation, spend millions and millions of dollars every year to equip and maintain our army and navy with the most modern rifles and mechanical devices for nothing else than to destroy (murder) human life.

Remember Gen. Sherman's words (war is hell.) Then if Sherman was right, we have created hell. We with so much intellect which we boast of. Just remember this on Decoration Day, when you are in the cemetery placing a few flowers on your loved ones' graves, who have been laid to rest,

And when you pass a grave where the Stars and Stripes are unfurled to the sweet and fragrant breezes of the flowers that you have placed there in remembrance to some one, which you have loved and still love. Then look at your hands and see in your mind the spots of blood of brave and honest men and boys who have died on the battle fields for generations past. And resolve that in the future you as an individual will be one of millions of individuals who will try and succeed in the end to eliminate all wars. We, the workers and creators of the implements of war are the ones who use them to murder our brothers of other nations, brothers whom we have never seen until we face them on the battle field and see their lifeless forms lying in vast numbers, staining the earth with their blood.

Shame on a civilization that will color this beautiful earth and waters with a tint that can only be gotten by the sacrifice of life. And then we erect monuments all over our lands to keep in remembrance our dastardly and dispicable crimes. I have nothing but contempt for our civilization which we call Christian, which has allowed this to continue.

But I have a hope they will awaken from their slumber and forever wipe out all the sad, and diplorable results which are bound to follow in the footsteps of all wars. When we awaken to this fact and use the energy and genius which we have and are using now for wars, and turn them completely around for the purpose of educating ourselves to a higher and better plane of life, then our coming to this earth which we all love or should love, (but circumstances sometimes turn us to hate it), will be fulfilled. Only a few days ago we picked up our daily papers and were horrified when we read the headlines which said, 85 more miners had lost their lives in a coal mine located at McCurtain, Okla. Just think of the suffering of these mothers and children, that will be the result of this explosion.

Possibly this was an accident and could not be helped, and possibly it was the negligence of some worker, or possibly it was negligence on the part of the owners of the mine. Regardless of either of these things, I mention, we know something was wrong, or it would not have happened. Now then, if we know something is wrong and are too cowardly to consult each other and lay the blame where it rightly belongs and try to eliminate such catastrophies in the future, we are deserving of being called uncivilized. If it was the worker himself, it was done ignorantly, for no man would wilfully paint such an awful mind's picture with human life. If it was the owners of the mine, through their negligence, in not living up to the laws of the state of Oklahoma, (if they have any to safeguard the lives of miners) then it was done for profit, ground out of the toil of those miners. And I damn such a system that will allow these circumstances to occur. Picture for yourself, in your mind, how nice we could have and will have this beautiful old earth, when we all see alike and will work to the betterment of the human race, when wars are abolished and profits eliminated and we shall receive the full product of our labor less the cost of distribution, then this picture in your mind will materialize and not before. All nations will then be at peace with each other and we will have what the churches are striving for today but can not get, under an insane and unjust profit system, the Brotherhood of Man.

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS

A state convention of the Socialist Party of Mississippi will be held at Jackson on April 8.

The proceedings on the Lawrence strike, which took place before a committee of Congress, have been printed by the government. The volume is entitled "Hearings Before the Committee on Rules of the House of Representatives on House Resolutions 409 and 433." You can secure a copy by writing to the Congressman from your district.

State Secretary Joseph C. Schawe, of Ohio, reports that local at Lima, Ohio, has expelled the following from membership in the party: Edwin Blank, D. G. Goodenow, Finley Stalter, Frank Stevenson and Show Johnson.

By a recent referendum in Indiana, James Oneal, 309½ Ohio street, Terre Haute, was re-elected State Secretary.

The National Executive Committee has adopted a motion to donate the sum of $1,000 to local at Milwaukee for the purposes of the pending municipal campaign in that city.

PROPOSED NATIONAL PARTY REFERENDUM.

Local Minneapolis (Scandinavian), Minnesota.

"That wife and husband may belong to the party with full membership right upon payment of one person's dues.

"That when applying for admission to the party they shall both sign separate applications and they shall also hold separate membership cards.

"That the payment of dues for single women be reduced to 15 cents.

"Comment: This question is very important for the reason that many families would be desirous of belonging to the party if they could afford to pay the membership dues. Every Socialist local has had the experience that either the husband or the wife must stay away because they cannot both afford to pay the 25 cents a month. Some locals may give both the right to vote, but that is at the present time against the constitution of the party. Therefore, it is very important that the party as a whole could solve this question.

"We admit that our membership dues are set as low as possible. But at the same time we have to consider that a common wage-worker does not receive more in wages than barely enough to keep the family alive.

"Members in good standing 21."

SOMETHING DOING IN ATHENS TOWN.

Some dozen or more enthusiastic Socialists of the staid old town of Athens are working up a local in that town. Arrangements are being made for a speaker and organizer in the near future and all those who are interested will kindly communicate with Comrade A. L. Snedden, of The Home Furniture Company, who will give any desired information and who will also take your subscription for this paper.

"TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO THE SOCIALISTS"

Minister So Advised Members of His Flock.

Woman Is Horror Stricken Upon Reading News of Wilmington Whipping Post.

Canal Dover, O.—After reading an account of the barbaric manner in which two human beings were punished in Wilmington some time ago, a prominent lady of this city who desires that her name be witheld went to her minister, pleading with him for action on behalf of the unfortunates, who, according to a statement are to be again submitted to the tortures of the lash. While the consultation between the minister and the lady was in progress, tears frequently flowed from the eyes of both. The minister told the lady that the church was powerless to act in this affair.

"The only people who can do anything in a case like this are the Socialists," said the preacher, "and I would advise you to take the matter to them." The lady proceeded to look up a member of the Socialist party here and told her story, giving the clippings she had cut from the newspapers to him.

Truly, the Socialist party is the staunch friend of the unfortunate, no matter who, or where they are.

Every Socialist ought to submit a protest to the governor of the State of Delaware, demanding that such barbaric and feindish cruelty be stopped.

If a man receives such tortures as that inflicted by the wolves of Wilmington, is not already a hopeless criminal, he is sure to become one after being beaten.

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

Job Harriman, who is lecturing in the East, says that the chances are good to elect 20 Socialists to the California Legislature this fall and two Congressmen as well.

Rev. C. D. Record, of the Church of Christ, in Kemp, Tex., announces that he has become a Socialist and intends to express his views no matter what the plutes may say or do.

M. Deslinieres, a member of the French Parliament, has introduced a bill to create a Socialistic colony in Morocco at a cost of $20,000,000. The idea is geing discussed quite seriously, but the bill probably will be defeated.

John Walker, president of the Illinois miners, has been nominated by the Socialists for Congress in the Danville district to oppose Joe Cannon. There are thousands of miners and other organized workers in the district and a hard fight is going to be made to elect Walker.

A minimum wage of $2.25 and an eight-hour day was boosted in the City Council at New Castle, Pa., by the Socialist members. But the old-party "workingman's friends" combined and defeated the ordinance. Now they are being roundly denounced, but they won't care if they can get enough votes to be elected again.

Socialism is getting to be a weekly topic in Congress. Oscar Underwood, Democratic leader of the House, declared in a speech Monday that the U. S. Supreme Court was responsible for the growth of Socialism because that body smashed the income tax law by a five to four vote eight years ago. Oscar is off his base, even if he is sassing the court.

Socialists of Lacrosse, Wis., are going to make a systematic effort to break down the high prices charged for food stuff. They are getting the consent of property owners to use vacant lots for planting purposes, and some of the merchants have joined hands with the Socialists in offering prizes to those who make the best showing in raising products.

James H. Maurer, the only Socialist member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, was elected president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor at the Pittsburg convention last week. Maurer, who is a plumber, defeated E. E. Greenwalt, a cigarmaker who has been president of the body for a number of years. Charles F. Queen, of Nanticoke, who is also a Socialist, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Philip Scheideman, the Socialist vice president of the German Parliament, has been unseated by a combination of Clericals, Conservatives and Liberals because he refused to trot over to the Kaiser's house and ask Bill what he desired in the shape of legislation. A National Liberal person was chosen to fill Scheideman's place. The Socialists don't care a tinker's dam about the fussing of the old crowds.

The irony of fate! T. Roosevelt was denounced in the aristocratic Union League Club of New York last week as an "Undesirable Citizen!" The New York Volkszeitung declares indignantly that it is up to Debs, Moyer and Haywood to protest against having Roosevelt placed upon the same level that they occupy. The original "undesirables" certainly have cause to complain and ought to run for an injunction without losing a moment's time.

The Socialists of Vancouver, B. C., have won their free speech fight. After about 60 arrests were made the people became aroused and fully 8,000 gathered in the streets one evening to participate in a demonstration. The cops and politicians got frightened and threw up their hands. Then for four hours the Reds bombarded the plutes with hotshots. There is an election to take place in British Columbia next month, and the Socialists made so much noise that the old gangs realized they were getting in bad with the patient public.

You slaves can't win freedom by sitting down and whining about it. You've got to hustle for it.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

A vote will probably be taken on the initiative and referendum proposal by the Convention this week. This was the understanding at least among the members when they left for their homes last Friday. But the form that the proposal will likely take when the roll call is finally reached, is hard to determine at this time for the reason that the I. & R. delegates have some differences of opinion as to percentages and the direct and indirect initiative.

The substitute and pending amendments for the Crosser proposal were all laid on the table and a new substitute by Mr. Fackler was introduced correcting the language of the former, which was alleged to be faulty, leaving the main features of the proposal as reported by the committee.

Two amendments have been offered to the substitute, one by Judge Peck of Cincinnati, striking out the direct initiative on legislative enactments, and leaving it for constitutional amendments. This would permit of the use of only the indirect initiative, that of petitioning the legislature, for the enactment of laws that could be used.

The other amendment by Mr. Lampson inhibits the use of the I. & R. for the purpose of applying the principles of the single tax in the State. This single tax bugaboo was injected into the fight at the instigation of the State Board of Commenrce, for the purpose of arousing the antipathy of the farmer against the I. & R. and if possible defeating it at the polls.

The indirect initiative gives the people the right to propose measures by petition of four per cent, and makes it mandatory for the legislature to enact such measures into law, or submit them with alternative competing propositions to the people to be voted upon.

Judge Peck argued that this initiative is all the people need, for if the legislature fails to do the bidding of the people, the law petitioned for must be submitted to the voters anyhow.

The labor members with the exception of Hoffman and Cordes of Cincinnati, who were pledged when elected, to vote for the indirect initiative, will remain firm for the direct initiative, and will endeavor to get both the direct and indirect submitted to a vote of the people.

Proposals reported by the various committees for adoption during the week follow: By the Labor Committee—Proposal No. 24, relating to compensation for accidents, and Nos. 122 and 209, regulating the hours of labor and conditions of employment, as submitted last week. The committee is now considering amendments to abolish contract prison labor, and prevent the sale of prison made goods, except the same be distinctly marked as such; and the matter of providing a State insurance fund for sickness, old age, invalidity and unemployment.

By the Judiciay Committee, Mr. Tetlow's proposal No. 230, providing that the General Assembly shall have full power to provide for the conservation of all the natural resources of the State, and may provide for the mining, weighing, measuring and marketing of all minerals.

By the Banking Committee, Mr Earnhart's proposal No. 93, imposing double liability on stockholders of banks, in case they fail. It is the intention of some of the labor delegates, to introduce an amendment to this proposal, making it necessary for either the State or the banks themselves to guarantee bank deposits.

Mr. Bryan in his address to the Convention in very forcible language, expressed the need of some such requirement in every State Constitution in the country.

Following the settlement of the I. & R. question, will come the Short ballot. Our organizations should be expressing themselves on this subject to their delegates as soon as possible.

The Intercollegiate Socialist Society now has local branches among undergraduates in 40 universities (besides four alumni chapters) and 7 more are being formed in as many institutions. Half a dozen of these college Socialist societies have entered the publishing field, while many others are active in the matter of distributing literature.

Butte, Mont., has a Socialist Police Judge. Before him was brought a workingman one day, charged with vagrancy. The judge stepped to the prisoner's side and said: "Brother, let me see your palms." The prisoner presented them, calloused, marred and scarred from hard work. "You a vagrant?" said the judge, "I think not. Your hands show that you have earned not only your own living, but the livings of several other fellows as well. I don't know who got it, but you earned it. You are dismissed." The capitalist papers of Butte, commenting on the case, complained that no justice could be had in Socialist courts.

SUFFRAGE PETITIONS FLOODING NATIONAL OFFICE.

Last week we issued a final call for the suffrage pettions. Since then extra help has been employed compiling the petitions and preparing them for presentation by Congressman Berger.

As this work progresses we realize what a wonderful work we have accomplished. Thousands of earnest men and women have concentrated their energy to make this the most magnificent petition ever presented in Washington. This work should be reinforced and emphasized in the following manner: Every Socialist local in the United States should send resolutions to the congressman from its district DEMANDING the enfranchisement of the women of the United States upon the same terms as men. DO NOT DELAY. DO IT NOW.

When Dr. Wiley began to make things too hot for the "poison kings" who were reaping profits at the expense of the health of the nation, the word went forth that he must be ousted. In his recent resignation from the department, the effectiveness and power of the corporate wealth which makes profits above all else is well exemplified. The decisive means by which this was accomplished is best known to those who accomplished his destruction. The example that has been made of this really conscientious officeholder shows only too well that anything that menaces the profits of modern business will not be tolerated by these modern pirates as long as they control jobs and shows one more reason for the abolition of the whole system of profits.

A NEW EXPERIENCE.

One great thing about the Boy Scout Movement is that it is progressive in every detail.

It leads from theories of murder to actual murder.

After the murder is consummated, then there is the additional experience of a real military funeral.

New York has the honor of one of the first fruits of the Boy Scout Movement. A 10-year-old boy, Henry Luckhardt, was shot down in cold blood by a matured scout, Maitland Jarvis, aged 12 years.

No Socialist publication would for a moment accuse the Jarvis boy of having committed a crime. It would not and could not blame him. He has simply done what he has been taught to do. He has followed to a logical conclusion those teachings which are inherent in that movement of militarized murder known as the Boy Scout organization.

It may be that he acted somewhat prematurely and on his own initiative. But that simply shows signs of unexpected understanding of the trend of the organization to which he belongs. If he had not acted as he did in a few years he would have been a member of the National Guard.

Is it not a significant fact that the majority of those members of the Massachusetts militia who disgraced themselves at Lawrence were very young men, most of them mere boys, Harvard boys included?

We are a people who prepare for the future and train our boys at the earliest possible age. The militia did not teach them the sanctity of murder at an early enough age, so we started the Boy Scouts.

Here is business from the start.

A boy knows how to handle a gun. He has to children quarrel with a younger boy, kills shoots him down. The 12-year-old boy is responsible or can be held responsible for following what has been taught him by grown-up leaders and supposedly intelligent people.

On the heads of the organizers of the Boy Scout Movement rests the responsibility for the death of that bright, healthy, happy little boy whose body was laid in its grave.

THE OUTCOME AT LAWRENCE.

It has been announced in the daily press that the textile workers of Lawrence and some other mill towns have been "granted" an increase of wages that will in one year amount to $10,000,000. In the same dispatch it was also stated that the price of the product of the textile mills would be increased and that the ultimate consumer would have to pay the price. So it seems that the magnates of the textile world will lose nothing.

All that has been won and the most important thing is the demonstration of the solidarity of the working class.

All that has been won in Lawrence is only an indication of what should be more. It is a beginning, but in any way a closed chapter. And the items that make the concession possible indicate what can be done on a far larger scale. Behind the Industrial Workers of the World, who conducted this fight, there was the Socialist party, giving cohesion to their efforts, direction to their enthusiasm, hope to all and also practically assisting the battle.

Time and again the Socialists have entered into a labor struggle and endured the brunt of it. Where the working class is pitted against the capitalists, the Socialists are found fighting the battle of the workers. It is not a matter of policy. It is a matter of steadfast conviction. It is the very thing for which Socialists are a party, for which they are organized and for which they have fought during these many discouraging years.

In the present strife, the workers could not count on any humanitarian impulse for the mill owners to grant them aught. They feared that more might be demanded of them. They knew that many of the mill workers—men, women and children of many nationalities—are among the worst paid, most underfed, overworked, down-trodden producers that exist anywhere. Without the solidarity that was made possible by the Socialist ideas, they stood as a class.

Organization is the only hope. Others may help us by their good will, counsel and courage, but our real strength lies in combining our own numbers and forces. With organization all things are possible to us, without it nothing is attainable.

What organization really stands for to us is the right to labor on terms of freedom, and to experience life in its fullness. Out of completeness of organization must inevitably come these twin rights, to labor and to live in freedom.

BIBLE CLASS REVELATIONS.

While as a rule no very great amount of public enlightenment emanates from Mr. Rockefeller's Bible class, a recent exception must be recorded, when that noted evangelist, Detective William J. Burns, informed the assembled youths of that institution that he could hire lawyers to commit any crime under the sun, from murder down, and that, in fact, he knew a lawyer who would put a murder through for $5,000.

Detective Burns must not be understood as saying that the lawyers would commit the murders with their own hands, but left the impression that they would hire other hands for that purpose.

He did not say, either just what sort of people they could hire, but he did repeat a previous remark of his to the effect that the profession he belonged to—the private detective business—was composed, generally speaking, of the choicest collection of scoundrels that ever went unwhipped to justice.

Possibly the young men to whom he imparted this information may be able to connect the two statements together and reach some definite conclusion as to just where the lawyers in question might hire their murder material.

It is an interesting speculation, too, as to who it is that employs lawyers for procuring murder. The cheapest, presumably, that Mr. Burns is acquainted with will undertake the work for $5,000. Few workingmen possess that sum, and it is a reasonable conclusion that those who do employ lawyers for that purpose will be generally found in the capitalist class. Burns undoubtedly knows of what he speaks in this matter, and if there is any truth in common report Rockefeller is presumably an employer of labor. At any rate, between Burns and Rockefeller there are few depths of secret capitalistic rascality and scoundrelism that have not been sounded by both. The information is, however, most interesting, and from it some estimate can be evolved as to what valuation is placed on the lives of striking workingmen by the capitalists and their scoundrelly legal allies.

THE INDESTRUCTIBLE TRUST.

Ever since the order of dissolution was pronounced against the Standard Oil Company by the government the shares of that concern have increased in value by hundreds of million dollars. The price of the tremendous figure of $800, forty dollars higher than the highest figure ever before touched in the record year of 1901.

It is difficult to attribute this increase to any other cause than the indestructible nature of the trust idea. The blow that has been going up for years from trust magnates against government attacks on business, and the accusation that these so-called "raids on prosperity" were responsible for evil business conditions, under these circumstances seem rather as sham cries of alarm to deceive the public into the belief that the trusts could actually be destroyed or at least injured and weakened.

And the same perhaps may be said of the eternal protests of the trust-busters, that they had no intention in any way of injuring the business of the country. So far as the business of the country is conducted under the trust form, they were powerless in that respect anyhow. There is nothing whatever to show that a single trust that has been proceeded against has suffered financial injury in consequence.

Nor has there been anything to show even in the slightest degree that the avowed object of "restoring competition" has been attained. On the contrary, the trust form has steadily grown and increased all the time, just as if no investigations or prosecutions had taken place.

Under these circumstances it is not surprising that the officials of the Standard Oil Company regard with indifference the report that their business is to be again "investigated" by the government.

But it is worthy of notice that they are exceedingly interested in the reported intention of the German Government to monopolize the petroleum industry in that country, and expressed their fear that the intention might be carried out. One of their subsidiary European branches has issued a pamphlet to the public in which they seek to prove that the German Government could make no profit out of the monopoly anyhow, as they could only rely on the Galician oil fields as a source of supply, and the freight charges would make the oil dearer to them than the Standard product. A government monopoly supplanting their own is about the only thing a trust really fears.

It is undoubtedly true that the German Government is seeking a profit in such monopoly, as it requires extra revenue for expanding military and naval purposes which it can hardly secure by an increase in direct taxation. And while profit is the main object, the Standard has perhaps little to fear from government ownership of that kind—at least in other countries. When governments eliminate the idea of profit and seek monopoly merely for the purpose of supplying the people at the cost of production with the commodities of the industry they have monopolized, the end of the trust will have arrived, and not before. None the less, government monopoly even for profit is a menace to the trust in that it eliminates the private profit of the latter. Even if the German Government made no profit from its oil monopoly, it would destroy the profit of the Standard, so far as Germany is concerned, at any rate.

But, while the profit system exists, the trust, no matter how many investigations and prosecutions it may have to undergo, will not only remain with us, but grow ever mightier, and more and more tend to extend its form of organization to all other industries as yet untrustified. Its existence is justified by the indisputable fact that it is the most developed and most efficient form of capitalist production. And the proof that it is so can be readily seen in the equally indisputable fact that it thrives, despite persecution, if not because of it, in the foolish and futile efforts of would-be "trust busters" can-

ORGANIZATION—THE WORKER'S TOOL.

In the old days when we used the word, organization meant an instrument, engine, machine or tool for making or moving anything. Modern organization is our instrument for enforcing just dealing, adequate return for service, safe and decent conditions of labor. Organization is the engine for driving home the human rights of labor, for protecting it from exploitation by the financial interest. Organization is the tool by which wages are increased and hours shortened. It is the power by which we force the locks from fire trap factories and even jack up the courts to a sense of social responsibility.

By using this tool—organization—we break the tyranny of the tools we work with. Organization is our machine to prevent "speeding up" by the employers' machine. We could for some thing more and for something else than the last "appendage of the machine." Our human skill is no longer a mere cog in industry—a piece of mechanism to be bartered for, used or discarded to suit the convenience or profit of some "captain of industry." By organization we assert and enforce our human interests as against mere considerations of business profit.

By organization we take a little from the liberty of each in order to give back freedom to all. In industry there is no longer "freedom of contract" for the individual worker—the learned courts to the contrary—but only for organizations of workers. Organization furnishes us with our only protection. If unorganized we cannot resist violation of a wage ordinance without risking our jobs. Hence we risk our lives rather than our jobs.

Good as the service of organization has been and will be, in maintaining and advancing our rights, that is only a part of its service. Organization performs its great work in enabling us to realize ourselves, in providing an effective way for the expression and expansion of our own powers. Organization disciplines us, helps us to work together, batters down prejudice, submerges foolish whims, drives out settled selfishness. Organization fuses us into a compact body, conscious of common needs, aims, conflicts and achievements.

The Booster's Column

By R. E. JOHNSTON

THE MONTH OF APRIL.

Comrades as you sow the seed in the earth as you plant the wheat or corn and then look for the harvest time in autumn, we want you to also sow the SOCIALIST SEED broadcast. We want you to enter and scatter "The Socialist" amongst your neighbors, so that we will reap the greatest harvest of Socialist votes in November ever yet recorded. How large do you intend to make it? Upon your answer depends whether the working class of this county will be represented in Congress by one more.

Every Socialist in the United States should recognize the extreme importance of getting behind this paper, and sending in subs, as we will use every surplus dollar received to reach the 50,000 voters in this district with the sweet message of Socialism before election.

If you are already a subscriber go out and get us a club among your friends and neighbors, and lets get things to moving in the right direction.

You don't need sub cards in order to get subscriptions. Just take a piece of paper, (any old kind will do), and get the name and address, collect the money, and forward to this office, and we will do the rest. Go to it boys or girls, get that club of subs for "The Socialist" and do it now, so that the message of liberty may be carried to new thousands. Let us OUTDO this month EVERYTHING WE HAVE EVER DONE PREVIOUSLY.

Remember that on that one little dinky three months sub that you dear reader, should have gotten, may depend whether the list goes up or down.

Up and at 'em ON TO WASHINGTON.

A comrade, who signs his name "Direct Action" sends us in a new one. We firmly believe in that kind of "direct action."

The Ninth Ward is getting on the job. They turned in a nice bunch of new ones this week.

The Eighth Ward is also doing nice work. That house to house canyass is the correct system.

Purchase from our advertisers and give them the RED TICKET. This is the duty of every Booster.

Comrade Dr. Kuhns pulled another tooth out of the head of the Capitalist system. He puts a new one on for one year.

Comrade Collier, of Orrville, Ohio, gets into the limelight with two in a bill for subs. Nice work.

The following Boosters landed one or more: Comrade Ellis, Grunder, Stoermer, Wood, Stembrook, Uhl, Meeker, Fulmer, Gibbin, Fisher, Crawford, Diebert, Southard, Fries, Babbitt, Allen, Neuneisler, Moore, Kinsell, Miller, Hartman, Warren, Pymale, Schmidt, McCombs, Musser, Kazes, Smith, Van Schoyck, Bauer, Stewart, Weaver, Master Bloor.

Purchase from our advertisers when you make your spring purchases, comrades. That's an easy way to support the paper.

THE MAGAZINE FOR WORKERS

"Socialism, as far as Socialist publications are concerned, I have over come across," is what a man in England wrote in renewing his subscription to THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW, the magazine that fights for the working class.

The Review is the only publication of its kind in the world. It is the only monthly illustrated magazine which is devoted exclusively to the interests of working men and working women. It is the only magazine which actually gets right down into the ranks of the toilers and tells what they are doing and thinking and feeling. It stands for aggressive and uncompromising. The Review is not only a magazine for Socialists; it is with the workers everywhere in their every struggle, not only in America but in other countries as well. Wherever there is a conflict between rich and masters, there the Review has its correspondents and its photographers. Every month it is filled with pictures right from the scene of action. Its articles and stories come not only from trained writers but from the workers themselves. Its circulation has tripled in the last four years. It is growing bigger and better from month to month.

The International Socialist Review and The Columbus Socialist, both for one year, only $1.50. Address orders to The Socialist, 108½ South High St., Columbus, Ohio

The Woman's Local Committee meets every Wednesday evening at 1071 East Gay Street. Every woman invited to come.

CITY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

At the meeting of the City Central Committee last Monday night the proposition to purchase the Highland Warren property was referred to a vote of the branches.

The Secretary was instructed to communicate with branch Secretaries and inform them that all referendums are to be handled and sent into local Columbus Secretary.

BIG MEETING DESPITE STORM.

Considering the inclemency of the weather, last Sunday afternoon, the propaganda meeting under the auspices of the Ninth and Second Wards was a grand success. In spite of the worst storm of the month there was about 300 of the faithful present.

Comrade Bachman's talk on Socialism and Industrialism was a great subject handled in a most interesting manner.

Comrade Illion E. Moore, of Muskingum County, made a short talk as also did Comrade Palmer. Comrade Moore is a member of the Constitutional Convention.

THIRTEENTH WARD MEETING

Thirteenth Ward meeting passed a motion to pay 25 down and a dollar a week toward payment of Organizer for Local Columbus, Comrade Taylor was recommended for Organizer.

A special committee was appointed to make plans for a propaganda meeting to be held in Hunts Hall, First Avenue and High Street, to which all the other Branches were invited, the band will furnish the music. Comrade Wise, the Thirteenth Ward Assessor reported that the County Auditor had requested him to submit the names of the comrades who would act as Assistant Assessor. The Branch elected who wishes the position will call on Comrade Wise. The Branch elected a precinct captain for every precinct in the Ward, the captains will meet next Sunday morning and will make a house to house canvass for subscriptions for the paper and leave literature.

The Branch authorized the finance Secretary to send out follow up post cards to all members who were back in their dues.

Serious charges were preferred against a member and a committee of three was elected to investigate.

CRYING NEED FOR MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

A lowering of rates and a sheepening and bettering of service would be brought about by the government ownership of railroads, said Dr. F. F. Baldwin at the Trinity parish house meeting Sunday night.

"Private ownership breeding with money making as a prime object, has resulted, in the consolidation of power in the hands of a few men. Not only do the transcontinental lines dictate the rates on the railroads, but they control water transportation as well and whether or not the extortionate and unreasonable charges of some local hospitals and operating physicians than of government ownership of railroads.

Though the common ownership of railroads will come in time, the absolute necessity of a city hospital is such an imperative demand that it cannot be longer denied the wage earning class, who find their wages mortgaged for months and even years when surgical attention in any local hospitals is necessary for self or family.

COLUMBUS FEDERATION.

The Columbus Federation of Labor Monday night indorsed the recall, referendum and initiative and so instructed the Franklin county delegates to the convention in resolutions adopted on the subject.

The Federation took action prohibiting the renting of its halls for the use of the Industrial Workers of the World, recently organized in this city.

A joint memorial service of all unions will be held Sunday, May 26. The following were named on a committee to arrange for it: Edward Wakefield, George Miles, Edward Tirney, Charles Robert, George W. Rose, Edward McCauley and J. Liddy.

SIDNEY SOCIALISTS AT IT

Just to let you know we are in the fight. We are giving a series of lectures in the Royal Theater every Sunday afternoon. Comrade Fred Strickland gave a series in January, "Science and Socialism," "Education and Socialism," "Women and Socialism," "Ethics and Socialism."

Comrade Fennimore gave a final address on "Industrial Democracy," February 4; February 10 on "Standpoint Intellect."

Comrade Bachman gave us an address on "Unity in Politics and Industrial Action for Justice." February 18.

Others have followed each Sunday, including Comrades E. B. Lewis, T. C. Devine and W. Beery.

LOCAL SIDNEY, O.

SOCIALISM "KNOCKED-OUT" AGAIN AT WASHINGTON C. H.

Socialism was again given a knock-out blow, below the belt, according to the local press the last week of this week. The blow was dealt by a Catholic Priest, Rev. Swint. If the Reverend gentleman is correctly reported, a part of his language was true and a part of it was a lie. The part which was true was when he said, "That Socialism has become such a large factor in this country and in the world that it would be the height of foolishness to wage war against it." That is where all our enemies stop telling the truth in regard to Socialism. The gentleman [illegible] principle, practically all intelligent Socialists are avowed materialists and Atheists, and every effort to divorce Socialism as an economic system from its Atheism and materialism has met with complete failure." There is more argument, equally as false.

The reverend gentleman in his eagerness to serve his capitalistic masters became so unreasonably abusive that it will disgust the more intelligent and fair-minded portion of his hearers that they will investigate Socialism with the result that the Socialist party will gain votes and the Catholic church will lose members.

It does not take a very wise man to see that a man who would lie about politics is not a safe guide in spiritual matters. Every kick gives us a boost. I hope the Rev. Swint will keep it up.

BOARD OF EDUCATION EN-DORSES LAZARUS GIFT

Aside from the vote of thanks which the Board of Education of Columbus has extended to the Lazarus Co. for its gift of 30,000 trees to the school children of this city and vicinity, [illegible] members of the Board have written expressing their personal interest and appreciation.

Mrs. Dora Sandoe Bachman says in part: "I am glad to know that the Lazarus Co. will again help to make Arbor Day of more lively and practical interest to the children of this city.

"It is a difficult thing for the average city child to get into touch with the beauties of nature, and while Arbor Day is intended to foster such knowledge and love it may doubt that any thing of a practical kind will bring the subject closer than kind words, stories, poems or other exercises in celebration of the day."

NEW PHILADELPHIA AT WORK

New Philadelphia local, Sunday, March 10th, had an enthusiastic meeting and took in 19 members. On Thursday evening, we held a meeting at Wainwright, Ohio, a little mining town and took in 11 members and started a new local. On Wednesday night, we visited Bolivar, O., a small village of about 600 people and held a propaganda meeting in the Opera House, which a man furnished us, free, if we would come up and speak. Dr. Furniss, Comrade Ivor Harris delivered the addresses and they had the pleasure of having the mayor of the city, who is a Democrat, introduce the speakers with this opening address:

"We, the people of this vicinity [illegible] will be for the mutual benefit to the people at large and I now take pleasure of introducing [illegible] to give us an address on the subject of Socialism." (After) Dr. Furniss finished his address the mayor got up and spoke and stated that he felt that it would be out of place in the city of Bolivar to ask these young men to visit their place without any [illegible] and he deemed it [illegible] to take up a collection any pay their expenses to come here which they did.

Columbus Federation of Labor.—Meets at 121½ East Town St. on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Telephone Citizens 6168.

AMERICA'S IMPENDING COAL STRIKE.

Washington—With the representatives of the United Mine Workers of America unable to reach a satisfactory agreement in the bituminous and anthracite fields, indications are that at the expiration of the present agreement, March 31, a general cessation of work will ensue. President Taft recently requested John Mitchell and a representative of the hard coal operators to meet in conference at the White House, but after the invitations were extended they were recalled and no conference is to take place at present. To sum up the entire matter it is probable that no agreement will be reached until a considerable time has elapsed after a general cessation of work. As near as can be determined, if work ceases, between 600,000 and 700,000 coal miners will be idle, although with such a general cessation of work this number may be largely increased by the miners in other and non-union fields ceasing work as a consequence of the general disaffection due to low wages, among the coal miners of the entire country.

GREAT BRITAIN'S COAL STRIKE.

Washington—Cable dispatches announce that the great British coal strike has been practically settled by the representatives of the miners and the ministry agreeing to a bill to be enacted by Parliament which fixes the minimum at 5s per day for adults and 2s for boys under 18 years of age. The effect of the strike up to this point has been far-reaching, with 75 per cent of the workers in all lines idle, and for the great portion of this 75 per cent no assistance from any source has been forthcoming to care for their immediate necessities. Only three tin plate mills are in operation in the entire country and the cotton mills are practically closed together with all other industrial establishments. The announcement that the miners and the ministry have reached an agreement is hailed with acclaim by the people of England.

GERMAN AND FRENCH COAL STRIKE.

Washington—Information comes to this country that the coal miners in Germany have decided to discontinue the coal strike, while a large number of coal miners in France have come out on strike.

"FELLOW SERVANT LAW ESTABLISHED."

Washington—The Supreme Court has decided that employes in the car repairing department of a railroad are fellow servants of employes in the operating department, thereby relieving the employing railroad from liability for injuries to the former class by the latter. "The doctrine of fellow servant is established," said Justice Holmes, "whatever may be thought of it." The Justice, however, added that it was for Congress to change the law if it so desired.

STEEL COACHES PREVENT FATALITIES.

Washington—In commenting on the wreck of the Twentieth Century Limited on the New York Central at Poughkeepsie, railroad men assert that steel coaches have been the means of avoiding a terrible loss of life. In six of the eleven accidents of this year on the road mentioned not a life was lost. In practically all the elements were present that, except where steel cars were used, would have made heavy fatalities probable.

NEW STREET CAR ORGANIZATION.

Toledo—After about 18 years of non-unionism, a charter has been issued to the employes of the Toledo Traction company by the Amalgamated Association. The company has bitterly fought the organization of its men and Rezin Orr, the treasurer of the Amalgamated Association, was badly beaten up by thugs employed by the Traction Company, while forming the organization. It is stated that the organization is now in a fair way to protect the interests of the employes.

MAINTENANCE OF WAY MEN GET SETTLEMENT.

Washington — President A. B. Lowe of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, has been successful, through the minister of railways at Ottawa, Ont., in having reinstated members of the organization referred to who were dismissed for "alleged political partisanship." The minister of railways took prompt action on the representation made to him, giving assurance that where there occurs suspension or dismissal of employes in the future an investigation will be inaugurated, and if it is proven that the employe is not guilty of the offense charged he will be reinstated and paid for lost time.

LIVING EXPENSES COMPARED.

Washington—In a cable dispatch from London it is stated that G. H Knibbs, statistician of the Australian government, has prepared an article dealing with the cost of living in Australia and other countries. While it is difficult to secure accurate data on this subject in a world-wide investigation, yet, it is claimed that the facts secured are approximately correct. The summary is favorable to Australia, in that it shows that the cost of living in that country is cheaper than in most parts of Europe. In a comparison with Germany, the United States and Australia it is shown that in the average Australian household, when housing, fuel, lighting and clothing are provided for, 40.82 per cent of the family income is available for other expenditure, as against 36.76 per cent in Germany and 35.42 per cent in the United States. This margin is designated as "the margin of comfort."

BREWERS WIN BIG VICTORY.

Granting practically the full demands of the 3,200 allied union workmen for an increased wage scale, Milwaukee breweries have signed three-year agreements with the unions, which in effect gives to every worker an increase of $2 weekly.

The settlement followed a series of conferences for three weeks, which cames to a crisis in returns from a referendum vote of the union men authorizing a strike.

The wage increase will amount to nearly $1,000,000 during the contract period.

CARPENTERS ATTENTION!

Columbus, O.—Members of the U. B. deciding to make a change in location are hereby warned not to be misled by advertisements and newspaper accounts of the alleged enormous amount of work to be done in this city this coming season, basing their statements on the celebration of the Ohio State Centennial. The show will last but eleven days, which should convince any one that there will be but little work in connection therewith. At present most of our men are idle and we are informed by architects that the prospects for the season are not encouraging. Hence, Columbus, O., is a good place for traveling carpenters to avoid.—The Carpenter.

WORKING MEN TAKE NOTICE.

Information comes to the office of the Legal Department of the Socialist Publishing Company that many working men are served with what is commonly known as the 10 per cent notice to pay debts owing or be sued and have their wages garnisheed. If all such will call at this office as soon as they receive the notice this office can in many such cases save them from suit and annoyance. We will take charge of your case whether you are a Socialist or not, black or white, Protestant or Catholic. Office 105½ South High Street, Room 9.

PLASTERERS' UNION.

At a meeting of the members of Journeymen Plasterers last Thursday night it was decided to permit the members to take clearance cards so they could take contracts, as the contracting plasterers had decided to force the open shop on the men.

There is no dispute as to wages or conditions but the contractors wanted a clause in the contract forbidding journeymen from working for any person other than a member of their association except on buildings costing more than $15,000, while the journeymen were willing to sign an agreement to place the limit at $10,000, which was the old contract. At that juncture the bosses advertised for men for the open shop and forced the workers to take the position they have taken. Several of the boys have gone out and taken jobs away from their former bosses. This is probably the beginning of the movement inaugurated by the M. & M. Association to force the open shop on the building trades of Columbus.

Socialist Party Platform

Adopted by National Convention, May, 1908, by Membership Referendum, August 8th, 1908, Amended by Referendum, September 7th, 1909.

PRINCIPLES.

Human life depends upon food, clothing and shelter. Only with these assured are freedom, culture and higher human development possible. To produce food, clothing or shelter, land and machinery are needed. Land alone does not satisfy human needs. Human labor creates machinery and applies it to the land for the production of raw materials and food. Whoever has control of land and machinery controls human labor, and with it human life and liberty.

Today the machinery and the land used for industrial purposes are owned by a rapidly decreasing minority. So long as machinery is simple and easily handled by one man, its owner cannot dominate the sources of life of others. But when machinery becomes more complex and expensive, and requires for its effective operation the organized effort of many workers, its influence over wide circles of life. The owners of such machinery become the dominant class.

In proportion as the number of such machine owners compared to all other classes decreases, their power in the nation and in the world increases. They bring ever larger masses of working people under their control, reducing them to the point where muscle and brain are their only productive property. Millions of formerly self-employing workers thus become the helpless wage slaves of the industrial masters.

As the economic power of the ruling class grows it becomes less useful in the life of the nation. All the useful work of the nation falls upon the shoulders of the class whose only property is its manual and mental labor power—the wage workers—or of the class who have but little land and little effective machinery outside of their labor power—the small traders and small farmers. The ruling minority is steadily becoming useless and parasitic.

A bitter struggle over the division of the products of labor is waged between the exploiting propertied classes on the one hand and the exploited propertyless class on the other. In this struggle the wage working class cannot expect adequate relife from any reform of the present order at the hands of the dominant class.

The wage workers are therefore the most determined and irreconcilable antagonists of the ruling class. They suffer most from the curse of class rule. The fact that a few capitalists are permitted to control all the country's industrial resources and social tools for their individual prof, and to make the production of the necessaries of life the object of competitive private enterprise and speculation is at the bottom of all the social evils of our time.

In spite of the organization of trusts, pools and combinations, the capitalists are powerless to regulate production for social ends. Industries are largely conducted in a planless manner. Through periods of feverish activity the strength and health of the workers are mercilessly used up, and during periods of enforced idleness the workers are frequently reduced to starvation.

The climaxes of this system of production are the regularly recurring industrial depressions and crises which paralyze the nation every fifteen or twenty years.

The capitalist class, in its mad race for profits, is bound to exploit the workers to the very limit of their endurance and to sacrifice their physical, moral and mental welfare to its own insatiable greed. Capitalism keeps the masses of workingmen in poverty, destitution, physical exhaustion and ignorance. It drags their wives from their homes to the mill and factory. It snatches their children from the playgrounds and schools and grinds their slender bodies and unformed minds into cold dollars. It disfigures, maims and kills hundreds of thousands of workingmen annually in mines, on railroads and in factories. It drives millions of workers into the ranks of the unemployed and forces large numbers of them into beggary, vagrancy and all forms of crime and vice.

To maintain their rule over their fellow men, the capitalists must keep in their pay all organs of the public powers, public mind and public conscience. They control the dominant parties and, through them, the elected public officials. They select the executives, bribe the Legislatures and corrupt the courts of justice. They own and censor the press. They dominate the educational institutions. They own the nation politically and intellectually as they own it industrially.

The struggle between wage workers and capitalists grows ever fiercer, and has now become the only vital issue before the American people. The wage-working class, therefore, has the most direct interest in abolishing the capitalist system. But in abolishing the present system, the workingmen will free not only their own class, but also all other classes of modern society. The small farmer, who is today exploited by large capital more indirectly but not less effectively than is the wage laborer; the small manufacturer and trader, who is engaged in a desperate and losing struggle for economic independence in the face of the all-conquering power of concentrated capital; and even the capitalist himself, who is the slave of his wealth raher than its master. The struggle of the working class against the capitalist class, while it is a class struggle, is thus at the same time a struggle for the abolition of all classes and class privileges.

The private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation, is the rock upon which class rule is built; political government is its indispensible instrument. The wage-workers cannot be freed from exploitation without conquering the political power and substituting collective for private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation.

The basis for such transformation is rapidly developing with present capitalist society. The factory system, with its complex machinery and minute division of labor, is rapidly destroying all vestiges of individual production in manufacture. Modern production is already very largely a collective and social process. The great trusts and monopolies which have sprung up in recent years have organized the work and management of the principal industries on a national scale, and have fitted them for collective use and operation.

There can be no absolute private title to land. All private titles, whether called fee simple or otherwise, are and must be subordinate to the public title. The Socialist Party strives to prevent land from being used for the purpose of exploitation and speculation. It demands the collective possession, control or management of land by those using it in a useful and bona fide manner without exploitation.

The Socialist Party is primarily an economic and political movement. It is not concerned with matters of religious belief.

In the struggle for freedom the interests of all modern wokers are identical. The struggle is not only national but international. It embraces the world and will be carried to ultimate victory by the united workers of the world.

To unite the workers of the nation and their allies and sympathizers of all other classes to this end, is the mission of the Socialist Party. In this battle for freedom the Socialist Party does not strive to substitute working class rule for capitalist class rule, but by working class victory, to free all humanity from class rule and to realize the international brotherhood of man.

PROGRAM.

As measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of this ultimate aim, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

General Demands.

1. The immediate government relief for the unemployed workers by building schools, by reforesting of cut-over and waste lands, by reclamation of arid tracts, and the building of canals, and by extending all other useful public work. All persons employed on such works shall be employed directly by the government under an eight-hour work day and at the prevailing union wages. The government shall loan money to States and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works. It shall contribute to the funds of labor organizations for the purpose of assisting their unemployed members, and shall take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

2. The collective ownership of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, steamboat lines and all other means of social transportation and communication.

3. The collective ownership of all industries which are organized on a national scale and in which competition has virtually ceased to exist.

4. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

5. The scientific reforestation of timber lands, and the reclamation of swamp lands. The land so reforested or reclaimed to be permanently retained as a part of the public domain.

6. The absolute freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

Industrial Demands.

7. The improvement of the industrial condition of the workers.

(a) By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

(b) By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

(c) By securing a more effective inspection of workshops and factories.

(d) By forbidding the employment of children under sixteen years of age.

(e) By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor, of convict labor and of all uninspected factories.

(f) By abolishing official charity and substituting in its place compulsory insurance against unemployment, illness, accidents, invalidism, old age and death.

Political Demands.

8. The extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the amount of the bequests and to the nearness of kin.

9. A graduated income tax.

10. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women, and we pledge ourselves to engage in an active campaign in that direction.

11. The initiative and referendum, proportional representation and the right of recall.

12. The abolition of the Senate.

13. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by congress or by a referendum of the whole people.

14. That the Constitution be made amendable by majority vote.

15. The enactment of further measures for general education and for the conservation of health. The bureau of education to be made a department. The creation of a department of public health.

16. The separation of the present bureau of labor from the department of commerce and labor, and the establishment of a department of labor.

17. That all judges be elected by the people for short terms, and that the power to issue injunctions shall be curbed by immediate legislation.

18. The free administration of justice.

Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole power of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry and thus come to their rightful inheritance.

WHO KILLED THE LOCAL?

"It's meeting night," said Comrade Brown,
"But don't believe I'll go down;
I'm tired and it's pretty cold tonight,
And everything will go all right
If I'm not there." So he sat and read
The paper awhile, then went to bed;
Having stayed at home from the meeting.

"It's meeting night," said Comrade Gray;
"But I guess I had better stay away;
I don't like the way the young folks take Things in their hands and try to make
The 'Good of the Local' all joke and fun,
I think something sensible ought to be done,"
And he stayed at home from the meeting.

Thus one and another made excuse,
And said as long as they paid their dues
And assessments promptly, they could not see
What the difference was if they should be Away from the room on meeting night,
And argued to prove that they were right
In staying at home from the meeting.

And the earnest officers of the local
And the faithful, who didn't dodge
Around their duties and tried to shirk
But did their own and others' work
Grew discouraged, and at last in disgust
Headquarters took the charter away
Because—all stayed at home from the meeting.

RED PERIL FOR SALE; APPLY TO GERMANY

Herr Von Puttkamer Demands That Government Take Action to Avert Revolution.

Berlin.—The specter of a republic for Germany was raised on the floor of the Prussian senate in an endeavor to stir up feeling against the striking coalminers. The present labor trouble was declared to be the part of a revolutionary movement by the Socialists, who want to "overthrow" the existing government and the monarchial forces were urged to rally to "destroy" the red peril.

The shock which stirred up the senate to angry protests from the advocates of the workers, was delivered by Herr Von Puttkamen, the former provincial governor and was for the most part a demand that the government adopt the sternest measures to end the strike."

"Non-Union" Strikebreakers.

Von Puttkaman declared that there were enough non-union striebreakers available to end the strike and "properly work the mines" if the government would guarantee them protection. He demanded that an official announcement that this protection would be available be made at once so that the operators could govern themselves accordingly.

"Under the pressure of the Socialists," he said, "Germany is rapidly rushing toward a revolution. The Socialists openly announce that they desire a republic. Their demands are bringing the country close to a state of terrorism. The time has come when the government must adopt the sternest measures if this peril is to be averted and the nation saved."

Socialist members angrily replied to Von Puttkamen and defended the right of the striking coal miners to demand a living wage.

Strike Rapidly Growing.

Hundreds of miners joined the strikers today and the tie-up of the fields in eastern Westphalia is complete although only a few of the non-Socialist miners have so far joined their union comrades.

The leaders, however, say the tie-up of the entire Prussian fields will be complete within a week.

Numerous clashes between the strikers, police and military were reported from various parts of Prussia today.

HOST AND GUEST

In that part of biology treating of parasitic life the technical terms "host" and "guest" are used. The host is the living thing that furnishes a living not only for itself, but also for the life-sticking intruder which fastens itself upon the body of the host. The intruder, the robber residing upon the body of the "host," is the "guest," that is, the parasite.

Now one of the strangest things in the entire live world is this: When in some life-forms a certain stage of parasitism is reached, when the guest has permanently fastened itself upon the body of the host and the host has become thoroughly accustomed to and adjusted to the parasitic arrangement, the host stupidly inclines to defend the parasitic guest. It is remarkable (and discouraging) that this law of nature, this tendency, is found in operation in the social life of man. For thousands of years multitudes of men, women and children have been held in the grip of this law, mentally strangled in their effort to think. Justice and Freedom, the vast majority of the working class are always, quickly and easily rendered "peaceful," "law-abiding" and "satisfied" and "patriotic." Millions of chattel slaves have "loyally" defended their landlords and masters. And today tens of millions of wage-earners strongly incline to "loyally" defend their parasitic masters. Moreover, the employer, by craftily praising the wage-earner, can induce the wage-earner to ignorantly, blindly, stupidly praise and defend not only the employer, but also the whole wage-system of robbery and social parasitism. Not only that, the employers, by controlling certain institutions such as the school, the library, the press, and the lecture platform, can have the wage-earning hosts taught to teach their own children to defend and praise the parasitic employer guests and the parasitic social system under which their lives are belittled by being sunked up as rent, interest and profits and fed to the parasitic capitalist class.

What the employer calls a contented and loyal working man is simply a stupidly acquiescent "host," biologically considered. And a working class man with a fist in his hand defending the class that, as social parasites, rob the working class, such a working man is the best possible illustration of the fact that the great laws of nature are careless of the so-called "dignity of man," totally careless of the ridiculous spectacle of a human being reverting to the behavior of creatures far, far down below even the simian cousins of the human race. Nature does not care whether a man behaves like a crab or a sucker, a tiger or a monkey, a sycophantic slave or a defiantly self-respecting man.

WALL PAPER—Cleaning and Varnishing—A. L. Snedeker, 560 Taylor Ave., M. 5492.

A TRUE INCIDENT ON PENN. AVE. ST. CAR WEDNESDAY.

To Editor of Columbus Socialist:

On Wednesday morning of last week, while I was on Penn. Avenue car No. 474, making trip North at 11 o'clock, a lady in a delicate condition got on the car carrying with her an unusually large-sized market basket, it being filled with vegetables which, as any woman knows, is not very light. The conductor did not assist her in any way. She tried to step inside to relieve her tired arms of her heavy load. But before she got inside, the rough blue-coated and brass-buttoned would-be conductor caught her by her coat sleeve, pulling her backwards, saying: "You pay your fare before you step inside."

The lady said: "Why didn't you help me with my basket." Indignantly he brushed up to her, saying:

"You have your fare ready after this before entering the car, or if this be so, let the Railway and Light Co. put on pay-as-you-enter cars on all lines. The working class has paid them enough."

For instance, every car on the Nell Ave. and Oak St. lines are pay-as-you-enter. But where the laboring men, who really work, get on, tired out from hard work, black and dirty, let them attempt to get on these lines, and they are handled like convicts, making an escape from some prison.

Who is it that has his wife humiliated in a crowd? The workingman. On the Nell Ave. line every street is called, regardless of the bell. On this other line you can do your own watching, while the conductor reads the sporting news.

There were about 30 people on this car and this lady was the talk of all. Had it been my wife, I would have made his face look worse disguised than it does.

A PASSENGER.

ADDING INSULT TO INJURY

Some years ago there was a reduction made in the wages of the employes at one of Zanesville's largest manufactories.

This was not an infrequent occurrence and a wave of protest filled the shops.

One of the men, still believing the old fallacy that "the interests of capital and labor are indentical," went to one of the firm and made a personal appeal, telling him what the loss of even a few cents a day meant to the men and closed by saying: "It is impossible for a man to live and raise a family on such wages."

The old gentleman, noted for his CHARITIES, rubbed his hands, smiled benevolently and said:

Mr. Blank, we have absolutely nothing to do with that."

This same firm is today paying an average wage of eight dollars per week; adding some paternal advice on the outside of the pay envelope as to the advantages of placing a part of each week's wages in a bank where it would draw four per cent. interest.

When we remember the high cost of living, we can readily believe the protestations of impotence made by the employer when accused of taking this advice.

Heartless as it may sound, the old gentleman was perfectly consistent when he said the firm had nothing to do with how the men and their families lived.

To them, it was simply a business proposition. If it had been the horses that were poorly fed or badly cared for, the matter would have had instant attention, for horses represent dollars and cents; but dollars' worth of working men are plentiful and cheap, and when worn out or disabled are thrown aside without a thought.

Under capitalism the making of PROFITS is the only reason for the existence of any factory or business, and men are but animated machines to hasten the process.

The cry of DIVIDENDS never ceases. Dividends must be produced at any cost to the laborer. Health, happiness, even life itself, are of no consequence in the production of dividends.

The only hope for the workers must come through ORGANIZATION.

Industrial organization will bring some present relief, but it is only through POLITICAL organization that the wage-earners can ever hope to gain any lasting benefit or obtain justice.

The Ballot is the only weapon. With this now and then, can be gain, not only the right to labor, but also the full value of all he produces.

But he must learn that it is only through the possession of political power that things can be obtained. The Republican and Demeratic parties have had a long trial, and Big Business flourishes, but the condition of the workers has become more intolerable every day. Worn by long hours of labor, poorly fed, clothed and housed, and old age of poverty staring him in the face when his working days are over, the common working man is perhaps the most heroic and the most pathetic character in the world.

But he is fast becoming educated, as the constant gain in the Socialist vote testifies, and it will not be long until he will say: "I AM FREE! I will labor and produce all the good and beautiful things in the world, and, with my loved ones, I will use and enjoy them. No longer shall it be master and slave, but fellow workers."

Then, for the first time since the beginning of history, there will be happiness for ALL.

The presidential candidates of the two old political parties are now being boomed. Yes, and the booming is being done with funds furnished by the Trusts that have enjoyed special privileges. These same trusts do not finance the political campaign of the workers' presidential candidate. Have you guessed the reason?

Overalls at The Leader.

Capitalism rejoices when the workers appeal to brute force. That is the game capitalists understand by generations of training. But they are fearful when the workers begin to use their votes to defend themselves. A thousand Socialist votes in a city defeated them more than ten thousand marching strikers.

Some people claim that if the agitation against the high cost of living is kept up, why before long we will be paying our rents with butter. It is true that we will have to grease the politicians.

It will have to be admitted that as a money raiser the Socialist doesn't have a great deal to learn. Recently in Sweden, organized 4,000 people in Canton, Ohio, and transferred from their pockets $6,000.—Miners' Workers Journal.

What good is "electing good men" if "good men" are good" as long as the system lives by "getting" the "good man?" The "good" fellow means well but he is helpless. He is trained to maintain bad system.

HAYWOOD IN CHARGE OF LOWELL STRIKE

Total of 15,000 Mill Workers Now Out in Massachusetts City.

Lowell, Mass.—About 1,000 more mill workers quit their jobs today, making a total of 15,000 who are out on strike. The I. W. W. took active part in the strike today with the arrival of "Big Bill" Haywood and W. E. Trautmann. Haywood was greeted with cheers when he arrived at headquarters. The crowd was so dense that the police were obliged to draw their clubs before the throng moved back. The police did not use their sticks, but arrested four persons for "obstructing the sidewalk."

BIG BILL HAYWOOD
With the Historic Gavel at Lawrence, Mass.

Later hundreds of idle mill hands assembled in front of the police station and Market street, blocking that thoroughfare. A squad of officers from the station broke through the crowd and forced it to move. With Haywood at their head the strikers then marched to the South Common, where a mass meeting was addressed by the western labor leader and others.

In his speech Haywood said:

"Do not let the mill men break your spirit. You will never lose if you stick together. The I. W. W. was never defeated. We are here to assist you and we will.

"Next year there will be divided among the textile workers of the United States between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 more than they get now. This will mean fewer automobiles and bulldogs for certain people."

HAYWOOD COMMITTEE ATTENTION

All members of the Haywood Committee are requested to meet Sunday morning at 9:30 at Headquarters, Red Lion Hall. All tickets not sold must be turned in Sunday morning, so same can be sold at door.

Don't fail to be there.

RAIL-LIGHT VERY GENEROUS(?).

Sells Eight Tickets for Quarter—This Action Comes Nearly Year After, It Was Due the People.

The local daily papers last Monday made the startling announcement that the Rail-Light had that day "granted" to the people, eight tickets for a quarter, one month before the alleged date when this rate would be due. The tone of the various articles was to the effect that the Rail-Light had been very generous and benevolent in this action. The cold fact is that the Rail-Light is only carrying out its contract with the people. Another cold fact is that eight tickets for a quarter were due eleven months ago, but the Rail-Light juggled its figures and delayed compliance with its agreement simply to punish the people for the general sentiment that had prevailed favorable to the strikers.

The Rail-Light is also looking to the future and greatly desires the good will and votes of the people for its candidates this fall. "When the devil was sick, the devil a saint would be; but when the devil got well, a devil of a saint was he."

O. S. U. SOCIALIST CLUB HAVE GOOD MEETINGS

A goodly number were out to hear W. C. Bates and others at the meeting of the Socialist College Club at O. S. U. last Sunday afternoon. Comrade Bates showed how the homes of the laborers of today were taken from their forefathers stealthily by the money power until now there is none at command for the young men on which to rear a family and they are of utter necessity no more than wage slaves.

Comrade Bogatten spoke interestingly but none the less pathetic of the Lawrence strike and its favorable ending, closing with the assurance that the part played by the Socialist party in that unpleasant affair will not only inure to the benefit of those helped and the Socialist party, but will goad on the greater and nobler officers of old craft unions who have done but little, but draw salaries for the past twenty-five years. Several other comrades spoke briefly and Comrade Randall entertained with some choice selections of music.

MAY 12, INDIANAPOLIS SOCIALIST CONVENTION

The Socialist national convention will be held at Indianapolis, May 12. Announcement was made today by John M. Work, National Secretary of the Socialist party, that the referendum vote of the party which has been in progress for over a month resulted in 32,801 for Indianapolis and 13,831 for Oklahoma City.

Oklahoma City had been originally selected by the party's executive committee and the change was made as the result of a demand for a referendum.

RUBBER CONCERN ANXIOUS TO GLUT LABOR MARKET

Akron. Company Writes Tempting Letter to Columbus Young Men.

The following letter shows one of the methods used by the Akron Rubber companies to glut the labor market as exposed in this paper last week. This letter was received by a young man in Columbus last week and is in exact acord with the charges made by the Socialist members of the Akron city Council. Here is the letter:

Dear Sir—The work we have at present calls for men 22 to 35 years of age, weighing 150 pounds or more. Wages are paid by the piece, but workmen are allowed time (2 or 3 weeks) to become acquainted with the method used in making the goods. During this time the men are paid 18½ to 30 cents per hour, according to the work. Experienced men average from $2.75 to $4.00 per day of 10 hours. The work is permanent and there are no labor troubles. Board in Akron is about the same as in other cities, from $4.00 per week up.

If you meet the above requirements, we can use you any time before May 1, 1912.

Very respectfully,
THE DIAMOND RUBBER CO.
Employment Office,
P. D. RICHARD.

Workingmen should stay away from Akron.

THE WOLF AT THE DOOR AGAIN.

Fiendish attempts by the Wolfish interests to kill the most important civic improvement that has been proposed in Columbus.

The Third Street viaduct, which is of vital importance to the North Side citizens has been given a black eye by the Dispatch, backed up by the Wolfish interest of Park Commission fame.

We desire to give a few facts in regard to the Third Street viaduct.

It is a well known fact that Columbus has become too big for High Street; and of necessity we must spread out in order to accommodate the steadily increasing population of this city.

It is a well known fact that the Fourth Street viaduct is in no condition to be used at the present time, having been condemned by the City Engineering Department and must be closed to general traffic in the very near future. Also a fact that is not so generally known is that the High Street viaduct is in not much better shape and according to City Engineers MUST BE REBUILT in the NEAR FUTURE.

With this condition stareing the North Side in the face, it behooves all good citizens, not only of the North Side, but of the entire city to see that the Wolfish interests do not succeed in killing the Third Street viaduct which is an immediate necessity in order to get their hand in the city treasury through the medium of their pet graft, the civic center.

Another fact in favor of the Third Street viaduct: According to conservative estimates there are landed at the Union station each day, 3500 passengers or 1,250,400 people per year. With only one street and one car line to handle them on, and that street and car line likely to be closed at any time, thereby cutting off 80,000 people, the entire North Side from communication with the city proper. Now the proposition of protecting the public thoroughfare, making and keeping our means of transportation, and communication open, is not a matter of party politics, and should not be made such, but should become the duty of every right and fair-minded citizen and as North Side Socialists, we are determined to get behind this project and push it to success, thereby protecting our public thoroughfare, our means of communication, making possible a greater Columbus, and at the same time hand the Wolfish interest another jolt, that will set them away back beyond the Park Commission.

A NORTH SIDE SOCIALIST.

If you cut the rotten out of the two old parties there isn't anything left except some good material out of which to make Socialists.

YE RAILROAD MEN!

Life and Limb Suicide.

"Clang! Clang! Clang! Papa, what's that bell ringing for?"

"My child, that's the ambulance on its way to the railroad yards."

"What for, Papa?"

"Some railroader has been injured or killed."

"Papa, you won't railroad will you?"

"No, my child, it's too dangerous for me, and the pay is not big enough."

"Then I won't railroad either."

Can you imagine the above conversation. Can you realize what heartaches, what pangs of fear goes through the wives and sweethearts, the sons and daughters, when they hear the clanging bells of an ambulance as it passes through the railroad center? Do you understand the life of a railroader? One of the most important factors in our commercial activities? I ask you dear reader to go but to our railroad yards some dark night or any night for that matter and see the massive steam engines rushing here and there in seeming utter chaos. Here you will see a man run in between and cut a car out and dodge back to avoid being struck by the next car.

With lanterns swinging and headlights glaring, some poor soul must pay the toll tonight, some poor railroader must suffer the agonies of the damned, or lie cold in death on the slab at some undertaker's morgue, to be taken next day to the wretched broken home, where loved ones grieve over his untimely demise.

The funeral over, then the suit for damages drags it weary way through court and some servile judge says, "contributory negligence," and a widow is left to battle for the existence of her home and little ones. This is the ever repeated story of railroad life. In 1907 there were killed and injured in the railroad employ, 9217, or an average of 253 per day. There were killed 4534, or 12 per day, out of a total of 1,672,074 employes.

Read that figure over again and remember they are increasing. Why?

Railroads must operate at night as well as day. In every other business they have proper light to do their work, but the railroad yards, if lighted at all, are not lighted sufficiently to prevent a man's foot getting into an unfilled frog. Men are worked, 10, 12, yes even 16 hours a day, until they are so tired they can hardly stand, and for a paltry wage that is not at all adequate to the terrible risk incurred. I say with all the vehemence of a man who believes in justice, damn a system that will permit such conditions.

The railway engineers have asked for an increase on the Eastern roads, but the managers say it will cut down profits. It might possibly save a life, but what care they for a life? Life is so cheap. Must we tolerate this condition? Must we ever see this slaughter go on, or are we going to say it must stop?

Yet it will stop when the workers band themselves into one industrial organization and one political organization, and by using their productive power on one field and the political power on the other field, they can gain supremacy and control the earth.

Socialism is the remedy, because we are trying to get the collective ownership of the railroads. Then instead of operating the railroads for profit, we will operate them for use. We will make steel rail that will last, and by experience and safety devices make railroading as safe as hoeing potatoes.

If you railroad men want to save your lives, if you desire shorter hours, decent working conditions, get on the job politically and industrially. Vote and strike the same way in the interest of your class.

I might mention the railroads in Germany, where the loss of life is hardly worth mentioning—Government ownership.

Vote to own them, vote to save your lives and your brothers' lives. Vote to stop the tears and sighs of the widows and orphans.

Remember your class interests and on election day vote as you have struck.

BOOSTERS' COMITTEE.

The Boosters' Committee of the Columbus Socialist will hold its next regular meeting next Wednesday evening, April 10, at 108½ South High Street, Room 9. Every delegate should be present as there is important business to be transacted.

BIG SOCIALIST GAINS IN MILWAUKEE ELECTION

Seidel Gets 7,000 More Votes Than Two Years Ago. Old Parties Combine to Defeat Socialists.

Capitalistic papers and politicians are pretending that they are rejoicing over the result of municipal eelection in Milwaukee, but they have little to celebrate over.

The poll was the heaviest ever known in a municipal election there, the vote totalling 73,277.

Of this Seidel received 30,200 and Bading 42,177. Two years ago, when Seidel received a 3,000 plurality, the vote was under 30,000.

The Socialists won seven out of the thirty-three Aldermen elected and the fusionists the remainder.

There are four holdover Socialists, making the new City Council twenty-six fusionists and eleven Socialists.

Two years ago Emil Seidel received about 24,000 votes, this year 30,200, but the Republican and Democrats fused, enlisted their ready allies, the Catholic priests, and defeated Seidel. A few more "defeats" like this and the capitalistic parties will be forced into one and then the solid mass of the working class will lick hades out of the whole disreputable bunch. The Socialist Party in Milwaukee is stronger than ever and so is the party in the nation. So-called defeats only serve to weld the Socialist Party into shape. The capitalists are forcing destruction and they know it.

COUNCILMEN GETTING TIRED OF DAVE LOGAN'S TACTICS

President of Council Over Zealous for Rail-Light Company and Mayor Karb

President of Council, Dave Logan, has assumed the guardianship of the City Council, and never misses an opportunity to demonstrate that he is the friend of the Rail-Light and incidentally of Mayor George Karb. Logan takes his spite out principally upon the Socialist members of Council and the reporter of The Columbus Socialist. He glares at the Socialist members and likewise at the humble reporter of The Socialist. His glares at the reporter do not count but one of these days Logan is going to fall over his own feet and self-respecting members of Council, irrespective of party, are going to fall on Dave and tell him where to head in at. Logan stands by Karb but a capitalistic paper said last Tuesday:

"Recently, at a Council meeting, when Councilman Zimpfer stated that the people of his ward were all stirred up over the appointment of Eichhorn for superintendent of the light plant, Logan scorched him by interrupting with, 'Do the people know what they are talking about?' A member of Council every time he gets up to say anything, is likely to get squelched by Logan unless the remarks are a boost for Karb."

Another Councilman, C. A. Stribling, said: "I am going to introduce at the next meeting of Council a resolution setting forth the fact that the administration is responsible for over two-thirds of the bond issues voted for by Council, and that the administration is the party to whom the sermon on bond issues should have been delivered."

An ordinance to regulate the carrying of firearms and weapons, and establish public records of all persons so equipped was introduced by Councilman Stribling.

Under its provisions all persons selling firearms, Bowie knives and other dangerous weapons must secure a license at a fee of $25; must report every 24 hours the sales made and to whom, and the dealer is forbidden to sell to anyone not having a required permit to buy from the Director of Service. Any person wishing to buy such a weapon must obtain a permit from the Director of Service at a fee of $1, and must give the purpose for which he wishes to carry the weapon. Permits cannot be issued to those convicted of a crime, to minors or to vagabonds.

The Socialist Councilmen opposed the measure and prevented the ordinance from getting a second reading.

Councilman Bohnert introduced the following resolution:

Be it resolved, by the City Council of the City of Columbus, Ohio, That the Director of Public Safety be and he is hereby authorized to pay the wash women who wash the bed clothes for the fire department the sum of $1.00 per bed per month instead of 60 cents as heretofore.

Sharp talk between some of the Councilmen and Mayor Karb at Council meeting Monday night forced him to admit that he was only "guessing" when he declared in his letter to the Council Committee on Gas and Electricity that "outside" and "sinister" forces were behind the resolution to have a board of experts examine Superintendent of the Light Plant Eichhorn as to his qualifications.

TO A MAN, MINERS OBEY COMMAND TO LAY DOWN THEIR TOOLS

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Mine workers' leaders today reported that the suspension order has been generally obeyed, that only engineers and pump runners were at at work today, and that none of the collieries made any effort to mine any coal. Officials of the big coal companies confirmed this report and said they were not making any attempt to induce men to work and that only sufficient steam to run the pumps and the fans were maintained at the mines.

It is expected here that the larger coal companies will make no effort to mine any coal, that they will merely guard their property and await the result of the conference on April 10 between their representatives and the miners. These companies have sold all their coal and report their customers have stocks for several weeks in their bins. There is still a steady demand, however, and it is expected that some of the independents or the smaller companies may try to mine and take advantage of the high prices which they can obtain.

Today patrols of the State Constabulary kept on the move through the mining towns, but there was no call for their services Good order prevailed generally. A number of imported men were taken to some of the collieries today to act as guards, but they were not molested.

Expects 10 Per Cent Increase.

John M. Mack, secretary-treasurer of the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton district, returned here today from Cleveland to direct the interests of the miners during the absence of President Dempsey. He predicts that the operators will offer a flat increase of 10 per cent when the Philadelphia conference is held.

"This offer," he declared, "may not be the first to be made, but it will eventually come and will no doubt be the limit of the concessions offered by the operators."

CANDIDATES' PETITIONS.

The Socialist County Executive Committee urges all comrades who have candidates' petitions to turn them in not later than next Monday night. Petitions may be left at any time with Chairman D. M. Kuhns, 108½ South High Street.

Just a little lift from each of our readers will do the trick. Come now, Comrade, do your share.

A SOCIALIST PLAN

Of Conserving and Restoring our Forests and Game.

By J. J. Anderson, Lima, Ohio.

Year after year all thinking people have viewed with alarm the rapid destruction of our forests, and the accompanying disappearance of the wild animals, birds and fishes.

Man's existence in any country depends chiefly upon the products of the soil. The soil sustains plant life, upon which animals life subsists and from these by his knowledge and power man derives food, clothing and shelter. There are no relations more evident or important than the relation of all men to these natural resources upon which they must depend for their existence. The past history of the country has been marked by the waste of its natural resources.

Under capitalism men have gone to Nature's Storehouse, not for necessities to satisfy human needs, but for commodities to be sold in the market for gain. In the mad rush for gold, nothing is exempt from destruction. The track of capitalism is marked by ruins from the giant redwoods of California to the Falls of Niagara. As a trustee of our National Resources and as a guardian of the inheritance of generations to follow, it has proved itself unfaithful to the trust.

Walter Thomas Mills, in "The Struggle for Existence," accurately defines its limitations when he says, "The preservation of the forests, the irrigation of fertile but arid soils, the construction of great canals, the building dykes and levees and the saving of the waste from great cities which the sewers turn into the seas, which constantly exausts the productive powers of the soil and all enterprises which require long spaces of time for their completion; these things, capitalism, depending for its motive for action on profit, can not and does not undertake.

"The full use of the world's productive powers require the saving of what capitalism can not save and the development of that which capitalism can not develope."

One of the most valuable of our Natural Resources is our forests and the rapidity of its destruction is almost entirely due to the greed and waste of the present profit system.

According to the report of the Secretary of Agriculture for 1910, the demand made upon our forest for sawed lumber alone in 1880 was 18,000,000,000 board feet,—in 1890, 24,000,000,000 board feet, in 1900, 35,-40,000,000,000 board feet. At this rate, 40,000,000,00 board feet. At this rate, unless some definite action is taken our timber will soon become exausted. What an awful calamity that will be. The use of the forest has been continuous from the earliest times.

Primitive man depended upon the products of the tree before history began.

Wood has been the cheapest, the most plentiful and the most easily worked of all materials available for the use of man.

We have used it everywhere and for everything; one of our best known foresters has said, "Our civilization is built of wood. From the cradle to the coffin in some shape or other it surrounds us as a convenience or a necessity."

Under capitalism timber is taken from the forest to meet the demand of many industries without regard to the enormous waste and with only a view to profit. Branches and tops are left scattered on the ground to form the slash which burns with uncontrollable fierceness during disastrous forest fires, killing the remaining timber and endangering the lives and the property of the people.

In the great redwood parks of California the timber grabbers cut those magnificent trees from ten to twenty feet from the ground and used dynamite to split logs which were too large for sawing in the mills, often splintering them into worthless bits and always resulting in great waste.

One of the principal evils of the present competitive system of manufacturing in the wood consuming industry, is the great waste of material.

The government now has an office of the Forestry Service located in Chicago, for the purpose of teaching lumbermen and wood using manufacturers how to utilize the whole tree through co-operation.

In the course of manufacture, the lumber industry takes 42 per cent of our lumber, with a waste in production of 67 per cent; while in cooperage manufacturing, the waste is even greater, amounting to 78 per cent.

In cooperage manufacture, why should not the staves, heads and hoops be made from the 67 per cent waste in the manufacture of lumber. The two industries employ, to a large extent, the same woods and operate in the same regions.

In the manufacture of the simple meat skewer, great hickory trees are cut down and sawed into pieces several feet long from which the skewers are made. Why should not the skewers be made from the waste resulting from the manufacture of hickory spokes and other parts of wagon gear?

In the great piles of slabs, edgings and other wastes now burned, or used as fuel, might be found the material necessary for picture frames, boxes, toys and other articles of wooden ware.

The co-operation necessary to effect this saving would be natural in a co-operative commonwealth, but is entirely foreign to the competitive system.

To insure a future supply of timber the most essential thing is the renewal of the forests, but as it takes from 75 to 125 years to produce a crop of timber, but little attention is paid to this feature by capitalists and our forests are now at their mercy.

According to a statement in Munsey's magazine, "Forty years ago three-fourths of the timber standing in the United States was publicly owned. Today four-fifths is privately owned. Most of it passed from the government to private owners through land grants to railroads, canals and the sale of enormous tracts at $1.25 an acre. The present commercial value of privately owned standing timber is six billion dollars and 48 per cent of this timber land is owned by 195 owners."

After these lands are stripped of their timber, they are used still farther by real estate sharks to exploit the home-seeker or left as silent waste or unproductive places in our country.

The remaining lands retained in the public domain are invoiced as follows:

The National Parks established to conserve our natural scenery, such as Yellowstone with its mountains, canyons and geysers and the Yosemite with its unique glacial valleys, snow-peaks and waterfalls.

The National Monuments, established to preserve some of the worlds records of past ages, as for example, the Tonto with its pre-historic cliff dwellings. The pertrified forests, with their Silicified mesozoic trees.

The National Military Parks, such as Chickamauga and Gettysburg.

The great arid tracts of the west, the undrained swamp lands and our national forests.

Except for small areas in Michigan, Minnesota, Kansas, Florida and Dakota, the national forests include the great mountain water-sheds of the west and contain from one million to two million acres. They are of two general types, open park areas, with timber confined to the north slopes, and densely forested regions, with timber growing on both slopes. The country surrounding them is rough mountainous and unsuited to agriculture and should promptly be included in the national reserves.

Not only will this territory be valuable for its timber, but also for its favorable influence on water supply, and rainfall.

Many of our States contain lake regions, which should be retained in the public domain, for the above reason, for many of the small lakes in Northern Indiana are now being drained and the land sold for speculative purposes.

No plan of forest management will produce results unless accompanied an adequate system of fire protection, it would be useless to secure a young growth of timber if destruction by fires would necessitate a repetition of the work.

Therefore, we as Socialists, should demand that a great number of our unemployed men should be engaged as rangers, fire wardens and in the re-seeding of cut-over tracts.

The schools should be encouraged in teaching the sentiment and practice of tree planting

Our municipal parks and playgrounds should contain the greatest variety of trees and plants consistent with climatic conditions, labeled with their proper names for the information of the public.

In place of the useless poplar trees now planted on account of their rapid growth, the planting of nutbearing trees should be encouraged, to increase the production of the country.

The State Agricultural Experimental Farm should be extended to include State nurseries, in order to supply free, to all farmers, municipalities and lot owners, the fruit, nut and ornamental trees adapted to their respective States.

Game.

The work of increasing the production of the country would be incomplete if the reforested tracts did not maintain the greatest amount of wild life, which they would support.

Our ancestors feasted upon bear steaks and venison. Our coasts and inland waters were once covered with water fowl and swarmed with fishes. The prairies were alive with buffalo and prairies chickens. The forests were filled with deer, elk, moose, wild turkeys and smaller game. Flocks of the passenger pigeon darkened the sun and the Indians used to gather in their nesting places and feast for a month or more on squabs.

But this was in the day of the pioneer, and the Indian. Those days have gone.

With the coming of the white man's civilization, came the slaughter for profit. Thousands of buffalo were killed for their hides and hundreds of elk slain for their teeth. The rivers and streams were poluted with refuse matter, killing millions of fish.

The destructive power of capitalism in the unregulated trade in game has been greatly intensified by the development of rapid transit, and cold storage.

From Carrituck Sound and Barnegat Bay, North Carolina, over a hundred thousand geese and ducks were killed in a single season, by market hunters and shipped to New York and Philadelphia markets.

Dr. Hornaday, the noted naturalist, says, "That with a few local exceptions, our feathered game is being shot to death much faster than it breeds. Already extinct are the Great Auk, Passenger Pigeon, Labrador Duck, Eskima Curlew, Carolina Parrakeet and marked for early extinction are the Whooping Crane, Wood Duck, Golden Plover, Snowey Egret and others."

From time to time efforts have been made to organize the sportsmen and others interested, into protective associations, to aid in checking this destruction, and to safeguard the wealth of forest and field.

These efforts have always been met with indifference by the average sportsman, mainly because of the undemocratic remedy proposed to effect the conservation of game, namely the high license system which would confer the privilege of hunting upon those able to afford the fee imposed and would prohibit those in less fortunate circumstances; consequently the protective associations are weak in membership and influence and are unable to cope with the powerful interests now preying upon our natural resources.

The National Association of Audubon Societies, with headquarters at 141 Broadway, N. Y., is now engaged in a fierce struggle to prevent the milliners and market men's associations from breaking down the laws in several States, which now protect our birds from being slaughtered for profit.

The restrictive measures of the States have not kept pace with the destructive forces of capitalism, and have been on the principal of locking the stable after the horse is stolen. Unless other methods are adopted, we are fast approaching the time when our gamest bird will be the English sparrow and our only fish the lazy carp. The saving power necessary to preserve and restore our country to a natural condition is social action or Socialism.

That the party leaders have already recognized the importance of this work is manifested by the Socialist party's platform, adopted by National Convention, at Chicago, May, 1908, in Sec. four and five of the general demands.

Section 4. The extention of the public domain to include quarries, mines, oil wells, FORESTS, and water power.

Sec. 5. The scientific re-forestation of timber lands and the reclamation of swamp lands. The lands so reforested or reclaimed to be permanently retained as a part of the public domain.

Our officers having legislative power, should, in the interests of five million of our men and boys, who hunt and fish for pastime, support and introduce the following measures:

A law prohibiting the sale of game, or game fish.

A law prohibiting any common carrier from transporting game or fish, not accompanied by a bona fide hunter's permit.

A law establishing a maximum bag limit of number of species to be taken in any one day, or season by a hunter.

A law prohibiting the springtime shooting of all migratory birds.

The penalty for violation of these acts to be a fine and a refusal to issue a license to the violator during the next season.

A law providing for the feeding of game and game birds during such time, when the natural forage is covered with ice or snow.

A law establishing game refuges, and breeding grounds for game, bird stations or refuges for migratory birds, the propagation of game birds and the extention of the fish hatcheries.

A law favoring the employment of competent persons to carry out the provisions of these acts.

The law favoring the abolishing of a high license system and the imposing of a nominal fee, not to exceed two dollars, the same to be used exclusively in the interests of game and fish.

A law transferring all gunds derived from the taxation of dogs and not used in payment for damages to sheep to the game fund.

HAVE YOU NOTICED IT?

You have noticed that during times of strikes the chief use made of police, militia, cossacks and "regulars" is to protect the haughty employers who blurts out:

"Nothing to arbitrate." He would promptly come to terms—there would instantly be "something to arbitrate"—if he did not know that the toilers would be promptly jailed or shot if they became maddened in their fear and hunger and humiliation.

You must have noticed that in turbulent strike times in this and all other communities, hungry, humiliated and angry men never for a moment think of doing the least damage to the PUBLICLY OWNED SCHOOL HOUSES, the PUBLICLY OWNED LIBRARIES and the PUBLIC OWNED ART GALLERIES and the STATE UNIVERSITY and the PUBLICLY OWNED PARK. Now if the mills, mines, factories, railway and the like were all publicly owned, and publicly controlled the workers would be in far more official relation towards this socialised industrial property. Then there would be no class war raging around the mines and shops. Then this property would need no protection from cheated, hungry, humiliated, maddened working people, nor from detective crooks in the service of capitalists as incendiaries. Then the workers could not be turned down with the brutal, "nothing to arbitrate!" Then indeed there would be no industrial kings and emperors to demand: "Bring out the gatling guns and the cossacks! This is our business."

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS

The National Headquarters of the Socialist party are being moved to 111 North Market Street, Chicago. All mail intended for the National Secretary, the General Correspondent of the Woman's National Committee, the National Socialist Lyceum Bureau, and the Finnish, Italian and Polish National Translator-Secretaries, should be addressed to that number.

The new headquarters contain nearly twice as much space as the old. The old place was very spacious four years ago when the party moved in. But, for months it has been necessary to store great quantities of printed matter at the printing offices and have it delivered piecemeal because there was no room for it in the office. It was also necessary to have the Polish Translator-Secretary move out in order to make room, and it was impossible to make room for the South-Slavic, Bohemian, and Scandinavian Translator-Secretaries. The office is shipping out immense quantities of leaflets, pamphlets and books, and this work is expected to increase constantly as the campaign warms up.

The National Office has already sold about 75,000 copies of "The Growing Grocery Bill," by Allan L. Benson. It is the hit of the season. Price $30.00 for 10,000; $4.00 for 1,000; 50 cents for 100; 5 cents per copy. Send orders to National Secretary, Socialist Party, 111 North Market Street, Chicago.

CALL FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

At its recent meeting, the National Executive Committee of the Socialist Party took the following action:

"Comrade Berger called the attention of the committee to the fact that Joseph J. Ettor and Aruro Giovannitti were being held without bail upon a charge of being accesories to murder in connection with the Lawrence, Mass., strike of textile workers.

Moved, that $100 be appropriated towards the defense of Ettor and Guiovannitti, and that a call for contributions to the defense fund be made through the party press. Carried."

Send contributions to the undersigned.

OFFICIAL FIGURES SHOW GERMAN SOCIALIST GAINS

The following official figures of the recent German reichstag elections are of general interest:

Total number of voters registered	14,441,777
Total number of votes cast	12,206,808
Total vote cast by the capitalist parties	7,956,479
Total Socialist vote	4,250,329

More than one-third of all the votes cast, or 34.82 per cent, were polled by the Socialists, 29.43 per cent of all the registered voters.

In 1907 the total capitalist vote was	3,003,755
In 1907 the total Socialist vote was	3,259,020
In the last five years the total capitalist vote decreased	47,276
In the last five years the total Socialist vote increased	991,309

The Center of Catholic Clericals' vote decreased from 2,179,743 in 1907 to 2,036,290 in 1912, a loss of 144,453.

The Conservative, Anti-Semites and Agrarian vote decreased from 3,004,602 in 1907 to 1,855,946, a loss of 148,656.

The Capitalist Radicals and Progressives made some gains.

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS

Benjamin O. Flower, former editor of the Twentieth Century Magazine, in an interview, declared that the whole drift of the times was toward Socialism, that the Socialist vote in the next national election would be much larger than that of four years ago, and that the vote in 1916 would be "enormous."

In British Columbia an Industrial Peace Association has been formed to help put Socialism out of business by applying Christian faith to economic problems. That's good. If they will only pump a little real Christianity into the profit-grabbers it may help some. But it's likely they will scold labor and let it go at that.

Says Rev. Aaron Noll, pastor Grace Reformed Church, Montgomery, Pa.: "If God stands for justice—and every theologian holds that the highest attribute of Diety is justice—then the Socialist platform, which is the best expression of justice ever issued by any political party, does contain God in it, for God is justice."

The latest official and corrected returns of the election in Germany show that the total number of votes cast was 12,260,808. The total Socialist vote was 4,250,329, or 34.82 per cent, the combined capitalistic parties polling 7,956,479. The Socialist gain over five years ago was 991,309; the Center lost 144,453, and the Conservatives, Anti-Semites and Agrarians lost 148,656.

The Chicago Men and Religious Forward Movement started a campaign against poltical campaigning on Sunday. This scheme is interpreted as another move to muzzle the Socialists, who, being laboring people, are required to do muh of their political work on Sundays, as they are not situated like capitalistic politicians, who are busy laying wires seven days in the week.

The San Francisco Labor Council has referred to a referendum vote of the affiliated locals the question of going into politics, making no recommendations. A minority report favored co-operating with the Socialist party along the lines of the Los Angeles plan, but it was defeated, a majority of the delegates urging that it should first be learned whether the members favored starting a political movement.

Sig. Ferri has been expelled from the Socialist party in Italy. Like some others, Ferri became afflicted with a severe case of big head and voted to endorse the government's war upon Turkey upon division in Parliament. The Socialist demand that the war cease and are being denounced as traitors to the flag, etc., which Ferri could not stand. It is probable that Ferri will now be rewarded with a portfolio in the Cabinet.

HOW THE WORKINGMEN CAN ALL BE RICH

"Say, Pa, why ain't you a capitalist?"

"Well, my son, you see, I have not money enough; it takes a pile of money to be a capitalist."

"But, Pa, how do they get their money?"

"Why, my son, they work hard and earn it."

"You don't work very hard, do you, Pa?"

"Work hard! Work hard! Why, kid, how you talk! I've worked as hard as a horse all my life. Here I am growing old at 46, worn out with hard work."

"But, Pa, if you have worked so hard why ain't you rich?"

"Why—er—why, what a question, boy! How do you expect me to answer such a question as that?"

"But, Pa, I want to know, and you told me the other day if I wanted to know anything to come to you and not listan to those fool Socialists."

"So I did son, and I am glad that you have obeyed me. Let's see, what was the question, 'why ain't I rich?' Oh, that's easy! It is because I did not save my money."

"Well, Pa, why don't you start saving right now?"

"Save money now! Why, you young rascal, I can scarcely buy enough for the family to eat, say nothing about other things we need. There's no chance of saving anything now."

"Well, Pa, why didn't you save when you had lots of money?"

"Why—er—drat it all, kid, I never did have lots of money. We've always been as poor as Job's turkey."

Boy thinks awhile.

"Were the capitalists once poor like we are, Pa?"

Pa, proudly, "Yes, my son, and it shows the glorious privileges our Great Redomocan Party hase given to all, for while they were once poor they are now rich and every man has the same opportunity as they had."

"Say, Pa, who taught you to say that?"

"Who taught me to say what? Why, boy, what do you mean?"

"I mean that you didn't think that all out by yourself, did you?"

"Why—er—I believe I did hear Banker Takemin say something like that at one of our meetings last campaign, and it sounds so nice that I remembered it."

"But, Pa, is it so?"

"Why, kid, of course it's so!"

"Well, then, why don't you start in now and get rich?"

"Well—er—drat it all, kid, it's no use; your old daddy is too old to play that game now."

"I ain't very old, am I, Pa?"

"Why, what a question, boy, of course you're not old."

"Will I be rich some day, Pa?"

Pa thinks awhile, then sighs. "I'm afraid not, my son; your Pa can't give you the right kind of a chance."

"Then it's a question of a chance, is it, Pa?"

"Well—er—I guess that is about the size of it."

"Will I stand as good a chance as Banker Takemin's boy, Theodore, Pa?"

"Well—I rather doubt it, my son. You see Banker Takemin put $10,000 in the bank at compound interest for his son the day he was born and when he is 31 he will certainly have that and much more, besides."

"Say, Pa, what are you going to give me when I am 31?"

"Well—er—well, candidly, my son, the way matters look now, you'll be able to stick everything your old daddy can give you in your eye."

Boy thinks awhile.

"Say, Pa, it looks to me like the chances for workingmen to get rich are mighty slim in this country. Why don't you move away some place where prospects are better?"

"Why, boy, the working people have the best chance in the country of any place on the globe."

"How many working people get rich in this country, Pa?"

"Well—er—er—I don't know the exact number, but I suppose not over one in a hundred."

"The best chance in the world for a workingman isn't a very good chance, is it, Pa?"

"No my son, it isn't. The working people have a pretty hard row to hoe."

"Say, Pa, is a workingman's vote as good as a capitalist's vote?"

Pa, swelling up with pride. "Why, certainly it is! The workingmen are the real rulers of this country.

"This is a pretty rich country, isn't it, Pa?"

"Rich? Why, I should say it is! It's the richest country on the face of the earth."

"And you say that the workingmen rule it?"

Pa, swelling again: "Yes, my son, the destiny of this great and glorious country is in the hands of its sovereign citizens, the men who till the soil and mine the coal and do the work. The horny hand of toil is the one that steers the ship of state."

"That sounds pretty nice, don't it, Pa?"

Pa, suspiciously: "Yes, it does, but—"

"That's another one of Banker Skinem's, ain't it?"

"Well! S'posen' it is?"

"Well, Pa, it sounds to me like a lot of 'tommyrot,' for if this is such a rich country and the workingmen really do rule it, then the workingmen must be a lot of nincompoops, or they would get together and form a po——"

Pa, furiously: "See here, you blasted brat of an anarkist! I know you've been down to hear those Socialists again. I see I'll have to give you another remainder. Just come with me out to the woodshed for a few minutes; I'm going to give you something to think about for the rest of your natural lifetime!!!"—Peoria Bulletin.

There has been a general increase of rents on High street within the last thirty days. Tenants who have occupied business places for ten years or more suddenly find themselves held for twenty-five or fifty per cent more rent. This is due to the fact that the High street vultures, working through the Wolves of the Journal and Dispatch, have decreed the defeat of the Third street viaduct.

The Central Passenger Traffic Association has announced that there will be no low rate excursions in or out of Columbus on Sunday this Summer. This will give the workingman a chance to sit at home, read The Columbus Socialist and other literature, and make up his mind to vote to own all the means of production and distribution, which would, of course, include the railways.

I believe that competition is doomed. The trusts, whose single object to abolish competition, having proved that we are better without it than with it, the moment corporations control the supply of any product they combine. What the Socialists desire is that the corporation of humanity should control all production. Beloved comrades, this is the frictionless way; it is the higher way; it eliminates the motives for a selfish life; it enacts into our every-day life the ethics of Christ's gospel. Nothing else will do it; nothing else can bring the glad day of universal brotherhood. Oh, that I were young again, Socialism would have my life!—It is God's way out of the wilderness and into the promised land. It is the very meat and marrow of Christ's gospel.—Frances Williard.

JUST ANOTHER LIE.

The Indianapolis Sun of the date of March 23 published the following:

"Girard, Kansas.—The Appeal to Reason, the Socialist paper published here, the biggest political party paper in the world, is to suspend.

"'It is too hard work to keep it going,' said its editor, Fred D. Warren, 'This is my last fight.'"

The New York Call, on the date of March 24, printed this deianl, which is received by telegram from the Appeal office: "The story that the Appeal to Reason is to suspend is utterly without foundation. The Appeal was neve mrore alive than it is at the present time." Signed by Fred D. Warren.

THE PARADISE AT PANAMA.

The Columbus Dispatch, recently, noted some comments made by Gount Vay de Vays, a Hungarian philanthropist who visited the Panama canal and has come away profoundly impressed with the spectacle of a community of 50,000 persons, mostly employes and laborers, earning fair compensation, living in sanitary and pleasant homes, enjoying the advantages of schools, hospitals, amusements and even worship provided by the government. Especially was the count pleased with the attitude of the government toward the workingman who is cared for most paternally, kept in good health and spirits and thus in the highest degree of efficiency. He, therefore, expressed the wish that the example of the federal government at Panama could be followed in all the great industrial centers and that corporations would manifest the same interest in the welfare of those who work for them.

The Dispatch naively says:

"The great difference between Uncle Sam as an employer and the individual or corporation is that the former is not seeking to make a profit. He is not digging the canal and depending upon the low cost of the enterprise for the making of profits on the investment. Unlike most employers, he does not have to worry about the amount of money on hand for payday or the payment of interest to stockholders."

"Aye there's the sub." No profit is sought by the United States in the Panama Canal Zone. Why not eliminate the "profit system" all over the United States? Simply because the capitalists who rob the toilers of four-fifths of what they produce own the President, the Congress, the Legislatures, the Courts, the Army, and the Police. These bloodsuckers will not let go until the people swat them with Socialism.

WHAT'S TO BE DONE?

Freedom of contract, for the workers, once the cornerstone of capitalistic exploitation, is now being pried loose and transformed into a projectile which promises to batter down the entire structure of wage slavery.

The laborer was a free agent. He could sell his labor power to whom he wished, or withhold it, if the terms did not suit. It was this that constituted him a "free man," and this inestimable privilege his exploiters sedulously preserved to him. All they asked was an equal right with him in this freedom. If he was free to discharge himself, they must necessarily have the "right of discharge" also.

It worked all right—for the capitalist—until the laborers got together in great masses. And now we hear no chanting of the praises of freedom of contract from the capitalist camp. On the contrary they want to abrogate it, but know not how to accomplish their object.

Here, for instance, is the New York Journal of Commerce editorially declaring, anent the threatened strike of the railroad engineers, that "it is preposterous that it should be within the power of an organization of men to order such a thing." Which is possibly so. It is almost as preposterous as having an organization of six or seven men controling the entire railroad system of the country, with power to "stop every wheel on 200,000 miles of track" if they see fit, a statement that has been made a thousand times, and has been quoted by the Journal of Commerce itself, and become a sort of familiar household word to the public. If they have stood the control of these six or seven men for many years we may be able to survive it if they are temporarily supplanted in the wheel-stopping function by 25,000 engineers. It may seem preposterous, to be sure, but we have the consolation of knowing that we live under a preposterous system all through.

"If the business of the country," continues the Journal of Commerce, "is to be scourged with scorpions at the behest of a labor organization, or even menaced every time there is a demand for higher wages, some government means will have to be found for stopping that kind of economic barbarism." The Journal of Commerce is of the opinion that "there certainly should be some way of settling such a question authoritatively and conclusively," but it does not suggest any, though it is certain that there is at least one, maybe more.

The engineers, like all othe srtrikers, are but exercising their inalienable right of "freedom of contract." Does the Journal of Commerce want to abrogate it? How about compelling men to work against their will? How about introducing chattel slavery, or, at least, peonage, once again? Why didn't the British capitalists turn the army upon the coal miners and force them back into the pits at the bayonet point? Why doesn't the Journal of Commerce recommend that method for dealing with the railroad engineers and coal miners on this side? Why not chain the engineers to their machines and place sentries at the pit entrances to prevent the miners coming up before they have sent up the necessary amount of coal? If the Journal of Commerce has anything better to suggest, why doesn't it suggest it? That would at least be an attempt to settle the question "authoritatively," if not "conclusively."

The Journal of Commerce is up against the Sphinx riddle that capitalism is called upon to answer, and cannot. And the Sphinx destroyed those who could not answer her riddles. Myth as well as history has the quality of repeating itself, and the freedom of contract, which was always a myth so far as the workers were concerned, is now being transformed from a bulwark of the system of capitalistic exploitation to a most potent instrument for its destruction.

The reason that the Journal foC ommerce suggests nothing is that it has nothing to suggest. There are just two alternative proposals possible—a return to open, undisguised slavery, or an advance to Socialism, and the Journal of Commerce dare not suggest either.

LAWRENCE STRIKE REPORT DOCTORED IN COMMITTEE

Seems Impossible For Capitalistic Congressmen to be Honest.

(By National Socialist Press.)

Washington—That the House Committee on Rules has "doctored" the stenographic report of the testimony given before it recently on the conditions existing in the city of Lawrence, Mass., was disclosed when Chairman Henry announced that the Rules Committee would not investigate the Lawrence situation.

As the announcement of the determination of the Democrats to drop the proposed probe was made public the representative of the National Socialist Press recalled the words of Representative Pou, of North Carolina, and ranking member of the Rules Committee during the testimony of Attorney Roewer of the Lawrence strikers. Pou then declared that the committee had plenty of grounds upon which it could investigate the Lawrence outrages if it only wanted to.

Turning to that part of the testimony your correspondent was surprised to note that all these remarks had been expunged from the record. The following is the report of this interesting colloquy which was sent out by the National Socialist Press on March 8:

"Roewer suggested several grounds on which Congress could act. But Garrett, of Tenessee, was not satisfied. Finally Stanley, of Kentucky, interposed with this significant question:

"'Mr. Roewer, don't you think that when Congress can legislate for the safe travel and shipment of calves and coal it could spare some of its valuable time to legislate for safe travel and departure of human beings?'

"'I should think so,' replied Roewer.

"'OH THERE ARE HALF A DOZEN GROUNDS FOR THIS COMMITTEE TO TAKE UP AN INVESTIGATION, IF IT WANTS TO,' declared Pou.

"'The committee should discuss this matter in executive session,' Henry warned his colleagues."

All of the above is missing from the record. Yet hundreds were present when Pou, who is next to the chair in rank, emphatically declared that the Rules Committee could act IF IT WANTED TO. But the Democratic Rules Committee, although posing as the friends of labor, finds that it is impolitic to investigate the horrible outrages in the Massachusetts city.

Despite the fact that the preliminary hearing held on Socialist Congressman Berger's resolution revealed a state of affairs inhuman and revolting, the Rules Committee finds that "no good can now be accomplished by holding an investigation." The same committee has approved several trust investigations when the interests of the middle class were involved. But the Lawrence matter, of course, would only benefit workingmen, workingwomen, and child laborers.

Yet the Democratic Party is receiving support from the "A. F. of L. policy" politicians and their dupes.

"PHOSSY JAW" BILL IS PASSED

After a strenuous campaign on the part of the American Association for labor legislation, the Hughes-Esch bill proposing to tax out of existence the use of poisonous white phosphorous in the manufacture of matches has passed the House. This bill is known as the "phossy jaw" bill because of the dread disease it seeks to eradicate.

WANT U. S. TO ARM SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The killing of a nine-year old child by a Boy Scout in the city of New York adds interest to the introduction in Congress of a bill "to promote a patriotic spirit among the citizens and youth of the United States and for the encouragement of rifle practice. Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, is the author of the bill. The House Committee on Military Affairs is now considering the measure.

Under the provision of Tilson's bill any organization of Boy Scouts could, by complying with the rules of the National Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice, procure army rifles free of charge from the United States Government.

The bill also provides for an annual appropriation of $100,000 "for the promotion of rifle practice in public schools, colleges, universities, and civilian rifle clubs, including the cost of ammunition, prizes and the necessary appliances therefor, and for the expense of indoor and outdoor competitions among the students and members attending or belonging to the same, including the necessary traveling expenses and per diem of the persons designated by the Secretary of War to superintend such instruction and competitions."

Last year a California Congressman introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to detail army officers to train the Boy Scouts in the arts of war. Yet the leaders of this Boy Scout movement persist in denying the fact that it is a military movement for the promotion of wholesale murder.

The Booster's Column

By F. E. JOHNSTON

To you Boosters, I want to say candidly, that in the past two weeks, we have have been making very little head-way. This is not as it should be. The subscription list should be kept going up and you Boosters have proven in the past that you can deliver the goods and we want to see every one of the old faces and many new ones show up in this office next week.

It has been called to the attention of this office that one good comrade who takes this paper passes it on until it is read by fourteen others of his fellow workmen. There is not the least doubt but that these fourteen men would all subscribe if they were simply approached on the matter. The same will apply to practically every shop, store and factory in this city and county. Go after that neighbor of yours, that you have been supplying free, and make him do his duty.

Last week we enclosed a sub-blank in each paper. To date, few of them have been received. Get busy with them, boys and girls, we are just aching for something to do up here. See if you can't swamp us or snow us under with an avalanche of subs next week. Send the little old Socialist an Easter Card (a sub-card through the mail), or an Easter letter with a pink sub-blank enclosed, filled up with subscriptions.

Everybody, all together!

The off and on report for the past few weeks will appear next week.

Comrade Fisher is certainly doing nice work. He digs up four wayward sons of toil and starts them on the right road. Comrade Fisher never lets a chance slip by to boost "The Socialist."

Comrade Myers of the Eleventh is always doing something to make "the grave digger" work. He furnishes two more nails for the coffin of capitalism this week.

Comrade Fries lands at Home Plate with one yearly, one six month and one three month.

Comrade Carpenter of Lockbridge, O., forwards us one dollar for a year's subscription to the newspaper without a muzzle.

Comrade Harmon of London, O., holds the honor of being the first to land with his pink sub-blank. The mail last Monday morning brought the blank with a new subscription. Let every other comrade do likewise.

Comrade Joe Raly of Sidney, O., wants more light, so he sends in his subscription to this paper.

Don't forget to use the Red Ticket. We have plenty on hand at this office.

The following comrades land one or more: Rolloson, Fries, Rout, Gates, Wiechold, Lindsay, Wright, Ellis, Hull, Margraff, Price, Richards, Schumm, Roof, Conley, Reucher, Moody, Lamb.

Just a parting word, comrades, be on the job every minute. Let us make a record next week. Everybody get at least one subscriber and that will start things moving the right direction.

If you feel like kicking against conditions as they are, cast a straight Socialist ballot at the next election.

Local Party News

Under this head will be published the news concerning the activities of the Ward Branches of the Socialist Party in Columbus and from Locals in Franklin County. All news and announcements should be sent in not later than Wednesday morning.

THE CITY CENTRAL COMMITTEE

CITY HEADQUARTERS AT 335½ SOUTH HIGH STREET.

HERE TO STAY—I. W. W. IS DOING VERY FINE

At the regular meeting of Local I. W. W. No. 84 Sunday afternoon the election of permanent officers and installation took place, they holding office for the ensuing six months. We can safely say if the start we have made is a criterion, the Ohio Manufacturers Association will be letting out another howl for 1000 per, but we would advise Opha Moore to save the postage to buy flowers as we are going to turn his whole system upside down and bury it so deep it will be cast into utter oblivian. The workers must be educated and organized. This is our aim, we are going to have this as our goal. The condition of the workers is constantly growing worse. The shackles that bind us are being tightened. We must act. We must unite, and throw off this yoke of wage slavery, or else find ourselves utterly helpless, our bodies being ground into profits for these merciless parasites. Cast aside helpless in old age, left to join the vast and ever increasing army of soldiers of the industrial world. We are going to build a concrete foundation upon the principal of "an injury to one is an injury to all."

ONE BIG UNION, what a powerful weapon, and how simple workers of the world you are not conscious of your power. Up and at them, let not one opportunity pass, make every blow count, do not allow yourselves to be deceived, answer all critics, don't forget the Boss uses direct action at all times, therefore we must protect ourselves with a perfect organization of all into one. Local No. 84 has requested our General Secretary to furnish us with petitions to be signed demanding the immediate and unconditional release of Fellow Workers Ettor and Giovannitti, and all other revolutionists now in jail, these petitions to be sent to that tyrant Governor Foss of Massachusetts. Those wishing to attend our next meeting inquire of Fellow Worker Secretary Annie Minturn, 121½ East Town St., as we have not secured a permaneat meeting place as yet.

W. G. INGRAM,
Organizer.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

At the last meeting of the Board of Education Socialist member W. R. Draper introduced the following resolution which was referred to the committe on text-books:

Resolved by the members of the Board of Education, of Columbus, Ohio School District, That as said Board adopted Webster's Academic Dictionary as a text-book in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, June 6th, 1911, and that parents of school children in the Columbus School District, have by said resolution passed been compelled to buy same, and as said book has been classed among the general text-books, for free distribution to scholars of said District; therefore be it,

Resolved, That said Webster's Academic Dictionary be furnished free by the Board of Education for the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, under the same plan as other free text-books.

This resolution shall be in effect from and after its passage.

Comrade John L. Michel introduced the following which was referred to the finance committee:

Resolved by the members of the Board of Education of Columbus, Ohio School District, That as the cost of living has advanced and the qualifications for the position as Elementary School Teacher has become more difficult and a greater task has been placed upon said teachers; be it,

Resolved, That the teachers in the Elementary Grades be paid, beginning with the school year of September, 1912, the following scale:

1st.	Year	$ 600 00
2nd.	Year	650 00
3rd.	Year	700 00

This resolution shall be in effect from and after its passage.

BOSS BARBERS AND THEIR JOURNEYMEN MEET IN SOCIAL CONCORD

The boss barbers and members of the barbers' union held a joint session last Monday night, the former being hosts and the latter the guests.

There were flights of oratory, setting forth in glowing terms the beauties of a 15-cent shave and the complete docility of the general public. The charm of a 7 o'clock closing hour was also the subject of glowing encomiums.

It seems that a few shops balked on the new deal, but practically all have "come clean" and bosses and men are glad.

THE NEW STORE.

The big dome on the top of the new Capitol building is now nearing completion. The contract for the sheet metal work has been let, and it is said to be the largest contract of the kind ever let in this city. The dome when set up will take 1000 electric bulbs to light, and will be the most magnificent electrical display in Ohio.

Mr. Metcalf states that it was the workingmen who stood by him in the days of the small store, and that they can always have a front seat in the new store. They will also give away absolutely free, a $450.00 piano, and a solid gold watch. Every purchaser will receive a ticket which entitles them to a guess on the heighth of the new Capitol building. The nearest correct guess, will receive the piano, the second nearest guess will receive the watch.

GROVEPORT SOCIALISTS HEAR BACHMAN AND BATES

Some eight sturdy Socialist of Columbus accompanied Comrade J. L. Bachman to Groveport last Saturday evening to lend their enthusiasm to the splendid meeting pulled off there. Comrade Bachman's convincing argument along the lines of Socialism was well received by all those present except that one listener could not just see how the Socialists would get control of John D. Rockefeller's wad. Names were secured for the formation of a local branch there and soon regular weekly meetings will be held with good speakers at each meeting. Comrade W. G. Bates spoke encouragingly of the Socialist newspaper of Columbus and several subscriptions were taken for the paper.

PAPER HANGERS WIN

Springfield, O.—The paper hangers, after being on strike less than two 7—SOCIALIST ..... weeks, have reached an amicable adjustment with practically all of the firms, and are back at work again.

AFTER INCREASED WAGES

Chicago—Fifteen thousand carpenters in this city have voted to go on strike for an increase of five cents per hour on April 1. Negotiations looking toward an amicable adjustment have been practically broken off.

TO VOTE ON INCREASE

Washington—It is stated by members of the railroad organizations that a circular letter has been authorised and sent out by the Southern Association of the Order of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors, proposing to the membership of these two organizations a referendum vote on a demand for a 15 per cent increase in wages on the thirteen railroads south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers. It is understood that this vote is to be taken during the early part of April, the vote to be canvassed in this city, and, if favorable to the increase, demands will be presented immediately.

PROPOSES DEPORTATION.

Washington—The deportation of aliens who have been admitted into America and who conspire for the overthrow of any government recognized by the United States is proposed in an amendment which Senator Root of New York has offered to the immigration bill, now pending in the senate. The amendment is aimed chiefly at the heads of the Mexican juntas that are said to be plotting the Mexican revolution in San Antonio and El Paso, Texas.

At Readville, Mass, since May, 1910, the wages of the mechanical departments of the Southern railroad have been increased 5½ cents per hour.

A FLATTERING CONDITION

Washington—Secretary-Treasurer J. W. Hayes of the International Typographical union has just forwarded to headquarters a document showing the tremendous benefits conferred upon the members of that organization by the international union. Using the total membership of the unions reporting increased scales of wages as a basis for calculation it reveals that during the past year the wages of affected members have increased $69,363.84 per week, or $3,601,714.48 for the year. Owing to the fact that the collection of the international union on the old-age pension assessment is based upon the percentage system, the international union is in possession of the exact earnings of each of its members. During 1911, the earnings per member reached the high total of $974.13 for the year. This is probably the highest average maintained by any labor organization in the world whose members are employed in any mechanical industry. The Typographical union is a high-due organization and its prosperity and effectiveness is largely the result of the fact that its members are not parsimonious in maintaining a strong financial condition.

RAILROAD STRIKERS APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Washington—The International officers of the trades involved in the Illinois Central and Harriman lines have issued an appeal for funds. This appeal has been approved by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor. The hope is expressed that the men who are working in the construction and repair departments of other railroads will donate a day's pay per month in order that the fight may be continued. Other organizations are also asked to give as liberally as possible. Some 30,000 men are involved. The physical condition of the struck roads, it is claimed, is in bad shape and rapidly getting worse. Arrangements have been made to equitably distribute the donations. All remittances are to be sent to William F. Kramer, 670 Monon Building, Chicago, Ill.

MINIMUM WAGE FOR LABOR-ERS

Washington—The house District of Columbia committee has recommended for passage a minimum wage for laborers, employed by the government in the District, of $2 per day. This measure has no opposition of any consequence and will in all probability pass.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Here is the comment of Herbert S. Bigelow, leader of the progressive forces in the Constitutional Convention, upon the passage of the I. & R. proposal.

"The Initiative and Referendum cause has won. The fifteen years' war is ended. Of course, there comes the vote at the polls, but that will not be a battle. It will be a celebration. We shall then celebrate the establishment in Ohio of real popular government. The proposal which passed is as good as that of any yet adopted in America. It is more liberal even than the Oregon amendment, which has served for ten years as the model.

"With this machinery of direct legislation, the politicians will be helpless in the hands of the people. The corporation lobby with its blighting influence will pass away. Public interest will take the place of apathy. Patriotism will have a new meaning. The citizen will be sovereign.

"To be sure, the work depends more upon the workmen than the tools, but there never has been any trouble with the electors of the State. They are as intelligent and progressive here as anywhere in the Union.

"With these new tools, of government, they will rebuild the commonwealth. They will set to work to solve with justice and mercy the pressing problems of these serious times."

Put into condensed form the proposal as it passed the convention provides for the following:

The Initiative and Referendum proposal provides in brief for the indirect or legislative method of initiating desired laws and constitutional amendments; and in addition the referendum on all constitutional amendments and such legislative acts as the people may wish to act upon.

Percentages Fixed.

For the indirect initiation of desired laws, the signatures of six per cent of the voters of the State are required on petitions.

For the indirect initiation of desired amendments to the constitution, signatures of eight per cent of the voters are required on petitions.

For the direct initiation of desired constitutional amendments, the signatures of twelve per cent of the voters are required.

For the referendum in all cases, signatures of six per cent of the voters are required.

Here's how the people of Ohio can use the initiative and referendum under the proposal adopted by the Constitutional Convention:

The proposed law will be drafted and sent out to every County in the State. Petitions will be circulated and signatures of voters, equal to six per cent of the total vote of the State will be secured from at least half of the Counties. When the required number have signed, the petitions will be filed with the Secretary of State, who, in turn, will present the proposed law with the petition to the Legislature.

The Legislature may pass it, in which case it becomes a law, unless a referendum petition, signed by six per cent of the voters of the State, requests that it be submitted to the people for approval or rejection, in which instance it is held up until the people have had a chance to vote on it.

If the legislature does not like the provisions of the bill presented to it by the people, it may draft and pass another one to its liking and have it submitted to the people as a "competing measure."

If there are two measures on the same subject, the question will be submitted to the people in this way:

Either Measure .....
Neither Measure .....
For Initiative Measure.....
For Legislative Measure.....

If the voter is in favor of the principle of the measure, he will place his cross-mark in the square opposite the words "Either Measure."

Next he will designate which measure he wants, the initiated measure or the legislative measure. If he prefers the initiated measure, that is, the measure put up to the legislature by the people, he will put his cross-mark in the square opposite the words "For Initiative Measure." If he prefers the legislative measure, that is, the measure put up by the Legislature, he will make his mark opposite the words "For Legislative Measure."

If a majority vote in favor of the principal of the State wide primary, the competing measure receiving the highest number of votes becomes the law.

Brother Stillwell and Brother Harry Thomas led the fight for labor in the debate. Each offered amendments to the proposal that lacked but a few votes for adoption. Stillwell's amendment provided for direct initiation, and Thomas' making the percentages an even five per cent. While the labor boys were somewhat disappointed over the failure to get a direct initiative clause in the proposal, they feel that the proposal as it stands has much of merit in it, and feel that its adoption is a victory in a sense for labor. An effort will be made to have the direct Initiative attached to the proposal when it comes up for third reading.

With the I. & R. temporarily out of the way, the Short Ballot now has the floor. This proposal provides that hereafter the governor, lieutenant governor and auditor of state, shall be the only elective offices, the rest to be appointive, the governor to make the appointments. Several amendments have already been offered to add to the number of elective officials. It is doubtful that the proposal will pass. It is certain it will not pass with the labor group's vote, unless it contains an effective recall provision. Trades Councils and Labor bodies should make it a point to familiarize themselves with the I. & R. proposal as adopted, and inform their respective delegates as to whether or not they still feel that the direct initiative should be made a part of it before it is finally submitted to the voters of the State for their approval or disapproval.

There is some talk of setting final adjournment for May 11th.

THE DEATH DEALING INFLUENCE OF HIGH COST OF FOOD SUPPLIES

(From the N. Y. Medical Journal.)

Doubtless the most lamentable feature of the steadily increasing cost of food supplies is one which so far has received but little, if any attention, viz., its influence upon the resisting power to disease of those who are obliged to adjust their diet list to their limited earnings. The prevailing belief is that the material increase in wages, which has been so marked a factor of modern economics, has fully kept pace with the increased cost of foods, but the special message of President Taft transmitted to Congress a few days ago shows the fallacy of this doctrine. It shows not only that the excessive cost of staple commodities was world wide, but that even where there had been an advance in wages, it had failed to reach the advanced cost of the necessaries of life. The brunt of the deficiency must naturally fall upon the vast majority of the population—that which already, in point of sanitary surrounding, is most exposed to all the evil conditions which render the body an easy prey to infection.

While the hundreds of millions of people who inhabit Asia, India, and the Indian Archipelago are able to subsist and perform considerable hard labor on a diet composed almost exclusively of rice, it is well known that their resistance to infectious diseases of all kinds is extremely limited, and that the death rate of infections among them is very large. This is because rice is extremely poor in the most important food constituent, albumin (5.56 per cent.) and in nucleins—both important factors in the genesis of antibodies—though relatively very rich in carbohydrates (about eighty per cent.) upon which muscular activity mainly depends. It supplies, in other words, the pabulum of our physical power, but it fails to contribute that which promotes genesis of our defensive constituents. Indeed, it is mainly of substances rich in albumins, meat, eggs, and other animal foods, that our immunizing mechanism is built. The vegetarian negroes of the Kameroons live about forty years and succumb readily to disease, while their omnivorous kindred, the Masais, reach old age and are rarely ill. Under normal conditions the European fares betteer on a vegetarian diet and may attain old age; but even he, especially if exposed to unhygienic environments, yields readily to contaminating influences owing to deficiency in his blood of gemicidal substances.

Deficiency of food as efficiently predisposes the body to infection. Epidemics are well know to follow famines. That underfed individuals are exposed to tuberculous infection is as fully established as is the fact that a copious diet is an all important feature of the treatment of the developed disease. Metchnikoff has shown that the blood of the underfed individual is deficient in immunizing substances; we know that inadequately fed dogs promptly succumb to infection; that poultry readily become diseased when underfed. Briefly, many experimentally demonstrated facts are available to attest the absolute dependence of the bodily resistance to disease upon the intake, not only of sufficient food, but also of those foods which best supply the blood with antibodies.

If the unwarranted high cost of food supplies is analyzed from this viewpoint, it will be found to bear mainly upon those articles of diet which constitute the fabric of immunity; i, e., foods rich in albumins. Steadily the sweatshop slave, the overburdened, and the weak are driven to reduce their intake of defensive values, and thus to enhance the death dealing influence of the scourges to which they are exposed.

The Presidental special message to Congress has thus a far greater meaning than even the faithful worldwide inquiry upon which it was based portends. The President recommends that an international commission be appointed to trace to their causes the high prices of the necessaries of life and to suggest remedies. Should such a commission be authorized by Congress, let us hope that its members will realize that they are dealing with a question which, besides its bearing upon general economics, involves the very existence of a multitude of human beings.

Capitalism fattens on exploitation. without taking from the world's toilers a large share of that they produce, capitalism could not exist.

REASONS FOR SOCIALISM.

There has been greater progress toward a perfect civilization made in the past sixty years than had been made in three hundred years previous to 1850. Every class of people has been greatly benefited, except the working people.

They, too, have reaped some benefits, but are still largely slaves to a few kings and plutocrats who exploit them. The wage slave is not so well provided for as was the negro slave. The owner of the negro was required by law to feed, clothe, shelter and, in case of sickness, to provide for his chattel.

Not so with the wage slave. When he or she is worn out, aged or crippled, is cast out to beg, steal or starve. Now one worker, by the aid of machinery, produces as much wealth as fifty workers could create sixty years ago, but while the wealth of the world has increased enormously the workers who create all wealth receive about one-fifth of what they produce.

In the United States the workers produce every year two and a half billions worth of wealth more than they consume.

In 1850 the workers in the United States owned about 68 per cent of the manufactured wealth of the country, while the owners of land and machinery owned but 37 per cent.

In 1911 the workers owned but 10 per cent of the total wealth; 45,000 capitalists own more property than the forty-five million of the working class families. Forty-five million men, women and children were born into poverty and forever condemned to poverty; over two million children are worked like slaves in the mills and factories; over ten million working people do not have enough to eat; sixty thousand young girls of 15 and 16 years—children of the working class—are annually forced into prostitution to live, and over two million of marriageable young men remain unmarried because they know they cannot, as wage workers, receive enough wages to enable them to marry and assume the responsibility of supporting a wife and children; therefore, houses of assignation are multiplying. Homes are being broken up, family life is disappearing and the fear of race suicide is spreading.

Socialists prove by irrefutable statistics that this alarming condition of things is due to our industrial system of competition, which does not fit this new age of machinery—a system which has permitted a few shrewd men to acquire the private ownership of the productive machinery and the other means of creating wealth, and to pile up mountains of unearned riches from profits, while the millions of workers are in hopeless poverty.

Moreover they clearly show that if our industrial system is not readjusted, this nation, as well as other civilized countries will, at no distant day, be plunged into a bloody revolution.

Socialists propose to peacefully change our system of individualism into one of collectivism or Socialism and thus prevent impending riots and war.

They propose to inaugurate a system of public ownership of all the means of production and distribution, to be conducted democratically—a system under which every able-bodied adult will be required to work with head or hand, in some industry suitable to his skill and physical condition, in harmony with rules wisely framed and in departments at the head of which are competent or worthy managers or superintendents, and all workers shall receive the full social value of their labor.

BREWERY WORKERS GET INCREASE OF WAGES WITHOUT STRIKE

Saloonkeepers Who Supported Karb Forced to "Pay the Freight."

The brewery workers of Columbus have secured an increased scale of wages, affecting several hundred men but the poor, despised saloonkeeper "pays the freight," according to their tales of woe. The saloon keeper loses an allowance of 40 cents a barrel or 10 cents a keg that formerly was his under the guise of spending money. In effect, it was a discount. The beer therefore costs the saloonkeeper 10 cents more a keg than formerly and the bottled product goes up 5 cents a dozen pints.

Saloonkeepers complain that the $1 a barrel war tax, which was removed by the government some years ago, has never been removed by the breweries.

The Socialist rejoices that a large number of workingmen will get more pay, and at the same time we can hardly shed any tears when a class of business men, who lined up last fall for George Karb are swatted by the powers that be. There were exceptions, for scores of men in the saloon business stood true to their Socialist principles. But the Karb gang used the big stick and threatened where milder forms of pursuasion failed. With the "wet and dry" issue the Socialist party has nothing whatever to do. The worker is a wage slave, under either. The Socialist, however, desires to call attention to the fact that capitalism is the same whether its representative is a howling religionist or a "liberal" advocate of an "open town. The toiler is exploited in equal proportion by the "booze trust" and the unctious member of the "Men and Religion Movement." We are between the "devil and the deep sea."

BIG BILL HAYWOOD TELLS STORY OF LABOR FIGHTS

Shows What Has Been Done by Industrial Organizations. Graphic Pictures of Lawrence Strike

William D. Haywood, of Denver, Colo., spoke last Sunday afternoon and evening at Red Lion Hall on "The Coming Victory of Labor," to enthusiastic audiences.

Comrade D. J. Farrell presided in the afternoon and Comrade R. M. Woody in the evening.

There hat been much said and written about Comrade Haywood's position on some questions and in fairness we give herewith a stenographic report of his afternoon adress almost entire. His evening lecture was devoted mainly to a dissection of the principle of craft unionism as advocated by certain American Federation of Labor leaders:

Haywood's Afternoon Address.

In telling the story of labor I have no hope to cover the entire field, because the story of labor has never been writen. It can never be written. Languages are but letters in the alphabet. In telling the story of labor every great invention is but a punctuation mark, and every great epoch in history is but a sentence. The story of labor can only be told when every man and woman of the human race has spoken. So I can only tell my part of the story which relates to you, some of the things that have transpired within my own knowledge, or come to me as a matter of research. I feel that perhaps now that the economic question is before us, as ti always should be, that it should take first place, because as Socialists, we recognize that we could not have Socialism except through the work shop. As Socialists we recognize that if we elected every official in the United States, that would not mean Socialism, for we would then of necessity have to go back into the mills, the mines and the factories to reorganize a method of production and distribution; and it sems to me that this is one phase of our propaganda that has been overlooked. We have not stated as we should have stated the evolution of society, the evolution of machinery and the evolution of the labor organizations. This afternoon I am going to talk about the evolution of the labor organizations that has as its fundamental principles the philosophy of Socialism itself—industrial unionism, which is Socialism in its working clothes. It is the kind of Socialism that I am most interested in. I am not interested in electing officials of municipalities for the purpose of establishing municipally-owned ice houses, or municipally-owned tenement houses, or municipally-owned anything else; but that kind of Socialism that is broad enough in its conception to reach out for the entire human race, and has for its purpose the collective ownership of the means of production, that which recognizes that until an industrial democracy will have been established, until the political state as it exists today is entirely abolished, Socialism cannot obtain. I have no desire to continue the present system. I am in rebellion against the present system. I have no desire to attempt to reform or patch up the present system. In fact, I think the reformers of this time know themselves that the system cannot be patched up because it is too rotten to hold together long enough to be patched up. I want to talk about the labor organization that has no intention of patching up the present system, but rather to strike a blow for the overthrow of capitalism, the abolishment of the wage system. To show this development, I want to recite to you the history of the labor movement in the United States. It began in 1803. The only organization previous to that time that represented a labor union was a society in Boston, a patriotic organization that took part in the revolutionary war in 1803. The sailors and ship builders in New York were organized and there we had the first instance of capitalism using its strong arm against organized labor. Constables were called out, the leaders of the strike were arrested, thrown into prison, the strike was broken.

Then organized labor proceeded in a haphazard sort of way until between 1825 and 1849 we find a very aggressive spirit developed in the United States, a much more aggressive, more militant spirit than exists in the United States today. In reading over documents that were issued at that time by the labor organization you would thing that all of them had been written by the radical wing of the Socialist party.

After 1849 came the agitation for abolition of the black wage slave; and the white men of the North were carried off their feet by a patriotic wave, a desire swelling in their breasts to free the chattel slave. Then a great war, the Civil war of emancipation was fought, which resulted in the loss of more than a million lives, great losses of property that had been created by the working class.

The white men of the North accomplished their purpose, the chattel slave of the South was freed, but the chains that he struck from the wrist of the black slave he fastened upon his own wrist, the wrists of those who came after him, not chains of chattel slavery, but chains of wage slavery that have been a heavier and greater burden to the working class than was ever the chains of the balck slave. As for myself, I would much prefer to be a black chattel slave than a white wage slave if conditions are as I have found them in the Textile towns of the New England States. A black slave had at least a chance to live. He represented a material interest to his master. In his black hide was wrapped up a certain amount of intrinsic value. If he were taken sick his master only too quickly sent for a doctor. He was well clothed, sufficiently well at least for the climate in which he lived. The wage slaves of the Textile towns, however, receive no such treatment from their masters. Your industrial masters care nothing what becomes of you, because if you should die there are others anxious to take your place at the same price for which you work. And so we find that the wage slave of the North freed the black slave of the South, but he has never made any effort from that time until now to free himself. It was four years after the close of the Civil war that the Knights of Labor was organized.

So rapid was the growth that it became necessary to refuse to grant charters until such time as the lecturers of the organization could traverse the country and make known through the means of education the aims of the organization. At that period organized labor in the United States was numerically stronger than it is today and though the population of the United States has more than doubled.

But the organization made a serious mistake. It accepted into its ranks men who had no place in the organization, no place in productive society. It accepted as full fledged members those men sometimes known as sky-pilots and it also accepted the lawyers, so with the lawyer and the preacher dissension arose in their midst and the American Federation of Labor appeared on the scene.

The Western Federation of miners was born in jail. A good many of its members have been there ever since. We were conceived in a Bull Pen and we were the children of an injunction, the first injunction ever issued in a labor controversy and it wasn't issued by Bill Taft, your fellow statesman, who has often been called the father of the injunction. In 1893 Judge Beatty of the Federal District Court issued an injunction against the miners of the Lead district when they were on strike to prevent a reduction of wages, and here is a peculiar condition of affairs among the miners, of the West that makes them different from any trades unionists; we have never had a strike except for the under dog.

We believe in direct action and we also believe in poltical action, and we always believe in direct industrial action. We won the strike at Bull Hill because we were organized industrially and we had control of the situation politically.

And now I want to connect the miners of the West up close with the Textile workers of the East. I said that if the Textile workers who worked for less a week than we received in one day did not have their conditions bettered, it meant that our conditions must decline. And we shook hands, the miners of the West and the Textile workers of the East and we vowed that we would work for the uplift of all until we were all finally emancipated without realizing that I would be able to take a personal part. I find I am now in a position to relate to you the uplift of 700,000 Textile workers as the result of the Industrial union strike at Lawrence. We have taken over fifteen mills under result of increase from 8 to 25 per cent. We have reduced the hours of labor. It seems to me to have been worth while. I am going to tell you how the workers solidified their strength until they achieved their victory at Lawrence. The legislature of Massachusetts passed a law reducing the hours of labor from 56 to 54 for women and children. This law didn't apply to men and to overcome the loss that would accrue to the millowners they attempted to displace as many men as they could and put women in their places, their intention being to work the men 13 hours and then run in another 13 hour shift, keeping the mills constantly running from one week's end to another. But there were not men enough to fill the places—in fact in Lawrence, women and children were 70 per cent of the working population in the mills, so the mill owners to protect themselves against any loss, when that law went into effect, they put their thieving fingers into the envelopes of every worker and robed those envelopes of the price of 30 cents—and the workers rebelled for 30 cents, turned this country upside down for 30 cents, absolutely ruined the presidential possibility of the Governor of Massachusetts for 30 cents. Then we made the American wool trust look like 30 cents and we didn't ask them to sign any contract, we didn't ask them to rec-

ANOTHER PLUTE HEARD FROM.

Columbus, Ohio,
April 9, 1912.

Dear Mr. Editor;

I bin redin your paper for some time and I want to take a little cepting to some of your talk.

This hear colective onership of the tools. Man don't you no that that there thing will never do. Cant you see that it wod bring about a increse in the livin. People wod have to good a livin to work well. Any body with sence nos that a laberin man as has always bin used to livin in a shanty and wearin overhalls, and eatin spuds and beans wont be able to stand it if such a unherdof thing should hapen to be.

You ought to no that a laberin man aint used to puttin in short hours now cant you see if the people oned the tools thet a man wod have a lot of time off. Whats be goin to do? Is the government goin to have a special branch to look after him while hes not workin?

Now Mr. Editor you no its lieble to brak up the home. What is a pore wife and kid goin to do if they got to put up with a man in the house all the time? All a man is to do is to work, eat and sleep. The wimen folkes wod get so tired of seein him that they wod thro him out or pack up and leave him all alone.

One more important thing I want to tell you is the kids wod not be allowed to work in the stors and factories. Some old high brow wod be round watin all the kids to go to scool. Now you know Mr. Editor a thing like that wont never do. No man is goin to work if hes got any beanes and if you egucat the kids they are goin to be to proud to work and every thing will go to smash. You no it.

Hopin you don't ask the laberin man to vote for this thing no more. I remain,

Yours Truelie,
J. J. DUNKLEMANN.

P. S—If you hant afrad to let your reders no the truth just put in your durn paper and you can sign my name if you want. I no what I am talkin about.

DIFFERENT ETHICS PREACHED FOR THE DIFFERENT CLASSES

Capitalistic Papers Insult Workers but Fail to Condemn Rail-Light Magnate who Breaks Banks.

Have you noted the excellent advice the daily papers of Columbus are handing out to you, regarding what constitutes a dishonorable act and that they advise that when a man offers you a transfer you should turn it down as you would any other disreputable scheme? It is only the echo of the Master's Voice. It is wrong to transfer a transfer, they say. We have been granted eight tickets for a quarter by the Railway and Light Company. How about the franchise? Did they not agree to grant eight tickets for a quarter and if they did have they granted us anything, and by the way if the truth were known, we should have been buying eight tickets for a quarter a year ago. But these "newspapers" pardon the expression, have heard their Master's Voice and forsooth, they must preach a sermon on righteousness. Let's investigate the masters. The papers are not to be considered. They prostitute themselves and grovel in the dust in their fervent lust for gold. But the masters—

The Columbus Savings and Trust Company has closed its doors. Why?

One of the masters placed his written paper there and took for it your good coin of the realm, to use to finance one of his schemes. He lost and you must wait six months for your 40 or 60 per cent. That's all you will get. Isn't that a disreputable scheme?

Then these sycophants prate about dishonorable acts. If these men had a semblance of decency or honor, we might take their preachments with good grace, but for them to preach to us about morals, its ridiculous.

When you buy eight tickets for a quarter you also buy eight transfers. You can use them 16 rides if you want to, and if you choose to let someone else use eight of them, it is nobody's business but your own. The working class has gotten on to your double code of morals. One which permits you to go through a court of bankruptcy and be absolved from debt and also permits you to wreck a bank and rob the working class depositors and the other which sends a constable to serve garnishees on workingmen. You owners and managers of public service corporations can with impurity, bribe a legislature or a council to get your class legislation passed or to stop working class legislation from being passed and then yell that the initiative and referendum and the recall of public officials would be mob law.

Out with such creeping, crawling vermin. There is more decency and honor in the little finger of the lowest working man than there is in the whole carcass of a Million Plutes.

We are tired of hearing advice from you stock gamblers and promotion grafters. We have been too long at the mercy of a self-seeking greedy and unscrupulous clique of bankers, brokers, underwriters, oily saints, anthracite angels, insurance philanthropists, packers of poison, kings of grand larceny and million dollar presidents.

You have mangled and beaten the working class until they can no longer stand your brutality. Keep your advice. Give it to your sons and daughters for they will need it so they can act like human beings and not like animals when we usher in the new system, the co-operative commonwealth, Socialism.

THIRD STREET VIADUCT

And Why It Should Be Built.

It has been conclusively shown that it is an absolute necessity to the growth of the city to construct a Third Street viaduct and that any further delay in its adoption and immediate construction will be dangerous to the city's welfare. The idea that the profits of a few business men on High Street are of more consequence to the city's influence than the transportation of the 60,000 inhabitants of the North Side is preposterous, and it is high time that the people, the common people not only of the North Side, but of the entire city, are taking matters into their own hands and see to it that the interests of the people are conserved and and not the PROFITS of a few unscrupulous business men in the already overcrowded High Street district. There is but one reason for anyone to oppose the Third Street Viaduct, and that is PROFIT. Just remember Mr. Workingman that profits to the business man means your loss for all profits to them must come out of your pay envelope. But, you say, how will the Third Street viaduct affect their profits? Just a word Mr. Workingman and the writer will relate a little of his experience. On account of a lack of transportation facilities, in other words the continued congestion of the street car traffic on High Street, especially on Saturday nights, and that is about the only time that Mr. Workingman has to go shopping we of the North Side, have been compelled to do all of our buying in the High Street high rent district and we Brother Workingmen are compelled to pay those high rents. Now let us look at the other sections of the city. Where street car facilities are better and where the business houses are out of the high rent district, the writer has made a personal investigation along the line of prices and has found that the same quality of the necessaries of life can be purchased in those districts at from 20 to 40 per cent less than we of the North Side are compelled to pay. Do you see why the Big Business Interests, backed by the Journal and the Dispatch are opposed to the Third Street viaduct? It affects their profits and therefore is not good for the Common People or the city's welfare. Now, Mr. Fellow Socialist and Workingman, the workers of the North Side have helped you at all times. When you were in need of relief of this kind. The election returns will show that the voters of the North Side stood by you in the elimination of grade crossings and are at all times ready to help better the condition of the workers wherever possible. We feel that the workers of the other sections of the city should not neglect to assist the North Side in this our greatest measure of relief. Give us a boost, agitate and vote for the Third Street viaduct and thereby make possible a Big, Better and a Greater Columbus and show the big Wolfish interests that the people of the city are going to run their own city to suit themselves and not in the interest of the profit takers.

NORTH SIDE SOCIALIST.

MAY DAY CELEBRATION

Under the auspices of the campaign committee of the Socialist party of Franklin county, International Labor day will be celebrated at Olentangy Park Sunday, May 5. In the afternoon, in the theatre the Socialist Dramatic club will reproduce that stirring labor drama "Under the Lash." Admission 25c. In the evening at the same place, several prominent speakers will give addresses.

Rents are being raised in Paris and the workers are refusing either to pay higher rents or to move. The great capitalist wave of extortion is rolling on everywhere; but what will happen to it when it dashes against the iron shore of universal human protest? It will be broken.

SOCIALIST ELECTION NEWS.

In Butte, Mont. the Socialists more than held their own and gained another Alderman, making five now in the Council.

In Billings, Mont., the Socialists elected two out of five Aldermen. In Battle Creek, Mich., the home of Gripe Nuts Post, the Socialists increased their vote 50 per cent. and elected one Alderman.

In Dowagiac, Mich., the S. P. elected six out of ten ward officials and increased their vote fourfold.

In the Aldermanic election in Chicago the Socialist Party polled 18,000 votes, or 6 per cent. of the total.

In Peoria the Socialist vote increased 50 pe rcent. One Alderman, the first, was elected.

In Quincy a Socialist Alderman was chosen and a big increase in the vote is announced.

Hartford, Ark., shows the election of a Socialist Mayor and large increase in the total vote.

In Eau Clair, Wis., the Socialists elected the Mayor and will virtually control the city under a commission form of government.

Jamestown, N. Y., reports a Socialist Alderman and a strong increase in the vote.

In Rugby, N. D., the Socialists elected the Mayor and two out of six Aldermen.

In Hopkinton, Ia., the Socialist candidate for Mayor was chosen.

In dozens of other places the Socialist vote increased at a wonderful rate, being doubled and trebled in many instances. When all the returns, which are again being suppressed by news associations, are reported it will be found that the "smashing" has been of the same kind as heretofore—gains for Socialism.

In Flint, Mich., John Menton, the Socialist Mayor, was also defeated by 1,600 majority by a Rep.-Dem. fusion headed by a rich manufacturer. The rankest coercion was practiced by the big capitalistic concerns, which discharged men right and left and threatened to remove their works if the Socialists won.

GOOD TRUSTS AND BAD ONES.

By W. S. Morgan.

The difference between a good trust and a bad one seems to be puzzling the politicians. It is a proposition that befuzzled the Supreme Courts of the United States for twenty years and then it straddled it by adding the word "reasonable" to a law passed by Congress. But many of the politicians are afraid to undertake the straddling feat. To a Socialist the task of defining the difference between a good trust and a bad one is an easy one. A good trust is one that is owned by the people and operated for their benefit without profit. A bad trust is one that is owned by private individuals and operated for tehir benefit with large profits.

The common school system is a good trust, owned and operated by the people at cost of service and no one wants to give it up. The postal system, with the exception of its bureaucratic method of operation, is another good trust which the people do not care to turn over to a private corporation. The steel trust, the rail trust, the beef trust, and thousands of others that have special privileges to tax the people as no government on earth would be permitted to do are bad trusts. The way to make good trusts out of the bad ones is for the people to own and operate them. Then there would be no corruption funds with which to corrupt the voters, bribe presidents, governors, judges and law makers. Then there would be no colossal fortunes on the one hand and helpless and abject poverty on the other. Both old parties are in favor of bad trusts and a vote for either is a vote to perpetuate an institution that is constantly robbing you. Put these ideas in your think tank and digest them.

TO THE LABOR AND SOCIALIST PRESS:

Our attention has been called to an article originally published in the Register, of Indianapoils, Ind., and reprinted in The Socialist, of Columbus, Ohio, in the issue of March 23. The article is headed

DECISION NOT TO LIKING OF UNION.

Decision May Result In Brewery Workers Leaving American Federation of Labor.

Crafts Disrupt Over Jurisdiction.

The article goes on to state, a conference had taken place between the representatives of the Teamsters' Union and the Brewery Worers, and that Mr. Duffy, General Secretary of the Carpenters' Union, had, in the absence of President Gompers and President Huber, assumed the power of arbitrator and had decided that the Brewery Workers must give up their jurisdiction over beer drivers, now members of their organization, and must turn them over to the Teamsters' organization, and the article goes on to say that this settlement is according to statements made by Joseph Obergfell, Business Agent of the Brewery Workers. The entire report is a garbled affair from start to finish.

There was a conference arranged between the Teamsters' Union and Brewery Workers for March 4, and neither President Gompers or President Huber, of the Carpenters, were present, no conference toook place, consequently no decision could be reached, nor could Brother Obergfell make any such statehents as is credited to him by the Register and The Socialist, and because of this the Brewery Workers could not threaten to give up their charter rather than submit to a ruling which was never made.

We understand that there was a conference between the representatives of the International Teamsters' Union and of the International Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Union. In this case we are informed a decision was rendered, but not having received any official information, we cannot say whether or not the information we have is correct.

At any event the labor press should be more careful, and before uttering statements of this nature should at least inform themselves as to the facts in the matter.

Our meeting took place on March 4, and had anything of this kind been decided upon, or any such decisions rendered, our readers and the labor press throughout the country can rest assured that they would have heard of same ere this.

In conclusion, will say that the meeting arranged between the International Union of Teamsters and our organization was not for the purpose of taking up the matter of jurisdiction over beer drivers, but was one which affected shops that also bottled soft drinks and mineral water.

Will also state that to the best of our information President Gompers was not in New York on March 4, but in Washington before the Congressional Committee, which was investigating the Lawernce strike of the Textile Workers.

We hope that the labor press, who may have copied from The Socialist, will make this correction, as it is due to the Brewery Workers as well as the American Federation of Labor.

JOSEPH PROEBSTLE,

"MEDITATIONS OF AN ASS."

By G. H. Lockwood, Editor "The Prophet and the Ass," and Socialist Alderman, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

ELECTION RETURNS.

A few years ago if the Ass had announced that he had just been elected as a Socialist Alderman of a city the size of Kalamazoo, it would have been "wonderful" news. Now it is just an ordinary occurrence, and, while it is a fact, and another comrade was also elected, giving us two seats out of 11, you are apt to ask "Why didn't you do better and elect the Mayor and all the other officers?"

Well, comrades, we did the best we could—and, taking everytihng into consideration, it was GLORIOUS victory for working class principles.

Curry, our candidate for Mayor, who made such a splendid run last year, pushing up our vote from about 400 to 1600, this time stood SECOND place, having defeated the Republican candidate by a good majority, and given the successful Democratic candidate a run for his life. The vote Socialist, 2163; Democrat, 2319. Our two aldermen won out with about 60 plurality over their three opponents. The Prohibition Party had candidates up for all the offices, but their candidate for Mayor polled only 186 votes.

The old parties have been for weeks conducting a very vigorous campaign. Each party owns a daily paper fully committed to the support of its candidates and principles (?) joke—please laugh. Their candidates salted the town with their beautiful pictures which were dispalyed from almost every lamp-post. Cards were distributed by thousands, and the usual "good-fellow" act was played, generous quantities of cigars were passed around to say nothing of other things. In fact the old party candidates were up to their usua ltricks trying to play the workers for suckers.

The Socialists conducted a CLEAN campaign from start to finish, a campaign of EDUCATION. We made it a CLASS ISSUE. Not a single Socialist candidate made a personal appeal for votes, not a card was printed, not a cigar given out, not an hour was lost from our usual tasks, with the exception of our candidate for Mayor and we arranged for him to speak at the factories during the noon hour. NOT ONE PENNY WAS SPENT BY THE SOCIALISTS FOR ANYTHING BUT LITERATURE.

Our platform stands for great international Principles, with immediate demands as secondary, and comparatively unimportant. We made an appeal for class conscious votes—and we got them. WE HAD MORE STRAIGHT VOTES THAN EITHER OF THE OLD PARTIES, AND IN SOME PRECINCTS WE HAD MORE STRAIGHT VOTES THAN BOTH OF THEM PUT TOGETHER. We lost on the splits, the political trading between the old parties gave extra votes to the Democratic candidate—or we would have beaten them beautifully.

On election day, the old parties had every available auto and livery rig in the city scouring around for voters. The Socialists did not have a single rig out. It was a very nasty rainy day—but our voters WALKED to the polls thru the rain and mud—THEY WENT TO VOTE FOR THEMSELVES.

Here is a warning to the working class. DON'T PLAY POLITICS LIKE THE OLD PARTIES. Don't do ANYTHING they do. Cut out your individual cards with candidates pictures and all that sort of rot—STAND ON YOUR CLASS PRINCIPLES—as a CLASS—and when you do that the voters will respect you and WALK to vote for the movement you represent. Conduct your campaigns along educational lines only, openly, frankly, vigorously and fearlessly, and when you do that the Ass will take all the responsibility. Written by "the Ass himself"—(who is now a Socialist alderman—now what do you think of that?)

GROWTH OF AMERICAN SOCIALIST MOVEMENT

The following table gives the voting strength of Socialism in a way to enable the reader to make his own comparisons and watch the growth. However, the 1910 vote is not complete in all States, especially in the South, accounting for apparent decreases there that are not real. Neither is the vote of the Socialist Labor party given. Perhaps a word of explanation relative to that party is proper here. It was the original organization, the split coming purely over matters of tactics, especially relating to unionism. Since the Socialist party has come into existence, the Socialist Labor party has decreased while the Socialist party has increased in strength; the latter being more in accord with international tactics. Inquiries have been made why in Wisconsin the Socialist party is called Social-Democratic party. The reason is purely local in nature, it being a part of the Socialist party. In Minnesota the law has compelled Socialists to assume the name of Public Ownership party, but it is the Socialist party nevertheless.

The following is the vote of the Socialist party by States:

SOCIALISTS IN ACTION

News from the World-Wide Movement of the Workers

GENERAL SOCIALIST NEWS.

A condition of peonage seems to exist at Dayton, the original home of the "welfare plan." In that city is located the Barney & Smith car works, inclosed in a great stockade. Most of the employes are Hungarians. Anyone who desires work at the car company must move within the stockade. The employes must buy everything they use from stores within the stockade. Men whose wives have bought commodities outside and tried to smuggle them past the watchman at the gate, and were caught, found themselves without a job the next day. Inside the stockade are a lot of cheap houses which can be erected at a cost of about $800, and which are rented to the company's employes for $16 a month.

The report of the Secretary of the International Trades Union Federation shows that 10,089,430 workers are now affiliated with that body. Germany takes the lead with 3,688,430 members, England 2,347,461, United States 1,710,433, France 977,360, Italy 783,536, Austria 451,238 and smaller countries proportionally less. It is stated that there is steady progress being made in all lands. Scandinavia showed a decrease on account of the general strike a year ago, when many workers were forced to leave the country.

NEWS FROM NATIONAL SOCIALIST HEADQUARTERS.

Again the record for dues received at the National Office was broken during the month of March. The previous banner month was February, 1912, when the amount received was $6,180.30, indicating a membership of 123,034. The amount received in March was $6,721.80, indicating a membership of 133,083. The average membership for 1912, as indicated by the dues received during the first three months, is 125,826.

During the first three months of 1911 the National Office of the Socialist Party received for literature the sum of $703.47. During the same period in 1912 it received $3,473.91 for literature. This amount does not include the large quantity sold through the Lyceum Department.

State Secretary Schawe, of Ohio, reports that Local Sugar Grove has expelled from membership in the party the following: B. F. Snider, George Keffler and Ferd Slagelter.

Up to date the National Headquarters of teh Socialist Party has sent $3,713.37 to Lawrence, Mass., for the strike fund, and $100 for the defense fund. The party has also contributed vast sums besides this, which were not sent through the National Office.

During March the National Office also published an additional 100,000 copies of the National Platform, and 283,450 copies of the pamphlet, The Growing Grocery Bill, by Allan L. Benson. This pamphlet is meeting with phenomenal success, almost 100,000 copies having been sold during the first three weeks. It is reported to have had a great deal to do with our success at the polls in Dowagiac, Mich. It will open people's eyes wherever it is circulated. It ought to be placed in the hand of every political heathen in America. The price makes this possible; 10,000 for $30.00, 1,000 for $4.00, 100 for 50 cents, single copy for 5 cents.

To the Party Membership.

I desire to call your attention to Article XII, Section 8, of the National Constitution of the party, which provide a follows:

"No person shall be nominated or indorsed by any subdivision of the patry for candidate unless he is a member of the party and has been such for at least one year, but this provision shall not apply to organizations which have been in existence for less than one year."

It has come to my knowledge that there is a disposition in some quarters to ignore the above provision.

There never has been a time when we needed strict adherence to this section so much as we do now. New members are coming in fast. Most of them are excellent additions to our movement. But, undoubtedly, here and there designing self-seeers are coming in. And those who are not self-seeers, as a rule, are not well enough grounded in our principles and policies to properly represent us in public office until they have been in the party for some time. It is far better to have no tickets at all than do have them in violation of this provision.

Furthermore, there is no possible excuse to embroil the organization in charges and trials when its energies should be devoted to fighting the enemy. This can be avoided by living up to the constitution.

I am aware that it is the desire of the vast majority of the membership to live up to the constitution, and I bring this matter to your attention in order that you may be on your guard against the few who do not have such desire.

Fraternally yours,
JOHN M. WORK,
National Secretary.

BOOKBINDERS.

Werner Co. Has Degenerated Into a Cheap Concern.

Bookbinders are electing delegates to the international convention this month. The Brotherhood will celebrate its twentieth anniversary on May 5.

New unions have been chartered in Pittsburg, Davenport, Ia., Scranton, Pa., and Cambridge, Mass.

Organizer Terry reports that the scab Werner Co., of Akron, has degenerated into a cheap dime novel printery. Five years ago, when the eight-hour strike began, 100 bookbinders were fully employed in that plant. Nearly 50 presses were running in the pressroom, the union conditions had prevailed in every deparment for many years. Now, in place of the full-bound leather book, the half-bound leather with its gold roll on side and corners, the big force of edge gilders and marblers and stamping presses ever busy turning out full gilt sides, the Werners are turning out the Nick Carter series of 5-cent books for boys, and also catering to 5 and 10 cent stores with a series of books that retail in these stores at a price of 5 and 10 cents each. And yet in their advertisements for printers they say there is no labor trouble.

Socialism is making the biggest bomb ever manufactured, and will throw it soon if it can get a few million men to lift it.

STEADY GROWTH FOR SOCIALIST PARTY IS SHOWN.

Here is how the rising tide of Socialism has swept over Milwaukee, growing each year, each year making gains and assuring the orverthrow of the robber system of capitalism:

1898	2,444
1900	3,472
1902	5,375
1904	15,333
1906	16,337
1908	20,687
1910	27,623
1912	30,200

THE INDIANA MOVEMENT.

By James Oneal, State Secretary, 313½ Ohio Street, Terre Haute, Ind.

A new local of 12 members has been organized at Hammond, which constitutes the first organization of Scandinavian Socialists in Indiana. There are now German, Polish, Finnish, French and Scandinavian organizations in various parts of the state.

Local Peru is branching out to such an extent that a delegate body representative of the branches is organizing. A third ward branch has just been organized, which starts with seven members.

Word comes from Centerville, in Wayne county, that a good local will be organized there, and material has been sent for this purpose.

Socialists on a rural route out of Princeton in Gibson county announce that, as the result of a meeting there addressed by the State Secretary, the comrades will organize a local and apply for a charter soon.

Socialists at Eminence in Morgan county are also anxious to organize a local and get into the big campaign. This is one of the strong agricultural counties and Eminence is an inland town.

Down near the Ohio river at New Middletown, in Morrison county, Comrade Jacob Himmelheber writes that the Socialists there want to organize a local as soon as possible, and instructions were sent by return mail.

Jasonville in Greene county has recently incorporated as a city, and the first city election will be held in a few weeks. The Socialists will nominate a ticket, and it will not be surprising if they carry off a few offices just to vary the monotony.

Socialists of the Twelfth congressional district will hold their congressional convention at Garrett on Sunday, April 21, at 2 p. m. The representation will be one delegate for each local and one for every five members in good standing. Socialists are being made fast in this district and the comrades are planning a big campaign.

Socialists of the Seventh congressional district have nominated Frank Hayes, Vice President of the United Mine Workers of America, for Congress. Comrade Hayes will give all his spare time to the campaign, and there are those who predict that he has a good chance of being the first courier of the social revolution from the Hoosier state.

The Socialists of Frankfort are building up a fine local organization after years of hard work, and will now use the Appeal list for the purpose of organizing other locals in Clinton county.

Clerical bats at Lawrenceburg and Wanatah are busy with "sermons" against Socialism and revel in arguments of the gutter. Wherever you find the exploiter, there you will also find the guardians of "religion" rolling their eyes to heaven while the workers' pockets are being picked.

The report of the State Secretary for March shows that the record month of February, for dues is almost equalled in March, while the total receipts from all sources exceed the receipts for February.

WISCONSIN NOTES.

The Milwaukee Socialists have won two real victories in the campaign which closed at the polls yesterday. They forced the two old parties to combine in order to "beat the Socialists," and increased the Socialist vote by about three thousand.

These are two real triumphs. The gain in votes is especially gratifying, as it represents a sound, solid Socialist gain. The "protest vote" amounting probably to about five thousand, which was with us two years ago when we elected Mayor Seidel, fell off completely at the election yesterday. But is was more than replaced by a workingmen's vote, cast on a straight issue of Socialism against capitalism.

The enforced fusion of the two parties is another matter for Socialist congratulation. The Milwaukee Social-Democrats are strong enough to compel a union of all the capitalistic forces. They are too strong to be defeated by either party alone. The fusionists or "non-partisans" in their platform openly announced that the issue of this campaign was "Anti-Socialism vs. Socialism." On this clear-cut issue the battle was waged. That our party gained votes in such a fight is one of the best signs of the times.

The campaign was gigantic, and was never paralleled in any other American city. The enthusiasm, night after night, in our monster meetings, struck with astonishment old Milwaukeeans and strangers alike.

Last Sunday was a day of big things. In the morning an army of six or eight hundred members of the Bundle Brigade covered every ward of Milwaukee with a free distribution of 90,000 copies of the Leader. It was a cold, rainy morning, but nothing dampened the zeal of the earnest workers. Not one voter, who could read either English, German, Polish, Jewish, Slavonian, Hungarian, Bohemian, Roumanian, Italian, Lithuanian or Slovak, was left without a sound Socialist presentation of the issues of the campaign on this last Sunday before the battle at the polls.

In the evening, long before the vast Auditorium opened its doors, an eager crowd was waiting for admission. By seven o'clock the main arena, seating over 8,000 persons, was packed, and admission refused. Then the other six smaller halls of the Auditorium were filled in a short time. After all these were crammed to their utmost capacity, a meeting of several thousand persons standing gathered in the basement, and a messenger was despatched to the nearest outside hall to rent it for an overflow meeting. The entire number of people in the Auditorium and the overflow meeting must have considerably exceeded 20,000. They seemed to be all Socialists, judging from the hearty applause which greeted the speakers, who took turns in addressing the various audiences.

The capitalist papers next day sneered at the large number of women and children in the audience. But one of the best features of the campaign just past was the part taken by the Socialist women. Well have they done their share and added greatly to inspiration of the struggle.

Mayor Siedel received 30,900 votes yesterday, against 27,663 two years ago. The vote for the Social-Democratic ticket was remarkably even, scarcely varying by 500 for any of the candidates.

The spirit of the Milwaukee Socialists is excellent. They are not one whit discouraged. The first thing that was said after the news of the "defeat (if so it may be called' was the same from the lips of every comrade, "Now let us fight harder than ever before!"

And they will keep their word. Today the fall campaign has begun. We shall more than hold our own next fall and shall increase our representation in the legislature and elect two Socialist Congressmen from Milwaukee.

Standard Oil stock has gone up to $780 for a $100 share—twice the price it was during the panic of 1907. Which shows how the supreme court order to dissolve has not injured it. The men who are buying this stock at this price know it will pay a dividend on it—a greater one than ever before. You gillies must be awful easy to gulp down court decisions as being in your interest. Those who own the stocks know that the decisions have been in their interest. The supreme court has told them just how they must do to skin you legally. But are you hurt any the less when you are skinned legally than illegally? Gee! but you are E. Z.

WHY STRAIN AT AN ANT AND SWALLOW AN ELEPHANT

You will now notice in all the street cars a large sign containing a quotation from the Ohio State Journal of April 3rd, in this language. "Any one who gives a transfer to another or accepts one does a dishonorable act." But why does not the Journal see, why have not all the newspapers in the city of Columbus seen long before this, that the street car company has been and for years, have been doing a much more dishonorable thing by selling the space in the street cars for advertising purposes. A number of attorneys have urged the Socialist party members to introduce an ordinance in council to either prevent such advertising or compel the street car company to pay the city of Columbus their just share for the use and sale of such space, which must amount to thousands of dollars each year. It is only fair to say that these attorneys are not Socialists, but while wishing the city protected in its rights in this matter are afraid to have their own party start such a move for fear of losing the financial support of the capitalists.

SOCIALISTS CHEERY IN DEFEAT

The so-called defeat of the Socialists in Milwaukee has more than passing victory to all well advised Socialists. When we remember that not only in Milwaukee but in Los Angeles, Cal., in Muscatine, Iowa, in Flint, Mich., and some other smaller cities the Socialists had become so strong that the old parties had to combine to defeat them and in every such case the old parties combined had the fight of their lives to save their hides, we as Socialists are not true to our faith if we see any thing else but great victory.

Democrats and Republicans have yelled loud and long against the Socialist movement and that that party would go the way of all reform movements which was to be swallowed up by one of the old parties. Let us see. Did one of the old parties swallow up the Socialist party in Los Angeles? On the contrary, did not the Socialist party force the old parties to swallow each other? For years the Republicans have howled about the Democratic rebels and called them Butternuts, and all other such vile names. The Democrats have railed at the Republicans with equal venom. But like the copperhead and rattlesnake we once saw swallowing each other by the tail end route and all the while each secreting venom into the vital parts of the other and while in such condition was not only harmless to mankind, but slowly and surely poisoning to death each other; so, too, the Democratic and Republican parties have lost their identity as such and have rendered themselves harmless to all decent mankind by forming the endless circle of self-destruction. Neither can now stab a Socialist in the back while the other attracts his attention in another direction. We now know the enemy. We will keep our eyes on him and ward off all blows and as soon as they have completed the process of assimilation one good blow will reach the heads of both at the same time and end the matter forever.

THE FLAG AND THE HAT

There isn't on the statute books any law that anybody should stand with bared head before the flag, or that anybody should bow before the flag, or that anybody should kiss the flag. Yet a gang of unrestrained, superior anarchists out in San Diego forced 100 men to kiss the flag and then hustled them out of town at the point of revolvers and muskets.

No disgrace attaches to those hounded, persecuted people who were, under penalty of sudden death, compelled to do such a disgraceful thing.

But it is a filthy disgrace to those who were responsible for it.

The more capitalism has developed in this country the more flagrant it has grown. All sorts of crawling vermin shelter themselves under the proud folds of Old Glory. All sorts of active, pernicious, militant scoundrels drape themselves in the Stars and Stripes and think that is excuse enough. The flag has covered more roguery even than the Supreme Court. The flag has been the excuse for all sorts of depredations. The flag is like patriotism, the last refuge of a scoundrel.

While this aspect of the matter is well known, there is the further fact that it has many fine precedents.

A savage will often force a person from a more advanced state of society to bow down before an idol.

Gessler tried to compel the Swiss to do reverence to a hat on a pole.

"Conformity," in England, "recantation," in Catholic countries, was made the test of continuity of life.

But the idol, the host, the thirty-nine articles, the sacred hat have all given way to another, a newer and more inclusive symbol—the flag.

The flag typifies, and excuses, the stealings, the murders, the numberless dirty crimes of capitalism. It is for that reason that the representatives of capitalism demand that it shall be "reverenced."

They do not reverence it, except in so far as it covers, and protects their blood-stained dollars, their tear-corroded dollars, their dollars wrenched from the very marrow of the working class.

That is all there was to the San Diego violence, in which so many good citizens took part.

The men whom they attempted to humiliate, whom they sought thus to degrade, were members of the I. W. W., who have been conducting a great fight on the Pacific coast.

There can be but one result of such an action. It will inevitably strengthen the movement.

The New York Times heads its story as follows: "Forced to Kiss the Flag. One Hundred Anarchists Are Then Driven From San Diego."

Anarchists? Driven out after being forced to perform a degrading action?

The anarchists were those who forced them. The anarchists were those, who, with drawn weapons, compelled such debasement.

They were the ones outside the law. They were the enemies of society.

Anarchists, of the ordinary type, are exceedingly handy to those who seek to perpetuate the present iniquitous state of society.

HAYWOOD'S ADDRESS

ognize us. They had reached in that envelope of $6.00 and taken from it. Six dollars to sustain human life. They were sick, consumptive, not destined to live long. Think of full grown men earning $6.00 a week.

They were slowly starving to death. And when they found it necessary to take the children away from Lawrence, an examination of 119 children by reputable physicians showed that every one of them was suffering from malnutrition, every one of them suffering from slow starvation. Every one of those children's parents were honest workmen, but they were starving to death. These children represented many nationalities. The mill-owners had selected their hands with the same understanding that an old sea captain selects his sailors before embarking on a long voyage. He calls together as many nationalities as he can get so there will be no mutiny.

These mill hands were selected in the same way, yet, while they were of different religions, different color, different races and nationalities, there was one common way in which every worker felt alike. Each and every worker was equipped with one common organ, a stomach, and when it called out in hunger the workers rebelled and they uttered the one word that throws the capitalist class into a cold sweat—the word was spoken in many languages, they all spoke the word strike. And out of the mills they flocked, all these different nationalities going together. At the Lower Pacific the mill owners were prepared for it, they had the hose attached and turned water on the crowd. This excited the strikers and they ran to where a car was filled with lumber, they armed themselves and broke the machinery and some of the windows. They destroyed a little property, how much I don't know. The mill-owners called for the police, but the mayor said they were not sufficient a force and they called for the firemen. Still they wanted more help and the mayor called for extra policemen, and he went to the only place he could find them,—in the saloons—But they didn't have force enough yet, so Mr. Buil, who is a Superintendent of a mill owned by Mr. Turner, ran for the militia. Mr. Turner's wife had just taken two Pullman palace cars full of dogs to Chicago and had them registered at a fashionable hotel as guests, and for this luxury little children drudged out their lives—but the dogs must be cared for. Well, the militia came. They came to protect the property of the capitalist class. That is what they are for. And all the militia that came, came with murder in their hearts. This had been taught them in the schools, the armories, the idea of patriotism had been inoculated into them that property was a sacred institution. It was so written into the constitution and they believed it a duty to lay down their lives to protect the property interests of the capitalist class. And when they came they received orders to shoot to kill to protect life and property—so they came with murder in their hearts and they committed murder. A Serian boy only 16 years of age who belonged to the band, was holding a bugle in his hand and he could not understand English very well, and when a soldier told him to move on he didn't step as lively as the soldier thought he should and so he plunged a bayonet through his back. A few minutes later on the way to the hospital he died. Thus died the boy martyr of Lawrence.

And they killed a woman, a beautiful, young Italian. She was only one of the strikers. The parade had started that morning, they were moving up, Broadway, the police crowded in behind them, they began to beat them over their heads, some pieces of coal and ice were thrown. One of the policemen pulled out his gun and shot into the crowd, this woman fell dead. At that time Joseph J. Ettor and Giovannetta, were attending a meeting of the Germans something like two miles away. The next day they were arrested and charged with being accessories to the murder of this woman who was one of their fellow workers.

Those two men were thrown into prison, held without bail, denied the writ of habeas corpus and they are languishing in Essex County jail this afternoon, not that they had committed any crime, they were there to help their fellow workers better their conditions. These are the rewards these two men received, but they said, "If we can only win this Textile strike, we will be willing to stay in this prison the rest of our lives."

So the strike went on and the strikers gathered on the commons and they all voted, men, women and children not to go back to work unless their wages was increased 15 per cent, and that they should have double pay for all over time, and that there should be no discrimination against any for having taken part in the strike. Those were the terms and the strikers carried on their own business. It was done in the open. There were no executive meetings. There was nobody to "see," except the strikers. The strikers knew what they wanted and they repeated it in twenty-seven different languages. It required a lot of money to conduct that great strike, a tremendous amount of money as the time grew to ten weeks. We had as many as 50,000 people we were taking care of; 27,000 strikers and nearly all of them had families. There was no relief given to any only those who absolutely needed it. The I. W. W. organizaton has no strike benefit, no sick benefit. The only benefit it has is a fighting benefit. We started in without a fighting benefit, we appealed to the workers and the response was magnificent. Between $75,000 and $80,000 was sent to those strikers and it came at a time when it was most needed. It was used to buy food in large quantities and two-thirds of the money, considerably more than one half that was received by the Industrial Workers of the World came from Socialists, and I want to say that every time a big collection came in from the Socialist ranks it made Uncle Bill feel that the Socialist were beginning to understand the Industrial as well as the political idea. And when the court issued an injunction restraining the money, the Socialists were the first to write in and tell the courts TO GO TO HELL. They appointed an auditor to look over the $42,000.00 and we had 49 cents left. books. They found we had received They did not appoint a receiver because in 49 cents there wasn't enough for a capitalist receiver.

On January 18th, thirty-four men were sent to jail for thirty-four years, and the most serious charge was that of breaking a window, for which they were sent up for a year apiece. We have now at the present time over 100 men and women there in jail. They said the reason they hadn't released Ettor, when I made announcement of the concessions to the strikers that had been granted, I made the mistake of making public a statement made by the conciliatory committee to this effect that in the event of settlement, in the event of the workers accepting what had been granted, that the committee would use its strongest influence to release Ettor and Giovonnetta.

It was decided to give no parade until Ettor and Giovannetta were released, but two weeks after the strike when the children came back home to their folks a reception was planned for the little exiles.

They were loaded into barges bearing suitable inscriptions and the parade marched around the jail and every man as he passed the cells of the two prisoners gave three mighty cheers the while making the welkin ring with the strains of the marsaillaise, the Internationale, the Red Flag and Alleluiah. I'm a bum.

NEW STATE ORGANIZER.

The State Executive Committee of the Socialist Party met last Saturday and Sunday at State Headquarters. The resignation of Comrade Ella Reeve Bloor as State Organizer was accepted. Comrade M. J. Beery, of Crestline, was selected to fill the vacancy and commenced work at Mantel last Wednesday evening. He will be in Noble county April 12, 13, 14, 15; Willoughby 16; Fairport 17; Painesville 17; Youngstown 19; Girard 20; Newark 21; Negley 22.

Jack Beery is a clear-cut, class-conscious Socialist and has developed considerable ability as a speaker. He will make good as Organizer.

The Booster's Column

—By F. E. JOHNSTON—

Well, comrades, Spring is here at last. Signs of the awakening of nature are seen on every hand. The warbling robin, fresh from the Sunny Southland, sits upon the highest bough of the highest tree, singing his glad song of freedom. And he is happy, yes happy because he is free. No whistle blows for him, neither does he have to divide up the nice juicy worms he finds, (which are the products of his toil) with landlords, profit-mongers and parasites. And yet, had this bird been born in captivity, behind the bars of a cage, he would sing the praises of his bondage and learn to love his master.

Sad to say, this is the deplorable condition of the majority of the working class today. Born in bondage to the capitalist class, having never tasted the sweets of freedom, having been born with the chains of slavery upon their wrists, and having been taught by a sly and devilish capitalist press to imagine that they are free, there is very little wonder that they are prone to kiss the hand that smites them down.

And therein lies the duty of every Booster. Regardless of whether this paper is "perfect" or not, it is a newspaper "without a muzzle" and absolutely the best propaganda paper that you can put into the hands of the people.

Let us all get busy, Comrades. Let us make another raid next Sunday morning, everybody landing one or more new ones, and that will put us in good trim for the mass meeting in the afternoon.

Remember, Comrades, above everything else, we must have subscribers and with every one doing their share, no matter how little, the aggregate will mean several hundred new subscribers next week.

On to Washington!

Comrade Clark puts thirty-two new subscribers on our list, and the "Old Man" actually smiled. Who'll be the first to make it thirty-three?

Comrade Thornton brings in his pink sub. blank with five new ones. Down with the Capitalist system.

Comrade Meier went by the cemetery, noticed that the "grave-digger" hadn't much to do, so he turned in four new subscribers to help keep the old fellow busy.

They are a good team. Comrade Gallentin and Wood, both land under the wire with three to their credit. Hitch up again, boys.

The following comrades each secure two new ones:

Croasmun, Bailey, Ebright, Calvert. We are "dee-lighted."

The following comrades were on the firing line with one or more to their credit:

Zimpfer, Conley, Fraker, Stephens, Gerlach, Neds, Roof, Rencher, Al-Schramm, Zulaf, Miller, Mrs. Vaughn, Mrs. Johnston, Fries, Marquette, Guyer, Diebert, Howard, Searfoss, Cohee.

Just a word comrades, you will now, undoubtedly, be making a great many purchases. Almost every line of merchandise is advertised in this paper. There are several good furniture houses, clothing houses, shoe stores, jewelry stores, drug stores, department stores, hardware stores and groceries, tailors, in fact there is scarcely anything that you need that cannot be purchased from our advertisers.

Bear this in mind at all times and throw your purchasing power behind these concerns, as this is one of our most effective weapons at the present time. And don't forget when you purchase to give the clerk a red ticket and DEMAND that it be sent to the office with the money. We have sixteen thousand more tickets on hand at this office ready to be distributed. If you are out don't fail to ask for them.

SUICIDE RESULTS FROM KARB'S FAKE ECONOMY

Saves $15 Per Month and Waste $6,000 Per Year

Ralph H. Rhodes, 28, married, music teacher and former city employe, living at Neil and Norwich Avenues, north of the university, committed suicide early Tuesday morning on the banks of the Olentangy by blowing out his brains with a 32-calibre revolver. Despondency over being a cripple since childhood and sore financial straits are causes attributed.

Rhodes was until lately employed as a clerk at the city filtration plant. The Karb administration, with a keen eye to economy, saw a chance to save $15 per month by discharging Rhodes and having a laborer do his work.

Then the same administration used all its influence to give the city advertising to See See Philbrick's Weakly Week at a price that compels the city to pay about $6,000 a year more than the lowest bid for the printing. Poor crippled Rhodes was the victim of the fake "economy" policy of the Karb-Ross gang.

CHINA TAKES UP SOCIALISM

London.—"I have finished the political revolution and now will commence the greatest social revolution in the world's history," said Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the ex-provisional president of China, in an interview at Shanghai today, according to a dispatch from that city. "The abdication of the Manchus is only the means to greater development, and the future policy of the republic will be in the direction of Socialism.

"I am an ardent follower of Henry George, whose ideas are practicable on the virgin soil of China as compared with their impracticability in Europe or the United States, where the money is controlled by the capitalists."

Dr. Sen says that he has the full consent of the government to start his propaganda immediately, whereby the railroads, mines and similar industries will be controlled by the government. The single tax system and, as far as possible, free trade, will be adopted.

THIRD STREET VIADUCT INDORSED.

The Fifteenth Ward Branch in regular meeting assembled April 9th, 1912, unanimously endorsed the Third Street Viaduct Proposition.

Ward will vote and work for this bond issue as well as the electric light extender. The Fifteenth Ward branch takes the stand that the Third Street Viaduct is of vital importance to the people of the North end, as well as all other sections of the city.

Please take notice that Comrade Suddick has been elected to receive all money and tickets which have not been turned in for "Under the Lash," at the Hartman. He will be on hand at the mass meeting of local Columbus Sunday afternoon April 14, at Red Lion Hall, and also at the meeting of the club Sunday night at 40½ East Chestnut St.

Comrades having tickets out are urged to make a final settlement at one of these meetings.

Come up Sunday night.

SOCIALIST GRAND JUBILEE

The jubilee will consist of dancing, singing, lectures and debates, commencing with a Grand Ball at the High-Warren, corner High and Warren Streets, Friday evening, April 12. Admission 10 cents. The High-Warren has been leased for two months, and these dances and entertainments will be held for the benefit of the Band and The Columbus Socialist Newspaper.

Entertainments every Tuesday night. Dancing every Friday night.

SOCIALIST STATE CONVENTION.

The State convention of the Socialist party of Ohio will convene in Columbus at Federation of Labor Hall, 121½ East Town Street, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 26, 27, 28, 1912. State Secretary J. C. Schawe has issued a circular containing the following information:

Elections in Even Numbered Years.

Section 4824. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the year 1912, and every four years thereafter, the qualified electors shall elect a number of electors of President and Vice President of the United States equal to the number of Senators and Representatives this State may be entitled to in the Congress of the United States. No Senator or Representative in Congress or other person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States or any law thereof shall be eligible as elector of President or Vice President. (R. S. Sec. 2968.)

Section 4836. All general elections for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, attorney general, state commissioner of common schools, state dairy and food commissioner, member of the board of public works, judge of the supreme court, clerk of the supreme court, judge of the circuit court, judge of the common pleas court, senators and representatives to the general assembly, judge of the probate court, county commissioner, infirmary director, county auditor, county treasurer, county recorder, county surveyor, sheriff, coroner, clerk of the common pleas court, and prosecuting attorney, shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the even-numbered years. All votes for any judge for an elective office, except a judicial office, under authority of this State, given by the general assembly, or the people, shall be void. (R. S. Sec. 2978.)

Socialist Party.

The Socialist party having polled more than one per cent. of the entire vote cast in the state for state officers, will proceed to nominate its candidates for state offices by conventiin as provided for in section 4992 of the election laws of Ohio. One nomination may be made for each office to be filed at the following election, nominations to be filed with the Secretary of State not later than October 5, 1912.

Controlling Committees.

The State Committee recently elected by the membership of the Socialist Party of Ohio by referendum, is the duly authorized Controlling Committee recognized by the election laws of Ohio. Beginning of term April 1, 1914.

Among the amendments proposed to the State Constitution of the party are the following:

Art. 10. Add Sec. 4, to read as follows:

Sec. 4. In case a majority of the members so decide by referendum vote, the locals in any County may organize a County Local, which shall have the same powers and rights as a regularly organized local in a city or town. Such County Locals may divide into branches. In Counties where the party polls more than ten per cent of the total vote, the County Central Committee provided for by law shall be recognized as the Central Committee of such local. Other County organizations may adopt their own forms of central organization.

Art. 17. Elections and elected officers.

Sec. 1. Nominations for State political offices shall be made by referendum vote of the membership. The State Secretary shall issue the call for nominations on January 1st, and nominations shall be open until February 1st. The nominations shall be submitted to referendum as provided in Art. 7.

LINDEN HEIGHTS LOCAL.

COLUMBUS FEDERATION OF LABOR.

The Columbus Federation of Labor last Monday evening endorsed a Federation denouncing William R. Hearts for his attitude towards organized labor.

The resolution recites that Mr. Hearst had used his newspapers several years ago to aid the cause of labor for the sole purpose of obtaining the labor vote in furtherance of his political aspirations, and when he found that he could not influence the vote by his attitude and the use of money, turned against its cause and now is fighting labor.

His attitude toward Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was denounced in particular.

Announcement was made that the cigar makers' label league of the state will meet at the Star Hotel May 5, for the purpose of organizing locals.

ADAM REUSS PASSES FROM LIFE.

Adam Reuss, of 780 South Third Street, was found dead in his room at his home last Tuesday about noon with a bullet in his head. There is no known reason why he should take his own life and members of his family believe that the shooting was accidental.

Comrade Reuss was a genial, jovial German and one of the best known Socialists of the South Side. He conducted a hardware store with his son as a partner. His demise is mourned by a large circle of friends.

NEW ORDER IN MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

The Socialists were beaten in Milwaukee last Tuesday by a vote of 43,177 to 30,200. A dispatch from that city to the New York Herald has this paragraph:

"While the returns sounded the knell of the Socialist administration, they ushered in a new order of things in American municipal cities, for it is conceded on all sides that Milwaukee never again will see a city election fought out on party lines. Hereafter, as today, it will be the Socialists against a combination of the two old political parties on a fusion ticket and a nonpartisan platform."

If the Socialists have broken up national politics in municipal elections they have not lived in vain. In this fight the rallying cry of the fusionists was, "Americanism against Socialism," and under the inspiration of that a fellow forgets whether he was a Republican or a Democrat. In this city, as each of the old parties is greater in number than the Socialists, the old party humbuggery will still inflame the conflict.—Ohio State Journal.

Just think of it, the O. S. Journal speaks of "old party humbuggery" in Columbus, and yet it is the official organ of the Republican party in this city and county.

MINISTERS AFTER MINIMUM WAGE.

Washington.—Lay delegates of the New Jersey Methodist Episcopal conference, in session at Asbury Park, New Jersey, took what is considered the most radical action in the history of the church, when they instructed their delegates to the general conference to vote in favor of uniform salaries for pastors It is planned to have all the congregations contribute to a central fund, from which each pastor will be paid the same salary. It will be noted that labor organizations are not the only agencies engaged in endeavoring to gain and maintain a living wage.

"Socialism is a criticism of modern social conditions, a theory of progress, an ideal of social organization, and a practical movement of the masses."—Morris Hillquit.

OHIO STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.
Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.
United Mine Workers of America.
Columbus, Ohio, April 5, 1912

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

The following Proposals of great importance to labor may be called up at any moment for passage. We, therefore, urge that you immediately write the Delegates from your County asking them to vote for these amendments. Proposal No. 24, eliminating any constitutional objection to Workmens: Proposal No. 24, eliminating No. 122, providing that laws may be enacted to regulate the hours of labor, establishing a minimum wage and providing for the comfort, health and general welfare of employes. Proposal No. 209, provides an eight-hour day on public work. Proposal No. 34, abolishing contract prison labor. Proposal No. 51, relative to State insurance was discussed, and referred back to Committee with amendments providing that the State establish and maintain a bureau of insurance for the purpose of insuring the citizens of the State. This is an exceptionally important amendment from labor's viewpoint as it will mean a saving of about one-half the cost paid for insurance at the present time. We, therefore, urge that in addition to writing your Delegate on these matters, that you write Mr. S. A. Hoskins, Chairman Commttee on Corporations, and urge the reporting out of this proposal with the Wood and Stevens amendments.

Yours Fraternally,
HARRY D. THOMAS,
Ohio State Federation of Labor.

GREAT BRITAIN'S COAL STRIKE.

Washington.—A cable dispatch from London credits Thomas Ashton, Secretary of the Miners' Federation, with the following assertion: "It will be peace with honor and the men will return to work." The dispatch further states that Albert Stanley, Secretary of the Midlands Miners' Federation, and member of the House of Commons, practically announced the end of the national coal strike by advising the miners of the Cannock Chase district, who have voted against the resumption of work, to return to the pits without delay, and they have returned to work. It is further reported that the vote against returning was 189,023 and in favor of return 187,107. Mr. Stanley stated that it was now impossible to secure the necessary two-thirds majority to remain out, and as a consequence resumption will ensue.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

After two days debate the Short Ballot Proposal was sent back to the committee late Thursday without any attempt to secure a vote. This was due to the attitude of the members of the labor group who agreed to oppose the Short Ballot unless the Recall is attached. It is expected that the committee will report back in a few days with both the Recall and Civil Service for state employees attached.

Quite a surprise was sprung on the labor delegates who were just about to report an amendment of that character when Delegate Stevens of Tuscarawas County offered an amendment to Proposal No. 51, providing that the State may establish and maintain a Bureau of Insurance to furnish fire, life, accident or other insurance to the people. Delegate Woods of Medina County also offered another amendment providing that the state may establish the rates that private insurance companies may charge. The insurance monopoly is the greatest in the state, said Delegate Woods. The people are as children in its hands. Figures secured from the State Insurance Department show that the amount paid by the citizens of Ohio for Fire Insurance last year, was $9,338,000. The losses from fire paid out by the insurance companies was less than $6,000,000, or a ratio of less than 43 per cent of the amount paid in. On life insurance the total premiums paid in Ohio amounted to $38,000,000. The death claims paid were less than $8,000,000. Since all of these large profits go to the big banking interests of Wall Street for speculative purposes, the time seems ripe for the state to take a hand in this business itself, and furnish the people insurance at cost. Unions therefore should write to their delegates at once urging them to support Proposal No. 51, with the Woods and Steven amendments.

The convention will vote this week on Judge Peck's proposal providing for reform in the judiciary. The proposal gives the court of appeals which is to succeed the present circuit, final jurisdiction in all cases except those involving the death penalty, life sentence and constitutional questions. This would shut out of the Supreme Court many cases, thereby preventing long delay in litigation designed by the wealthier litigants to starve out the smaller litigants. The proposal also deprives the Supreme Court of the right to declare unconstitutional any law passed by the legislature, except by unanimous vote.

The reactionary forces in the convention are attempting to destroy the merit of the proposal by attaching to it harmful amendments.

The Committee on Municipal Government has recommended for passage the Fitzsimons Home Rule Proposal. This plan as approved, gives municipalities the right of home rule on everything, except that the state may fix a standard of education and limitations of taxation and bond issuing powers. Municipalities are given the right to own and operate any sort of a public utility, but in purchasing them bonding credit is limited to the value of the utility to be purchased instead of on the credit of the municipality as would be the case if the city was entering upon construction of a municipal utility where a private company has not formerly occupied the field.

The Labor Committee has agreed to its amendment abolishing contract prison labor and in addition has added a clause prohibiting the sale of any prison made goods in Ohio unless conspicuously marked "Prison Made." Also that any net profits accruing from the prisoner's work for the state shall be given to his family for their support.

The Sunday Baseball question is before the Convention as prominently as it was before the last Legislature. The question is involved in the Miller Proposal to compel the General Assembly to protect the religious and moral character of the Sabbath. A special hearing was had on the subject Tuesday.

One amendment will be made to the Anderson License Proposal when it comes up for third reading and final passage. This amendment will eliminate the wholesale and manufacturing establishments from the provision of the proposal, restricting one saloon to every five hundred inahbitants.

A REAL LABOR PARTY

Why is it that men and women get together in groups called labor organizations?

They do it because they recognize that mutual aid and action is absolutely necessary in their struggle for existence.

This nation is made up of various states with unequal populations, composed of men and women with different ideas, sentiments, tongues and diverse religious and political beliefs.

In the different states and sections of states are different and conflicting business and industrial enterprises in which are to be found the several dissimilar individuals who constitute the groups of the various populations.

The organized groups of men and women workers, numbering over 2,000,000 (two million) persons, with few exceptions are united for the purpose of getting certain minimum wages for a certain number of hours, while some of the groups in the various localities are still further united in securing better or more favorable surroundings under which to perform their daily work of labor.

These few aims—wages, hours and working surroundings or conditions are all which they have unitedly striven for.

Today the political power or government is not nor has it ever been in the hands of men and women who work for wages and consequently all the laws have been made in the interest of property and for the protection of the owners of property.

The power or applied action of a man or woman's brain or muscle is not today considered either private or public property. It has no classification under the law.

Private property is represented by the things which human labor has made, and by the land which human beings require to live upon.

Now these should be called public property, as things are not made for use, but for sale and the land is largely held not for personal use, but for private profit.

However, as wages do not represent the full value of labor, or of the work performed, but only a small payment, it is natural that there is and always must be a separation between those who receive wages and those who pay these wages.

If this is so, why is it that workingmen and women do not have a political party of their own to make and enforce laws favorable to their happiness and their advantage?

It is on account of believing that by organizing into unions they could secure all they desired.

This conclusion, however, is not not working out, for today they find that when they wish to get what they have made or built or produced they must pay considerably more than they were paid in wages. Profit must be paid to somebody, and the profit-price is getting larger every day.

Rent, interest and profit is and has always been considered right by Democratic and Republican office holders.

The Socialist Party being a workingman's party is fighting to get control of the political power, in order to pass laws cutting down the profits of the few owners, thereby helping those who work for wages to buy more for their wages, and to pass laws raising the minimum amount to be paid in wages, as well as to pass laws for the enforcement of a universal eight-hour day or less.

The Socialist party demands that all profit shall eventually be declared illegal and that no man or woman shall get in wages less than they produce or make or do.

That they should receive from the government equal return for whatever necessary or useful work they do, whether it be cleaning sewers or directing a railroad system.

That every man, woman or child should share equally in the returns of this twentieth century civilization.

That is their final aim as a political party and they ask every workingman and woman to join in this fight for human freedom.

INTELLECTUALS IN THE ORGANIZATION.

We are all workers under Socialism. Socialism stands for education and construction. What matters it if you operate a machine for an industry or if you conduct a law suit for or against an industry under the present capitalistic system? Does not the lawyer as well as the machinist have to support himself? Under the present awful system is not the lawyer as well as the street sweeper a necessary member of society?

We have the facts before us and we must agree that we are all of us wage slaves. When I refer to wage slavery it is not to a mere nothing but to slavery in it's most abject helpless and miserable form.

Slavery that stunts the body, the mind and the very spirit of the slave. It gives to this world the fathers and mothers of the future generations who in their turn produce a more degraded, less gifted offspring until in time to come our children's children will be treated with less consideration than the beast of the field, but will have reached the very depths of the pit of supersitution and ignorance.

I say, my dear comrade, we must know that we the workers pay in full no matter where the present dirty system has placed us.

In order to further the argument for the intellectual in the organization I will selecte a lawyer, not that I like his business, but that he seems to be imposed in a greater extent than others in the various professions.

Not wishing to exalt a lawyer above any of us or to say that he is a more necessary member of this organization than another, no matter what his vocation may be, or to hold him up as a martyr to Socialism, we are bound to admit that it is entirely necessary for this organization to have red card members who are lawyers and who have the ability, and right to plead and interpret the maize of injustice you find on the statutes of this accursed system.

They surely understand that when Socialism is ushered in that society will have no use for lawyers. They certainly know that 98 per cent of the laws of the land pertain to private property. And since under the co-operative commonwealth there will be no such thing as private property and as a result, no laws to interpret, where then will be the necessity for a lawyer? For fear that some poor capitalist may read this and not be able to classify property will say, that that which is used in common will be owned in common and that which is used privately will be owned in private.

Do not attack any members of the organization because he has been able to support himself with less apparent effort than another. It denotes brains, and brain and Socialism are synonymus. Rather welcome them to your ranks as it is always more pleasant to welcome a comrade than it is to force him to become a member of the organization. As a sort of a parody on what some author has written, there are three kinds of Socialists. Some are born Socialist, some, through study, acquire Socialism, and still others will have it crammed down their throats.

Along with the lawyer I would include a doctor, a minister, a teacher or any other professional man. They are all welcome. The more of them the better. For can't you see that when they are convinced of the injustice of society in placing them where the present system has placed them, that they should be given the opportunity, to vindicate themselves and make amends for their past errors, by teaching the doctrines of Socialism and doing all in their power to bring about the conditions for which we are all striving so hard.

Socialism stands for and is the exponent of education and since that fact is a fact, let us not reject it if it comes to us in the person of any of these I have named.

The machinist wants all that his machine will produce and we maintain that he will and should have it. We do not say this as a class, but we proclaim it is an entire people. Every person must have the full product of his toil.

When the co-operative commonwealth is ushered in and is under operation, it will still be necessary to have our intellectuals, not as lawyers, doctors, etc., but as heads of our different departments.

Not by this do I mean that lawyers and etc., will not be under Socialism. They will exist, not as the present day lawyers and etc., but such as those who at the present time, have risen above their environments and became an active worker for the cause of humanity.

The greatest power is mental, even to the most common of labor. No matter how strong the arm it must have the directing mental power. Not as individuals must we possess this mental activity, but as an entire people. Then again may the race go forward in the fullfilment of its evolution, and as time goes on will man become more and more the image of his Creator.

EDGAR WOOD.

Tobe Spilkins, His Letter

Mr. Editor: Two more Demokrats have jined the Soshialists at Boney Forks. That maiks 7teen they have got in their club, or lokal, as they call it. I don't know why they call it a lokal. It aint lokal opshun. I know that when I see it, espechully if it ix wet. They have also got a Republikan up to the mourners bench, but that don't maik any difference, ax thare aint enuff Republikans in Boney Forks Township tu maik mile-posts uv. But it's jarrin' on my nurves tu see so menny Demokrats desurtin' uv the old standard. We only had forty3 before enny jined the Soshialists. But we have always dun purty wel with them few. We have bin returnin' from 80seven to one hundred and 15 majority fur the Democratic ticket. The way we git this majority is this: The women aint allowed tu vote here, but the men vote fur 'em, and purty neer every man haz a woman, and sum hax 2 or 3. This aint akkordin tu the Staytute, but it iz in keeping with the tradeeshun uv the grand old Demokrttik party. I'm getting onery about this Soshialist bixxiness. I didn't think ennything cood faze the Demokrasy uv Boney Forks, and it coodent if it wuzent fur Ike Hawkins. Populism coodent tech sides, edges or bottom, exsept it got Ike. But when Populism turned its toes tu the dasies we got him bak, but he didn't stay long. Ike is the most perswasive talker I ever seen in all my born days. I heerd him talkin' tu Gabe Strong the uther day at the blacksmith shop. Gabe wuz a-shooin' uv Ike's horse. Gabe blacksmiths a little and farms a little.

"Gabe," sez Ike, "why don't you quit blacksmithin' or farmin', one or the uther?"

"I can't," sez Gabe, "there aint blacksmithin' enuff tu du here at the Forks tu support me and my family."

"It didn't use tu be that way, did it?" asked Ike.

"No," sed Gabe, az he clinched a nail and let the horse's foot down on the ground. "I use tu git more work than I cood du and I kept a hired man most uv the time. I didn't farm enny then either, but I bought that little farm I own now with the munny I saved up in them days, and I always had munny in the bank."

"Haven't you got enny munny in the bank now?" asked Ike.

"No, but I've got a note there and it's due next week, and I don't know whare I'm going tu git the munny tu pay it," answered Gabe.

"Do you know why you can't maik ax much munny blacksmithin' now ax you use tu?" asked Ike.

"No," answered Gabe, "I've bin tryin' fur nigh ontu 30 yeers tu figger out that properschun, but I can't du it."

"I'll tell you," sed Ike, "blacksmithing use tu be all dun by hand, only the iron and steel bein' maid by machinery; you maid your own horseshoes, nails, bolts, and nearly everything that you used. Every uther blacksmith did the same. Then you cood maik them as cheep as enybody and you had more work tu du. And you got paid for it. In dull times you cood maik wagons, harrows, plows, and uther farm machinery. But sum blacksmith more expert than the uthers, and who worked with his brains as well as with his hands, invented a masheen tu maik horseshoes, another tu maik nails, another tu maik bolts, and so on until neerly everything a blacksmith uses iz maid by masheenery and all the blacksmiths hav tu du iz to put them on and du repair work. That cuts off three-fourths uv the blacksmith's wurk and also that much uv his profits. He cant compete with the masheen, and thousands uv blacksmiths air put out uv bizziness, and thousands uv uthers don't have half enuff wurk tu du tu kepe them bizzy all the time. That's the reason you've got a note in the bank instead of munny."

Gabe throwed his hammer down on the ground and went and sot down by Ike. "I know," he sed, "that the masheen hax tuk away a whole lot uv wurk frum me becoz it duz the work better and cheeper and more uv it, but what I caint understand is, if we air producin' things so much cheeper and with less labor than we use tu, why the wurkingman hax tu wurk harder than he did and maik less munny."

"That's the pint I want yu tu see," said Ike. "The invenshun uv the masheen has maid it possibel fur one man tu produce as much as ten did before, and it looks like we ort tu maik a livin' a good deal ezier than we did before, and we cood if the products uv the masheen wuz equitably distributed. We produce more wealth now accordin' tu the populashun than we use tu under the old hand method, but where dus it go?"

"I don't know," answered Gabe.

"Yes, you du," sed Ike; "you know if you would only think, but you've got in the habit uv not thinkin' about ennything but how to maik a livin' without stealin' sumpthing. Now, you jest listen tu me a pair uv minits," sed Ike, as he put hiz hand on Gabe's shoulder, "if your horse wuz stolen and you would start out tu hunt fur him and would find a man who had him in hiz possesshun, what would you think uv that man?"

"I'd think he wuz the theef," sed Gabe.

"And you would be right," sed Ike, "hiz havin' the horse would be presumptive evidence uv his guilt, but he might have bought him uv the thief; at enny rate, it wodent be hiz horse and you cood take him away frum him by law. Well, now, as I wuz a-sayin', if the wealth uv the land, the products uv labor and the masheen, wuz distributed ackordin' tu right and justice, the laboring man wood be better off than he wuz before the masheen wuz invented. But the wurkingman hazent got his share uv it and now the questshun is who haz?"

"By gum, I know" sed Gabe, jumpin' up and slappin' his right hand. "It's the dadgasted corporashuns, and trusts and owners uv the factories and sich like."

"Now, you're gittin' down tu the pint," sed Ike. "It's the owners uv the masheens uv produckshun and distribushun who have got the goods; now the questshun iz how did they git them?"

"I don't know," replied Gabe. "I guess they must have swiped 'em, fur a man coodent urn ax much ax old Rockyfeller haz got in a thousand years."

"Yes," said Ike, "they swiped 'em, but you and me helped them du it."

"I dident" said Gabe.

"Yes, you did," sed Ike. "Every time you sell ennything you help 'em, and every time you buy ennything you help 'em; they have a rake-off both ways; they catch you gwine and comin', ax the nigger sez."

"Who lets 'em du it?" asked Gabe.

"You du and I du, and everybuddy else who votes the same ticket them raskels du who air stealin' frim us."

"Air enny of them raskels who air duin' the stealin' Demokrats?" asked Gabe.

"Us korse they air," sed Ike, "they air all alike; the rich Demakrats control the Demokratic party, and the rich Republikans control the Republikan party; they hire the politishuns tu keep the people divided while they go on with their steelin.' They talk about nigger dominashun, publick honor, and wrangle over the tariff; it all don't amount tu ennything; it's dust thrown in the people's ise to stur up strife while they go on with their plundering. They have dun this until they have got neerly all the goods, and they will keep it up until they git the balance if the people keep on votin' fur it."

"How kin we stop it?" asked Gabe.

"By votin' again these big capitalists insted uv votin' fur and with 'em," sed Ike.

"I don't understand," sed Gabe scratchin' uv his hed.

"Well, they ain't enny uv there what's a stealin' frum the people a-votin' uv the Soshialist ticket. They air all again Soshialism, every mother's son uv 'em, and you may always bet that what the theeves air against so unanymusly thares sum good in it. Besides, the Soshialists air fur the wurking class; they believ that since the wurking class produce all the wealth, they ort to have the right tu say how it shall be distributed. In order tu du this they must elekt wurkingmen tu offis, enuff, uv them to rool the roost. Then they'll go tu wurk and pass laws providin' fur the people to own all the masheenery uv produkshun and distribushun, includin' the railrodes and facktories, and you will be gittin' things at cost instead uv payin' big profits tu maik big fortunes fur the few fellers who now own the masheens. You see Gabe, it will be jest like the common skool system; the people own it and run it at cost, and nobody makes big fortunes out uv it. The wurkingmen run the railrodes, facktories, and mines, but the owners git the profits, and they've got it fixed so they can tax the farmer in so menny ways that they git purty neer all the profits uv the farm."

"Well, I'll be sizled" sed Gabe.

"It's a fakt," sed Ike, "and it don't maik enny difference whether you vote the Demkratik tiket or the Republikan tiket, you air votin' the saim tiket they du and you're votin' tu kepe up the steelin'."

"Well, I'll be jiggered if I do it agin," sed Gabe, and he slapped his fist down in his hand and stamped his fut on the ground.

Now, Mister Editor, that's jist the way Ike talks tu 'em, and that kind uv argifyin' wood git enny Demokrat who didn't want offis tu vote the Soshialist tiket. I'll bet a koon skin that Gabe will jine that dadgummed Soshialist lokal inside uv a munth. It looks like sumpthing iz always comin' up to kepe me frum gittin' an offis.

CHILLICOTHE DEPARTMENT

The Socialist Local meets every first and third Sunday of each month. The first meeting is devoted to business and the other to entertainment and lectures.

Comrades, good attendance brings results. Try and bring some one who is interested or some one who you know should be.

On April 21st Comrade Eby of Columbus will give a lecture at Workman's Hall, Corner Paint and Secvond Street at 2:30 p. m. He will be assisted by his wife and daughters by Cornet duets and solos with piano accompaniments, now get busy, let's fill the Hall. No admittance fee charged.

Every one is welcome.

On April 30 at 8 p. m. the local will hold a box social and entertainment and a lecture by some good woman speaker, whose name will be announced at a later date. Don't forget the dates, comrades.

At this writing am pleased to announce that Socialist principles and doctrines are being freely discussed by a goodly number of persons who have not as yet become affiliated with the party or our local, but at the fall election we have no doubt but that they will give a good account of themselves. There seems to be a wonderful awakening among the old time Democrats and Republians and many of them have been studying conditions and political questions of the day and arriving at the conclusions by their own method and process of reasoning without having to be told by some high-up politician or party boss as to how they should cast their vote. Why cannot the American people read and think for themselves? There is no doubt in the writer's mind that if the mass of the people would devote more time to cause of Socialism would advance much more swiftly.

The writer calls to mind Mr. Bryan's lecture in Columbus last Saturday evening at one of the churches in which he states that politics is the source of selfishness. This definition of politics has struck me with greater force than any saying of any of our old party politicians. Mr. Bryan, perhaps does not realize as we Socialists do, that this great fundamental truth, is necessarily and essentially the main prop which supports the entire fabric of Socialist doctrine.

Why? You can not do away with selfishness under our present system of government can you? Give us a system whereby selfishness will be unnecessary and you will give us a system that even Christ could not condemn. Socialism can be nothing else but applied Christianity, the brotherhood of man. We hope the time is near when it will be possible for us to realize this great blessedness.

THE GREATER NORTH SIDE BETTERMENT ASSOCIATION ENDORSES THE THIRD STREET VIADUCT.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Columbus, Ohio, by resolution duly passed, determined to submit to vote of the qualified electors of the city at the election to be held on the 21st day of May, 1912, a proposal to issue bonds in the amount of $425,000 for the purpose of a viaduct to cross the railway tracks east of the Union depot, connecting Third Street on the south of said tracks with Summit Street on the north, and

WHEREAS, said proposed Third Street viaduct will provide a more spacious and much needed approach to the Union depot, which will be on public property, open to all and not controlled nor monopolized by any depot or transfer company, with a much shorter and easier passageway to the train shed than the present approach from High Street, enabling passengers to reach city cars with greater ease and safety, and

WHEREAS, Said proposed Third Street viaduct will connect the Union depot with the Interurban Terminal station by a short and direct route, passing the State Capitol, Post Office Building, the proposed new civic center and all city buildings adjacent thereto or that may be erected thereon; furnish a direct route to the heartily favor and endorse the pro- Franklin County Court House, and a wide, through thoroughfare from the extreme northern to the extreme southern portion of the city, relieving congested traffic on High Street, and in general will be of great benefit to all sections of the city.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED By The Greater North Side Betterment Association, that we posed Third Street viaduct, and the members of said Association, in regular meeting assembled, hereby pledge themselves to vote for the proposed bond issue for said viaduct, at an election on May 21, 1912, and we will urge all electors to vote for and encourage this great improvement, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we commend the City Council for its action in submitting this proposal to the vote of the electors, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to each of the daily papers, to The Columbus Socialist and to the City Council of the City of Columbus, Ohio.

The above resolution was unanimously adopted April 8, 1912.

"How are the workers exploited?" you ask. Well, it is like this: You ask another man for permission to live; then you ask him for permission to work; then you ask him for permission to keep a little of your product; and then you beg him to give you the same chance the next day.
